UNHESITATINGLY...

Without a qualm, as natural as you could wish — customers go to the refrigerator counter and take their supply of Arrow Brand Bacon. The reason for this implicit confidence is, that past experience has taught them, it is unnecessary to question the quality of this well known brand.

LOBLAW'S have built a dependable and valuable reputation for bacon upon this very brand. Our proof for this statement lies in the fact that in 1929, almost 30,000 lbs. were cut, wrapped and sold EACH WEEK, which means that it took some 45,000 hogs to supply this tremendous amount of ARROW BRAND BACON.

This in itself would suggest, utmost care in buying, preparation and handling to continually keep this brand uniform in quality. Try a pound this week the price is always right.

CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED IN EAST

Dr. Coady Would Better Conditions of Maritime Fishermen.

URGES RELEASING ENERGIES

HALIFAX, N.S., July 31. — The philosophy of a parish priest that "a people can do ten times what they think they can do" has found the beginning of its latest fulfillment in the formation of the United Maritime Fishermen — the co-operative producing and marketing organization of shore fishermen in every coast settlement in the eastern provinces and the Magdalens. This same philosophy had already worked as leaven in the success of the Nova Scotia Teacher's Union and the origin of a new enthusiasm for rural and adult education.

Its originator and chief protagonist is Rev. Dr. M. M. Coady, head of the new department of St. Francis Eavier's University which will direct a survey by experts of economic possibilities in farming, mining, lumbering, and associated industries, a survey of social possibilities in industrial and rural communities, and a survey to discover the best educational practices for the development of Nova Scotia.

"A people can do ten times what they think they can do. The secret of building this nation lies in the release of the energies of its people. Education is the releasing of human energies." This was the theory propounded by M. M. Coady as a young student at St. Francis Xavier. He at once began to test it out in personal practice, and became successively a Bachelor of Arts, Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Divinity.

Born at North East Margaree in 1882, Dr. Coady graduated from Margaree Forks high school in 1900, and after teaching for a few years there, proceeded to St. F. X. whence he graduated in 1905. The next five years of his life were spent in Rome, where he delved into the mysteries of Philosophy and Theology at Urban College. After four years of teaching in the Academy at Antigonish he did post graduate work at the Catholic University of America at Washington, and returned as principal of St. F. X. Academy.

Following the Carnegie investigation into education in the Maritimes, Dr. Coady became identified with a forward movement along educational lines. He organized the teachers of the province, was appointed Secretary of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union and founded and edited for four years a bulletin for the organization.

In 1923 he became head of the educational department of Saint Francis University, and it was about this time his interest in rural and adult education started. His first attempt to put his philosophy over in a big way was in the form of lectures in various parts of the province on progress, education and objectives of civilization.

The key-note of his philosophy was that a people could do ten times what they thought they could, and that the secret of building Canada as a nation lay in the release of the energies of its people.

Adopted Philosophy.

Germany had made a nation of soldiers by adopting a philosophy. Italy had made a nation of artists by adopting a philosophy. What would Canada make of its people?

First there was depression in the Maritimes. The people of the provinces by the sea were not occupying their rightful place in the world of trade and commerce. They could occupy the place they wished, Dr. Coady thought, by releasing the energies of the people. He would see what he could do.

Dr. Coady's next experiment was the re-organization of the school at Margaree Forks, which made the section one of the best looked after school districts in Nova Scotia. Features of the school include a hot-lunch department domestic science department, library, spacious grounds, and facilities for the study of science. The ultimate purpose was not only to put up a school for the rising generation, but to attract adults of the district as well. Possibilities in the development of adult population, the feasibility of a programme of education for it, as means toward the building up of a nation were all fundamental tenets in the philosophy of Dr. Coady's movement.

In 1928 and 1929 these principles were put into practice when the farmers of Margaree formed the Margaree Producers' Association. The success of this movement was immediate and as a consequence of the work of the original thirty members of the association that section of Inverness County to-day has four large co-operative groups This movement, although yet young, promises to embrace the whole island of Cape Breton and extend far beyond.

The success of this experiment impressed the authorities of Saint Francis Xavier University with the possibilities of a department that would give serious consideration to this kind of work. As a consequence, in January 1928 Dr. Coady was released from his duties as professor and allowed to travel through Canada and United States for the purpose of studying co-operation and adult education.

On his return in the summer of 1929 the Dominion Department of Fisheries selected him to take up the work of organizing the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces, who, lacking organization, were discontented with the returns vouchsafed them in their industry.

For months he travelled along the shores of the provinces and in each fishing district organized local federations. At the conclusion of this work he persuaded them to send delegates to a convention in Halifax for the purpose of forming a large central organization which would operate for the economic betterment of the industry.

Having completed his task with the fishermen, Dr. Coady promised to send each federation a course on economics and education, chapter by chapter. Late in June he left for Antigonish to take up the work of the new department at Saint Francis Xavier.

T. STINSON MAY GET PORTFOLIO

Victoria Member-elect Frequently Mentioned For Recognition.

MUCH SPECULATION.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31. (C.P.)—With no prospective minister yet summoned to the capital, speculation on the make-up of the new Conservative administration to serve under R. B. Bennett continues.

The portfolio of Minister of Agriculture may go to Earl W. Rowe (Dufferin-Simcoe). Mr. Rowe has been Conservative Whip of committees for several sessions and during the campaign he spoke at a number of points in Western Canada before returning to his own riding in Ontario. In addition to being a farmer Mr. Rowe is a livestock breeder.

General A. E. Ross is mentioned for recognition, in parliamentary circles and the name of T. H. Stinson, K.C., Lindsay, Ont., and member-elect for Victoria is frequently heard. Mr. Stinson entered the House of Commons in 1925, was re-elected in 1926 and again in the election just closed. Mr. Stinson sits for the constituency which sent Sir Sam Hughes, late war-time Minister of National Defense, to Parliament, and has played a prominent part in the ranks of the party.

DRY AGENTS HOLD $1,500,000 RAID

New York Brewery and Cafe Seizure Biggest in Prohibition History.

12 TRUCKS CAPTURED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 31 (C.P.).—Federal prohibition agents to-day were taking inventory of a brewery and cafe, valued at $1,500,000, which was seized in what they they described as the "biggest raid in the history of prohibition."

The property seized consisted of the North American Brewery and the Palm Garden Cafe in Brooklyn.

William C. Nolan, assistant administrator in charge of Brooklyn, led 15 agents in the raid last night. They said that large quantities of beer in thousands of kegs in the brewery as well as beer on tap in the cafe tested 4.96 per cent. alcohol.

The North American Brewery is one of the largest in the country and covers an entire city block. The cafe is adjacent to it.

Several hundred bottles which the agents said contained whiskey and wine were seized in the cafe. The haul also included a fleet of 12 motor trucks in the brewery garage.

GRAND JURY CONDEMNS AUBURN PRISON RULE

AUBURN, N.Y., July 31 (C.P.).—The administration of Auburn Prison, during which unrest grew and ultimately developed into two inmate riots, has been condemned by a Cayuga County Grand Jury as a "history of incompetency" with the prison affairs functioning "headless, spineless and worthless." The prison at the time mentioned in the Grand Jury report was under the administration of Brigadier-General Edgar S. Jennings, although the jurors failed to mention the former Warden by name in the report they submitted to the District Attorney.

"A straight line is the shortest distance.."

You need a flashlight or an alarm clock. That's one point in a common geometrical problem. Somewhere a manufacturer is making, a store is offering for sale, exactly the flashlight or alarm clock you should have. That's the second point in your private problem. . . . And advertising is the straight line that shows the shortest distance between the two!

Day after day, in the advertising pages, you'll find straight lines drawn direct to the products you need. Look for them. Follow them. They may save you hours of searching.

And more than time, they'll save you money. Advertised products are those whose honest [illegible] has made them popular. Merchants and manufacturers who advertise regularly have passed the public's test of fair dealing and reliability. By studying their announcements in the light of your own needs, you can buy most wisely and well.

NOVA SCOTIA TOWNS PROTEST AS LIQUOR CONTROL APPROACHES

APPLE CIDER BELT

(Special to the Examiner, Copyright 1930)

HALIFAX, N.S., July 31—The approaching system of Government Control, which comes into effect in Nova Scotia early in August, is disrupting the peaceful life of more than one community in the little the ratepayers.

In the little rural town of Berwick the ratepayers have split into two factions. Berwick is in the heart of the Annapolis Valley, world famous as an apple country and cider-making district. A large majority of the farming population, however, voted "dry" in the plebisicite which spelt the end of Prohibition. Now comes word of a distillery to be started in Berwick.

A new barn in Berwick is food for comment; a new distillery is a sensation. The town is in an uproar. On all sides the distillery is the question of the day. One faction praise it as a new industry. Another faction oppose it bitterly.

The harassed Town Council met and discussed the problem. They felt that there would be troublous times if they did or they didn't. It was finally decided to take a vote of the rate-payers.

And now, waiting for their own plebisicite, the good folk of Berwick discuss the question with blazing fervor.

District Churches

AT BETHANY CHURCH

PENELLA, July 31 (Examiner Correspondence)—Decoration and Memorial services were held at Bethany (Machlin's) Church, the Rev. R. Holly, of Centreton conducted the service, choosing his text from Hebrews 4:11, "Let us labor therefore to enter into that rest lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief."

"It is significant that each memorial day is sweeter and more beautiful as the years roll by. Many have fallen in the last fifty years and each memorial gazes upon the thinly halting ranks of the pioneers but the fragrancy of their memory will long outlive the odor of the lily and the rose that is laid upon their graves.

Death is just stepping from one beautiful room into one more beautiful. We praise the honored dead and this community and all other communities feel the power and influence they unveiled. Could we but know the struggle our fathers and mothers went through for us it might sow a seed in some human heart that would bring forth a great harvest.

We are indeed well born whose fathers cleared this country and our fathers and mothers are around the great white throne to-day, not because they failed but because they endured. With our faces turned toward Zion we still look forward and look upward and whether one dies beneath his own roof or on a foreign soil there will come the consciousness of the one he needs most, the Christ, and none can take His place in your life or mine. Your personal Savior and Redeemer." In closing the speaker left with his audience the thought, "Set thine house in order."

The Rev. J. N. Lovelace, of Ivanhoe a former pastor spoke briefly.

Harwood Bethesda Choir under the direction of Miss Muriel Buttars, organist, had charge of the music. "Will the circle be unbroken," was sung by the choir and Mrs. H. Lawton rendered very effectively a solo "In the Land of Fadeless Day."

AT ROSENEATH

ROSENEATH, July 31 (Examiner Correspondence).—Rev. R. W. Paton, B.A., preached a fine sermon Sunday at the United Church, prior to which he told the children a story regarding a pin. The speaker compared it to a human being, saying the pin is straight, sharp, clean and has a good head on it—four characteristics all should possess.

"We like people who are straight, meaning they are truthful, honest, reliable and upright; sharp—meaning people who are keen in minds, who try to make the best use of the brains that God has given them; speech, in character and in every sense of the word. We like people who have good heads, who have good judgment and who are reasonable, sane and dependable."

Rev. Mr. Paton took his sermon from Matthew 5:16—"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

The reverend speaker said in part: "Jesus used this metaphor of the light concerning Himself when He said, 'I am the light of the world.' In a similar way He makes this high assumption for His disciples, 'Ye are the light of the world.' The power of Jesus Christ to dispel darkness is also found in those in whom the character of Jesus is reproduced.

"Christianity is more than a mere professor of faith, or the subscribing to a creed or doctrine. It is an honest endeavor to live according to the Jesus way of life and always implies showing to our fellowmen whose we are and whom we serve. We who have attached ourselves to Jesus Christ are as a light shining in a dark world. Men are influenced by our lives, either for good or evil, according to the light we give. Referring to the parable of the lamp, Rev. Mr. Paton emphasized the need of a good lamp. Christian men and women should ever carry the cross of God's love, lighted up with the fire of His Holy Spirit and with this cross be able to raise men and women to fight the good fight of faith.

"We are the light of the world and must not think of our religion as a private possession to locked up in our home."

In conclusion Rev. Mr. Paton left a thought for his people by saying, "Keep your light shining with a clean, pure light. Remember your are the light of the world and if the light that is in thee, be darkness, how great is that darkness."

LOCAL MEN CHARGE OF BEVERAGE PLANT

C. M. Rishor and D. C. Morrison Manufacturers of B. & B. Products.

Owned and operated by two local men, C. M. Rishor and D. C. Morrison, a new beverage manufacturing concern has established itself in Peterborough in the past month. By arrangements, 'B and B' brand beverages are being made and distributed.

The plant is situated at 124 Robinson street in the Scott Cold Storage Building and expensive machinery to carry out the various operations of drink manufacturing and bottling is now in use. When the "empties" come in they are removed from the cases, the broken and chipped bottles discarded, and the sound bottles put in a machine for washing. This consists of an endless belt on which the bottles are placed vertically, held in position by upright fingers. Each bottle is automatically and thoroughly washed inside and out with a special washing solution at the temperature of 130 fahrenheit.

In the operation of carbonating water in the manufacturing of the various drinks, pure water is passed through filtering stone and into a reservoir where carbon dioxide gas is forced into it under high pressure. The carbonating equipment has a capacity of 200 gallons per hour.

In what is known as the crowning machine, the syrup which determines the flavor of the soft drink is put in the bottles and then the carbonated water injected before the cap is pressed on. This equipment can handle 40 cases per hour.

At the Rishor and Morrison plant, Best and Bennett Brand Orange Kist Punch, Lime, Lemon, Ginger Ale, Cream Soda, Cherry, Blue Bird Grape, B and B Brand Dry Ginger Ale and Hire's Root Beer are put up. Local capital has been used and local men employed in the enterprise.

SPECIAL DELIVERY.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 31. — Two steamers, engaged recently by the Dominion Government to carry lobsters from Nova Scotia to Boston, have been subsidized by the Department of Fisheries at Ottawa to deliver fresh mackerel, halibut and swordfish from eastern Nova Scotia to Boston during the summer, it was announced here.

Recruiting for the British Territorial Army is nearly one third greater than a year ago.

CLUE FOUND ON MYSTERY CASE

POLICE SCEPTICAL

BOSTON, Mass., July 31—The newest and most sensational clue yet discovered since the strange disappearance of Oliver B. Garrett, ex-Boston police liquor raider, who dropped from sight on the eve of his trial on graft and conspiracy charges, was found recently in a whiskey bottle which was bobbing about in the water off Castle Island, South Boston.

It was a letter, supposedly written by a sailor on a rum ship, revealing that "a man named Garrett" is aboard the boat-shanghaied out of Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Officials leading the search for Garrett, although they are running down every available clue, placed little faith in the note. Because the name of the rum ship, from which the bottle is supposed to have been dropped, was not given in the note the officials have little to work on, it was pointed out.

But the finding of the note created a sensation in the ranks of the investigators and the Boston police department, especially in view of the belief of some high officials that Garrett has been put "on the spot." The note was as follows:

"On Board Rum Runner
"Off Swamscott
"July 3rd., 30

"Notice.—

"There is on board a man named Garrett shanghaied out of Halifax. This schooner sails out of Luniberg, (Lunenburg), N.S. The captain calls him a 'rat' but calls him easy money. We are awaiting for a gang from the South End Boston, to load up their speed boats—It is 8 bells. A call from the mate all lights out.

"This Garrett man keeps below in the daytime, is a great booser, drinks like a fish. Here hoping by wind and tide may drift toward the shore.

"C H & A B "An American

Found While Wading

The amazing note was found by Frank A. Rhodes of 100½ West Springfield street, South End, a marine photographer while he was wading at the little beach just off Fort Independence on Castle Island, near City Point.

Three Roxbury youths were nearby on the shore and saw him pick up the bottle, an ordinary, plain, half-pint whiskey bottle, as it bobbed about in the water a foot or two from shore.

The bottle was tightly corked and was aided in keeping afloat by an ingenious wooden buoy—a stick tied to the neck of a bottle by a string. buoying of the bottle lends weight to the authenticity of the message—because the trick of the buoy would be known only to real sailors, they said.

When officials viewed the message they were puzzled. They pointed out that they had nothing definite to work on in a search for the boat and the author of the note.

The note was inscribed in pencil, the letters all printed on a sheet of heavy paper which appeared to be the front of a large manila envelope. The flap of the envelope, with its coating of glue, could be discerned.

The letters were scrawled in some places and done so possibly to disguise the authorship of the missive, those who read it believed. The excellent wording of the first line, "There is on board a man named Garrett," belies the misspelling of several words used later in the letter and also the obvious errors in English.

Many who read the note expressed the belief that it was written by someone who was trying to appear illiterate.

Any sailor, it was pointed out, could never spell the name of the well known shipping port Lunenburg, "Luniberg."

And it was also pointed out that the careful printing of each letter spikes any theory that the misspelling and poor English was the result of enforced haste.

When Rhodes found the bottle in the water there were three youths on shore watching him. They were James Ryan of 30 Forrest street, Roxbury, and two brothers, Thomas and Charles Roddy of 34 Forrest street.

They assisted Rhodes in fishing the folded and crushed note through the narrow neck of the bottle.

"My father had a very severe case of eczema. His hands, neck, and different parts of his body were affected with it. It started in blisters and itched terribly. At times he was in agony and could not sleep nights. He suffered about six months with it.

"He tried different remedies but none of them seemed to help the trouble. Finally he tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after six months' treatment he was completely healed." (Signed) Bert T. Carroll, Lornevale, Nova Scotia.

King Retains Control Until Bennett Ready to Take Reins.

SEVERAL DAYS' DELAY.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31 (C.P.) — A conference between Premier Mackenzie King and Premier-elect R. B. Bennett, lasting for about an hour, took place yesterday. At its conclusion, Mr. King said that Mr. Bennett had informed him that he would not be ready for some days to take over the Government. In reply, said Mr. King, he had told Mr. Bennett that he (Mr. King) was willing to meet his convenience in every way. He was ready to carry on for a few days or vacate just as soon as Mr. Bennett was in a position to take over.

Mr. King said that he and Mr. Bennett had had a pleasant talk, during the course of which they discussed some features of the campaign. He had informed Mr. Bennett that there would be a meeting of the Cabinet on Friday, but that from now until the new Ministry takes office, no appointments would be made.

and Frank Grey of Roseneath battled vainly against the pull of the canoe manned by J. Deyell and W. Cardwell, but bowed to defeat when they were pulled ignominously over the line. A spill in the gunwale race on the part of C. J. McInroy of Bonarlaw, shortly after the gun sounded, added a little zest to that event for the spectators. Bill Smoke, W. Cardwell, and Don Ellis brought their craft precariously over the finish line in the order named.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

ONE CAUSE OF BAD BREATH.

A young lady consulted her physician about her "bad breath" which was embarrassing, to say the least.

She had tried mouth washes without avail.

Her doctor suggested that she chew her food a little more and spread her meals farther apart. There was some improvement but as she was of the nervous type she found it hard to remember to chew slowly.

She then began to have some pain in the stomach which remained practically all the time. Had it been an ulcer food would have eased the pain for a couple of hours after eating. It was not a cancer as there were no cancer symptoms.

The physician decided to have her take an X-ray or barium meal, in an effort to locate the cause of the pain.

At the end of 3½ hours, about one third of the meal was still in the stomach, whereas it should have been practically all clear.

Again at 10 hours a plate was taken and there was still 10 per cent of the meal in the stomach.

This then was the cause of the bad breath and the constant pain. She was eating a meal regularly before the previous meal was out of the stomach, and there was pressure before gas formation.

The cause of the trouble was that she was of a narrow build anyway and the stomach was squeezed inwards so that it hung a couple of inches lower than it should.

Then when it did empty into small intestine it had to go upwards, and suddenly turn downwards making a short or sharp curve that held back the food from passing freely from the stomach into small intestine.

Whether the stomach had dropped the extra two or three inches because of loss of weight is just a question.

The physician suggested that she rest a little more; eat a little more food and get some weight, even fat, between organs in abdomen; adjusted an abdominal belt that held organs up in proper position; prescribed an exercise of lying on back, and raising legs with knees straight-to tighten abdominal wall. Meals to be not less than 6 hours apart.

Finally she was to lie on right side for fifteen minutes before meals,so that any food lying in stomach from previous meal could drain out into small intestine before next meal was eaten.

There are many individuals bothered with pain in stomach, who are fearful of ulcer or cancer, when the trouble is really due to a dropped stomach, a "slow emptying" stomach.

In revenge for being knocked down by the motorcycle of a farmer, a French farm hand recently lay in wait for the cyclist's return, then shot him dead.

IT'S SMART AND WEARABLE.

A sportive frock of yellow and white printed linen boasts of its plaited skirt treatment.

It has the smartly belted waistline like the grown-ups are wearing, that achieves a pinched-in effect.

A large yellow bone button attracts attention to the tab closing of bodice with interesting cap sleeves.

The back is quite straight and slender.

Style No. 3444 is simplicity itself to make. It can be had in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. For the miss of 8 years 1¾ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 39-inch contrasting is sufficient to copy it exactly.

The two-piece skirt is merely pressed into box-plait effect and attached to the bodice. Patch pockets stitched at edge of plaits, secure a snug hipline, to keep its line slender.

It's so attractive in white cotton broadcloth printed in sailor blue polka-dots with cap sleeves, belt and pockets of plain blue.

Shantung is stunning in opal-pink shade.

Tub silks in bably blue or baby pink tones is just the cutest idea ever that promises to be very popular this summer for beach and country year.

Nile green and white pique print worn with green leather belt is smart.

Yellow-beige and brown stripe in men's cotton shirting fabric is very effective with the cap sleeves and pockets cut on the bias and worn with brown leather belt.

Printed dimity, printed handkerchief lawn and gingham checks also appropriate.

Price 15 cents in stamps or coin.

OBITUARY

THOMAS McNEELY

After a long and painful illness, Thomas McNeeley passed away on July 25 at his home in Norwood. The deceased was born in Ireland seventy years ago and he immigrated with his parents at an early age to Norwood, in which vicinity he had since resided. He was a member of the Methodist Church later the United Church, and an Orangemen, and he was known throughout the district as a good neighbour.

Verner, pastor of the United Church, Keene; Trevor of Toronto; Dewart and Ainslie at home; also two daughters, Madeline, of Toronto and Eva at home. ed with distinct success. It is generally understood that his counsel has been invariably correct and well founded.

Judge Wearing further identified himself with local affairs, having been secretary of the Children's Aid Society for seven years, was twelve years solicitor of the Society and is now an Honorary President. He is a member of Otonabee Lodge, I.O. O.F., and of Royal Arthur Masonic Lodge, and Peterborough Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite. He is a charter member of the Kiwanis Club. His recreations are golf and gardening.

Secretary of Liberal Association

Since coming to Peterborough Mr. Wearing has been an outstanding supporter of the Liberal Party, and was secretary of the Liberal Association of this riding for ten years. His abilities as an advocate of Liberal principles and policies have always been at the service of his party and have been just as freely given, not only in this riding and in this district, but also on many platforms throughout the province. In this respect he has been generally recognised as one of the leading exponents of Liberalism in this part of the province.

In his educational interests Mr. Wearing was for a number of years a contributor to such magazines as MacLean's and The Canadian Magazine. He was president of the McMaster Alumni Association, and a member of the Board of Governors of the Frontier College.

Judge Wearing married Eleanor Thompson of Strathroy, Ont., and has two children, one son, Morris Pemberton Wearing and a daughter, Kathryn Marie Wearing.

The appointment of Mr. Wearing to the Middlesex county judgeship will remove from Peterborough a citizen of broad sympathies and interests, a lawyer who has gained an extensive practice and who enjoys the confidence not only of his clients but of all those who know him. His many human contacts in life, his unbroken studies and his varied experience as a barrister, should eminently qualify him for his judicial duties and office.

THE BOY BEHIND THE BISCUIT

Ever see a boy behind a Shredded Wheat Biscuit? You will have to look quick before the biscuit disappears—but wait and you will see him take another biscuit—and more milk. The more he chews the crisp shreds of baked whole wheat, the more he likes it—and that's the reason he is a real boy, full of bounding energy and radiant health. Just as good for grown-ups. Delicious with prunes, baked apples, sliced bananas or any fruit.

NIGHTFALL IN THE FOREST

Trees stand against the darkening sky,
Mysterious and dim;
And amber shadows swim.

As dusk veils leafy forest walls
Sound goes on careful feet,
The whippoorwill's insistent calls
Are muted now, and sweet.

The sky takes hyacinthine tints,
A flood of violet bloom;
The splendor of a star shield glints
Across heaven's deepening gloom.

Then, all night's inky flags unfurled
Blot out the trees, the sky;
Except the dark—and I!

A story about the women's league

Winnie was the least bit nervous. The women's league was meeting at her home. "I must really serve some nice refreshments," she thought. "What can I serve?... the very thing!... a bean salad!"

She took four cups of Clark's Pork and Beans that had been chilled in refrigerator. Then she made a delicious dressing with 3 soupspoonfuls salad oil, 6 soupspoonfuls vinegar, 4 soupspoonfuls minced sweet onion and 1 soupspoonful chopped parsley.

She seasoned it with salt and a dash of Clark's Governor Sauce and mixed it with the beans.

Winnie felt proud of herself as she arranged the salad in individual dishes. "I just know they will all think it delicious." (P.S. They certainly did).

Clark's Pork and Beans are made from the finest hand-picked beans—cooked by expert chefs in our own kitchens—carefully blended with Tomato, Chili or Plain Sauce.

. . . they MUST be good!

Let the Clark Kitchens help you for quicker and better meals.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

So often I have heard women and girls who are spending their vacation at summer resorts express the wish that they could find some way to fix their hair so that the curl would not all be taken out by the water when in swimming that I am going to give some suggestions to-day.

• • • • • • •

Keeping the coiffure trim and smart is indeed a problem, but this is solved by the following suggestions from one of our foremost hairdressers.

• • • • • • •

It is expert advice and yet so simple that anyone can follow it, with good results.

• • • • • • •

Before going into the water, comb the hair carefully, seeing that the wave is as perfectly preserved as you can make it. This is of utmost importance!

• • • • • • •

Have one of the mesh caps that are sometimes worn at night and which fasten under the chin. Put this over the hair and fasten it to that the hair is kept well in position.

• • • • • • •

Over this put the rubber cap which keeps the water out—or is supposed to. The type of cap that fits snugly to the head should be worn.

• • • • • • •

Tam caps let the water in more than do these snug caps. With the two caps well adjusted, the bather's head is ready for the plunge—anhow some mead to take that first plunge into the water!

• • • • • • •

As soon as the swim is over, remove the outer rubber cap, but not the mesh cap. Allow the hair to get thoroughly dry before taking that off.

• • • • • • •

This moisture may be from the water or it may be caused by perspiration for rubber caps are hot things to wear.

• • • • • • •

Therefore, if the rubber cap did keep out the water, this does not signify that the hair is not damp. See that the hair is completely dry before removing the mesh cap.

• • • • • • •

When the hair is dry and the mesh cap is taken off the coiffure will be in waves and the contour will be preserved. It is not always sufficiently appreciated that the contour of the head is of great importance if the hair is to look smartly dressed.

• • • • • • •

It is not enough that the wave is preserved. It must cling to the head as the hairdresser arranged it.

• • • • • • •

By following the suggestions above the annoyance of having the hair disarranged when going for a swim will be relieved.

• • • • • • •

When the under cap is taken off the hair is set in the waves and dried in them, if it were wet, and in any event the wave and contour, which is important, are preserved.

T. H. Stinson May Be On Next Cabinet

LINDSAY, July 31 (Special to The Examiner).—Prominent Conservatives in this district, it is announced, are taking steps to press the claims of T. H. Stinson, K.C., M.P., for a portfolio in the new Cabinet which Premier-elect Bennett will shortly be called upon to form. Mr. Stinson has carried the riding of Victoria and Haldimand in the last three campaigns by handsome majorities and is considered one of the ablest members of the Conservative party in Ontario. He has been President of the Eastern Ontario Conservative Association, which comprises a number of counties in the eastern part of the Province, which, it is claimed, should have representation in the Cabinet. He is also immensely popular with the rank and file of the party, and his appointment, it is pointed out, would give general satisfaction. A number of prominent Conservatives in the riding when interviewed today, while not caring to discuss the report, were unanimous in declaring that such an honor would bring prestige to the party and the government.

MASSEY'S APPOINTMENT MADE SOME TIME AGO

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31 (C.P.).—In view of the fact that there appeared to be some uncertainty in the point, Premier Mackenzie King said last evening that Hon. Vincent Massey was appointed to the post of High Commissioner for Canada in London some time ago. Mr. King explained that the appointment of Mr. Massey to the London post necessitated his withdrawal by His Majesty from the post of Canadian Minister at Washington. The Order-in-Council withdrawing Mr. Massey from Washington had now been passed, but the appointment was made some time ago, the Prime Minister said.

The R-100, Britain's great airship, has left England on her maiden trans-Atlantic flight to Canada where she will anchor at Montreal. This picture was taken during one of her recent trial flights and gives an excellent idea of what the R-100 looks like to the sky-gazer as she passes overhead. One would not judge by the picture that the airship is as large as the "Maurentia" and as luxurious as an Atlantic liner.

C.G.E. Beats Cogs 9-5 In Homer Hitting Spree

ALL RECORDS FOR LONG HITS IN E.P.L. BROKEN AS PLAYERS STAGE HEAVY-HITTING SPREE

THREE TRIPLE CLOUTS.

Winners Touch Vannest on Cog Mound For Eleven Safe Hits.

Bats were wielded lustily last evening at Exhibition Park when the C.G.E. continued their string of wins by downing the Cognawagas 9 runs to 5.

Fans enjoyed the contest immensely because of the heavy clouting. All records for long hits in an E.P.L. game were broken. Five times the horehide was given a ride into far pastures for the circuit and thrice it was lammed for three bases. Beavis led the way with two homers and others to gain home run honors were: Cuthbertson, Jones and Len Hollingsworth. Beavis, who has led the C.G.E. hitters all season, contributed the longest hit ever made at Exhibition Park in the third innings. The ball soared high over the head of Bob Ross, who was patrolling the centre garden, and bounced over the fence onto the race track, right out of the park.

All the homers were real smashes, but two of the triples were the result of sloppy fielding.

Vin Utronki hurled for the winners and except for certain stages when he found it difficult to find the plate was in rare form. Vannest was not in his usual form for the Cogs and was touched for eleven safe hits.

Swanston in Game

Max Swanston again worked behind the bat for the C.G.E. for several innings. "Swanny" appeared at the plate twice and nabbed two hits, making his batting record so far this season 1000.

Some of the fielding features of the game were turned in by Bob Ross, who filled the role of centre fielder with style although absent from that position for well nigh ten years.

The Electrics secured two runs in the second innings. With one out, Ash walked, Swanston singled, and L. Hollingsworth drew four balls to load the bases. Ash was out at the plate on Jones' rap to Corbett, but Cuthbertson's bad throw to first on Utronki's roller allowed two runs to score. Rose rolled to first for the third out.

In the third on singles by Johnston, H. Hollingsworth and Swanston and homers by Beavis and L. Hollingsworth the C.G.E. crossed the plate five times.

The Cogs got two runs in the fourth on Rooke's triple and Corbett's single. Corbett scored from third when Baker who had been walked, drew Hatton's throw to second on a steal. In the fifth the Cogs added two more when Cuthbertson hit for the circuit scoring Williams ahead of him.

A homer by Jones in the sixth and another by Beavis in the seventh brought the C.G.E. total to nine, while the Cogs added one run in the sixth to make their five counters.

ROBINS CONTINUE TO LEAD THE WAY

Brooklyn Improves League Position By Taking Double Victory From Phillies.

The Brooklyn Robins showed the way to National league in home run hitting as well as in the standings yesterday as they improved their position with a double victory over Philadelphia. Glenn Wright and Harvey Hendrick hit four baggers in the second game, which Brooklyn won 9 to 4, after taking the first 9 to 5, while Frank O'Doul, another of the many who have clouted more than ten homers this season, hit his 13th in the first game. By winning two contests, the Robins placed themselves 2½ games ahead of the Chicago Cubs, who had a day of idleness.

Fred Fitzsimmons also hit a home run and it made a hero of him despite the frequency with which pitchers have been clouting homers this season. The homer clinched a rather doubtful dispute.

Between the New York Giants and Boston Braves, giving New York a 5 to 2 victory. Fitzsimmons also hurled the full game and gave only eight hits. A timely single was all that was needed to give Pittsburg its second 6 to 5 victory over St. Louis, Ernie Bartell made the hit in the eighth inning to complete the Pirates' last rush which brought five runs in the seventh and eighth frames.

ORIOLES SPLIT WITH THE BEARS

KEYS BEAT SKEETERS.

The Baltimore Orioles, striving to overtake Rochester in the International League pennant race, had their chance yesterday to cut one full game off the Red Wing's advantage, but failed.

With the schedule calling for the Orioles to play a Doubleheader while Rochester was idle, Baltimore could have gained ground by taking both encounters, but instead split even. As the result the Red Wings are still leading the pack by four and one-half games.

The first game, a genuine modern batting orgy, went to Baltimore by the score of 17 to 12, as hits rang off the bats almost like bullets out of a machine gun. Strange enough there were no home runs in the first game but in the nightcap which Newark won 8 to 5, Joe Hauser poled out his fortieth home run of the season and Berton added another for the Orioles. Windle and Barrett did the same for Newark. The last game was a play off a protested game with Bears in June.

With nothing at stake except the honor of winning, Reading evened the series count at one all with Jersey City, winning the only other game in the league by the score of 4 to 3. George Bell of Reading had the best of George Miner in the hurling duel mainly because of the fine support in the field.

"TUFFY" GRIFFITHS STOPS TOM HEENEY

Plasters Technical Knockout Over New Zealand in Ninth Round.

BELMONTS NOSE OUT HARRISONS

Clubmen Winners By 12-11 Count in Heavy-hitting Affair.

MANY FIELDING FEATURES.

Belmonts just managed to nose out Harrisons by a 12-11 score in a softball fixture at Central School grounds last evening. The game contained many fielding features and was a heavy-hitting affair.

Although every member of both outfits played good ball, Jack Playford had the outstanding fielding catch of the evening, and incidentally one of the best witnessd on the school grounds. In the seventh inning with the bases loaded Frick hit a hard drive to deep centre. Playford went away back for the ball, leaped high in the air and stabbed it with one hand. He doubled Ward off second. It was a nice play and Playford got a big ovation from the crowd.

Galbraith pitched good ball for the Belmonts and was accorded good support in all but a couple of frames.

Montgomery started for Harrison's but gave way to Parsons in the seventh. The latter was a little wild and did not fare so well the short time he worked.

Harrison's made a bid for victory in the ninth when Lebarr hit a long homer with one on base. This brought Harrisons within one run of tieing. Smith followed with a double, but Willshaw flied out to Ward for the third out.

"Shiner" Clark and Ted Lebarr each had a home run, while Ab Frick came through with a triple with the bases loaded.

LOU GEHRIG LEADS YANKEES IN SLUGGING BEE AND NEW YORKERS WIN DOUBLE FROM BOSTON RED SOX

Gehrig's Homer Comes in 10th Inning With Two Men on Bases.

Philadelphia Athletics Now Leading League By Two Full Games.

Only a decade has passed since that memorable 1919 season when Babe Ruth opened the era of the "lively" baseball by hitting 29 home runs, and regardless of the still disputed question as to the liveliness of the ball it is well worth the fan's while to compare the slugging of the present and past days.

Five players still led by the eminent Babe already have reached that mark of 29 homers this year with only about two thirds of the season past Ruth is even ahead of his greatest year, 1927, when he raised the home run record to 60 while Lou Gehrig and Hack Wilson are only a game or two behind that pace.

Where only six major leaguers hit ten homers in 1919, thirty have done that well so far while eight four baggers on a dull day yesterday brought the major league total up to 1,060, more than double the number hit by the two leagues in the whole of the 1919 season.

Gehrig was the only leader in the slugging brigade to hit a homer yesterday, and he picked a highly appropriate moment to connect. The homer came in the tenth inning of the Yankees' first game against the Boston Red Sox, and turned a 2-2 pitching battle between Herb Pennock and Milton Gaston into a rout. Lou's clout accounted for three runs and with the aid of a homer by Harry Rice, the Yankees made eght runs n that inning for an 8 to 2 victory. They continued their slugging through the second game while George Pipgras held the Sox in check to win by a 10 to 3 count.

The double victory gave the Yankees a bit of an edge of their leading rivals as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated Washington 7 to 4. The Yanks now are only 2½ games behind the second place Senators, who in turn are seven games back of the A's. Pitching figured largely in this game as in the other American League contests. Bob Grove held the Senators in check, while four Washington hurlers proved ineffective although the teams got the same number of hits, ten. At Cleveland Earl Whitehill's relief hurling kept the Indians from overcoming an early lead, although they had a 14-9 margin in the hitting, and the Tigers won 6 to 5.

Wally Stewart and George Blaeholder each pitched a nice game for St. Louis against Chicago, and the Browns won the first by means of unearned runs, 3 to 2 in ten innings, and the second 6 to 1. The Sox made seven errors in the first contest.

SCOTS VERSUS C.G.E. ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Play on King Edward Park in Semi-final of White Challenge Cup.

The other semi-final game of the White Challenge Cup takes place on Friday evening on King Edward Park. Kick-off at 6.45, when the Caledonians and the Canadian General meet to decide the opponent of the Brinton in the final.

Since the Scots played their last game, they have strengthened their line-up in two departments which may include H. Fowler and J. Watkins who were signed up during the week. In all probability Manager Carmichael will trot out his strongest eleven so as to carry off the honours for the C.G.E.

The executive of the association requests the fans to co-operate with the official referee and linesmen, James Hawthorne and Jack Hodson and Alexander McKinley. All enthusiasts requested to keep away from the goals, at least six feet away and not to interfere with the custodians in any way.

26 RINKS ARE COMPETING FOR DUFFUS TROPHY

Ladies' Bowling Tournament Opened This Morning on Local Greens.

DISTRICT REPRESENTED.

Good Program Planned By Club Officials For Civic Holiday.

The Ladies' Bowling Tournament opened at ten o'clock this morning on the greens of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, with 26 rinks competing for the Duffus Trophy. The brief introductory ceremony incident to the proceedings was composed of short addresses by Mark Bredin, President of the Club, and J. J. Duffus, donor of the cup.

Rinks were present from Cobourg, Tweed, Lindsay, Weston, Norwood, Belleville, and Deseronto, in addition to local rinks from All Saints' and the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. The tournament closes this evening about six o'clock.

The President, in welcoming the visitors, expressed the hope that they would enjoy the day on the new and spacious grounds of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

J. J. Duffus, after having been introduced by the President, voiced his pleasure at being present, speaking highly of the courage and foresight of the officials of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club which had provided the delightful surroundings and unexcelled accommodations among which the ladies were permitted to play to-day. He saw the necessity of sport in everyone's life and thought bowling one of the most delightful forms of sport owing to the fact that it was not a particularly strenuous game.

"Not nearly so strenuous as an election campaign," Mr. Duffus added with a smile.

It had given him, he said, a great deal of pleasure to donate the cup to the ladies of the Club. He hoped the day would be one of mutual pleasure and that the best rink would win.

The rules for the day's play were read by Mr. Martin, who then made the draw—and the fight was on.

At the Open Tournament held on the local greens yesterday rinks were present from Port Perry, Cobourg and Port Hope. First Prize was won by H. Rosevear of Port Hope, second by W. J. Oke of Peterborough, third by J. H. Sedgewick of Peterborough, and a special fourth by S. Carnegie of Port Perry.

Civic Holiday on Monday promises to be a red-letter day in bowling circles here when the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club stages a local tournament conducted along the same lines as the popular Friday night tournaments. The affair is being arranged so that all new bowlers may have an opportunity of getting into the game, officials told The Examiner this morning, and the hope is expressed that these new players will take advantage of the opportunity and be out in large numbers.

Officials also point with pride to the record crowd which was present at the regular Friday night tournament last week, and look forward to a repetition this Friday.

ARMOUR IS NEW TITLEHOLDER

HAMILTON, Ont., July 31. (C.P.) — For the second time in his colorful career, Tommy Armour, professional of the Orchard Lake Club, Pontiac, Mich., has won the Canadian open golf championship. Wednesday at the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, Ancaster, the popular Scotsman wore down the resistance of Leo Diegel, freak putting professional from Agua Caliente, Mexico, to win the play-off and title by three strokes.

The extra 36-holes played here on Wednesday was necessitated by the deadlock between Armour and Diegel. Both players finished in tie at the conclusion of the 72-holes of the tournament proper last Saturday, and as they made a dramatic finish to take the leadership unusual interest was shown in the play-off.

SEATTLE GIRL SETS NEW MARK

RECORD BREAKER.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 31.—(By The Canadian Press).—With twelve world records already to her credit and the scope for new marks rapidly dwindling, Helene Madison, phenomenal 16-year-old Seattle girl, lately at the Cyrstal Pool here, attacked her own unofficial 100-yard mark and became the first girl in the history of aquatic competition to swim the century in less than a minute. Miss Madison, her threshing feet throwing up a spray like a young destroyer, literally tore through the water to finish in the amazing time of 59 seconds, one and four fifths seconds faster than her own previous best time and totally eclipsing Ethel Lackie's official mark of 60 9-10 seconds. Not satisfied with this achievement, she stroked her way to a new world record 26 4-5 seconds, unpaced, on the 50-yard dash as compared with Ethel Lackie's recognized 27 seconds flat.

It was Miss Madison's first attempt in the 50-yard mark and brings her list of world marks to thirteen. The occasion was the International gala sponsored by the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club and, besides Miss Madison's thrilling feats, one other world's record, two Canadian and a B.C. record were broken. The crowd gave the overjoyed Miss Madison a tremendous ovation as she climbed from the tank.

Eleanor Holm, of the Women's Swimming Association team of New York, shared a small corner of the spotlight occupied by Miss Madison. Miss Holm, 16 years of age, world's backstroke and medley swimming champion, clipped a fifth of a second from the world's record time of 2:58 4-5. The record was 2 minutes 59 seconds, as set by Marie Braun of Holland, European Champion. Three watches caught her time and those of Miss Madison, and application is to be made to have the records placed on the official list.

The visiting swimmers, including six from the Women's Swimming Association of New York and one from Los Angeles, besides Miss Madison, played havoc with Canadian records, two Dominion marks accompanying the three world's records into oblivion. Lisa Lindstrom of New York swam the 440 yards free style just 26 seconds faster than it has ever been done in Canada, setting a record of 6 minutes, 3-5 seconds, as compared with the old mark of 6 minutes 26 3-5 seconds held by Irene Pirie of Toronto. She finished about 70 yards in front of Agnes Martin, a Vancouver entry.

Catherine Ames and Constance Hanf of New York had a little duel of their own in the 200-yard free style match and both finished well under the Canadian record. Constance Hanf, 12-year-old New York district champion, started four seconds ahead of Miss Ames and held her handicap to win. Her time was 2 minutes 30 1-5 seconds, while Miss Ames finished in 2:27 4-5. The Canadian record is 2:43 2-5, held by Mary Casson of Toronto.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., July 31. — Accidental death was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Ralston Sampson, a Walpole Island Indian. Babe Ruth Adds Two Points To Average

The Big Six had a busy day yesterday as four of them engaged in double-headers, but the general trend of the batting averages was downward, with "Chuck" Klein and Babe Ruth, the first and the last, furnishing the exceptions. Klein hit three out of seven in his two games to add a point to his average and made it .408. Ruth hit four times in nine attempts and gained 2 points, going to .358. Frank O'Doul, Klein's leading rival, dropped a point to .403, with three hits in nine tries. Bill Terry and Al Simmons failed to connect safely, each going to bat four times and dropped four and five points respectively. Lou Gehrig held fourth place between them, dropping three points to .387, as he made three, one of them his thirty-second home run of the year, in ten trips to the plate.

RAYS IN GOOD SHAPE.

The Oshawa Arabs will send in their ace twirler, "Duke" Dainty, against the Rays at Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon in the first game of the series for the Lakeshore League championship. The "Duke" has turned in impressive work this season for the Motor City team and Andy Cohen, manager of the team, stated yesterday that he would be the pitching choice.

The Rays are in the best of trim for the contest and are strongly fortified for the important series. Al Heckman has been getting his arm in shape and it would not be much of a surprise if he twirled the game for the locals.

Conny Smythe Gets Smart Hockey Player From Montreal A.A.A. in Johnny Gallagher

TORONTO, July 31. — Conny Smythe, astute leader of the Toronto National Hockey League Club, has scored again. Two years ago he placed the name of Johnny Gallagher, then a star defense man with the Kenora Thistles, on the Toronto negotiation list, but Montreal stepped in, and it is alleged that Gallagher was "imported" by the Maroons. Last winter Gallagher starred for the M.A.A.A. team, winners of the Allan Cup, and now Smythe announces that Gallagher has signed with Toronto. The Maroons will hear this news with considerable grief, as there is little doubt but that Gallagher is one of the best prospects in the sport. He is a good checker, a fast skater, and clever on the attack. It is said that the Montreal owners were determined that Gallagher would not be permitted to sign with any other team except the Maroons, but the player evidently tired of this "beating-around-the-bush stuff," and took matters into his own hands. In games here last spring he stood out, and the opinion was freely expressed that he would make the grade in the National League. Smythe saw him in action, and he decided that under no circumstances would he agree that Montreal had prior right to this player's services. Smythe is looking forward to the future, and with many young players in the fold he believes that the day is not far distant when Toronto will capture the Stanley Cup and the world's title.

Present Trophies To Winnipeg Police Squad

WINNIPEG, Man., July 31 (C.P.)—Sir Henry Thornton last night presented silver trophies in a big way. To members of the Winnipeg police squad of the Canadian National Railways, of which he is President, Sir Henry presented 21 trophies won by the men in major revolver shooting competition in Canada and the United States. The team was composed of R. G. Pickerell (captain), H. Wheatley, J. W. Brune, M. Ross and J. Garriock. Lady Thornton also took a hand, presenting the team with several cups won in recent competition. Members of the team were presented to Sir Henry and Lady Thornton by H. G. Page, Montreal.

SPLENDID PROGRAM FOR McCRACKEN'S

Regatta Will Be Held This Year on Saturday, August 9.

A regatta bigger and better than ever before, is being planned for McCracken's Landing, Stoney Lake, on Saturday afternoon, August 9, in an endeavor to hold up the name the annual aquatic meet has won as one of the largest on the Kawartha lakes. The McCracken's Landing Junior Regatta, for the benefit of the younger athletes on the lake, is scheduled for the following Saturday, August 16.

A large entry list is expected at both meets. For weeks past preparations have been going forward under the direction of Doug. Hall and his cohorts, and now all is set for the big day, with the exception of som last minute details. The regatta on the 9th will offer a diversity of sports, ranging from dinghy sailing to surf riding contests. Such new features as a novelty "bang and come back" motor boat race will be on the bill this year.

Fourteen-foot dinghies will race for possession of the Peterborough Canoe Company Dinghy Sailing Cup and pennant.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND PORKY PINE.

Once upon a time there was a queer little animal boy named Porky Pine. The reason he had that name was because he was a porcupine, or a creature in whose fur were many sharp, stickery pines. These spines, or tiny arrows, like toothpicks, stuck into anybody who bumped into the porcupine or who tried to hurt him. Porky, which is the name all his animal boy or girl friends called him, was a cute little fellow, never doing any one any harm.

Porky could not run as fast as Sammie or Susie Littletail, the rabbits, nor even as fast as Baby Bunty, the orphan. Porky had no sharp teeth like Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow nor sharp claws like Tommie and Kittie Kat. So when Porky thought any one was going to harm him he curled himself up into a little round ball of fur, with his sharp arrows sticking out all over him like a cactus plant, and Porky never said a word.

But if a Fox or Wolf tried to bite Porky those spiny arrows stuck in the mouth of the Bad Chaps, and they were glad enough to run away and let Porky alone. The sharp quills were so loose in his fur that they could easily be pulled out and did not hurt Porky in the least. But Porky could not shoot his quills at anybody. They only pulled out when they were touched.

Now Porky was a cute little chap and he liked to play with the other animal children who lived near him not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. But the other boys andt girls of Woodland did not like to play wih Porky.

"His quills come out to easy!" said Baby Bunty. "If you just touch him in playing tag, golly! You get a quill in you and its hurts!"

"That's right!" barked Jackie Bow Wow. "The other day, just for fun I stuck my tongue out at Porky Pine and one of his quills jabbed in me. I guess I got too close to him."

"We won't let him play with us any more," said Billie Wagtail, the goat, shaking his horns.

Now when Porky heard that the other animals would no longer play with him on account of his loose quills coming out and sticking them, the little spiney chap felt very bad. He must have looked unhappy, too, for when Uncle Wiggily met Porky walking slowly along the woodland path one day the rabbit gentleman asked:

"What's the matter Porky?"

"Oh, lots is the matter!" answered Porky. "The other children won't let me play with them. Look out! Don't come too close, Uncle Wiggily!" he warned the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, I know about your stickery quills, Porky," said Mr. Longears with a laugh. "You may be sure I am not going to touch you, though I like you very much and I feel sorry for you. I suppose the other children won't let you play with them becaus if they tag you then you stick them."

"Yes, that's how it is," sighed Porky, "though I don't mean to do it. I just can't help it! If there was only some way of keeping my quills from coming out I would be happy!" he said.

"And yet if your quills did not come out easily, the first Wolf or Fox that met you would gobble you up!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, that is true," agreed Porky. "But if there was some way I could keep my quills from sticking the others when I play tag with them, and then some way I could have my little quills come out if a Bad Chap tried to bite me, that would be dandy!"

"Hum! Yes, I suppose so!" said Uncle Wiggily. Then he looked at a clothes line near the pen house of Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, and right away Uncle Wiggily had a fine idea. For on the line were hanging out to dry some big stockings the fat pig lady wore.

"Porky," scried Uncle Wiggily, "I have it! I know a way to keep your quills from sticking your friends when you play tag with them and yet, if a Bad Chap tries to bite you he will get stuck!"

"How?" asked Porky eagerly.

"I'll get an old, big stocking leg from Mrs. Twistytail," said the rabbit. "You can slip into the stocking leg with your head and legs sticking out, as there are no quills on them. The stocking that covers you will keep your spines in so they won't stick your friends. And after you finish playing tag you can take off the stocking and be ready for any bad chaps. How's that?"

"Fine!" squealed Porky. But maybe Mrs. Twistytail won't let me have one of her old stockings."

"We'll go ask her. Come on!" invited Mr. Longears.

Glad to Be on Her Feet Again

"I was nervous. No appetite and all rundown. Most every day I had to lie down for two or three hours. I saw one of the booklets advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I went to my druggist and bought a bottle. My nerves are lots better and I am now on my feet again doing all my own work around the farm. The Compound has certainly done me good and can help others."—Mrs. Willie Lafleur, Route 3, Hemmingford, Quebec.

STUNT FLYER THRILLS CROWD

"Billy" Irwin Stages Wing Walking Act as Part of Air Taxi Program.

WELL KNOWN HERE.

"Billy" Irwin, fearless stunt artist in the service of the Leaven Brothers' Air Taxi Company of Belleville, gave spectators at Milburn's flying field on the Chemong road quite a few thrills towards dusk last evening, when he walked out on to the wings of the Waco biplane piloted by Lawrence Hicks of Belleville, as it flew at an altotude of 200 feet.

On acount of unfavourable flying conditions the aviators were unable to follow the scheduled program. "The air was bumpy" explained the pilot and the stunt exhibition was necessarily abbreviated on that account.

Mr. Irwin is well-known throughout this district, having been in this city two years ago with Captain Jenny, during which time he walked the wings while the airplane soared over the city of Peterborough.

In conversation with The Examiner Mr. Irwin stated that he received his initial flying training in Miami, Florida after which he went to California where he received an engagement to do some parachute jumps in the making of the picture "Wings". He also did some stunt flying in the picture "Such Men are Dangerous." Following these engamements he was for some time with the Gate Flying Circus which made an extensive tour of the United States. Mr. Irwin also holds the record for a 60 foot leap without parachute into the water in Toronto Bay, which he made while he was flying at Sunnyside.

The Belleville armen were joined by Norman Millar the popular local pilot, who is a present engaged flying for Colonel Ackerman and who hopped over from Toronto for a short visit. The two planes made a striking picture as they soared over the city early last evening, in close formation.

Government authorities and planters of North Sumatra, Netherland East Indies, are trying to induce natives of Java to settle there.

MOORING MAST REDUCES HELP

CUTS EXPENSES.

MONTREAL, Que., July 31 (C.P.).—Commercial operation of airships has received scant support from large financial interests in the past by reason of the great expense involved in providing a sufficiently large ground crew to handle these huge craft on arrival at their destinations. The present flight of the R-100 has been planned with the object of solving this, among other problems, and the British Air Ministry anticipates that a system of mooring masts will eliminate this heavy cost. More than three hundred men were used at Lakehurst in 1926 to handle the Graf Zeppelin, and a similar number would be employed here but for the fact that the R-100 will berth at the huge tower erected at St. Hubert. No more than a dozen men will be needed for this operation.

Considerable interest attaches, therefore, to the mooring experiment that will be carried out to-day for the first time on the North American continent.

THREE WINNIPEG CITIZENS DROWN

Rowboat Capsizes, Man Drowning Before Companion Arrives.

UNDERTOW TAKES TWO.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 31 (C.P.).—Three Winnipeg residents were drowned yesterday. At Winnipeg Beach, a resort on Lake Winnipeg, an elderly man sank to his death within sight of a companion when the pair were thrown from a rowboat which capsized. Two young boys, bathing in the treacherous Red River, were caught in the undertow and lost.

The Victims.

Peter Wright, 56, whose boat capsized as he was fishing in the lake.

Kenneth Hamilton, 11, drowned at a river swimming-hole in the north end of the city.

Thomas Keays, 11, lost as he swam in the Red River near his South Winnipeg home.

command, His Majesty's assent to the Bill is declared.

Then the Bill will be read and the Clerk of Parliament will say, in old Roman French, "Le Roy leveult" (The King wills it).

The quaint procedure used was instituted in the reign of Henry VIII.

The announcement of the King's signature was made by Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and was greeted by cheers in the House of Commons. Mr. Snowden said that the British ratification will be deposited simultaneously with the ratifications of the Dominions and India and the ratifications of the United States and Japan, when all three parties to part three of the treaty are in a position to bring the treaty into force in accordance with Article 24.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, had asked as to the status of the London Treaty and Chancellor Snowden replied in view of Premier MacDonald's departure today for Oberamergan.

DEW WORM MANIA.

With the fishing season at its height, the dew worm mania has hit the younger generation of this city with unusual vigor, judging by their nightly excursions on strange lawns about town. Without so much as "by your leave" boys and girls, armed with lanterns and sundry weapons, descend on lawns after dark, turn off sprinklers, perform their operations, and depart usually without turning on the sprinkler again. A mere householder dares not face them, even with his righteous wrath, and even when they invade flower beds in their diligent search. What the present market value of dew worms may be is unknown, but the market value of a dew worm hunter's scalp should be high, judgtig from the remarks of some lawn-groomers.

STARRY WHITE CROSS.

Gazing idly from her verandah at 477 Albert street, on Tuesday night at 9.40, Mrs. William Lucy beheld what appeared to be a starry cross rising in the heavens from behind the trees. The attention of a group of ladies returning from a meeting was called to the spectacle by Mrs. Lucy. In the northern sky they saw a white cross, they declare, in size several inches, as it seemed from the distance. There was a long stem, the cross-piece, and a short stem at the top of about seven inches. No explanation of the phenomenon has so far been offered.

14½ POUND MASKINONGE

Fishing in Rice Lake at Hiawatha last evening, George Robertson of this city, landed a lunge weighing 14½ pounds, measuring 40 inches, and with a girth of 15 inches. That in itself is an object of pride to any fisherman, but it is only half the story. In company with some friends, the party bagged between them four lunge and two pickeral in one hour, and returned with the evidence in a gunny sack. The largest of the fish was proudly displayed outside Blade and Robertson's store, on George street.

RE-MODELLING OLD HOUSE

The old grey stone house at the corner of Hunter and Rubidge streets, occupied recently by Thomas Deforge, is being remodelled inside.

It is understood that it will be used in the Fall months as an auxiliary classroom for St. Peter's School, where the overflow is proving too great for existing accommodation. It is hoped to place about eighty of the younger pupils in the building which is being remodelled for their use.

REAL "GYP" IN GYPSY

Many northern residents of the county now know what the "gyp" means in gypsy. A band of these ill-kempt nomads passed through the northern townships recently and succeeded in fleecing many persons by the old art of fortune-telling. Not satisfied with the results gained by "crossing the palm with a bill" the gypsies did much petty thieving and robbed a service station north of Havelock.

Provincial constables H. Thompson and A. Sommerville made a long excursion into the north yesterday but were unable to run down the thieving band.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 2 4 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

After the first outburst of grief, Tarzan controlled himself and questioned the tribe concerning the killing of Kala. They told him of a strange hairless black ape with feathers on its head, who launched death from a slender branch—then fled with the fleetness of Bara the deer toward the setting sun.

It was enough. Tarzan sped rapidly to intercept the black warrior. He took his knife and rope. He struck the trail and in the mud he found footprints such as his own—but larger. His heart beat fast! Could it be that he was trailing a MAN? One of his own race?

Soon he came upon the black warrior. Tarzan looked with wonder. Horta, the boar, was charging and Kulonga shot a little poisoned arrow. Horta staggered and lay still. Kulonga cut seevral pieces from the boar's body, built a fire, and ate as much as he wanted, leaving the rest.

Tarzan was an interested spectator. He decided to follow further this savage creature, killing him at his leisure. When Kulonga departed, Tarzan of the Apes dropped and severed several pieces—but he didn't cook them. He knew not the use of fire. So he gobbled down a lot of the raw flesh.

And then Tarzan, Lord Greystoke, wiped his greasy fingers upon his naked thighs and took up the trail of Kulonga. In far-off London another Lord Greystoke—Tarzan's uncle—sent back his chops to the Club's chef because they were underdone, and when he finished, dried his hands on snowy damask!

WASHINGTON, July 31. — The searing drought which for weeks and months has baked large areas between the Rocky Mountains and the Appalachians was listed as the worst the country has experienced since state-wide weather records began.

J. B. Kincer, meteorologist of the Department of Agriculture, described it as unparalleled in the records which reach back forty or fifty years.

Lindsay Bandmaster Resigns From Post

LINDSAY, July 31 (Special to The Examiner).—Band matters in Lindsay are again up to concert pitch; the climax being reached last night in the joint resignation of both Bandmaster Shunk and the members of the senior band.

The band committee last night notified the citizens' committee of the organization that they intended to quit. They gave as a reason for this action that there were not sufficient players to keep the band in existence and also that it was impossible to get outside players.

Wednesday morning Bandmaster Shunk handed in his resignation to the band committee. He felt that this action was the best way to clear the air and bring the whole matter to a head. The council will, in all probability, be asked by the citizens' committee to continue him as bandmaster. The request will be dealt with at the council meeting on Tuesday night.

Just when life was brightest,
Just when his hopes were best,
To this sweet life came a sudden end.
He died as he had lived—everyone's friend.

SCHWEIER.—In devoted remembrance of around the bend of the road, in remembrance of John Nelson Schweier, July 31, 1929.

Just for a while he has from my sight
Around the bend of the road,
My loved one has reached the City of light,

And around it shall find our heavenly home
And come to our journey's end.
For our God will be there
With our loved ones to wait
And welcome us home at the beautiful gate.

British Parliament Prorogued by King

UNEMPLOYMENT PROVING WORRY TO HIS MAJESTY

Ruler Expresses Satisfaction With Britain's Foreign Power Relations.

Sessions Resumed October.

Failure of Anglo-Egyptian Settlement Proves Disappointment.

LONDON, England, August 1 (C.P.). — The British Parliament was prorogued to-day, the King presenting a speech in which he recounted the successes and difficulties of the last session of Parliament which his speech brought to a close.

With the proroguing of Parliament, which probably will resume its sessions next October, the MacDonald Laborite Government is safely in power for the summer. The French and German parliamentary bodies also have been adjourned for the summer.

Pleased With Visit.

The King expressed his satisfaction with Premier MacDonald's visit to Canada and the United States; the London Naval and Hague Conferences, the financial progress of Europe, the evacuation of the Rhineland, and the mission to South America.

Voicing the words of his ministers he expressed "grave anxiety over the high level of unemployment during the last year," and indicated his disappointment at the failure of an Anglo-Egyptian settlement.

THOMAS SENDS HIS BEST WISHES

Secretary of State For Dominions Wires Acting High Commissioner R. H. Hadow.

OPENS UP NEW ERA.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 1. — (By the Canadian Press.)—The successful completion of the flight of the R-100 to Montreal has resulted in the following cable from Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, British Secretary of State for the Dominions to R. H. Hadow, Acting High Commissioner to Canada:

"I cannot let the great opportunity afforded by the voyage of the new airship to Canada go by without taking advantage of it to express my hope that this will be the first of many successful airship voyages and will be looked back upon as the beginning of a development of much significance to the British Commonwealth of Nations and to the United Kingdom and to Canada in particular. Each improvement in the means of communcation provides an additional link between the parts of the empire concerned; each increased facility in its turn help to assist the flow of trade.

"Therefore, I specially welcome the achievement in this country as well as the cordial assistance of His Majest's Government in Canada, which have made this voyage possible. It seems to me to be of happy augury that the voyage should take place on the eve of our approaching discussions at the Imperial Conference on our mutual economic problems and interests."

Mr. Hadow was in Montreal this morning for the arrival of the R-100, but returns to Ottawa later in the day. The commander of the R-100 carried several letters from England; one to the Governor-General, one for the Prime Minister of Canada from the Prime Minister of Great Britain, and one for Mayor Houde of Montreal.

July is Hottest In History of U.S.

Washington, D. C., August 1.—July 1930 passed into history to-day with preliminary figures at the weather bureau indicating it was the hottest month ever recorded. While reports from all of the weather stations have not been analyzed, a compilation of temperatures registered at the larger station shows it was hotter for a longer time, and over a larger area than in any previous period since temperature records were established.

VOYAGE PERFECT ACROSS ATLANTIC TO FATHER POINT

Great Liner Rose to 4,000 to Miss Storm at End of Trip.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 1 (By Jack Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer).—"We never had a bump all the way across the Atlantic Ocean, and everything went perfectly until we got to Father Point. There we ran into a bad bump, and the jar tore the fabric on a stabilizing fin. The damage was temporarily repaired and was negligible."

With these few words, Sir Dennistoun Burney, director of aircraft development and designer of the British dirigible R-100, dismissed casually the great adventure of Britain's queen of the skies here to-day.

Sir Dennistoun, with Major G. H. Scott, assistant director of airship development; Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, captain of the R-100, and Squadron Leader Johnston, navigating officer, gave a joint interview to members of the press shortly after the ship docked at St. Hubert this morning.

Four Officers Give Interview.

The interview was an informal one. The four officers, tired but jubilant, submitted to a barrage of questions covering all angles of the flight.

There was still five tons of fuel left aboard the ship when she hooked into the mast here. The most valuable thing learned on the trip was that travel by airship was the most comfortable means of transportation. The course taken is the most feasible for commercial use if larger ships are used.

"It was a very good test of the ship's ability," Sir Dennistoun said. "We ran into one of your thunderstorms last night, and rose to 4,000 feet to get out of it. The trip was 3,364 miles from mooring mast at Cardington to mooring mast at Montreal.

Gained Experience.

"The chief benefit we derived from the trip was experience. We need long flights to gain the experience in handling lighter-than-air-craft. There was not a mismovement across the Atlantic, and the ship behaved perfectly. We dodged to get into favorable winds once or twice, but the air was very calm. The most impressive thing about the trip is this—on Monday night, I entertained a party at dinner. We left Cardington at 9.46 p.m., and if we had been lucky at the latter end of the trip we would have been here in time for dinner last night."

Major Scott, captain of the first British airship to fly, inventor of the Air Ministry system of airship mooring, and one of the greatest lighter-than-air experts in the world, has invented a new system of collecting water for ballast while flying. He mentioned it casually, following the

Dunning Denies Return To Provincial Field

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.). — There is no foundation for the rumor that Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, may return to Saskatchewan as leader of the Provincial Liberal party. Mr. Dunning, who was at his office in the east block this morning, said definitely that he has no intention of going back into the Provincial field.

The Minister of Finance, who introduced into Parliament the famous May-day budget, which was later to become one of the major election issues, looked well and appeared cheerful when he met a few newspapermen on his return from the West.

PETERBORO MAY SEE THE R-100 ON AUGUST 8TH

Will Fly From Montreal to Toronto and Hamilton That Day.

WAIT ALL NIGHT.

Storms and Damaged Fin Hold Up Arrival of Great Airship.

(By William Edgar, The Examiner's Representative at the Airport.)

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., Aug. 1.—It is just possible that the R-100 would be seen above Peterborough on August 8. On that date the big ship will fly from Montreal to Toronto and Hamilton, and as it is the desire of Squadron Leader Booth and the British Air Ministery that as many Canadians as possible should have the opportunity of seeing the great ship, the Commander might be induced to travel above the Trent Waterway since the route is not yet fixed.

The city that first hoped to see the graceful salmon-shaped argosy of the air freighted with rich promise for the future circling above the tops of its highest sky scrapers at noon, resigned its end to wait until 4, ten till 5.50, till 7, until the news of the accident to the fin was officially confirmed. For a time all hope was given up that the airship would appear at all last night, as the hoist man on the mast put it: She will not me moored this month. Then came the message from the commander that he hoped to reach St. Hubert about midnight. Despite the delay the patient watchers who stoically endured disappointment after disappointment were augmented by the arrival of notables by rail, road and airplane from Ottawa, from the maritimes and from the United States.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, one of the certainties in the next Cabinet, came from Ottawa, as did G. J. Desbarats, Deputy-Minister of National Defence. During the time of waiting for the silver-sided mammoth, famous avi-

500 STUDENTS CAUSE TROUBLE

Attempt is Made to Stage Demonstration in International Quarter of Shanghai.

STREETS BLOCKED.

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 1 (A.P.) —The tide of Communism harassing Central China touched the international settlement here to-day, as 500 student agitators attempted a demonstration only to be repulsed by the clubs of foreign police who had anticipated their plans.

Police charged when the students gathered in the heart of the international city to stage a parade with Communist banners and distribute Red propaganda. The agitators soon were scattered. Fifty were arrested and held for trial in Chinese District Court.

The French concession, although quiet, took on a warlike appearance as police erected barbed wire entanglements, enlarged their patrols and closed all streets leading to the native part of the city.

All thoroughfares between the native section and the French section were barred with 10-foot iron gates and no traffic was allowed to pass. Machine guns were mounted here and there in the event of an emergency.

The Associated Press correspondent visited the native section and found no signs of Red activity. The usual military and civilian police were patrolling the area. Martial law was considered to exist there, however, but this was nothing unusual, because the Chinese military always controls the policing of the native quarter.

NO VISIT TO U. S.

LONDON, August 1 (C.P.).—Questioned regarding the possibility of the R-100 making a visit to the United States, the Air Ministry stated::

"The R-100 will not visit the United States on this flight."

AIRSHIP'S BATTLE WITH ELEMENTS TREATED LIGHTLY

Ship's Height Varied Rapidly Between 1,500 and 4,000 Feet.

STRUCK ONE STORM.

Time in Air Was 79 Hours, of Which 8 Were Spent Repairing Fin.

(By Jack Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer.)

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Que., August 1. — Just one short paragraph in the official log of the giant dirigible R-100, which landed here today from Cardington, England, tells the story of a flight against the elements in the darkest hours of last night.

Passed Terrific Storm

At 9.30 p.m., the R-100 was heading up the St. Lawrence River. She was making fairly good time. Suddenly she passed through a terrific thunderstorm. The air was in a turmoil, and the huge ship, 709 feet long, was tossed for hundreds of feet in the air She sustained no damage from her buffeting however, and while considerable delay resulted she managed to ride out the storm without any serious difficulty.

In the log just this much of the story is told:

"At 9.30 p.m., local time, passed through thunderstorm. Violently disturbed air currents. Ship's height

STRATFORD MAN TELLS ODD STORY

Forced to Drive Stranger to Bank—Pistol Pressed to Ribs.

IN COMA FOR WEEK.

WINDSOR, Ont., August 1 (C.P.). —A stranger with a revolver, the gun jabbed against his ribs, a forced drive to Midstone, and then a bank.

This is the story told by Harry Davis, Stratford native, who disappeared mysteriously last Thursday night and was found in a state of semi-coma on Friday in a lonely section of the country south of Woodslee. He has been in Metropolitan General Hospital for nearly a week, and while he appeared to regain consciousness at times, it was not until to-day that the physician in attendance would allow questioning.

Davis told Detective-Sergeant E. C. Hazen that on his way home on Thursday evening last—he was making his home with relatives in Waikerville while working for a construction firm here—he stopped at a store and when he went to get back into his coupe shortly after nine o'clock, a stranger stepped up with a gun in hand, demanded that he be given a ride to Midstone, about 12 miles out the highway, and climbed into a seat beside Davis. The muzzle of the revolver, Davis, says, was pressed close to his side all the way. Davis does not remember what happened.

Traveller Found Knifed in Back

MONTREAL, Que., August 1 (C.P.)—With two knife wounds in his back and with a probable fracture of the skull, Albert Henry, 40, was found on a street in the north end of the city early to-day.

Police believe Henry, who is a travelling salesman, was attacked and robbed by chance acquaintances and then thrown from his car. A search is being conducted for the automobile.

11 BOY SCOUTS UPSET IN LAKE

GIVEN MEDICAL AID.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1. (C.P.)— After clinging to their six-oared row boat for four hours, eleven Boy Scouts were rescued from Lake Deschenes, near Aylmer, Que., early this morning, exhausted but none the worse for their adventure. When the craft capsized after nine o'clock last night the boys clung to it but their cries for help were not heard until after midnight when Bert O'Connor and Fred Faucher of the Aylmer Yacht Club put out in an outboard motor boat and picked them up.

Brought to the Yacht Club and given medical attention, none of the boys seemed harmed by the exposure.

POLICE ARE CONFIDENT OF ARRESTING MURDERER

Fails—Tracing Big Negro

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.) — One more arrest was made here yesterday in connection with the Rumbold murder mystery and once more the suspect was released after police questioning.

One More Arrest in Rumbold Case

Despite the failure of many clues the police of the Province of Ontario, Tonawanda, N.Y., and Port Credit, Ont., are still optimistic regarding the capture of the culprits in the brutal murder of Phillip G. Rumbold, Tonawanda, realtor, who was found beaten and strangled to death in his car near Port Credit. Chief of Police Johnston of Port Credit stated last night that he had submitted a confidential report of Provincial Police headquarters containing new information which he refused to divulge to the press.

The latest of the rumors which police have had to track was that a huge negro wired from Toronto to Buffalo the day before the murder demanding money from Rumbold.

CHINESE GOV'T IS WARNED TO PROTECT U.S. CITIZENS

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 1. (C.P) —C. T. WIDER PAVING IS PETITIONED FOR BY RATEPAYERS

Armour Road Residents Are Dissatisfied With Present Width of Pavement.

PAVE NEXT YEAR.

Propose Conference With Department of Health Over Sewage Plant.

Standard width paving with curb and gutters will be laid down on Armour Road next Spring, following the completion this year of the storm drains. This was the decision reached last night by the Board of Works Committee of the City Council, and came as a result of the dissatisfaction with the width of the paving now being put down expressed by a delegation of Armour Road residents.

The width of the present paving is 20 feet, and the residents of Armour Road stated that this was wholly inadequate to take care of the traffic and that it left a boulevard of 16 feet on either side of the paving, which they considered much too wide.

Some of those in the Council who had voted against the extension of paving this year took the opportunity of stating that the work should not have been done until next year.

Recommend Storm Drains.

A motion was passed recommending that the storm drains be put in this fall, and that the pavement be made the standard width of 27 feet next spring. It was explained that owing to the building of the big storm drain in East City as an outlet to the Armour Road drains, the work had not been done previously, but that it would be completed soon and with local labor.

The ordered addition to the sewage disposal plant is still much before the Council. The aldermen visited the plants recommended by the Department of Health last week and returned home unanimous in their opinion that these plants were not efficient and would not prove successful here.

A conference will be secured with Dr. Bell and Dr. Godfrey of the Department of Health, with Premier Ferguson present, if it can be arranged, at which the position of the local Council will be placed before them. It was stated that when the Department can point out to the local Council a disposal that is working properly, then they will be satisfied and immediately start building, but the present plants in Toronto appear to be merely experiments.

$500 To River Road.

The Finance Committee voted the Douro Township Council $500 for work on the River Road, providing the Lakefield Council would also make a grant.

The aldermen declared themselves as heartily supporting any measure that would improve the road along the beautiful drive on the east bank of the river. It was stated that if the work was well carried out another grant might be forthcoming next year.

Reeve Leahy stated that his town-

GIRL IS INJURED BY C.P.C. TRUCK

Little Visitor From Montreal Meets With Accident on R er Street.

BROTHER IS HURT.

Elizabeth Branston, an 8-year-old visitor to the city from Montreal, is lying in St. Joseph's Hospital as a result of injuries she received when struck by a truck on Rogers street in East City yesterday afternoon. Her brother, Edward, 6 years, was also injured.

The accident happened after the children, with their parents and several other adults, had gotten off a bus at the regular bus stop half way between Hunter and Douro streets on Rogers street. It is claimed by witnesses that the party wanted to cross to the other side of Rogers street from that on which the bus stopped and waited until the vehicle started moving. The children ran out first and both were hit by a Canadian Packing Company truck. The driver of the truck claims that the children were hit by the side of the truck but others maintained that they were hit by the front of the truck.

Dr. F. P. McNulty attended Elizabeth Branston. Edward sustained injuries to his legs and one ankle but was not taken to the hospital.

Giant Air Liner Completes Trip With Rising Sun

With Morning Sun Peeping Over Mont St. Hilaire the Giant British Dirigible Coupled to Her Mooring Mast Just 79 Hours After Leaving England.

MOORING OPERATIONS ARE WITHOUT SLIGHEST HITCH GREAT AIRSHIP CRUISED OVER MONTREAL DURING NIGHT

From Quebec City to Montreal the Giant Dirigible Was Fairly Dogged With Misfortune and Minor Accidents—Damaged One Large Fin and Drifted Over City.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., August 1 (By Wallace H. Ward, Canadian Press Staff Writer). — With the morning sun peeping over the shoulder of Mont. St. Hilaire, the British dirigible R-100 coupled to her mooring mast at St. Hubert Airport at 5.36 o'clock this morning (E.D.S.T.), just 79 hours after casting loose from her own mast at Cardington, England. Mooring operations were carried out without the slightest hitch from the time the silver bulk of the dirigible nosed down towards the tower till she was safely fastened to the revolving anchor at the top of the mast.

Heavy-eyed from their all-night vigil, watchers at the field followed the slow moving lights of the airship as it cruised within five miles of the airport after circling Montreal at two o'clock. The rounded bulk of the ship was caught from time to time in the shaft of light from the searchlight on top of the Government hangar silvering her long shape jewelled with twinkling lights. At 4.45 in the morning, with streaks of dawn showing in the East, the airport bestirred itself for the docking of the weary ocean traveller. The R-100 swung in narrowing circles about the field, her engines keeping her barely moving.

Lost Altitude Slowly.

A few minutes before 5 o'clock, in an early misty light, the ship turned her blunt nose straight for the mooring tower which was still sparkling with lights. The airship lost altitude very slowly, barely drifting on the mast. Figures of mooring officers on the bridge of the tower could be seen moving about as an army of camera men, movie men and newspaper men gathered as near the mast as police and military pickets would permit.

The appearance of the sky-wanderer after many hours of waiting, was the signal for an outburst of cheering from those at the airport. Behind the high fence surrounding the field too, were perhaps a thousand people who have braved first a scorching day, then a windstorm and rain, and finally a drop in temperature which made sweaters and heavy coats very welcome.

Day of Disappointment

Yesterday was a day of heart-breaking disappointment to thousands from early dawn to nearly midnight; a huge throng stood outside the highway fence and waited patiently. They took what consolation they could from the brief reports given over the public address system, and fairly groaned when it was announced, shortly before midnight that the ship would not be over the field until three o'clock; then the crowd shuffled on.

But to-day, they can return and see the ship for which they waited so long. For the trip of the R-100 bids fair to become one which many will not forget.

The British dirigible, largest of her kind in the world, left Cardington, England, on Monday night at 9.45 p.m. eastern standard time. She made steady progress across the broad Atlantic and on up as far as Quebec, but from that point she was fairly dogged with misfortune and minor accidents.

At six o'clock last evening, she hovered around the ancient Capital, appearing, disappearing and then reappearing from a point estimated at fifteen miles back on the trail she had travelled.

Then she wirelessed St. Hubert that a torn fabric on a stabilizing fin had compelled a considerable reduction in speed. When seen by camera men in aeroplanes, she was barely moving at this point. Later, she advised that temporary repairs had been affected.

Weather Conditions Perfect.

On the St. Hubert field, weather conditions at this time were wellnigh perfect. If anything, it was just a trifle too warm for comfort. The heat was quickly dispelled around 8 o'clock, however, by a terrific wind storm, followed by light showers and lightning. The storm swept down the St. Lawrence Valley, meanwhile the R-100 was in the vicinity of Three Rivers, Que. However, just prior to this, the weather bureau at the airfield had wirelessed the big ship of the oncoming storm, and she turned tail for safety and ran 15 miles southeast. After the storm had passed, she hovered around Three Rivers for some little time, and then wirelessed St. Hubert that she was coming on to Montreal.

There was another long period of anxious waiting, especially after the Canadian Press correspondent at Three Rivers had wired that it took the big vessel, capable of travelling

WHEAT POOL IS NOT ATTEMPTING TO HOLD UP PRICE

Roy German, Secretary of Alberta Wheat Pool, Addresses Kiwanis Club.

NATIVE OF HASTINGS.

All That Farmer is Demanding is a Fair Price For His Wheat Crop.

"We are not trying to starve women and children as has been so wrongly charged, but merely striving to maintain the proper standard of living for the Canadian wheat farmer," declared Roy German, secretary of the Alberta Wheat Pool, addressing the Kiwanis Club at noon to-day on the purpose and workings of the Wheat Pool.

Any opposition to the Wheat Pool that may have existed previously in the minds of his hearers was swept away by Mr. German's illuminating and comprehensive outline of the Wheat Pool. He punctured completely the charge that the Western farmers were attempting to secure exorbitant prices for their wheat, by pointing out that the purpose of the Pool was to so spread out the selling of the wheat crop that a fair price might be secured.

Native of Hastings.

Mr. German is a native of Hastings and is at present holidaying in that community. Twenty years ago he left Peterborough and since has risen to his important office in the selling of Canada's golden harvest.

In the Canadian Wheat Pool there are 144,000 farmers who are in the association to better producing and marketing conditions of wheat. The Wheat Pool is composed of the three Provincial Pools. The speaker outlined the democratic organization in which each individual farmer has a direct voice in its policy and managing.

The reason for the organizing of the Wheat Pool was because of the economic pressure on the farmers, stated Mr. German. Previously 85 per cent. of the Canadian wheat crop went on the market during the first three months after the harvesting of the crop. This caused a tumbling in prices since the world was being asked to buy in a year's supply in three months. There was

JULY BUILDING SHOWS INCREASE

Total For Year is More Than Double That of 1929.

26 PERMITS ISSUED.

Peterborough's building record for the present year maintains itself at more than double that for the same period in 1929 To date Peterborough's building operations have swelled to $624,370 as compared with last year's total to the end of July of $278,705.

While July's building was not nearly as great as in June it was still nearly $4,000 in advance of the same month last year. Permits for building issued in the city during July totalled $31,000 as compared with $27,650 for the same month last year.

The permits numbered 26, and six dwelling houses were listed among them for a total value of $19,000.

Chinese Reds Sweep Yangtse Valley

ALL SUBJECTS OF BRITAIN ARE URGED TO FLEE

Two Gunboats Rushed to Strengthen British Patrol.

5 U.S. SAILORS WOUNDED

Many Important Cities in Path of Ruthless Bandits.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 1.—British naval authorities at Kiukiang, Kiangsi Province, to-day urged British subjects at Kuling, summer resort 12 miles south of there, to evacuate quickly. The action followed a purported statement by the Kiangsi Governor warning foreigners Chinese authorities would not be responsible for them after three days.

The region is teeming with hordes of bandits and asserted Communists. A Red army was reported to have captured and looted Hwayuan, 50 miles north of Hankow.

As a result of the crisis on the Yangtse River, Rear-Admiral MacLean, commanding the British Asiatic fleet, ordered two destroyers, the Somme and the Sirdar, at full speed from Tsingtao to Kiukiang to reinforce the British Yangtse patrol.

The British 10,000-ton cruiser Cumberland already is at Hankow and the destroyer Bridgewater is at Nankin. Miscellaneous gunboats are stationed between Nankin and Ichang.

Conflicting reports said Communists in Kiangsi Province were running riot, drawing nearer to Kiukiang and Kuling, while Nationalist resistance in the vicinity of Nanchang was reported crushed.

Valley is Overrun

SHANGHAI, Aug. 1—Communists in South Central China, who reduced the rich city of Changsha to shambles and resulted in an attack yesterday on the United States gunboat Palos, last night were sweeping on unchecked in an apparent effort to seize the entire Yangtse River Valley with its many important cities.

Pillaging bands were reported within 25 miles of the important industrial cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang.

Authorities of the Japanese concession in Hankow were erecting barbed-wire defenses. Kiukiang and the nearby summer resort of Kuling were reported being evacuated by foreigners.

Communication was fragmentary and the exact situation was unknown.

An effort by the Palos to approach Changsha to determine the situation there, where looting and burning has been in progress several days, resulted in the clash in which five bluejackets were wounded and fifty Communists killed and others wounded. The vessel was raked with machine-gun fire, and the attackers silenced only after it opened up at close range with its three-inch rifles and machine-guns.

The Palos, which had rescued foreigners from Changsha prior to the Communist raid, was in command of Lieutenant Commander R. D. Tisdale of Baltimore. Following the attack, the gunboat, undamaged, withdrew down the Signa River.

Six Are Killed When Air-Taxi Crashes in England

The cause of the air-taxi crash that killed six persons, two of them members of the nobility, puzzles British air experts. Discovery of the gasoline tank intact precludes the possibility of an explosion. Photograph shows the ruins jammed against a house in Meopham, Kent, England, where it crashed to the ground. SIR JOHN SIMON SETTLES DISPUTE

Refuses To Be Subject of Wrangle in Indian Round Table Conference.

DOES NOT WISH FAILURE.

LONDONG, Eng., Aug 1. (C.P.)—Sir John Simon, Liberal Leader and head of the famous Indian Statutory Reform Commission whose report bore his name, has finally settled a dispute in the House of Commons whether he or any other member of the Commission should form part of the British delegation to the Indian Round-table Conference next October.

In a letter to Sir Austen Chamberlain, former Conservative Foreign Secretary, Sir John said he refused to be "the subject of a wrangle."

"I can well understand" he wrote with reference to the Labor Government's decision to leave him out of the delegation, "that by this arrangement it is hoped to attract some Indian element which otherwise might be unwilling to come.

"In any case the last thing to which I will consent is to be the subject of a wrangle. If the conference succeeds none will be more pleased than I. If it fails none shall say I contributed to its failure."

BRITISH PLEASED AT R-100'S TRIP

Press Claims Airliner Set Record For Lighter Than Air Craft.

SHIP NOT PERFECT.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 1. (C.P.)—Gratification of the British public that the dirigible R-100 made the swiftest trans-Atlantic crossing yet achieved by lighter-than-air craft found expression in the press today.

The newspapers recall that the British dirigible R-34 made history eleven years ago by the first airship crossing of the Atlantic but at the same time admits that perfection had not yet been reached in this branch of aerial travel.

The damage to the fabric which delayed the landing at Montreal is regarded as unfortunate.

The telegraph asserts that the R-100 and R-101 are the swiftest and strongest airships in existence, although far from finality. The Mail says the flight was a remarkable performance, adding that Great Britain leads the world not only in aircraft design but in skill and courage of its airmen.

While calling the achievement unexpected good and tending to prove the reliability of airship travel, the News-Chronicle says that the anxiety regarding aerial trips over the ocean still exists. The Express contends that the fight should prove of lasting value in showing Canadians that the British at home are still capable of energetic and creative action.

None of the commentators recalled the critical comments of a year ago —that both the R-100 and R-101 were too slow and lacked sufficient lift to be of commercial value, and that the designer himself, Sir C. Denistoun Burney, was one of the severest critics.

LIQUOR PERMITS TO LIST WINES

Drayton States New Step Will Eliminate Need of Extra Permit.

MAY BUY ONE BOTTLE.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 1. — Announcement has been made by Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Toronto Liquor Control Board, that provision will be made in the 1931 liquor permits for the listing of purchases of wine.

This, he stated, would eliminate the necessity of separate permits being issued, for the purchase sale of the latter has provided the Board with a problem ever since the Ontario Liquor Control Act replaced the Ontario Temperance Act, under which sale of intoxicating liquors was prohibited.

Under the new regulations being framed for the sale of native wine, the Liquor Board chairman stated a purchaser will be be able to buy one bottle of wine instead of having to buy three bottles as at present.

This is part of the education campaign to encourage sobriety," declared Sir Henry commenting upon a new feature to be contained in the permit which requires the vendor to enter the money expended each time the permit holder visits one of the Government stores.

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 1 (C.P.) — Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, who was defeated in Monday's election poll, may return to Saskatchewan as leader of the Provincial Liberal party. It was reported in local political circles that Mr. Dunning might be disposed to accept an invitation to again lead the Liberals in the Provincial field.

A new leader is expected to be selected at a rally here late in the Fall. J. G. Gardiner, ex-Premier of Saskatchewan and present chief of the party, intimated some time ago that such a convention would be held.

Mr. Dunning is now en route to Ottawa, where he is to attend a Cabinet meeting to-day.

PREMIER SENDS R-100 GREETING

COMPLETES HIGH HIGHWAY.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.)—A message of congratulation to the captain and those on board the R-100 has been sent by Premier Mackenzie King. On behalf of the Government and people of Canada, the Prime Minister wired "heartiest congratulations." He stated in his telegram that "the safe anchoring of the R-100 to the mooring-mast at St. Hubert Airport marks the completion of a new highway of communication and transportation between the British Isles and the Dominion of Canada."

The text of Mr. King's telegram to Captain R. H. Booth follows:

"On behalf of the Government and people of Canada, I extend to you, to Group Captain Colmore, Major Scott and the officers, passengers and men on board the R-100, heartiest congratulations upon the completion in record time of the first voyage by an airship from Great Britain to Canada.

"The safe anchoring of the R-100 to the mooring mast at St. Hubert Airport marks the completion of a new highway of communication and transportation between the British Isles and the Dominion of Canada.

Beginning In 1926.

"This great venture had its beginning at the Imperial Conference of 1926, at which time, on behalf of His Majesty's Government in Canada, my colleagues and I voluntarily undertook to provide, through Parliament, for the immediate erection in Canada of a suitably located mooring mast, together with the meteorological data and organization necessary to make possible an experimental flight between Great Britain and our Dominion.

"It is indeed deeply gatifying to us not only to have been permitted to participate in the sustained and united effort which has made possible today's achievement, but to have been privileged, before formally relinquishing office, to witness the consummation of the combined efforts of the British and Canadian Governments to provide, by air navigation, yet another avenue of trade and commerce between this country and the Old Land."

PAVING AT GALT.

GALT, Ont., Aug. 1.—Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, conferred here with representatives of Galt, Paris, Ayr and North Drumfries Township on highway problems of this district. Hon. Mr. Henry said the Department was willing to take over Sprague's road and pave it, but would not pave the East River road; at the same time leaving it to the local men to select which one they wanted.

THREE LOSE DEPOSITS

MONTREAL, Aug 1. (C.P.)— Official figures in Laurier-Outremont constituency confirmed the unofficial opinion that three of the four candidates had lost their deposits in Monday's election.

The seat was won by J .A. Mercier Liberal member of the last Parliament and F. Fortier, Conservative, L. W. Jacobs, Independent Protectionist and J. A. A. Shinnick, Independent Conservative polled less than the votes cast for Mercier.

MAY REPAIR AT LAKEHURST.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., Aug. 1.—Possibility exists that the R-100 may go to Lakehurst, N.J., for repairs to her damaged fin. It is understood that Admiral W. A. Moffitt, in an interview with the Minister of National Defense, placed any facilities required at Lakehurst, N.J. hangar at the disposal of the R-100.

ators put many of the fifty airplanes on the field through their paces.

Inspects Mooring Mast.

The Examiner representative was one of a fortunate few who obtained permission to inspect the 210-feet million dollar mast to which was later moored the two million dollar 709 feet long R-100, about as long as two of the city blocks and twice the width of George Street. People who had from the ground already seen the sun set, saw a second setting from the high tower. Westward a tiny rift in the clouds illuminated by the dying sun took on a curious resemblance to the expected leviathan, and gave the superstitious among the groups hope for its safe arrival. When dusk had fallen upon the gleaming St. Lawrence, and the quaint white farm houses with their dark colored roofs and the narrow striped fields, characteristic of French-Canadians farming, disappeared from view; when no longer could be seen the flags and placards bearing messages of welcome in French and English or the enormous canvas sign of greeting and congratulations on the steel of the Empire's biggest building, that of the Sun Life now nearing completion, and dwarfing even the imposing St. James' Cathedral modelled upon St. Peter's in Rome—greeting from one giant to another—and when first the blue mountains in the distance on the other side of the border and then Mount St. Bruno and Mount St. Hilaire on the Canadian side, grew dim and were blotted out by the darkness which descended silently like the wings of a dove, the flashing, revolving beacon on the main hangar was turned on. The gaily painted airplanes were brought to the ground to leave R-100 in undisputed possession of the air. Flood lights on the mooring mast made it stand out like a gleaming torch, ground beacon and red and white moving lights outlined fields. Thunderstorms and dumpy weather were reported between Three Rivers and Montreal at 8 p.m. when the ship was still 90 miles distant from the Metropolis.

The first plane to greet the R-100 after its arrival in Canada was a patrol machine owned by the Anticosti Corporation. On the lookout for the visiting dirigible, this aeroplane picked it up far down the St. Lawrence and escorted it for many miles on its course up the river.

Fin Is Damaged.

Over the mooring mast shortly after the arrival of Hon. Col. Ralston fluttered a string of red and white signal flags strung from the pinnacle to the ground. All was ready for the air queen. The big moment was thought to be only a matter of a few hours, when the whole structure of hope so oft deferred was shattered by the announcement that the ship would not moor till morning. The damage to the fin and the necessity for caution in anticipated storms keeping the vessel out of Montreal until the early morning.

Arrangements were made which permitted a number of interesting experiments during the flight on behalf of the Cambridge School of Agriculture in order to ascertain whether the upper air over the Atlantic contains traces of the existence of vegetable organisms, minute listing spores, etc. If their existence can be proved it will provide data upon certain outstanding problems in the botanical world. R-100 accordingly carried a number of "petrie" dishes which were exposed outside the control car at regular intervals of 3 hours throughout the flight. The time and altitude were noted on each occasion. A "petrie" dish is a small flat glass disc with a glass cover containing in the bottom preparation of gum agar-agar the whole being sterilized before use. When the dish is exposed to the air the microscopic organisms fall upon the preparation and can survive and breed upon it. The dishes will shortly be sent back to Cambridge for examination.

It is a peculiar coincidence that both R-100 and Graf Zeppelin should have been crippled in the same way towards the end of their maiden trips across the Atlantic, as the Graf Zeppelin limped into Lakehurst, Uncle Sam's premier airport in a similar condition, though her casualty was a good deal more serious and was repaired enroute by the son of Dr. Hugo Eckener, builder and commander of the German ship.

At the airport the weather remained fine, but the wind became fresher and the wind cones stretched farther and farther out as the breeze blew up. Inside the hangar officials and newspapermen squared away for a second night of vigil, this one fraught with tense anticipation of many troubles that could arise.

Considerable comment was aroused as hour after hour messages were received, all of which described the airship as being in the vicinity of Three Rivers. Storms on her course between Three Rivers and Montreal induced the commander to steer somewhat out of the projected route.

A sigh of relief went up not only from the officials and newspapmen but from the patient crowd waiting outside the airport when a direct message was received at 12.40, announcing the ship as being 70 miles away and asking for preliminary landing data.

At 1.30 a message was received from Mount Royal asking the approximate time of the expected arrival no less than 2,000 people awaited through the early morning hours on the mountain in the hope of catching a glimpse of the British ship.

Ten miles away, thrill went through the crowded hangar. The drowsy were stirred into action as the news passed quickly from lip to lip.

Admiral Moffat in an interview with Col. Ralston, offered the use of all the facilities of the Lakehurst, New Jersey, hangar to effect what repairs might be found necessary for the R-100. Later Major Scott declared that everything necessary could be done at St. Hubert.

At 2.20 the ship's lights were discerned from the control tower. Faint cheers from Montreal direction told of its appearance over the city. The beam of the revolving beacon stabbed upwards through the darkness. A mighty shout went up from the aerodrome as the moving light stopped. Right at the end of the beam was silhoutted a long grey object moving slowly as the light kept pace with it.

Four times, from 2.20 when the big ship was first sighted till 5.30, the time of the final mooring, she made huge circles, taking in the Island of Montreal and a great sweep over the mainland. At times the lights of the slow moving ship flying broadside from the St. Hubert seemed like the plough in the heavens.

Daylight was just breaking as R-100 made its final circle before landing. Lights went out all over the field as Mount St. Bruno and St. Hilaire resolved themselves out of the blue mists and the red light of the dawn lights on the ship also went out as she turned down toward the mast. She became a black object sharply outlined against the slate grey clouds. As she maneuvered close to the mast she took on quickly changing shapes—now a balloon suspended in air, now a blimp, and as it drew closer, an oval with many prickly spines.

Her ballast was emptied from the bow and the ship's nose tilted immediately as her cable was spliced to that attached to the winches of the mast. At 5.20 her motors stopped as she hovered over the tip of the stub mast. Then the ground crew, trained for fully eighteen months in England before being sent over here, got to work in real earnest. Two other cables dropped from the airship were quickly attached to tractors. More ballast was emptied and the combined efforts of winches and tractors pulled her down. A mechanic from the airship appeared at the port window and shouted directions to the men below. A white flag fluttered from the front gondola, the signal for the final tautening of the cables. A minute later R-100 was locking to a union connected with the hydraulic mooring ram, weighing 26 tons. A roar of welcome from thousands and the honking of hundreds of automobiles broke the stillness of the dawn. R-100 was safe on the mast.

to the ground, where it was spliced to the cable connected with the winches at the top of the tower. The engines died out, all but one of the stern, which kept the vast bulk nosing into the mast. The cable tightened as the winches whirred and the nose of the airship dipped as the pull was felt. A stream of water ballast gushed from a port near the bow. A second cable looped downwards, to be seized by a waiting ground crew. A third cable went to another crew to steady the ship. There was hardly a breath of air stirring. As the winches pulled the dirigible closer, thousands of eyes eagerly scanned her windows for a sight of the 44 who came from England in 79 hours. The first of her company to be seen were three brown overalled men clustered in a birdcage of wire at the nose of the ship. It was the crew ready to couple the ship as it touched the coupling on the top of the tower.

A cheer went up as white faces were seen at the tall glass windows of the control car. A hand waved cheerily as the last of the engines kicked and was silent. Ground crews and winches pulled valiantly and the big ship bowed to her bonds and came to rest.

Thousands Cheer.

The coupling to the mast was the signal for rolling cheers from the thousands of early risers who had braved the cool, misty dawn to see the air leviathan dock. Auto horns screamed a rousing welcome and police motor cycles roared into life.

Watchers hastened to get a look at the damaged fin at the tail of the ship. The tear in the fabric, which Major Scott describes as "unimportant" was hardly noticeable from the ground. Her silver sides glistening in the sun. Canada's largest aerial visitor is far bigger than photographs show, and her size was causing many remarks of astonishment.

A gangplank dropped from the port in her bow as she coupled to mast; a Customs man went aboard for the clearance papers. A few minutes later the officers stepped down the gangplank to be greeted at the reception room at the top of the tower by Mayor Houde; Hon. J. L. Ralston, Canadian Minister of National Defense; J. A. Wilson, Controller of Civil Aviation in Canada; Rear Admiral William Moffett, Chief of U. S. Navy Aeronautics, and other military and government officials.

Throngs view Test.

QUEBEC, August 1. — The R-100 stopped over the Island of Orleans for two hours late yesterday while repairs were being made to the dam-miles of Quebec a huge crowd collected torn while the big airship was almost within sight of Quebec.

When reports were received here that the ship was within twenty miles of quebec a huge crowd collected on the Dufferin Terrace, which forms a perfect platform from which she could be viewed as she passed up the St. Lawrence on her way to the mooring mast at St. Hubert. Some anxiety developed when the airship after being picked up like a cloud over the island, disappeared, then reappeared again, and finally seemed to be drifting in the breeze eastward and down the river. Finally she was again picked up and was seen to be making progress toward the city. She dropped to within 300 feet of the ground and then was taken up to a high elevation. Her commander was evidently testing the damaged fin. Apparently satisfied all was well the R-100 nosed out over the St. Lawrence and past Quebec.

Will the Wafdists Overthrow King Fuad?

KING FUAD and PARLIAMENT in SESSION.

Press reports from Egypt carry very serious rumors that the Wafdist or Nationalist Party of Egypt are plotting the overthrow of their monarch, King Fuad, and put in his place a successor more in sympathy with the Wafdist ideas. Up until 1922, Egypt was a protectorate state of Great Britain's. Since that time, England has granted her increasing independence but if the present rioting continues, Great Britain possibly may find it necessary to step in and reestablish her protectorate over the land of the Nile. The present Premier of Egypt, Sidky Pasha, is ruling with a minority Government.

interview, while chatting with a member of the Canadian Press staff.

He had been queried regarding ballast. "Oh, when we need more water we just collect it on the fly. We did it all the way across."

"How?" he was asked.

Collected Water Ballast.

"Well, we built a sort of little gutter arrangement along the top of the envelope and collected rain water. The enormous bulk of the ship makes it quite easy. Then we piped the water down, strained it and put it into the pipes. We managed to get three tons that way. It doesn't cost anything and works perfectly any time it rains—and, of course, there is always lots of rain around the Atlantic," he said.

Rain is not the only thing the R-100 collects on the "fly," however, Major Scott stated that when the ship is in flight, she collects a great deal of static electricity. When the cable leading from the nose of the ship to the mooring mast is first dropped on land, anyone touching it might get a very severe electrical shock, but the ground crew and those aboard the ship keep away until the wire touches the ground, when the static is drained off instantly.

"The shock would not kill, but it would certainly be severe enough to knock anyone touching the wire, down. But we warn everyone not to touch it until it has touched the ground," he said.

IMMIGRATION MINISTER IS RAISING SPECULATION

OTTAWA, Ont. Aug. 1.—Who will be the next Minister of Immigration? Many names are being forecasted. Some think Hon. Robert Rogers will get the post. With the change of government the conference on immigration will not likely be held at least until after the Imperial conference.

Immigration has had more variety in the matter of bosses during the last ten yars than any other Department of the Government. There have been ten changes in nine years and another one coming.

GIANT AIRLINER COMPLETES TRIP

70 miles an hour, nearly one and a half hours to travel the four miles between St. Jean Des Chaillon and Grandines.

It was pitch dark on the ground as the low monotone of the ship's motors first became heard. Then her light could be seen moving slowly, after which she was picked up by the immense air-beacon on top of the hangars and other lights. She nosed her way slowly along, all aglitter with her own lights and those focussed from the ground. The first sight of the ship came when watchers noticed a single light gleaming in the sky. It flickered on and off, on and off, and the crew evidently signalled to the ground. Immediately the light became the object of all eyes, and the cry arose, "She's here."

Again and again the huge dirigible circled the field below, pandemonium reigned; every available automobile horn for miles around the field was pressed into service, while hundreds cheered. The big ship dipped salute and then the searchlights caught her as she swung lower still. Every detail of the sky-liner was plainly visible, even to the Union Jack which swung proudly from her bow.

Unofficially, it was stated she had made the flight from Cardington to the point where first sighted in 72 hours 46 minutes.

Big Ship is Moored

Promptly at 5.04 a.m. a cable dropped from the nose of the dirigible, snaking down in swinging loops

Mt. Vesuvius Alarming Residents

Residents at the foot of Mt. Vesuvius are alarmed at the volcano's activity increases after renewing its eruptions.

The eruptions are scarcely more than are customary during the spring activity at the most severe periods, but the memory of last week's earthquake added to the dread of the natives.

The volcano presented a spectacular picture at night, as occasional tongues of flame rose to the sky.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, August 1.—The long-quiet export business came to the rescue of the wheat market yesterday and boosted prices as high as three cents. Foreign buyers took over 3,000,000 bushels of wheat from North America—all that was offered—and cable advices indicated the improved business was likely to continue in some degree. Prices on the Winnipeg Exchange closed 3c to 2½c higher, fractionally lower than the day's high, and almost wiping out Wednesday's heavy losses.

Active pit trade brought out liberal offerings on the numerous price bulges, but buying by Eastern interests was sufficient to cope with any amount of selling. Only in the last few minutes of the session did support fail and then values moved back slightly from the day's highs.

Cash wheat was in strong demand at spreads that ranged as much as one cent better, but trade was light. Holders of the cash product were not interested in present prices. Pit trade in coarse grain was featureless, but values generally held strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 1. — Extraordinary shrivelling up of the 1930 corn crop led to fresh soaring of corn prices yesterday, and helped to rally the wheat market as well.

Losses of corn now reach 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels every 24 hours that general drought continues, it was authoritatively estimated here yesterday.

Big export business in wheat fom North America, said to total upward of 6,000,000 bushels for the last 48 hours, was another outstanding feature.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—The trade in all lines of cash grain was dull here yesterday and values were unchanged.

A feature of the butter trade was the arrival of 4,500 boxes of New Zealand product for the local trade. The demand for Canadian butter was fair and values were unchanged. Receipts were 4,768 boxes.

Values for cheese were slightly firmer under a fair demand from all sources. Receipts were 9,572 boxes.

The demand for all grades of eggs continued good, and prices were unchanged. Receipts were 1,681 cases.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—From the dealers' standpoint yesterday's market for eggs was not so good as at the first of the week, and prices for graded eggs, in free cases, were down ½c at 31c for extras, 29c for firsts, and 25c for seconds—seconds holding firm. Dealers stated that supplies were hard to move even at these prices, and several cars of Western eggs on spot, that have not moved yet, were partially responsible for the decline. Country shippers were quoted steady prices at 29c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 22c to 23c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned.

Buyers did not seem interested in any kind of eggs yesterday, and some dealers were unable to move any receipts. But with production low, the market is likely to steady by the first of the week, unless another sudden hot spell hits the city. When the weather locally is hot and draggy, people do not want too many eggs, and though receipts are light they soon pile up, and the market weakens.

Butter

The butter market was steady, as far as prices were concerned, but trading was no better than on Wednesday. The report of 30,000 boxes of New Zealand butter arriving at Halifax had no apparent effect on this market, though about 15,000 boxes will probably find their way here. The New Zealand shipment will be put in storage, it is thought, and held for a better price than is now being offered.

Country shippers were quoted 28c to 28½c for Ontario No. 1, and 26½c to 26¾c for Ontario No. 2 butter. The high prices, as usual, were for large lots only.

Cheese

The cheese market was about steady at 17c for new large, 17¼c for twins, and 17½c for triplets

NEW POLITICAL RECORDS.

In the excitement of the landslide in Monday's election the setting up of a number of records as a result of the victory of E. A. Peck has been overlooked.

Mr. Peck, by winning Monday's contest in West Peterborough, established a new mark for ambitious politicians to shoot at by becoming the first candidate in the history of the constituency to be victorious in three general federal elections.

That was one record.

Another was those more people voted for him in this particular election than have ever voted for a candidate in any local political battle.

And a third is to be found in the fact that Mr. Peck's total majority in his three successful campaigns ran close to the 6,000 mark, a showing never before approached in local political history.

It is doubtful whether political records anywhere can produce another case of a citizen who has been out of active politics for more than a decade coming back at the age of sixty-seven years and winning three general election campaigns in a row with an average majority not far short of 2,000 votes.

THE NEW PERMITS.

Sir Henry Drayton, head of Ontario's Liquor Control Board, intimates that the liquor permits to be used in Ontario next year will be filled in with the cost of each individual purchase, and the total expended on alcoholic beverages will be carefully marked each time the permit is used.

In other words, every permit-holder will be able to tell at a glance just how much money he has spent on liquor since the beginning of the fiscal year, a little book-keeping experiment that should have some effect in strengthening the "control" end of the present system.

A man of ordinary common sense faced with figures that show unmistakably that he has been spending his money too freely on a luxury is likely to decide that it would be good business for him to cut down his expenditures.

He might not go to the trouble perhaps of figuring out the amount of his purchases himself, but when the work is done for him and the total is set out in his permit the extent of his buying and its effect upon his income may cause him to decide that he could save money by spending less on something he does not need.

A PLEASING DEVELOPMENT.

One feature of the election results that is being favorably commented upon by the press generally is that the solid French bloc in Quebec has been broken, that the Liberals have succeeded in winning a seat in Toronto, and that the Progressive group has been delegated to a place of diminished importance in the political scheme.

It is pointed out that Conservatives and Liberals have been elected in every Province in the Dominion, and that the new Government is representative of the whole country.

The fact that French-Canadian support is no longer accorded to one political party is hailed as a very material contribution to unity in Canada, and as a development that will be of benefit not only to French-Canadians themselves but to the Dominion.

The Progressives will have a voice in Parliament, of course, but they will no longer exercise the advantage of virtually possessing the balance of power.

Out of a total membership of 245, the two old parties now hold 224 seats, so that the influence of the independent members is of far less significance than it was in the Parliamenas of the past few years.

JUDGE WEARING.

Peterborough citizens generally will unite in congratulating Joseph Wearing, city solicitor for the past seven years and a well-known member of the local bar since 1914, upon his appointment as judge of the County Court in Middlesex.

Judge Wearing has many qualities that should make for a splendid record of service on the bench: he is a good lawyer, a good citizen, a good Canadian and a good Britisher, and will undoubtedly make a good judge.

In addition, his own career, a battle against odds to educate himself and to achieve success in life, has given him an abundant supply of that milk of human kindness that would seem to be essential to a successful performance of the duties and responsibilities of the high office to which he has been called.

His appointment will bring pleasure to his host of friends in this district; friends, it may be said, because of the light it throws upon Judge Wearing's personality, who are as numerous among the Conservatives whom he consistently but fairly fought as among Liberals whose ally he has always been.

In politics he has been one of those happy warriors who have the not too common faculty of being able to battle vigorously for the cause he believed in without making enemies among those against whom he fought.

The only regret involved in the honor that has come to him is that it means the loss to Peterborough of a citizen who has always been in the forefront of those who loyally and vigorously have worked for the interests of this community.

BY WAY OF EXPLANATION.

Polling was over at six o'clock on Monday night, and within a very short time afterward news was starting to come in of how the contest had gone. The first definite returns came from the Maritime Provinces, because the time was ahead of ours. The last ones to come were from the far west because on the coast the time is three hours behind ours.

Perhaps those who listen to election news who see flashes on the screen of partial or complete returns from widely-separated ridings never stop to think how the returns are secured. That is the business of the Canadian Press, and there is no other agency in the country that could possibly supply such a service. In North Perth there are about 100 polling places. In the Dominion there are 245 ridings. It is likely this is a representative district, so that would mean in the Dominion 24,500 polling places from which returns had to be gathered right from Atlantic to Pacific. Results from here were flashed to the head office in Toronto, and the same thing was going on from every other riding. That formed the basis for the election service which was available here inside a few hours, and it involved the securing of returns, the compiling and forwarding of them from approximately 24,500 different polling places.

We mention this as information, not by way of boosting. The newspapers of Canada have developed their own co-operative method of gathering and dispensing Canadian news that is regarded as the equal of anything in the world. There was evidence of it on Monday night when Dominion election returns were available in so short a time. If it had not been for Canadian Press there would have been no night service in this country. —Stratford Beacon-Herald.

THE TELEPHONE AND BUSINESS.

While it is impossible to give exact figures demonstrating the extent to which the telephone, the invention of a Canadian, has benefited Canadian industry and commerce, it is at once evident that rapid speech transmission is an invaluable asset to these two important aspects of national life, writes C. G. MacDonald in a C.P.A. publication. The telephone was born when the Dominion of Canada was in its infancy, and industry and trade still in their swaddling clothes. Its development, linked closely with that of efficient railway transportation, has been of the greatest importance to every Canadian industry, from fishing to manufacturing. Today, it is impossible to find a single plant or commercial organization which does not depend upon the telephone, providing as it does instant communication between the manager's office and the shipping room on the next floor, or between producer and consumer, separated perhaps by thousands of miles.

Canada's ocean fisheries provide a striking example of this invaluable service. The delivery of fresh fish, caught off the coasts of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, to the housewives of prairie cities, has become in the past few years an important factor in this ancient industry. From the first, the accurate timing of shipments to meet the demands of the far west markets presented a vexing problem, and it was long distance telephone service that made the efficient solution of this problem possible. The fishing industry remains one of the most uncertain factors in modern business. To-day, the nets are full; to-morrow, empty. Fish is highly perishable, and a delay of a few hours may mean great loss to the shippers. Yet, despite these handicaps, modern methods of storage, refrigerator cars, and the telephone have developed the prairie markets to a high state of efficiency. Because of these modern methods, halibut and cod landed at Halifax, and salmon shipped from the Pacific ports, are readily available to the consumers of Saskatoon and Calgary.

Agriculture, mining, the lumbering industry, and manufacturing in all its branches, are similarly served by the public utility which deals in transportation of the spoken word. The manufacturer in Montreal or Toronto is constantly in touch with sources of raw material hundreds of miles away; with his sales force scattered across the Dominion, and with the wholesalers and retailers who handle his product. Interdepartmental telephone service helps him to speed up production and keep his plant operating efficiently. The number of telephones in use in a typical Canadian manufacturing plant gives some idea of the importance of the service to this industry. For instance, there are 85 telephones in the plant of a motor car manufactory at Toronto, over which 5,013 calls are handled daily. In a large implement plant at Toronto, 1,057 calls are handled daily through 45 telephones served by 11 trunk lines. One of the principal department stores in Montreal has 283 instruments, served by 93 lines, over which the average is 1,952 calls during the busiest hour of the day—between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning. During the daily rush hour, an average of 888 calls are handled through the switchboard at the head office of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Montreal.

The Canadian retail trade depends upon the telephone for a large percentage of its business. From the mammoth retail establishments, dealing in every commodity which the shopper can desire, down to the corner grocery shop, the trade has adopted telephone selling as a vital factor in its existence. Experts employed by the big department stores have raised telephone selling to a science. The most exacting lady customers can do their buying by telephone, being sure that their orders will be accurately filled by professional shoppers employed by these establishments. Here, again, long distance and interdepartment services do their share in speeding up turnover and building clientele.

When in August, 1879, Alexander Graham Bell succeeded in transmitting speech from Paris, Ontario, to Brantford, a distance of eight miles, he believed that his invention was entering upon the most important phase of its development, and it is unlikely he imagined that within 55 years telephone subscribers in Montreal would be conversing with London, beyond the Atlantic, with the capital of Brazil, distant the length of a continent; or Vancouver, on the Pacific. In that experiment only one-way transmission was attained, and the remarks made into the transmitter at Paris were replied to by telegraph from Brantford. To-day every telephone is a long distance station. In 1928, approximately 36,177,000 long distance calls were made in Canada, or an average of 100,000 a day. The same estimate gives an average of 27 long distance calls to each telephone in Canada during the year.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Canada welcomes the R-100, aerial courier of Empire.

Probably Liberal Ministers are now ready to concede that so far as they personally are concerned the times are hard.

Conservatives in all parts of Canada are being boomed for Cabinet appointments. The unfortunate part is, of course, that there are not enough jobs to go round.

Judging by some of the majorities rolled up on Monday, no recounts will be asked for in those particular constituencies.

In the Quebec constituency of Yamaska there was a tie vote on Monday, and the returning officer will have to cast the deciding ballot. He'd better get up into the R-100 before he announces his decision.

Another cause of unemployment in the textile industries may be the small amount of material needed for the 1930 bathing suits.

What To-day Means To You.

If August 1st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., and 11 p.m. to midnight.

You will meet with some good turns on the road of life on this date — many courtesies, kindnesses, pleasures, and some real "lifts." Slight adverse influences in regard to health. General interest in games and sports.

Children born on this August 1st will have very straightforward characters, and will know how to enjoy life. They will make friends easily, and will be inclined to let their pleasures come before the more serious things of life. They will be generally good natured, but, when aroused, display violent tempers.

You so live that your life is an open-book to all the world, if they wish to read it. Your virtues—your faults, your pleasures—your displeasures, your sorrows—your joys, your successes—your failures, are all revealed. You do not purposely flaunt your affairs to every "Tom, Dick and Harry," but you are too candid, honest and unaffected to be able to conceal anything. You do not try to suppress your ordinary, natural emotions. You are too clean-minded, too refined, however, to ever become a "bull in a china-closet" sort of person. You are impatient with dull respectability, but you never entirely lose your dignity. You are only refreshingly "breezy."

You are extremely tender hearted and sympathetic, and you never mock at a soul in pain. You are also very careful not to judge other people unjustly. It cannot be denied that you enjoy the flesh-pots, and you are going to have a good time while you live. You do not have fastidious tastes, and you can be happy with but few of the luxuries of life. You are not interested in the higher arts, and you do not profess to be. Classical music or literature bore you, although you are fond of both popular music and books. You seldom worry about anything, and in a rather haphazard manner you do lots of work. You are a harmless flirt, and you will always enjoy attractive people of the opposite sex.

GODIVA'S HORSE TOO LIVELY.

The honor of carrying Lady Godiva in the recent carnival at Dudley, England, was too much for her steed. The white horse, unused to bearing a lady in fleshings before a huge crowd, became excited and began to prance dangerously. Miss Lucille Smith, the Lady Godiva, hastily dismounted and was taken to a house where she rested until a quieter steed could be found. Then the march proceeded.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 30.

"I have no definite plan beyond a certain point, a certain hour," said Ken Burney. "After that, as the field service regulations would express it, the tactical situation will govern. Two or three things may happen and I have a plan to meet each contingency. One involves no casualties to our side; one involves some casualties and one involves so many I do not care to think about it and get myself all hot and bothered.

"I have made arrangements to have this battle pulled off to suit me, but there is always a chance that the hair will slip somewhere. Here is the tactical situation. In the town of Los Osos, where Gallegos has his headquarters, there are a hundred mounted men under orders to march on El Cajon Bonita at three o'clock to-morrow morning. This will bring them to the southern end of the valley about daylight. They know that if my party enters from that direction the entrance will be effected before daylight; hence, if this Los Osos outfit picks up my trail it will follow on it and try to drive me up on to Miguel Gallegos who, with a hundred infantry and four machine guns, at this moment occupies the barranca I occupied when I licked him last week. Miguel knows a good position when he sees it or gets licked at it. Yes, sir, old Miguel is lying there in ambush, gazing both ways for Ken Burney, like a cross-eyed youth looking for the circus."

"If you enter from the south you and all your men will perish," the king declared emphatically.

"Of course. Consequently I shall come down through that narrow pass from the north."

"But, you young idiot, have you reflected that a sizable armed party under Martin Bruce will be laying for you at the north entrance; that he'll let you enter the pass, then follow behind you and drive you down on to Gallegos, waiting in the barranca?"

"That is Bruce's plan. At least, I think it is, because it would be my plan if I estimated the situation as I think he has. Until to-night he was in doubt as to which route I would select, but he knows now that I plan to enter from the north. He will permit me to make a peaceable entry to the pass, then he will enter behind me. But what he doesn't know is that a troop of rurales—not less than sixty sabers—is going to permit him to enter unmolested and then drop in behind him.

"What he does know is that there is but one troop of rurales within a radius of two hundred miles of El Cajon Bonita and that a commanding officer of that troop isn't quite fool enough to tangle with the Gallegos forces. He just couldn't win, he knows it and so do they. Also Bruce realizes that the Mexican government has adopted an attitude of patient watchful waiting as far as Gallegos is concerned. Unless he gets unbelievably dirty it will elect to believe he doesn't exist. Also, Bruce knows that my party, fully armed, is going to make an unofficial entry into Mexico to-night,and he thinks I do this because I desire to keep the Mexican government officials in ignorance of my movements, for if my party should run into the rurales we would be arrested as illegal entrants, a charge of breaking the neutrality laws would be lodged against us; or it might be assumed that we were bandits or smugglers. At any rate we would have no defence and off we'd go to a firing squad or a filthy Mexican penitentiary.

"Conversely, the same conditions apply to Bruce and his party. He reasons that we are two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one; that we yearn to settle our private grudge on Mexican soil without interference from the Mexican government, knowing that the survivors can cross back into United States territory and not be asked embarrassing questions. So that, Your Majesty, is the tactical situation.

"What happens after Ken Burney, Martin Bruce and Captain Eliseo Benavides with their respective commands find themselves in that pass together is problematical."

"If I were only young enough to ride in with you!" His Majesty complained sadly. "You call me king and a king ought to lead his troops. I feel like a bewildered mouse. I can't go back to El Ranchito to-night. I can't face Muriel, so I'm going to borrow your blankets, Ken, hole up here to-night with the cook and await news of your fate as early as you can send it to me to-morrow. Don't delay, I'll be suffering. Son, have you got your house in order against a hasty exit from this vale of tears?"

"Yes, sir; I surrendered my horse to Martin Bruce this morning and there's a thousand dollars waiting for me in escrow in the Huachita National Bank. That, my outfit and my pay check constitute my entire estate. I have made you my executor and my father is my sole heir."

"What? Haven't you left some little remembrance to that girl you're so crazy about?" The king just could not help this little fishing expedition.

"Nothing but a memory, sir. And perhaps I flatter myself in thinking that she will even remember me six months from now."

The king winced. His fish had slipped off the hook.

When Ken Burney and his men rode into the pass at three o'clock next morning they did so at a smart trot. Indeed, the drumming of hooves on hard earth, the jingle of spurs and bits and the creek of leather would have proclaimed to any one half a mile distant the news of his approach. And that at least one of Martin Bruce's watchful outposts gleaned the news was apparent to Burney when, from the crest of a low ridge to the left of the pass entrance, a horse whinnied.

It lacked half an hour of dawn when the men of El Ranchito rode out into El Cajon Bonita. But they rode at a walk now, their horses' footfalls deadened by the long luxuriant grass. In conformity with orders previously given him, Tom Bledsoe led fifteen men across the valley to the left and some fifty yards into the thick scrubby pinon pines that grew down to the base of the flanking range on that side. Burney with the other fifteen men, rode to the right and hid himself and party in similar fashion.

"Distribute yourselves along the edge of the bush and preferably behind bowlders, men," Burney ordered. "Select a position where you will have considerable protection but which affords an unobstructed view of the valley, and under no circumstances commence firing until I give the order and the range. The horses are pretty tired after a twenty-mile ride. I don't think they'll be restless or do any neighing."

Slowly the gray light stole over El Cajon Bonita. First the hills across the valley appeared indistinctly; gradually little hummocks, small bushes, tufts of grass and cattle became sharply outlined in the foreground. Burney bent a pair of binoculars on the barranca down the valley and made out a man's head upthrust above the bank. A sentry, doubtless.

Suddenly two men rode out of the pass into the valley, where they pulled up and gazed about them. Burney decided they constituted Bruce's advance guard; and that they were wondering what had become of the quarry. Failure to locate it evidently disconcerted them for suddenly they wheeled their horses and rode back into the pass.

CANADA HAS HONOR OF WELCOMING LEADING LIGHTS OF BRITISH BENCH

Viscount Dunedin, Lord Tomlin, Sir John Simon Among Party.

ATTEND BAR CONVENTION

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(By Thos. T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—Canada will welcome some of the leading lights of the English bench and bar in the middle of August. More than 200 men of the law of England, Scotland, Ireland and France will visit the Dominion and the United States. This goodly company of pilgrims will sail on board the Steamship Duchess of Atholl next Tuesday, August 5. The principal object of their journey is to attend the annual conventions of the Canadian Bar and of the American Bar, the first at Toronto commencing on August 14 and the second at Chicago.

Viscount Dunedin Heads Party

Viscount Dunedin, who presides over the judicial committee of the Privy Council when appeals from Canada are being heard, heads the party. He is now 80 years of age but is as keen as ever on the scent of legal problems. Lord Tomlin, who became a Lord of Appeal after many years as a judge in the High Court Chancery Division, and who often sits with Lord Dunedin, will also travel with the party. King's Bench Judges will be represented by Mr. Justice Talbot, Mr. Justice Wright, Mr. Justice Maugham and Mr. Justice MacNaughten, the latter the distinguished son of perhaps the most erudite law lord of the previous generation.

Sir John Simon is of course well-known to the Empire at large as one of the keenest legal brains in Britain, and also for his chairmanship of the Indian Statutory Reform Commission. He will make his second visit to the Canadian and American Bar Conventions. Lord MacMillan, only recently created a Lord of Appeal, was the chief guest at the convention two years ago. Apart from this earlier visit he had a very wide acquaintance with his legal brethren in Canada, for he was often briefed in appeals from the Canadian courts to the judicial committee.

Sir William Jowitt Coming

Sir William Jowitt, Attorney-General since the advent of the Labor Government, has had one of the most brilliant contemporary careers at the bar. When Sir John Simon retired temporarily from practice, much of his work fell to Sir William Jowitt. Sir Williams' sudden conversion from Liberalism to Labor last year aroused lively comment. He was elected Liberal Member for Preston on May 30 and a week later entered the Labor Cabinet, assuming one of the finest legal positions in the world. Sir William is only 43, the son of a country parson. He became a King's Counsel at 30 and will no doubt eventually become Lord Chancellor.

Sir Frank Merriman, Solicitor-General, who rounds out the thoroughly representative delegation, gives most observers the impression of being first a lawyer and then a politician. Aged 49, he served in the army throughout the war, but had already established himself solidly as a barrister on the northern circuit. He is a kinsman of the late Mr. Merriman, the famous South African statesman. His appointment as Solicitor-General when the present Government came into office was no surprise to those keenly interested in these matters.

CITY DAIRY HITS NEW TOP PRICE

Toronto Stock Exchange is in Doldrums With Little Action.

PRICES LOWER.

TORONTO, Ont., August 1 (C.P.).—With the exception of City Dairy, the market on the Toronto Stock Exchange was in the Doldrums, both in sales turnover and price fluctuations. Prices for the most part were fractionally lower, the volume being so small that it lent little weight to carry the trend definitely either one way or the other.

City Dairy, the feature of the past few days, again soared to new top price for the year of 66, and fluctuated within a narrow margin of this figure all morning.

International Nickel was subject to slight depression, falling ⅜ to 23¼. The rights were also lower, going at 8. Noranda was not active, but the bid and ask quotes revealed a firmness.

The oils held fairly well and with one exception they were all unchanged from the close of last night. Imperial was off ¼ to 20. Peter B. A. and Union Natural Gas were all unchanged, selling at 19, 17½, and 30 respectively.

Movement in the interlisted section were confined to a small list. Brazilian went at 37⅜ off ⅛, Steel of Canada was down a full point to 45. Gypsum, Loblaw A, Moore, Page Hersey, and Walkers were all unchanged.

On the curb, Standard Paving had a gain of 1 to sell at 21, Service Stations took on a ½ to sell at 44½. United Fuel Preferred went unchanged at 79.

BRIBERY CHARGES BRING REPRIMAND

LONDON, England, Aug. 1 (C.P.)—Elijah Sandham, Laborite Member of Parliament, has been formally "admonished" by the Speaker of the House of Commons for having in a speech delivered at Manchester on Saturday made charges against his fellow Labor members of receiving bribes.

Charges of drunkenness in Commons also were contained in the same speech, but the House concentrated on the bribery accusation as being the more serious of the two.

The scene in the House during this formality was almost unprecedented in Parliamentary history. There was absolute stillness in the House as the Speaker put on the three-cornered hat over the wig which forms his normal headgear when in the House, and, remaining seated, which is contrary to usual custom, told Sandham:

"It must always be clearly understood that a member may not attack and may not make a public utterance outside this House which is derogatory to the House of Commons without committing a breach of privileges".

POPULATION INCREASE IS 40

The natural increase in Peterborough's population during the month of July was 40, there being 59 births and 19 deaths. Wedding bells rang out 16 times which was less than half the marriages in June, when there were 33. Births in June numbered 59 but deaths totalled 36.

In July 1929 there were 12 more births than in the same month this year and 6 more weddings, but deaths were also more with 28.

AJAX OIL STRONG ON MINING MART

Issue Advances 28 Points in First Hour and Half of Trading.

TREND IS UPWARD.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.).—Activity and strength in Ajax Oil was the feature of the early session on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange to-day. The stock went up to $2.12, where it showed a net advance of 28 points for the morning. After the first hour and a half, however, interest in the stock slackened, and the price receded slightly to $2.08. Other oils failed to take a cue from Ajax, Acme selling off ½, the Petrol Oil 1, and Nordon Corporation 2. Chemical Research and Home Oil were unchanged.

International Nickel, Hudson Bay, and Noranda were all firm, the first-mentioned stock unchanged; Hudson Bay up 2, and Noranda up 10. Golds held up well, but were not active. Barry Hollinger and Newbec were unchanged; Howey was up 1 and Vipond 1. Kirkland Lake went against the trend, losing 1. In the higher-priced section, Wright Hargreaves also went its way, irrespective of the upward tendency, losing 1 to $1.80; Teck Hughes and Dome were each 5 higher and Hollingers 10. McIntyre was unchanged.

The miscellaneous group was as follows: Oriole off 3, Big Missouri 1, and Bunker Hill Extension ¼. Arno and Manitoba Basin were unchanged.

Sherritt Gordon was the only Lindsley to advance, up 4 at $1.35, while Ventures was unchanged, and the other two were inactive.

BIG INCREASE IN TRADE TO RUSSIA

Soviet Agent Issues Statement on New Relations With England.

NEW AGREEMENTS

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(By the Canadian Press.)—A recent statement by Saul G. Bron, chairman of the Russian Trade Delegation in England, explains the prospects for Anglo-Russian commerce. He writes: The resumption of diplomatic relations between U.S.S.R. and Great Britain, which coincided with the radical reorganization of the foreign trade of U.S.S.R., the resumption of normal trading relations, the establishment of embassies in the capitals of both countries, and finally the signing of the provisional trade agreement, have changed the attitude of the financial and industrial circles in Moscow towards trade with Great Britain, and this has materialised during the last nine months of the Soviet financial year in a large extension of the trade turnover between both countries.

During the period from October 1, 1929, up to the end of June 1930, the Soviet trading organizations, including co-operative societies, have placed orders in Great Britain for more than $65,000,000 as against $30,000,000 in the same period of the preceding year. The growth of the Soviet purchases in this country has affected to a considerable extent the products of engineering, electrical, chemical, and other branches of British industry which are engaged in the manufacture of plant and equipment of various kinds During the above mentioned period the orders placed in Great Britain for different kinds of machinery reached $35,000,000 as against $9,000,000 in the preceding year.

Soviet orders for different raw materials such as rubber, metals, fertilizers, and various articles of food such as sugar, which after the break in 1927 were diverted to other countries, are now to a substantial extent placed in this country. The improvement in the political and trading relations between the Soviet Union and this country has not only resulted in an expansion of trade, but has changed the Soviet attitude in regard to the utilization of British shipping. In the current navigation period which began in May, the Soviet trading organizations have chartered a far greater number of English ships, and between 65 per cent. and 75 per cent. of all freights which will be paid during the current navigation period up to February, 1931, will go to British shop owners.

It is also of importance to know that several agreements are at present being negotiated to secure the technical co-operation of British firms in constructing new factories in the U.S.S.R. which will act as an important stimulus for a further extension of trade between both countries.

JUNE RETAIL SALES FELL IN 266 CITIES

Reports From 634 U. S. Department Stores Show Decline of 10% From 1929.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Department store sales for June were 10 per cent lower than in the corresponding month a year ago, and the total sales from Jan. 1 to June 30 were 5 per cent less than last year, according to reports to the Federal Reserve System from 683 stores in 266 cities.

In the New York Federal Reserve District such sales were 5 per cent smaller in June this year than last year, but in the period from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1930, they were the same as in the corresponding period of 1929.

AIRLINER IS ABLE TO LIFT 156 TONS

Passenger Quarters Consist of 3 Decks Containing 32 Cabins.

SIX 600 H.P. MOTORS.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—(C.P.)— The gas capacity of the R-100 is just over 5,00,000 cubic feet, giving an estimated lift under standard conditions of 156 tons. She is 709 feet long, with a maximum diameter of 135 feet and overall height of 135 feet.

Quarters Inside Hull.

The passenger quarters, unlike the convention type of airship, are situated inside the hull of the ship and consists of three decks, of which the lowest one is allocated to the crew and the two upper ones to the passengers. The galley, or kitchen, is fitted out with electrical cooking apparatus. On the lower passenger decks, there is a dining saloon with 36 seats. There are two balcony decks on the upper deck, with a view through the hull windows, each of which is 105 square feet, and a lounge deck in the form of a galley around the dining saloon. There are 32 cabins, containing 100 bunks, mainly in four berth cabins.

There are cabins on both decks between the dining saloon and promenade decks on the lower floor, and between the balcony decks and the lounge deck on the upper floor.

The control car, projecting outside the outer cover, is attached to the main structure, below the crew quarters, the sleeping accommodation for the captain and officers being adjacent.

15 Gas Bags.

There are three power cars, each car containing two 600 horse-power Rolls Royce Condor engines driving two propellors, operating in tandem. Inside the silvery envelope of the ship there are 15 gas bags, which provide the R-100 with its buoyancy. These bags are made of single thickness of cotton, lined on the inside with two layers of goldbeaterskin, these skins being assembled in large sheets and glued to the cotton by a secret process. The inside and outside of the bags are varnished and sprayed with aluminum dust to protect the bags against humidity.

Grain Figures Show Heavy Trading Mark

WELLAND, Ont., August 1 (C.P.).—Grain figures announced at Port Colborne showed a fairly heavy trade for the week ending July 28. A total of 2,221,657 bushels were received for the week, and 2,430,836 bushels were forwarded. This brings the total for the year to 24,328,379 bushels received and 21,589,879 bushels forwarded. At present there are 2,837,500 bushels in the elevator and it is filled nearly to capacity. The vessels Collingwood, Casnadoc, Stadacona, and James B. Eades, along with the barge Glenbogie, are at present waiting to unload, but the indications are that about three of these will be out on Saturday.

PROVINCIAL GUARANTEE IS NOT NEEDED BY WESTERN WHEAT POOL

REPORT ENDS JULY 15.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.) — A special despatch from Ottawa to The Mail and Empire to-day says:

From no less a person than the Chief Statistician of the Canadian Wheat Pool's selling headquarters in Winnipeg Government authorities in Ottawa have received the cheering information that the Prairie Provinces have incurred no loss from their guarantees of the Wheat Pool's operations.

It will be recalled that early in the year when it became apparent that Canada was not going to be able to market her whole crop, and that the market prices had suffered a severe slump, the three Prairie Governments put their credit behind the Wheat Pool to the extent of guaranteeing the banks against loss through the advances made to the pool.

According to information supplied to the Dominion Government, there has been no loss. The Pool's crop year ended July 15. Everything transacted from July 16 onward is part of the 1930 pool. Compilation of the finals returns of the 1929 Pool is underway and has progressed far enough to reveal that the Pool sold enough wheat above the dollar price to at least compensate for the quantity which had to be sold below the mark—leaving the Provincial guarantee uncalled.

Andrew Cairns, Statistician for the Pool, was in Ottawa several days ago securing passports and making preparation for a trip to Russia. He has now departed for that country for the purpose of surveying at first hand the state of wheat growing in the land of the Soviets and determining to what extent Russia is looming as a serious factor in European export wheat supply. Mr. Cairns informed the Government of the situation in regard to the guarantees which, he said, would now expire.

Mother and Child Missing From Home

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 1. — (Special to The Examiner).—For nearly two weeks Mrs. Margaret Beattie, Adolphustown in Lennox county, and her 5 year old daughter have been missing from their home. A constant search has been made without results. Mrs. Beattie, aged 42, is described as about 5 foot 4 inches in height and weighing 145 pounds. She has light bobbed hair and blue eyes.

NEW YORK MART RALLIES AT END OF DAY'S TRADING

Opening Issues Rush Rapidly Under Slight Selling Pressure.

UTILITIES WEAK.

American Tobacco, Case and Diamond Match Show Gains.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 1. (C.P.) The stock market sank rapidly under a mere featherweight of selling pressure to-day, until bulls apparently decided that timidity in the face of such liquidation was ridiculous, and by early afternoon began bidding up a group of specialties, which turned the entire list upward.

Utilities developed pronounced weakness, as bears turned their attention to this group, on reports of an impending reduction of around 2 per cent. in New York city electrical rates. Leading industrials sagged a point or two, but soon attracted support.

High Speed Tickers Ready Soon

Trading was about as dull as any experienced during the past two years, sales during the first two hours falling close to 500,000 shares. Ironically enough, it was announced that the high-speed tickers, permitting rapid reporting of 6,000,000 to 8,000,000-share days, will all be installed by Labor Day. Despite settlements at the turn of the month aggregating about $600,000,000 the weekly federal reserve statements a reduction of about $19,000,000 outstanding credit, and the shipment of $10,000,000 in gold to France, making total exports recently of more than $50,000,000 credit continued daily plentiful, with call money holding officially at 2 percent. Outside offerings at 1½, however, were soon exhausted.

In the Utility group, Brooklyn Union Gas, Consolidated Gas, North American, American Power and Light and American Water Works, lost about 3 to 6 points, touching new lows for the latest decline. There seemed to be some fear that the proposed rate reduction in New York might be a signal for similar developments elsewhere.

U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse and Vanadium lost 2 points or so, but rallied by afternoon. The American Tobacco issues were strong, the old stocks gaining 4 points or so. Case made a like gain. Diamond Match, a volatile issue, shot up more than 1, and International Business Machines, a recent firm spot, reflecting reports of increasing sales, made fair headway. Radio was firm after midday.

Bordens May Buy City Dairy Stock

TORONTO, August 1. (C.P.) — Announcement has been made by S. J. Moore, president of the local City Dairy Milk Company, of an offer from the Borden Milk Company, of New York, for a transfer of City Dairy stock through which ownership of the Canadian company would pass to the hands of the American company that already controls many large dairies throughout Ontario, British Columbia, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Quebec, in addition to milk product manufacturing plants.

Terms of the Borden Company offer include redemption of City Dairy preferred stock at $135 cash per share, and the issuance to the local company's common shareholders of seven shares of Borden stock for eight City Dairy.

R-100 Sets New Westward Speed Record Crossing Atlantic In 78 Hours And 51 Minutes

MONTREAL, Aug. 1 (C.P.)—The R-100 set a record for westward dirigible crossings of the Atlantic Ocean with its trip from Cardington, England, to St. Hubert Airport in 78 hours and 51 minutes.

The ZR-3, built in Germany for the United States navy and later renamed the Los Angeles, crossed in October, 1924, from Freidrichshafen to Lakehurst, N.J., in 81 hours.

The Graf Zeppelin took 111 hours and 46 minutes for its first crossing from Freidrichshafen to Lakehurst, in October, 1928, but made its second crossing in 93 hours flat in 1929.

The R-34, British dirigible, crossed from Scotland to New York in 1919 in 108 hours and thirteen minutes.

Eastward ocean flights have been made by the dirigibles in much faster time; the Graf Zeppelin has the best record—55 hours and 24 minutes from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen in August, 1929. It crossed the Pacific in September, 1929, from Tokio to Los Angeles in 67 hours.

SHIPMENTS OF GOLD TO CANADA CONTINUE

$4,000,000 More Sent in Two Consignments, Making Total of $8,500,000 on Movement.

NEW YORK, Aug 1—Further shipments of gold to Canada amounting to $4,000,000 were arranged yesterday, bringing the total amount which has been taken from this market on the current movement to $8,500,000. Of yesterday's shipments, $3,000,000 was sent by the Bank of Montreal and the remaining $1,000,000 was dispatched by an unknown agent. Two other shipments, both amounting to $1,000,000, were sent last week by an anonymous bank, presumably the same as the originator of yesterday's transaction.

The fact that no institution could be found in this city which would admit arranging these three anonymous transactions has given rise to the opinion among bankers here that the shipments were undertaken for the account of the Canadian Government.

Canadian exchange remained firm yesterday at a premium of 5-32 cent, the level at which the recent gold shipments have been arranged. It was expected, therefore, that further would be arranged this week.

varied rapidly between 1500 and 4000 feet. Slight damage to starboard fin, otherwise ship O.K. Avoided many thunderstorms.

The "slight damage to fin" mentioned in this particular paragraph of the log was caused when the big air liner struck a heavy bump off Father Point, Quebec, earlier in the day. Temporary repairs were effected while in flight and a crew of riggers will complete them while the ship is moored at the airport here.

The Official Log.

The official log of the R-100's Atlantic flight follows:

First Day.

"R-100 took off from Cardington mooring tower at 3.48 British summer time, on Tuesday, 29th July, and shaped course for Liverpool, flying at about 1,200 feet. We had on board 10,440 gallons of fuel and 5.4 tons of ballast. Total persons on board 44.

"Wind was about 30 M.P.H., southwesterly. Speed made good, 46 M.P.H. Everybody turned in except those on duty.

"Chester was passed at 6.00 o'clock and the ship's course was then set for the Isle of Man, passing over Liverpool en route.

"Mull of Galloway, 9.00. Sea smooth. We hoped to pick up an easterly drift in two or three hours.

"Passed the Glasgow-Belfast boat at 9.30 G.M.T., also a couple of drifters. Squadron Leader Booth started exposing the Petrie dishes, donning rubber gloves for the purpose—these exposures will be continued throughout the flight.

"At 10.00 to 10.15 hours a wonderful view was obtained of the Northern Irish Coat, cut short by a bank of intensely white low cloud.

"Our decision to proceed north of Ireland was taken to get north of a depression passing eastward just north of Ireland. This we have done, and at 10.30 are just passing the centre of the depression. We have located a further depression from these reports moving north-eastward from the vicinity of Bermuda.

"We hope to make use of this depression to-morrow when we meet it. We shall manoeuvre to pass just north of this depression.

"No complaints from anybody about anything. Food has been really excellent.

Second Day.

"At midnight 29::30, July, 11 p.m. ship time, the clocks having been put back one hour, our position was 53.056 N, 21.00 W. In the first 20 hours we used just over 2200 gallons of petrol.

"At about 5.30 G.M.T. the liner Ausonia was passed. She left Southampton on Friday last.

"Further ship reports have been received and we are going to edge north to get on the north side of the depression located and mentioned yesterday.

"Our ground speed is increasing and by noon our ground speed had reached 85 M..P.H.

"After breakfast the two forward engines, which had run without interruption from the start, were stopped and examined. The two engines in the after car were set going to relieve them.

"Some sparking plugs and a rocker bush were changed, otherwise the engines were in perfect condition.

"During most of the day the ship was flying in low clouds or fog and this was turned to advantage by the collection of the water condensed on the outer cover through funnel shaped trunks connected by a down pipe to the ship's water system. In this way it has been possible this morning to collect over two tons of water.

"In spite of low clouds and fog we have never been more than a few miles out in our dead reckoning position.

"It is now 5 p.m., ship's time. We decided to increase air speed to 60 M.P.H. as there is just a possibility of making Montreal to-morrow morning.

Head Winds Increase

"Head winds increasing; no chance of landing Montreal to-morrow morning. Belle Isle sighted at 9 a.m. ship's time. Head winds for remainder of journey now almost certain, and we will continue at 60.

"The sweepstake on the ship's day's run was won by Eldridge with the 1095 nautical miles.

Third Day

"At midnight G.M.T., 5 p.m. ship's time, our position is 52.15's, 54.00 w; roughly 3,636 miles travelled, 1,700 gallons of petrol remaining.

"Reports confirmed and we must expect head winds for the remainder of the journey.

"Passing West Point, Anticosti, at 8 a.m. ship's time, passed over liner Duchess of Bedford and many surface craft.

We have noticed that the wind is less inshore and have decided to hug the left hand coastline for the remained of the way to Quebec.

"We are now two miles from shore and our ground speed has increased by six m.p.h. Flying at 800 feet.

"Passed Father Point at 11.54 p.m. local time.

Fin Damaged.

"At 12.20 p.m., local time, damaged fabric of port fin was reported by special signal. Two hours later temporary repairs completed.

"Over Quebec at 3.50 p.m., local time, proceeding Montreal at 45 knots air speed.

"At 9.30 p.m., local time, passed through thunderstorm. Violently disturbed air currents. Ships height varied rapidly between 1,500 and 4,000 feet. Slight damage to starboard fin, otherwise ship OK. Avoided many thunderstorms.

"Dropped main wire at 4 a.m., local time, August 1. A good landing was made.

"Time in air about 79 hours, of which 8 have been due to delay repairing damaged fin. Crew have made a really good job of the repairing.

"Petrol on board, 5 tons."

PARLIAMENT HILL IN MIDST OF LULL

New Conservative Gov't May Take Reins Latter Part of Next Week.

NO PORTFOLIOS ALLOTTED.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1. — A lull prevails in political interest on Parliament Hill. From neither Premier Elect Hon. R. B. Bennett nor Premier McKenzie King was there any announcement. Br .Bennett is occupied with preparations to assume the office of Prime Minister. Mr. King and his government are preparing to vacate as soon as the Premier-elect is ready to take over the duties of Prime Minister. In 1921 this process took more than three weeks, but this time the change will be made more rapidly, possibly the latter part of next week.

None of the successful contestants in the recent general election are in the capital. The first to come will be those summoned by the Conservative leader to enter his cabinet.

The composition of his cabinet is engaging the attention of the Premier-elect, and no portfolios have yet been allotted in any instance.

DREDGING HELD UP MAY DELAY WELLAND OPENING

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1. (C.P.)—Owing to difficulties encountered by dredging contractors between Thorold and the top of the locks, a postponement of the opening of the Welland canal, set for September 1, is being considered by the Department of Railways and Canals, it was admitted by officials.

No announcement will be made for the present, however, it was stated that final decision awaited the assumption of office by the new Conservative minister.

BLAMES U. S. FARM BOARD FOR LOW WHEAT PRICES

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. (C.P.) — The present low wheat prices were laid to the operations of the United States Farm Board by Professor W. W. Swanson, of the University of Saskatchewan, in a statement yesterday. Dr. Swanson, head of the University Economics Department and chairman of the Saskatchewan immigration and settlement commission considers that "demoralizing market effects will continue as long as the Farm Board continues its "artificial market manipulation."

Shamrock V and Convoy Resume Journey to U. S.

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, Aug. 1 (A.P.)—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V., and her convoy, the steam yacht Erin, left Horta to-day en route to the United States where the Shamrock will compete for the America's Cup. Col. Duncan Neil, personal representative of Sir Thomas, boarded the Shamrock this morning, while the Erin was re-coaling and reported that the trim yacht had suffered no harm in her passage from England to Horta.

The crew of the yacht spent the day thoroughly overhauling all gears. The day was bright and there was a north wind. Both yachts sailed from the harbor late in the afternoon and headed out to sea in fine weather.

During the run down from England to the Azores the yachts become separated in mist and rain for five days, but the Shamrock turned up shortly after the Erin.

Rumania's Playboy Prince Gives Promise of Settling Down

Since Europe's pleasure - loving prince escaped from his forced exile and succeeded his son on the throne of Roumania, he has shown a desire to provide his people with stable and businesslike administration. Although he apparently has gained a firm hold upon the crown, King Carol II. is still confronted with many royal and domestic problems. His mother, Dowager Queen Marie (1) welcomed home her errant son in public but in private she is said to have shown less enthusiasm, realizing that the overthrow of the regency wrote finis to her royal ambitions. She has since retired to her summer palace at Baltchick on the Black sea where she is living in seclusion. Her withdrawal from the capital has been made more easy by the fact that she is believed to be on none too cordial terms with Helen (2), former princess of Greece, later crown princess of Roumania and now "Her Majesty Queen Helen" but not, Carolist spokesmen are careful to ploint out, "queen of Roumania," Helen's status in recent years has been unique in that she has been the mother of a king without herself ever having been a queen and that while her child was reigning as King Michael I her husband was divorced from her and in exile as a private citizen, officially designated as Mr. Carol Caraiman or "the Settled Question." Although a reconciliation has been effected between Helen and Carol, it appears to be more an accommodation of statecraft than an affair of the heart. Meanwhile Helen's son, who reigned as King Michael I for nearly three years under the tutelage of a regency, has been crowded out of the king business by his own father and has had conferred upon him the opera bouffe title of Grand Voivode of Alba Julia. Michael, ho will be nine years old in October, is seen in (3) wearing a democratic beret and watching his dad take the salute at a review of troops held to celebrate Carol's ascension of the throne. Also in the picture in a dashing white uniform is Prince Nicholas, member of the former regency and largely instrumental in paving the way for the return of his brother Carol. Nicholas would sooner be speed king than Roumania's ruler, his hobby—or mania—being motor cars. The cause of most of Carol's troubles is Madam Magda Lupescu, red - headed enchantress from Jassy, daughter of a humble shopkeeper, wife of a Roumanian military attache and for more than five years the friend of Carol. For her he renounced the royal crown and went into exile. When he flew home to engineer his successful coup d'etat, he left Madam Lupescu in Switzerland at a villa near Lucerne. Now the gossips are asking whether Magda, too, will return to Roumania and if so, what will Queen Helen say. Incidentally Carol's first wife, Zizi Lambrinu, the commoner who consented to a divorce to permit her royal husband to marry a princess, has just started an action in the Paris courts.

HELEN JOHNSON

OMEMEE, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—The village of Omemee and the vicinity for many miles around, was cast into deep sorrow when it became known that Helen Johnson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson had met instant death in a motor accident which occurred just north of Fox's Corner early Saturday morning.

Helen, who was in her twenty-first year, was immensely popular with young and old. Being possessed of a very charming disposition and a winsome smile, she attracted and held her many friends. She was a member of Trinity United Church and a member of the choir in which her sweet soprano voice will be much missed. Not only was she active in church work but she also took keen enjoyment in the field of sport, being captain of the girls' softball team.

The funeral service which was held on Monday afternoon was very largely attended by friends from far and near. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. T. E. Blanchard who read Psalm 90 and part of 1 Cor. 15 and Rev. 21, followed by the repetition in concert of Psalm 23. From these passages of Scripture he brought comforting words to the sorrowing family and later spoke feelingly of the sweet young life that had been so suddenly terminated. During the service two favorite hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" were sung. The neat grey casket was wheeled to the door by two particular girl friends of the deceased, Miss Ethel Stephenson and Miss Mary Faulkner. Where six young men former schoolmates namely: Jim Dickson, Floyd Parsons, William Stephenson, Roy Faulkner, Allan Adams and Campbell Mackey acted as pallbearers.

The following very beautiful floral designs bore mute testimony to the love and esteem in which Helen was held by all.

She was finally located in Pennsylvania on Sunday by a telegram sent on Saturday morning. The funeral was delayed an hour or more to await her arrival.

MOTORING NEWS AND REVIEW

(By FRANK CHAMBERLAIN)

The Sixth International Roads Congress, an assemblage of leaders interested in automobiles and roadways, representing 45 nations, is to convene in Washington in October. Previous congresses have been held in Paris, Brussels, London, Seville and Milan. This is the first congress to be held in America, and for that reason is likely to be the largest that has ever been held. An argument to be discussed at the congress will be "Build more roads and build more cars. As Representative Clarence J. McLeod, Congressman, has phrased it: "The life of the automobile industry depends upon roads, the paving of new roads, the widening of existing roads, the surfacing of rough roads—in short, an increasing supply year by year of good, usable automobile roads." The public will be interested to know how the baby Austins are being received in America. 2,500,000 persons have viewed the bantam models since they were introduced. The American Austin car plant at Butler, Pa., has more orders for immediate shipment than it can hope to build in the next 60 days.

If your engine seems to show tendencies of stalling or bucking after a long run in hot weather, or during idling, it may be preferable to get a less volatile fuel rather than the more expensive high test gasolines on the market to-day. If a low temperature fuel is being used, and the motor still bucks under these conditions, another remedy is to place a thick sheet of asbestos plate between the carburetor and the heated idling riser, or between the carburetor and the exhaust manifold. The idea is to deflect away from the carburetor, of fuel pump if there is one in your car, the air that happens to be heated by the exhaust pipe.

The Shah of Persia has a swell bus! It has massive gold fittings and glitters with real jewels. Twenty coats of white enamel were put on the bodywork and all the parts that on an ordinary car are nickled, are goldplated. On the headlights are embossed the Persian royal arms, picked out in emeralds. The rear seat is upholstered in champagne-red silk. It is constructed for only one person, as in Persia no one may occupy the same seat as the ruler. Cigarets are contained in a case in solid gold encrusted with diamonds placed near the royal seat, and the floor of the car is covered with Russian wolfhound skins.

Writing in The Berliner Tageblatt, Dr. Hans E. Priester pleads that what the German automobile industry needs most is efficiency, organization and co-operation rather than tariff protection against American competition. Priester urges the German automobile builders to combine to exchange patents and improvements, as to American manufacturers, to buy raw materials in large quantities, to eliminate duplication of models and to build up a better dealers' organization.

With several of the automobile plants in the Detroit districts still closed, either for inventories or annual vacations, production remains at a low figure, although factories which have already announced new models recently are going ahead at a rapid pace to furnish cars to dealers throughout the country.

Automobile traffic is going to pay for the new bridge which crosses from Montreal proper to the island. A steady stream of cars pass to and fro on holidays and Sundays, and a toll fee for each car will at the end of the year raise a substantial sum to cover the cost of the bridge.

Funny how many motorists still cling to the silly habit of racing their engine. It is quite a common practice of some motorists to race their engine before cutting off the ignition. It may have meant something in the days of earlier models, but now it means nothing. Further than that, it never is a good thing to race an engine unless the car is pulling.

Capt. Malcolm Campbell, one of Britain's most famous racers, believes that there will come a time when we will have four-wheel car drive and other methods of construction which will only come from the experiences of fresh speed records, he said. "Into the cause of progress and knowledge, the cost of money and lives does not really enter. Those who take part in speed events know the risks and are not likely to be deterred. The land speed is only 231 miles an hour, but I see no reason why in the future it should not be lifted to 300 miles an hour. So far as one can see there seems to be no reason for regarding any speed attained as the peak of finality."

WONDERFUL RECORD OF HUDSON-ESSEX

Winners in Celebrated International 8-Day Tests in Poland.

Three Hudson Great Eights finished equal first in the celebrated International 8-Day speed, reliability, economy, brake, hill-climbing, tests in Poland—against the biggest field ever entered. That makes Hudson winner in both 1930 important European stock car tests. It had already won the Tour de France 9-day test.

And it took a Hudson Great Eight to beat an Essex Challenger, for Essex finished, too!—second only to Hudson.

All four cars finished without a single penalty—the only cars to accomplish this amazing feat. The rules define the highest degree of perfection an automobile can have reached in this day and age; then penalties are exacted for less perfect performance, in all phases of performance.

And Hudsons Great Eights completed these days of gruelling tests without a single penalty! According to the strict marking of these competent European judges Hudson performance was perfect.

Here is an answer to the question, 'why is Hudson the largest selling eight-cylinder car in the world'? And here is also a guide for all prospective buyers who are looking for the greatest car value—in performance, beauty, comfort and dependability.

Keep in Line on Curves...

Wait for the straight-away road before you try to pass

OUT of the line of traffic on a curve . . . a desperate spurt for the space in the traffic line ahead! Too late . . . a car from the opposite direction. The screech of brakes violently applied. Three cars meet in a distressing protest of ripping steel and a welter of shattering glass! One driver to blame.

Occupants of all three cars injured . . . some may be killed . . . all because one driver would not keep in line. He thought he could make it. He wanted the thrill of that bursting surge of power. A soulless reason for sacrificing innocent lives!

Don't try to Pass

on a curve, near the top of a steep grade, at an intersection, or at any place where the road ahead is not in full view for a long distance ahead.

Don't try to Pass

if there is not a space in your own traffic line which you can easily reach before you meet on-coming cars.

The highways of the Province are more crowded than ever this year. It is of vital importance that each driver shall become "traffic conscious" . . . shall be constantly alert, and shall practice Care, Courtesy and Common Sense. Know and follow the Seven Rules for Safe Driving.

The Highway Safety Committee particularly requests the co-operation of motorists and pedestrians over the holiday week-end. Whether you drive or walk on streets or roads, do your part to make the highways more safe.

Seven Rules for Safe Driving

You must observe them and ALL other precautions ALL the time

1. Have your car in perfect mechanical condition—particularly BRAKES, STEERING GEAR and HEADLIGHTS.
2. GIVE YOUR UNDIVIDED ATTENTION TO YOUR DRIVING. In passing traffic, be sure there is a place for you in the traffic line ahead.
3. Never attempt to pass on curves or steep grades.
4. In entering main streets or highways, or in approaching a railway crossing where a full view of the track is obscured—STOP and LOOK.
5. When other vehicles try to pass you—LET THEM PASS.
6. When making a right turn, keep to the right of the highway; when making a left turn, keep to the centre.
7. Always SIGNAL before you slow down, stop, or change your course, and never BACK UP before ascertaining that the road behind is clear.

RADIO ANNOUNCES ELECTION RESULTS

Millbrook Residents Receive News First Hand in Town Hall Square.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—Featuring the reception of election returns in the downtown area of King street, on Monday evening, was the installation of a radio on the Town Hall balcony, with a bulletin board prominently displayed, on which results were listed, as rapidly as they were received, by Charles Thorndyke, clerk of the municipality.

It was through the courtesy of the Municipal Council that the radio accommodation was extended, and Reeve P. Stinson, with the other members of the civic body, was most active in seeing that everything possible was done in order that the large crowd, filling the Town Hall square and the adjoining pavement might have prompt knowledge as to how the election was going.

The radio service was continued until far into the morning hours, and some enthusiastic supporters of Conservatism, whose identity is as yet unknown, rang the town bell about 2 a.m. when it became fairly certain that their particular party was carrying the polls.

Apparently some wakeful citizens, who had gone to bed, were led to think the bell was giving a fire alarm, but no particular disturbance resulted on that account.

The opportunity of having election returns publicly supplied by radio and bulletin board, was a new venture locally, and the gesture of the Reeve and Council in this regard was evidently appreciated.

C.G.I.T. DELEGATES ELECTED BY GROUP

Will Represent Millbrook Members at White House Camp This Month.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group held a special business meeting at the leader's home on Tuesday evening, to elect the members who are to represent the organization at the Provincial C.G.I.T. Camp at White House, Lake Couchiching, near Orillia, August 20-30.

The president, Miss Marian O'Brian, was in the chair, and one of the honorary members, and a past-president of the group, Miss Wilma Fallis, of Toronto, was welcomed to the gathering. Miss Wilma is at present holidaying with relatives in the community, recuperating from an attack of rheumatic fever.

The leader thanked the girls for their ready co-operation in taking a 'treat' once each week to a 'teen age girl of the village, Miss Eva Howson, who has been in ill health for some time, and whose period of recovery, it is expected, will extend over some weeks. Miss Eva, while not a member of the group, had been welcomed on several occasions to the meetings, and the girls have a personal interest in her restoration to health, and wish to remember her in some practical way during the tedious time of convalescence.

An invitation for a number of the members to spend a day at Rev. Mr. Merriam's cottage, Rice Lake, on Wednesday, August 6, was read and arrangements made to have three car-loads accept the offer of an outing under such pleasant circumstances. Last summer Rev. Mr. Merriam, who supplied for Rev. Mr. Jones during the latter's holidays, made friends of his host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Brown, and a similar courtesy was extended several of the girls, with Mr. and Mrs. Brown paying their initial visit to the 'Tower Farm" property.

The electin of delegates to the provincial camp resulted in the president, Miss Marian O'Brian, receiving the highest number of votes, with Misses Marian Earle and Dorothy McDowell having a tie; the latter, however, found a way out of the difficulty by resigning in Marian's favor having already attended two camps of the group in consecutive seasons; Miss Jean Stinson and Miss Dorothy are the alternates. Registration for the two representatives was immediately arranged for.

The devotional session was necessarily brief, the scripture lesson being read in unison, and the talk and discussion centring round the need for morning prayer; the measure of love of God, and the importance of keeping a tryst with Christ, as did the disciples who went apart with their Lord and witnessed His Transfiguration.

Ice cream, bananas and cake were served during the social hour at the close., Mr. and Mrs. Brown being among the guests for this part of the evening.

The group will resume its regular weekly meetings early in September, the election of officers being a feature of the opening gathering, when the holiday season has ended.

GAMBLING BOOSTS BELGIUM.

Gambling is proving so attractive for crowds at holiday resorts in Belgium that the south coast is reported to be busier than in many seasons. At Ostend the gambling turnover at the Casino has been huge, and roulette, which is banned in France, is the favorite game. The crowds are so large that it is difficult to get near the tables. Edmund Sayag, the thirty-three-year-old proprietor of the Casino, as well as of the Moulin Rouge and the Ambassador Restaurant in Paris, is to build a "super" hotel at Ostend. Hardelot, also on the Belgian coast, is to have a Casino, a large hotel and a number of bungalows. Several other plans for improving old Continental resorts are also under way.

Efforts are being made to discourage the migration of girls from Scotland to London.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE DRINKING OF WATER.

I have frequently stated that notwithstanding what you may think or read about drinking water, nevertheless it is one of the factors in increasing the weight of many individuals, and all their efforts to lose weight rapidly by doing without bread, potatoes, and other starches, will give poor results if they drink too much water. That is if they are of the 'wet' type, those in whom the tissues seem to attract and hold more water than in others.

However, I find it necessary from time to time to say that for the majority of us, those of us who are of average weight, the drinking of water is most advisable.

Now, while some youngsters may drink too much milk and get 'bilious' at times, most of them are greatly benefitted by this daily habit of one or two glasses of milk daily, not only from the food in the milk, but also from the amount of water—about 90 per cent. that is in the milk. So if your youngster will not drink milk have him drink two or three glasses of water daily.

Water enters into every tissue, every organ, practically every function of the body. Every little cell has water within it, and needs water around it, if it is to do its work properly. The blood itself is mostly water, the plasma or liquid part containing about 90 per cent. of water, and the little corpuscles or solid part of the blood contains nearly 60 per cent.

And when you think of how moist all parts must be kept between lungs and chest wall, in the joints, lining of all the organs, of the need of water in the manufacture of all the juices — mouth, stomach, and other digestive juices, keeping food and waste material moist in the small and large intestine and in many other organs and tissues, you can realize to some extent how absolutely necessary water is to your system.

Now, when should you drink water?

Don't be afraid to take a little with your meals as it helps to soften the food. The only danger here of course is that you may take a mouthful of food and wash it down into the stomach without chewing it sufficiently. A drink of water before you start the meal is usually helpful.

Drinking a large quantity of water immediately after a meal may distend the stomach and make it slow in 'emptying' its contents into small intestine. The old idea that water diluted the stomach digestive juice and thus weakened it, is not credited now.

Water between meals is an excellent habit not only because of all its uses in the body, but also because the cold water often stimulates movements of the food in the small intestine on its journey.

A little more water is necessary in the summer time for both children and adults.

New Modes Deal Kindly With Woman of Years

So much has been said, this season about the youthfulness of the new fashions that many an older woman has approached the selection of her wardrobe with timidity. Yet, not in seasons, have we had a mode that has dealt more kindly with the women of years. There has been a general lengthening and softening of the silhouette, which is especially flattering to the mature figure. This important fact is illustrated in the Vogue sketch shown on the RIGHT above. The hip-line treatment is as kind to the figure as it is distinguished. The curved lines aid in achieving a slender, fitted appearance and in eliminating the unbelted look. The bodice drapes and ties in a manner that is distinctively becoming to the women of the larger figure. The cuffs are cleverly finished with soft drapery. Hats, too, may graciously combine youth and dignity. The hat shown here is of black panamalac and it is an excellent example of the new turban treatment. The hand bag is of black calf-skin, trimmed in ivory, and the traditional type of walking pump is here illustrating in lizard. On the LEFT above is a charming white frock of the spectator sports variety introducing the new surpliced closing.

FLATTERING NECKLINE.

The lingerie detail accented in the white chiffon voile jabot collar of this attractive blue and white chiffon printed voile, is decidedly flattering to wearer. The white voile appears again in the neat turn-back buffs of long sleeves.

It's an excellent choice for all-day occasions. It's slender—chic!

It achieves a most unusual slimming effect through the moulded long-waisted bodice and fitted circular skirt that shows a gradual widening toward fluttering hem. The waistline rests at the top of the hips which is smartest for the woman of mature figure.

Style No. 3372 can be had in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. It may be copied exactly with 3 5-8 yards of 39-inch printed voile with ¾ yard of 35-inch contrasting, for the 36-inch bust measure. The outlay for this charming dress is amazingly small. It is tubbable too.

To make it! The two-piece bodice is seamed at the side and shoulders. The two-piece circular skirt is joined at side and attached to the bodice. The collar is stitched at the neckline, sleeves set into the armholes and belt tacked at either side seam at waistline.

It's a splendid type for tub silks that are so smart for beach and summer afternoons in town.

Peach-pink shantung is jaunty idea for spectator sports.

"Buddha" yellow sportsweight linen with jabot of matching sheer linen is very, very new and smart.

Chiffon, flat crepe silk, canton crepe, men's silk shirting and silk pique are ideally suited to this simple smart model.

Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin.

ENJOYABLE OUTING AT WALLACE POINT

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham of This City Hosts at Affair.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham, Peterborough, were host and hostess for a picnic party at Wallace Point, Otonsbee River, on Saturday, July 26, in honor of the ninth birthday of their only daughter, Dorothy, the little guests being conveyed from Peterborough and Millbrook by car, and in spite of the frequent showers, thoroughly enjoying the afternoon's outing.

Races were run off in an adjoining field, the prizes delighting the hearts of the young folk, who were all remembered by the hostess with caps of gay design and coloring, daintily perched on each little head. The swings and various games were other features in which there was general and enthusiastic participation, and a particular attraction for the supper table was the large birthday cake, beautifully iced in pink and white, and with its nine lighted candles in rose holders.

Unfortunately a heavy shower, just as the birthday tea was concluded, cut short plans for further play for the seventeen or more little folk and made it rather difficult for the older guests present to be served with a meal at all.

The opening of the birthday parcels by the young hostess was of special interest, not only to the recipient of the gifts, but also to her several guests as well, and occupied the time fully until cars were headed homeward and the enjoyable outing was brought to a close with ice-cream cones served all round as a final treat supplied by Mr. Burnham.

Monday, 28th, is Also Day Of Rejoicing For This Flock

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Monday, July 28th was not only a gala day in the ranks of the Tory party, but the beginning of prosperity among a flock of very young pullets here, who also celebrated.

J. L. Doherty, business man of Campbellford, has many young Tom Barron leghorns, all, in fact, four months and thirteen days old last Monday, and what was his surprise to visit his flock of birds on election morning and discover an egg. This was an unexpected event, as Mr. Doherty had not even provided the fowl with nests.

The egg, though on the small size, weighed one ounce and a half.

A delightful interlude in the competition in the Ladies' Bowling Tournament at the Peterborough Bowling Greens yesterday afternoon was during the tea hour, when the local ladies entertained visiting lady bowlers from Toronto, Deseronto, Tweed, Lindsay and Cobourg. The pleasant club room, with its attractive furnishings of reed, its bright woodwork and gay curtains, was decorated with a profusion of lovely flowers, sweet peas, gladioli, delphinium, snapdragon and Shasta daisies, as well as large bowls of ferns. The prizes for the winners were displayed on a side table and included some very handsome things, in wardrobe travelling cases, decorated china vases, embroidered linens and silver flower holders. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. G. A. Borland, Mrs. W. A. Greenslade and Mrs. George Coleman. Mrs. G. A. Borland was convenor of general arrangements, assisted by a corps of ladies. The table was exquisitely arranged with a cloth of Cluny lace centered by a silver basket filled with deep blue delphinium, crimson and pink roses and gypsophila. The same lovely flowers were in individual silver bud vases. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. L. Ferguson and Mrs. Malcolm McIntyre, assisted by Mrs. Fred Mowry, Mrs. W. McGee, Mrs. Warner Thompson, Mrs. Reg. Cuffe of Kansas City, Missouri, Mrs. E. Vernon Morphet, Mrs. Homer Borland, Mrs. D. J. Eldred, Miss Phyllis Coleman and Miss Mary Sedgwick. After tea, the games were resumed. The weather was ideal for the contests and a very pretty setting was afforded by the pleasant new club house with its wide verandah decorated with a large flag, and the splendidly-kept greens with the players providing a touch of color in their light gowns and the wide-brimmed palmetto hats which were prominent.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

SIMPLICITY is one of the greatest charms in persons and also in things!

• • • • • • •

In persons it indicates a directness of thought and action that comes from straight thinging, clear reasoning and fine character.

• • • • • • •

Children often have it. Then as they grow older and life begins to press upon their minds with its multiplicity of concerns it dazzles and confuses them.

• • • • • • •

• • • • • • •

When you come to consider things in the light of this characteristic of simplicity it is discovered to be one of the rarest virtues. Think of it in the terms of costuming. A frock that has the charm of simplicity has had every detail of its making worked out to the highest point.

• • • • • • •

Each bit of ornamentation that does not contribute to perfection of line, contour and chaste severity is eliminated. There is no chance about such simplicity. So difficult it is acquired that, when attained, the prices soar.

• • • • • • •

In interior decoration simplicity is the element to seek. It is true that there are different kinds of decorative simplicity varying according to the period, but in each there can be its own style of simplicity.

• • • • • • •

However decorative simplicity is a study in itself and cannot be more than touched upon in a short article. It is done merely to call attention to the desirability of the feature in home decoration.

• • • • • • •

Simplicity of style is something authors strive for. Any amateur writer should study this phase. Write and re-write paragraphs with this one end in view.

• • • • • • •

When the wording sounds easy, yet tells everything that the elaborate sentences did, then the style is simple and direct.

• • • • • • •

It can be beautiful. Probably it will be much more beautiful. This is assuming that gramatically and rhetorically the paragraph is correct whether in florid style or simple.

• • • • • • •

There are words that express ornateness in different forms. For example a frock that has too many frills poorly placed, or too many ornaments, is termed 'fussy.' No woman wants a fussy frock.

• • • • • • •

A room that lacks simplicity of decoration is said to be stuffy. It is over-furnished. Writing that is full of adjectives or in which a subject is pompously treated is called grandiose. It is amusing where it tries to be impressive.

• • • • • • •

Acting that is too full of gesture and mannerisms is termed overacting. In each instance mentioned, the cure is simplicity.

• • • • • • •

From the glimpse given of what simplicity consists and what lack of it brings, it is easy to see that simplicity is valuable. It is something to hold fast to if you have it, and to study to get into things you make or whatever you do.

LIVED ON RAW FISH TWO DAYS

Two Newfoundlanders Have Harrowing Experience in Rowboat.

LOST SCHOONER IN FOG

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., August 1. — The blood and flesh of raw codfish was the drink and food that sustained two young Newfoundlanders during the forty-eight hours they were astray from the Lunenburg fishing schooner Alsatian recently. Low fog beneath brilliant sun and a water surface like glass were the conditions under which Alfred Hardy (19) and James Baker (29), both of Rencontre East, finally reached land by oar and sail after leaving the schooner in a dory and failing to locate the vessel later owing to the low-lying fog.

The Alsatian, commanded by Captain Harold Corkum, took on baiting at Caplin Bay and sailed for the Grand Banks, where it engaged in fishing for four days. On the morning of the last day, Monday, Hardy and Baer left the schooner as dory mates. Their duty was to shift the 24 lines, each 50 fathoms in length. They then steered a course in the apparent direction of the schooner. No bell or horn was heard, however, and no sign of the vessel could be detected in the dense fog. The fishermen rowed until night approached, when they set a north-west course by their compass and put up sail in hope of striking land or being sighted by some craft.

On Tuesday morning the weather was very warm. Their thirst becoming almost unbearable, the men split some of the fish in the dory, drining the blood and eating some of the flesh. Little was said of how the men spent the rest of that day and night, but the continued warm weather and lack of supplies indicates to some extent the ordeal suffered. At daybreak on Wednesday morning, a reflected light in the sky led Baker to believe St. John's was within reach. An hour later they thought they were og Cape St. Francis. Taking down sail, they rowed to a fishing stage near a house and found they were at Flat Rock, St. John's East, where neither had ever been before. They were given food, tobacco, and shelter, and left later in the day for St John's.

Every dory belonging to a schooner operating on the Grand Banks is required to carry an emergency supply of food and water, but their dory was not so supplied, said the men.

Gasoline from America is being used to run automobiles in British Malaya.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG. That old and antique song we heard, last night.

OH, JOHNNY.

(Tune: The Rogue's March)
(Contributed by Beatrice)

If you are at dunce, why own it at once,
And turn right about like a man, Sir;
And stick to your books without any sour looks,
You very well know that you can, Sir.

Chorus:

Oh, Johnny, don't play so;
Why, Johnny, delay so?
If you mean to run loose with sense like a goose,
Why Johnny Bulwinkle just say so.
(Repeat last two lines)

Be up with the lark, and out in the park,
Whenever the weather is fine, Sir;
But finish your sport, and the things of that sort,
And be down at your studies at nine, Sir.

This hopping away, and jumping all day,
Will do very well for the frog, Sir;
For that they enjoy, but no girl or boy,
Should live with their brain in a fog, Sir.

The dogs and the cats, the mice and the rats,
Don't know the North Pole from a broom, Sir;
And poor Johnny B—, so stupid is he—
Not very much more can assume, Sir.

If you are a dunce, why own up at once,
Just put on the coat if it fits, Sir;
But if you agree to study, you see,
You may be the president yet, Sir.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

What does the old house think about
When all the lights have been turned out,
Dark, dark, from sill to rafter?
What does it find to lend it cheer
Except the memory sweet and clear
Of Daphne's laughter?

It must be lonely in the gloom
When quiet reigns in every room,
With ghostly shadows wringing;
But when the silent house recalls
The loveliest music of its walls
In Daphne's singing.

Like this old house my life might be
Had I but blessed memory
To still my lonely yearning,
Had I no hope whose promise gleams
In rosy hues through all my dreams . . .
Daphne's returning.

Leafs Stage Scoring Rampage to Beat Wings 11-9

RUNS AND HITS PLENTIFUL AS TORONTO WINS

Bedore Boosts Count By Connecting For Triple With Bases Loaded.

BIRDS FAIL TO WIN.

Buffalo Drops First Game of Double Header to Montreal Royals.

Once more the Baltimore Orioles have muffed a chance to cut into Rochester's comfortable lead in the International League. While the league leaders were bowing to Toronto yesterday, Baltimore, presented with an opportunity to shave a full game off the Red Wings' advantage, suffered a trouncing at the hands of Al Mamaux's Newark Bears.

Mamaux himself elected to pitch against the Orioles and turned in a neat performance, as the Bears hit opportunely to win 8-2. Mamaux held the Orioles to nine scattered hits, one a home run by Heinie Sand. Stewart Bowen started for Baltimore, but was driven out of the box in the fourth inning when the Bears counted four times.

Rochester's defeat by Toronto 11-9 can be attributed to a savage Toronto outburst in the third inning when the Leafs counted nine times. Tex Carleton was sailing along with a three-run lead when the avalanche descended. Before the side was retired in the third inning, Both Carleton and his immediate successor, Irvin, had departed for the showers and 14 Toronto batsmen had gone to the plate. Of these batsmen, seven got hits and four received walks. The big blows of the inning were a triple by Bedore with three on and a double by Kunesch that accounted for two more. Rochester plugged away, drew within one run of a tie, blasted Joe Shaute and Nick Harrison out of the box, but could not fathom the offerings of Phil Page, last Toronto hurler.

Buffalo dropped the first game of a double bill to Montreal. Line-up shared in the 15 hits the Royals collected off Leverett and Williams in the opener and only Henry and Thormahlen failed to score. Thormahlen, incidentally, turned in a steady eight-hit pitching performance. He had the Bisons grounding weakly to the infield for the most, only three put-outs being credited to the Royal outfielders. Russell Wrightstone led the Bisons in an 11-hit attack on three Royal pitchers in the second game. The old-time major leaguer drove in three runs with a homer and two singles.

Johnny Welch gave up only six hits as Reading trounced Jersey City 9-2. Scott colected two doubles and a pair of singles to lead Reading's 14-hit offensive on Grant, Moore and Guise. Welch deserved a shut-out, both Skeeter runs being directly attributable to Reading errors.

LAWN BOWLING

TWEED, Aug. 1.—(Examiner Correspondence).—In the bowling tournament in the Hastings County League, Tweed won the game place at Deseronto on Thursday with a score of 44-33.

PEERLESS PERCY

How many dyed in the wool track and field enthusiasts know that the man who later was to become the greatest figure of a decade and the hero of the Olympic games of 1928, was turned back from official recognition in 1927 by the toss of a coin? Yet that was probably the sole reason why Percy Williams didn't crash the sporting limelight a year before he did. He didn't even murmur but travelled across the entire continent again the next year to upset the greatest collection of athletes the A.A.U. of C. had to offer, thence to the Olympic games to become the hero of 1928. However, this is all history and old at that. In August he again comes East not only to win but to regain the laurels that so recently were taken from him in his backyard by Tolan and Wycoff. Williams has not had stiff, active competition of the first calibre for at least a year. That is the logical reason why he was beaten by men who failed to give him an argument at Amsterdam. On August 9th the "Peerless Percy" will again face the starting tape with what appears to be the finest collection of athletes that Canada has today; Leigh Miller, from the shores of the Atlantic; Johnny Fitzpatrick of amilton; Ralph Adams and the new sensational Hamilton high school lad B. Pearson. This calibre of racing should do much to place Percy again in condition together with the British empire games, following soon after this. Then comes his big opportunity to hand out the same old-time trimmings that he used to at the International meet at Chicago when the British empire meets the United States.

Ulster Not Extended to Win Ontario Cup Game Last Night.

TORONTO, Aug. 1—Ulster United won an easy 5-to-0 victory from Toronto Irish in an Ontario Cup first round game at Ulster Stadium last night. The fans had expected a close game, as great rivalry exists between the National and Major League elevens for supremacy in the cup tie encounters.

The Irish were forced to take the field minus Quinn, their regular custodian, but Kane made a good substitute, who could not be held at fault for the defeat of his side. Singleton was also good for the Irish, his timely clearances helping to keep the score within reasonable bounds when the Redhanders threatened frequently.

SKITCH RINK IS WINNER OF DUFFUS TROPHY

Cobourg Visitors Are Winners in First Competition For New Cup.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

Second Cup Taken By Mrs. E. Coleman's Rink of Weston.

The first ladies' bowling tournament to be held on the spacious new greens of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club took place yesterday, resulting in a clean sweep of the four prizes by visiting rinks. The Duffus of this city, was won by Mrs. Duffus of this city, was wone by Mrs. Jack Skitch of Cobourg. This is the first competition for the new cup, which is to be held by the winner until next year's ladies' tournament.

In addition to the award of the cup, each member of the winning rink received a wardrobe travelling-case donated by Mark Bredin, Jr., President of the local club. These were presented, along with the other prizes, on the verandah of the clubhouse at 7 o'clock yesterday evening.

Second prize was taken by the rink skipped by Mrs. E. Coleman of Weston, the members receiving individual awards of silver flower baskets donated by H. R. Martin. Third place went to Mrs. Arnold of Lindsay, the members of whose rink received table linen, the gift of Arthur McLeish.

In the contest for fourth place a tie resulted between the rinks of Mrs. Whitty of Stirling and Mrs. McLeod of Cobourg. In the ensuing draw, Mrs. McLeod gained the right to the place. To her rink went individual prizes of silver vases, donated by A. Brown.

Praise New Grounds

The visitors were enthusiastic in their praise for the new grounds and clubhouse of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. Nothing like it, they declared, was to be found in the province—probably not in Canada. On every side were to be heard words of high commendation for the officials of the club whose energy, foresight, and business ability had made such an ambitious venture possible.

"There can be no doubt," one of the guests asserted, "that the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club is one of the leading organizations of its kind on the continent."

It was announced last night that the draw for this week's regular Friday evening tournament would take place promptly at 7 p.m.

Extensive preparations are now being made for the special Civic Holiday tournament for local bowlers, which it is hoped will be one of the season's outstanding events.

GOLF BALLS POISON DOGS.

Members of the famous Old Course on the Links at St. Andrews, Scotland, are trying to solve the mystery of poisoned golf balls which have caused the death of a number of dogs which had been trained to retrieve lost balls. One theory is that the poison was placed on balls by boys who found and sold balls and another is that it was carried by rats from the city dump near the links.

FERRELL-LYONS STAR ON MOUNDS

Cleveland Hurler Triumphs After Hectic Struggle With Sorrell and Cantrell of Detroit.

LYONS HOLDS BROWNS.

With five games on the card, the American league had one of its days when pitching counted heavily, and batting comparatively little. Wes. Ferrell of Cleveland and Ted Lyons of Chicago, were the outstanding mound performers, each winning his 17th victory of the season. Ferrell had a great duel with Sorrell and Cantrell of Detroit and finally triumphed 5 to 3, as Eddie Morgan hit his 21st home run of the season with two out and one on base in the ninth inning.

Lyons held the St. Louis Browns to four hits in the second game of a double header and won it 1 to 0 after Garland Braxton had pitched Chicago to a 10 to 2 victory in the first. Lyons scored the game's only run, taking advantage of the two St. Louis errors and the only extra base hit of the game. A double by Watwood, for an unearned tally. Dick Coffman also gave but four hits.

George Earnshaw of Philadelphia pitched another four hit game against Washington, but he developed a streak of wildness in the ninth inning and Mose Grove had to come to his rescue to give the Athletics a 4 to 3 victory and place them eight games ahead of their nearest rivals. The pitchers were about as bad as all the rest in Boston, where the New York Yankees downed the Red Sox 14 to 13, in a game packed full of hits and errors. Lou Gehrig's 33rd home run made with the bases full in the seventh inning gave the Yanks the decision although they were outhit 17-12, and made seven of the game's 13 errors.

AUSTRALIANS BEAT SOMERSET'S ELEVEN

Antipodeans Win By An Inning and 158 Runs.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — The Australians won a sensational victory over Somerset in their cricket match yesterday at Taunton by an inning and 158 runs. Australia scored 368, in which were centuries by A. Jackson and Don Bradman. The former made 118 and the latter 117. Somerset were put out for 121 and 81. Clarence Grimmett, the Australian bowler, took 7 of Somerset's second inning wickets for 33 runs. J. C. White, Somerset's international, had a bowling analysis of four wickets for 91 runs.

Scores in other matches were::

Lancashire v. Glamorganshire at Manchester: Lancs 235 for two wickets, declared (E. Tyldesley 124 not out; Iddon 83, not out.) Glamorgan 62 runs for three wickets.

Derbyshire v. Leicestershire at Buxton: Derby 134, Storer 57, Geary, four wickets for 32 runs; Leicester, 22 runs for no wickets.

Worcestershire v. Middlesex at Worcester; Middlesex 221 and 42 runs for two wickets (Brooke, four wickets for 95 runs), Worcester 95 (Peebles, five wickets for 48 runs.)

BROOKLYN'S MARGIN IS CUT AS ROBINS BOW TO PHILLIES

National League Batting Leaders Stage Hitting Rampage to Win 12-7 Triumph.

THIRD WIN FOR PIRATES.

Philadelphia's National league club, one of the most powerful arrays of sluggers in the National league, have been floundering through the season, going from bad to worse, as their pitchers failed to hold the rival batters in check. But every so often, the Phillies burst out with an exhibition of hitting that holds forth more than one ray of hope for their fans.

It was a rather dismal crowd that assembled at Baker Bowl yesterday to watch the Phillies swing their bats against the league leading Brooklyn Robins with every prospect of meeting their twelfth straight defeat. Things were different at the end, for the Phillies gave an effective demonstration of why they are leading the National league in hitting and came out with a 12 to 7 triumph. They got a few "breaks" in ending their losing streak, for Ray Phelps, who started for Brooklyn was hurt in the second inning and Fred Heimach had to come into the game just in time to meet a five run rally in the third. Philadelphia proved in the next inning that this burst of scoring was not a fluke, by scoring five more times to clinch the victory, and won the game with Lester Sweetland, a "cousin" of the Brooklyn team, pitching the entire distance.

To the Phillies, the victory meant only a bit of encouragement, but it was rather a serious affair for the Robins. Instead of increasing their lead over the Chicago Cubs, who again were idle along with Cincinnati, the margin was reduced to two games. Likewise the New York Giants who seem to be threatening the leaders in a serious way, made a big gain. The Giants blasted out 20 hits against the Boston Braves and won an 11 to 5 decision. It placed them five games behind the leaders and only three back of Chicago.

Third Win for Pirates

The Pittsburgh Pirates did still better with their third straight one-run victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and their fifth successive triumph. They finally moved out of the second division into a tie with the Cards for fourth place as Larry French won his own game with a double in the ninth inning that drove in the deciding run of a 4 to 3 game.

Contest Entrant Must Catch Fish

Anyone entering a fish in The Examiner big fish contest must have caught the fish himself. This is one of the chief rules of the contest and in fairness to amateur fishermen it should be abided by.

With each passing week the number of entries in the contest is mounting. Numerous fine specimens of 'lunge and small-mouthed bass have been entered which bears indisputable testimony to the splendid fishing of the Kawartha district.

MONTREAL EVENS DOMINION SERIES

Third Game Necessary to Decide Canadian Title.

WINNIPEG, August 1. — Montreal Canadian Nationals came into their own last night and brought New Westminster's onrush to the Canadian football championship to a sudden abrupt stop. Defenders of the title they won a year ago, Nationals soundly whipped the Royals from British Columbia, 5 to 0, while their "Big Chief," Sir Henry Thornton, smiling broadly, looked on.

With a penalty kick Westminster had won the first game of the Dominion final series here Tuesday. Last night they were outclassed through ninety minutes of play in which the red-shirted champions rose to great heights in beating the classy ball handlers from the coast. Three shots zoomed into the Royals' nets in the first half—perfectly timed drives that gave Sanford no chance to save and all of them following quick-passing attacks.

The Nationals added a couple for good measure in the second half and missed three or four that would have mounted their total.

The teams meet in the deciding game for the title on Saturday night.

Toronto Head Office To Play Softball Here

Local softball enthusiasts will be given an opportunity of seeing a Queen City softball crew perform on August 9, when the Toronto Head Office of the Canadian General Electric Co. will send a team to this city to engage a picked team from the local Electric plant in defence of the Mallett Trophy, which is emblematic of Interworks competition and has been successfully defended by the Toronto branch for several years.

The annual tournament is usually conducted on a home and home game basis but this year it is doubtful that the Peterborough team will make the return trip, and the single game here will have to suffice.

Bell, who pitched for the Head Office last year practically shutout the locals in both games with a unique display of twirling, although the teamwork of the two teams otherwise was about even.

The final arrangements have not been completed at present, but it is understood that more definite information will be available at the end of the week.

JAMES KERR TAKES OVER PICTON HOTEL

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—After a lapse of two and a half months from active occupation, James Kerr left this week to take over the Globe Hotel, Picton.

Mr. Kerr, who for thirteen years was the owner and manager of the St. Lawrence Hall Hotel, Campbellford, relinquished his interest in that concern last May, selling the business to William O'Keefe of St. Catharines. Since that time he has lived in town, but recently decided to enter active business again. He entered into occupation of the new premises on Friday.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Kerr, and it is understood that two of his old staff will go with him to Picton.

STRIBLING WASTING TIME.

Jacobs Says Winner of February Fight Will Meet Present Champion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 — If Young Stribling intends to remain in England until the arrival of Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, he will have a long wait, Jacobs said here last night. Jacobs will not leave America until August 14, and he will go direct to Germany to rejoin Schmeling.

Jacobs was puzzled by a telegram he received yesterday from Jeff Dixon, European promoter, who evidently is hoping to promote a Stribling-Schmeling match. Dixon requested Jacobs' office to cable "the name of the boat Jacobs is on."

"Dixon thinks I am on the high seas, and I though he was sailing with the Striblings for America," laughed Jacobs. "They are wasting their time talking to me right now. Schmeling will not be ready to fight until next year.

"I imagine the Garden will match Stribling and Victorio Campolo at Miami next February and pick the vinner to meet Schmeling in June. I guess Sharkey is out of it, unless he snaps out of his high-tone attitude. The man seems to be in a trance."

CENTRAL SR. BOYS BEAT KING EDWARD

Great Enthusiasm is Being Taken in Playground Softball Games.

The Central Senior Boys' softball team scored its first win of the season in the City Playground Softball League by downing King Edward to the tune of 8 to 6. At the same time the Central Junior Boys were losing their fourth straight to King Edward, 8-5.

The batteries in the senior contest were: For Central, Shambo and Armstrong; for King Edward, Gordon and Mowry. In the junior affair the batteries were: For King Edward, Ridley and Castle; for Central, Thomas and Harris.

The score of 40 to 23 featured the fourth straight victory for the Central girls against King Edward. Hitting was plentiful and base-running and fielding hectic. F. Patterson and M. Cowan were the batteries for Central; D. Routley and A. McKenzie, for King Edward.

The standing in the three divisions of the City Playground League to date is as follows::

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Senior Boys.
King Edward	4	1	.750
Central	1	4	.250
Junior.
King Edward	4	0	1.000
Central	0	4	.000
Girls.
Central	4	0	1.000
King Edward	0	4	.000

The annual playgrounds picnic, at which the league softball finals will be played falls on August 14, and will be held at King Edward Park instead of at Nicholls Oval.

The games have been played in the Boys' Association Football League. Central winning the first 2-0, and King Edward taking the second 4-0. The third game is slated for next Wednesday, and each team is confident of breaking the deadlock in its favor.

At the RIGHT, Miss Marjorie Leeming of Victoria, B.C., former Canadian lady singles lawn tennis champion, and still an exceedingly strong contender for the title. ONTARIO RIFLE ASSOCIATION HOLDS 56TH ANNUAL MEETING

LARGEST SINCE WAR

By W. John Stewart.
(Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1930.)

TORONTO, Aug. 1. — With more than 325 marksmen from all over Ontario and many other parts of the Dominion gathered at the Long Branch Rifle Ranges, the 46th annual meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association commence activities Monday afternoon, with probabilities of exceptionally good weather conditions prevailing.

The Ontario meet is perhaps the largest rifle meet held in Canada and is eclipsed in importance only by the Dominion of Canada meet at Ottawa, week of August 11th, where marksmen meet for the right to represent Canada on next year's Bisley team.

This year's meeting of the Ontario Association is the largest since the war. Records show increases in attendance in almost every year since 1921, and it is confidently expected that before the association celebrates its Diamond Jubilee, the attendance will have reached the 500 mark.

This year, as in former years, more than $7,000 will be awarded in prize money. In every one of the nine matches, excluding the aggregate competitions, more than one hundred prizes are given.

Major Dempster, secretary of the Ontario Association is confident that this meeting will be the most successful ever held within the last ten years. He has been instrumental in beautifying the ranges and making things more comfortable and encouraging to shooters.

"It is only in this manner," he said, "that rifle-shooting can be expected to take place amongst the major sports of Canada. This country has shown, by the remarkable work done by the last two or three Bisley teams, that she can produce rifle-shots. But we must encourage the younger men.

"Shooting is one of the most fascinating games I know of," he continued. "It can be compared readily to golf, although in that popular game, I must admit that not so much skill is required."

Major Dempster has done great work in encouraging the younger shots to stick at the game. He has made it easier for a tyro, or novice, to remain in that class until he has become sufficiently experienced to take his place amongst the seniors.

"Formerly," he said, "when a tyro, who perhaps would have only one good shoot during the entire meet, won a three-dollar prize in the senior list he was excluded from any further competition of prizes from the tyro list. This, we found, discouraged many younger men. We have recently changed this so that a tyro must win a four-dollar prize before he becomes ineligible for the tyro list."

The City of Hamilton Tyro Match opens th meet officially on Monday afternoon. More than 200 tyros are taking part in this match, a great many of them cadets from Collegiate Institutes throughout the Province. The match is fired at the 500 yard range, and the winner will be awarded the O.R.. silver medal and ten dollars. The first stage of the City of Toronto Match also gets under way in the afternoon. This is fired at the 500 and 600 yard ranges, the first 60 competitors being eligible to fire the final stage at 900 yards to-morrow for the City of Toronto Gold Medal and $50.00.

The list of matches for the rest of the week are: Tuesday, The Duke of Cornwall and York, 200 and 300, first stage of the Bankers, 300; Wednesday, second stage of the Bankers, 500; first stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's Match at 300 and 600; the Gibson Memorial, seven shots rapid fire at 300 yards; Thursday, the Tait-Brassey Match at 200, 500 and 600 yards; the President's Match at 600 yards; Friday, the Our Friends Match at 300 and 600 yards; the second stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's Match at 900 yards.

There are, of course, the usual list of team matches such as the Lewis gun on Monday, the Gzowski on Friday, and the Pellatt Inter-Provincial on Friday.

In this latter match, Ontario is expected to have a tough fight on her hands from the Western provinces. Manitoba and Alberta are sending down the strongest teams that have represented these provinces in many years, while Saskatchewan is reported to be up to strength. The Maritime teams remain somewhat of a mystery, although they have always been well up in the scoring lists.

The Canadian Bisley team will be well represented at the matches, with twelve at least taking part. Mrs. Neal Dow, of New Brunswick, will take part with her husband, Lieut. Neal Dow. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dow did some very fine shooting at the Bisley meet this year.

The ranges this year are in better condition than they have been for a number of years in the past. New huts and rest rooms have been built, and trees and shrubs have been planted in suitable places, and add inestimably to the beauty of the grounds. In all, a great meet is expected.

49 U.S. YOUTHS UNDERGO STIFF EDISON EXAMS

Preparatory School Graduates Delve Into 20 Typewriten Pages.

GIVEN COLLEGE COURSE.

Problem of Party Stranded in Desert Proves the Hardest.

WEST ORANGE, N.J., Aug 1 (C.P.) Forty-nine bright young men, selected as the year's most promising preparatory school graduates in the 48 States and the district of Columbia, dove down yesterday into 20 typewritten pages of one of Thomas A. Edisons' celebrated questionnaires and came up smiling but shaking their heads.

One of these youngsters is going to be selected for a four-year college course, all expenses paid, but, before taking him on as a protege, Mr. Edison wanted to know several things.

Desert Party Stricken

The toughest and most thought-provoking of Mr. Edison's questions, the boys generally agreed had to do with a scientific party stranded in the desert. Here is the question.

"You are the head an an expedition which has come to grief in the desert. There is enough food and water left to enable three people to get to the nearest outpost of civilization. The rest must perish. Your companions are:

"1—A brilliant scientist 60 years old.

"2—Two half breed guides, ages 58 and 32.

"3—The scientist's wife, interested mainly in society matters, age 39.

"4—Her little son, age 6.

"5—The girl you are engaged to marry.

"6—Your best friend, a young man of your own age who has shown great promise in the field of science.

"7—Yourself.

"Which would you choose to live, and which to die"?

Answers Vary

The answers varied all the way from that of Charles Larrick of Maryland, who replied with true chivalry, "women and children first", to that of Luther P. Spalding, Phoenix, Ariz., who possibly in a spirit of practicality born of environment, insisted that one of the guides "would have to be saved to get 'em out."

Most of them agreed the scientist and the best friend ought to have a chance.

CANADIAN AMATEUR DRAWS AMERICANS

27 From U. S. Will Compete in Tourney at London Next Week.

LONDON, Ont., Aug 1.—One hundred and four golfers from Canada and the United States will begin teeing off at 8 o'clock on Monday morning in the Canadian amateur golf tournament being played over the course of the London Hunt and country Club. Entries were announced yesterday. Twenty-seven players from the United States are invading Canada for the event.

Eddied Teld, of New York, is the defending champion, who wrested the crown from a classy field in Jasper Park, Alberta, last year, and he will be back again. Held will have to look to his laurels, however, for there is a formidable field of former champions, runners-up and promising youngsters. There will as usual be strong Toronto and Montreal contingents, and also some of Western Canada's best.

London is pinning its hopes on that reliable medallist and ex-champion, Ross Somerville, and also on Young Jack Nash, who recently won the Ontario amateur title.

The course has been lengthened and improved so that it will be more difficult to negotiate in par. Fairways have been hardened by dry weather, so that a well hit tee shot will get big distance. The greens, however, have been carefully kept and well watered and will hold the pitch shots.

Buffalo Rink Captures International Trophy

WELLAND, Aug. 1.—Four years after, almost to the day, John M. Boyce and his rink mates—Frank M. Chapin, Dr. J. A. Sherwood and Robert E. Fairchild of Buffalo—recaptured the international lawn bowling trophy that they first won in 1926.

Mr. Boyce and his men again won the cup, the highest prize in the 20th international lawn bowling tournament which began its third and final day Thursday on Parkside greens, Delaware Park, Buffalo, by virtue of their victory over the Melvin Hopper rink of Pasadena, Calif., 22 to 11.

It is the first time the international trophy, donated by Dr. Stewart W. Reid of Hartford, Conn., has come to the U. S. side of the border since 1926. The W. G. Cleghorn rink of Kitchener which met defeat in the second round, won this trophy in 1927 and 1928, and last Summer the Victoria rink of Hamilton, skipped by Cecil Smith, took it back to Canada.

SASKATCTHEWAN FACES HEAVY RUSH FOR LAND

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., August 1 (Canadian Press). — Fearing formal transfer of natural resources to Saskatchewan to-day will end the granting of free homesteads. A "land rush," which has assumed large proportions in recent weeks, reached a climax yesterday as dozens of those anxious to take land stormed the Dominion land office here. Fifteen men spent the night on the steps of the office, and there were joined early by others, with the result the capacity of the local office was seriously taxed on the last day it will be officially under the Crown by the right of the Dominion.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Farm Hand Given Six Months' Term

LINDSAY, Aug 1. (Special to The Examiner).—In the hope of getting deportation back to England, Albert E. Thorne, who had been working for a number of farmers in this district, set fire to the C.P.R. station at Ops a few evenings ago. He then notified the local police of his action. Yesterday he appeared before Police Magistrate Jordan to answer to the charge of arson, and was sentenced to serve six months determinate and two years less one day indeterminate in the Ontario reformatory.

IN TRAINING FOR BRITISH EMPIRE GAMES

The arrival of the Australian and New Zealand teams who will take part in the British Empire games created considerable interest in sport circles generally. The squads contain the finest athletes of the antipodes, the most notable among them being Bob Pearce, the Australian oarsman, champion single sculler of the world, by virtue of his victory at the Olympic games in 1928. There were many other shining lights in the party among them being (No. 1) W. M. "Tickle" White, Australia's greatest miler, an athlete with a wonderful personality and who even in defeat at Amsterdam was a big favorite. No. 2 shows one of the visitors receiving his first lesson in the use of the starting block, an American device which is expected to revolutionize sprinting, Coach John Nicholson, a former Montrealer, who is on the staff of Notre Dame University, giving the invaders from overseas some idea of the principles of the blocks. Among the curious Anzacs can be noted Bob Pearce himself, standing next to Nicholson.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY GETS WET.

Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty were whispering together on the shady side of the hollow stump bungalow one hot day. The rabbit gentleman was smiling and twinkling his pink nose. Baby Bunty was so hot she fanned herself with a big grape-vine leaf.

"Then will you do it, Unkie Wig?" asked the little orphan rabbit.

"Yes, I'll do it," promised the rabbit gentleman.

"You'll make a nice rain shower for us so we can all cool off by hopping in and out of the falling drops; won't you?" asked Bunty.

"Yes," agreed Mr. Longears.

"Promise true, black and blue, cross your heart and wiggle your shoe?" asked Bunty.

"Yes, I promise true," said Uncle Wiggily, and he crossed his heart, which was beating inside his fuzzy skin and he also shook his shoe. And the shoe, being large, and the lace being loose, flopped right off his paw and went sailing into the deep grass.

"I'll get it for you!" cried Bunty. "You go ahead and make the rain shower, Unkie Wig. I'll call the children to come and see you make it rain for them."

"But not yet, Bunty," said Mr. Longears, putting on the shoe that the little orphan rabbit brought back to him. "Wait a bit until I get everything ready. It will take several minutes."

"Oh, don't hurry," said Bunty. "I must go tell the others that you are really going to make a rain shower to cool them. They wouldn't believe me at first."

Well might Baby Bunty say this. For, as I told you in the story last night, when she and some of the animal boys and girls of Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains, were trying to get cool under the shade of bushes, Bunty said:

"Unkie Wig can make a rain shower whenever he wants to!"

"Oh, he cannot!" barked Jackie Bow Wow and some of the others. So Baby Bunty ran to where Uncle Wiggily was asleep and, awakening him, begged him to make a little rain shower. Uncle Wiggily had said he would do it. So now let's see what happens.

Bunty, after whispering to Uncle Wiggily, hopped back to where she had left the puppy dogs, the pussy cats and other animal children.

"Now you'll see!" cried Bunty.

"See what?" barked Peetie Bow Wow.

"You'll see Unkie Wig make a rain shower," said Bunty.

"I tell you it can't rain without a cloud in the sky!" bleated Billie Wagtail the goat. "He can't do it!"

"Come and see!" invited Bunty. She led the crowd of hot children to the side of the hollow stump bungalow. Coming to a stop in front of a bush behind which Bunty knew Uncle Wiggily was hiding, the little orphan rabbit girl called:

"Are you there, Unkie Wig?"

"Yes, I'm here, Bunty," said Mr. Longears, just as he had promised true, black and blue, cross his heart and wiggle his shoe. Only now he didn't wiggle his shoe.

"Please make it rain for us!" begged Bunty.

"Ho! Ho! As if Uncle Wiggily could do that!" quacked Lulu Wibblewobble, the duck girl.

And then, to the surprise of everybody, a shower of water splattered all over them. Lovely, cool water, it was, dropping and splashing on the hot children, making them lovely and cool. They had on their old clothes so they didn't mind being wet.

"Why, it really is raining!" barked Jackie.

"I told you Uncle Wiggily could make it rain whenever he wanted to!" cried Bunty, hopping up and down under a shower of drops.

"Yes! But look!" all of a sudden quacked Lulu. "This is funny rain! It comes just from behind that bush but no place else. It's awful funny rain!"

And just then Uncle Wiggily led and he ran out from behind the bush all soaking wet, with water dripping from his pink nose.

"What happened?" asked Bunty, as the rain shower stopped.

"Oh, the garden hose slipped out of my paw, the nozzle pointed right at me and it gave men a good soaking!" spluttered Mr. Longears.

"Garden hose!" barked Jackie. "Is that how you made it rain?"

"Yes!" Uncle Wiggily answered, with a laugh, "it is. When Bunty asked me to make a rain shower, the only way I could do it was to hide back of the bush, turn on the hose, point it up in the air and let the drops fall down like rain. So that's what I did behind the bushes."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Baby Bunty. "But a hose rain is good, isn't it?"

"It's wonderful!" cried all the others. Then Mr. Longears sprayed more rain from his garden hose until they were all cool. And they said Baby Bunty was very clever.

Weather Bureau That Guided the R-100 on Trans-Atlantic Flight

The R-100 received detailed weather reports every six hours from the Dominion meteorological bureau at Toronto, where reports from regular eastern stations, auxiliary balloon stations and ships on the west Atlantic were compiled into comprehensive reports, sent by fast teletype service to the St. Hubert airport, and thence radioed on the giant dirigible. (1) Shows Dr. John Patterson, director of the Dominion weather service, who is supervising the compilation of transmission of reports. (2) is Miss Jessie Thomas, teletype operator, who sent the reports to the St. Hubert flying field, and (3) is the administration building at the St. Hubert airport, where seven of Dr. Pattersons staff, including Frank O'Donnell, chief forecaster, re-assemble, decode and amplify the reports for radio transmission to the R-100's meteorological officer.

BUSH FIRE AT VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 31 (C.P.).—A bush fire of alarming proportions, which at one time threatened the destruction of several homes, and forced occupants to flee from the danger zone, swept through a portion of the Luxton district on South Vancouver Island, ten miles from the city of Victoria, yesterday. WHEAT POOL IS much speculation, but finally the farmers awoke to the situation and formed the Wheat Pool to remedy it.

Even at the present time during the strain of low prices the farmers in the Pools are standing staunchly behind its policy and purposes, stated Mr. German.

Graphically, with the assistance of charts showing the percentage of the world's wheat supplied by the great wheat-growing countries and the percentage exported by each country, the speaker explained the cause of the present low prices.

The Wheat Pool tried to make the statistical position of Canadian the basis of price and to do this agencies are maintained in 43 countries and the daily condition of wheat markets and growth is reported.

The cause of the slump was due to conditions unforeseen and which could not be prophesied. In Italy, previously a great buyer of Canadian wheat, Mussolini had set about growing wheat. Farmers were induced to cut olive trees and grow wheat, thus reducing the demand for imported wheat. France and Germany have during the past three years enjoyed tremendous wheat crops and have set up great tariff walls to keep out other wheat. France's tax on imported wheat is 53 cents per bushel and Germany collects 68 cents a bushel in duties. Besides these countries force 95 per cent of the flour used in the making of bread to be home grown. Both these countries had been great users of Canadian wheat.

$1.40 Was Never Offered

Mr. German denied forcibly that the Canadian Wheat Pool had refused to sell their wheat to Great Britain for $1.40 per bushel. That price was never offered us, he declared.

The selling of wheat was held back by the Wheat Pool because the present depression was foreseen, stated the speaker, and the farmers were not going to be stampeded in causing further low prices. That, if as oft-stated the Wheat Pool had incurred the enmity of the British consumer, then it is due to the false representations.

Again it was graphically shown that the grain producer gets only 16¾ cents from a dollar's worth of bread. Also it was shown how the orderly marketing of wheat by the Wheat Pool had done much to maintain the level of prices throughout the year not aided in great falls or rises.

AID MAPS ARE ONLY GIVEN FREE TO THE TOURISTS

Over the telephone in the Chamber of Commerce offices yesterday a voice was heard to inquire: "How are the roads to New Liskeard?"

On being assured that they were reasonably good and passable the inquirer asked the price of road maps. He was told that they were 50c. This is the price charged to non-members of the Chamber of Commerce or the Peterborough Automobile Club. The inquirer then blandly informed the member of the Chamber of Commerce staff who answered the telephone that he could drive to Orillia approximately 75 miles) and get one for nothing. In fact, once he was on the road and classed as a tourist he could secure one at any town or village for nothing.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT.

His Honor Judge Wearing received official notice of his appointment as County Judge of Middlesex from Premier King this morning in the form of a certified copy of the Order-in-Council approved by the Governor-General on July 26. A personal letter from the Premier congratulating the newly appointed Judge was included.

Up to the present Judge Talbot Macbeth has held the post in Middlesex County which Judge Wearing will take.

GETTING BIGGER!

Fred Green of McDonnel Street, fishing at Stoney Lake yesterday afternoon, was rewarded with a catch of a beautiful specimen of a small-mouthed black bass measuring nineteen inches and tipping the scales at four pounds. It had a girth of thirteen inches. Despite the game fight which it put up, it only took five minutes to land. The fish is the newest entrant in The Examiner fishing contest, for which a large number of entries have already been received.

GRASS WATERED.

In an endeavor to save the grass which has become brown and burned under the influence of the hot mid-summer sun, the firemen got busy with their hoses in the parks yesterday. In the morning and afternoon they gave the grass in Victoria Park and Confederation Square a good dousing, and in the evening gave the grass at the corner of Hunter and Burnham Streets attention.

PASSING ON CURVES.

An advertisement appearing elsewhere in to-day's edition of The Examiner and authorized by the Highways Safety Committee deals with the hazard of trying to pass another car on a curve, a risk that is especially dangerous when highways are crowded.

It is particularly timely in view of the Civic Holiday which will be celebrated on Monday and which will result in crowded highways, with holiday-makers driving to and fro, going to picnics and summer resorts.

The Highway Safety committee in issuing their appeal for care, courtesy and common sense on the roads, believe that it is possible to maintain the Dominion Day record over the coming week-end. On Dominion Day it will be recalled there were few accidents and no fatalities reported.

MAIN STREET SHOE SHINE.

Few of those freak bets which are generally made on the occasion of an election seems to have been made in this locality last Monday. Up to the present no reports of persons pushing peanuts down George street with their noses or strolling along in their pyjamas, (women tourists excluded), have been received. In fact the only evidence of a real old-fashioned election bet this week was the sight of Art. Blade shining "Red" Sedgwick's shoes in the middle of George street. Guess how they voted!

WIND DAMAGE IS EVERYONE'S CONCERN

Second only to fire in capacity for destructiveness, high winds wreak damage almost everywhere, at almost any time.

June, "Month of Roses," has a bad record for windstorms. And there is no insurance against such destruction as may be wrought by gales and tornadoes except a specific Windstorm Policy. However, the cost is very moderate, as we'll be glad to prove.

All day Tarzan followed Kulonga. Twice more he saw him hurl his arrows of destruction. Tarzan thought much of this wondrous method of slaying. He must look into the matter. That night Kulonga slept in the crotch of a mighty tree, and far above him crouched Tarzan of the Apes.

When Kulonga awoke he found that his bow and arrows had disappeared. The black warrior was panic-stricken. He was defenseless except for a single knife. Now his only hope lay in quickly reaching his village. He took the trail at a rapid trot. Tarzan followed quietly in his wake.

He was almost ready for the kill, but he was anxious to ascertain the black warrior's destination. Presently he saw it. As Kulonga emerged from the jungle a slender coiled rope sped above him. A quick noose tightened about his neck. Then Tarzan drew the threshing victim up into the sheltering tree.

Tarzan fastened the rope securely to a sharp branch. Then, descending, he plunged his hunting-knife into Kulonga's heart. Kala was avenged! He examined the black minutely—never had he seen another human being. He admired the tattooing, the sharp filed teeth. On himself he put the feathered head-dress, copper anklet, belt, and knife.

Tarzan of the Apes was ravenously hungry. Here was meat, which jungle ethics permitted him to eat. His knife was poised to dismember Kulonga. Suddenly a strange doubt stayed his hand. He never hesitated to eat of his kill, but was not this a man? Did men eat men?

A son of the late Archdeacon Mackenzie of Brantford, he commenced his career as a junior in the old Merchants' Bank. He had been associated with the Bank of Montreal for many years and for more than a decade had been manager of the branch at Collingwood. He was an Anglican and a member of the I.O.O.F. His wife, one son, Maxie; two daughters, Barbara and Frances of Collingwood; three brothers, Professor M. A. Mackenzie of Toronto University; Rev. A. Mackenzie, head master of Lakefield Boys' Preparatory School, and George Mackenzie, secretary of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, survive. Another brother, H. B. WEDDING BELLS

CONNERY--ROUTLEY.

Miss Margaret Thompson Routley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Routley, and Mrs. John Henry Connery, were married yesterday in St. Paul's Church, Bloor street, Toronto, with Rev. Dr. Hilts officiating. Summer flowers and palms were used to decorate the church, and Dr. P. Alexander Davies played the wedding march. Mrs. Kenneth Zimmerman sang during the signing of the register. The bride was given in marriage by her father ,and she wore a princess gown of ivory satin, with yoke of rose point lace, and the skirt extending into a train. Her veil of silk net was arranged with a cap of the lace and was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower of orchids and lily of the valley. The matron of honor was Mrs. Max Walker, who was gowned in cornflower blue point d'esprit, with hat of blue felt and a bouquet of Talisman roses, delphinium and corn flowers. Miss Lola Paul and Miss Dorothy Dickson were bridesmaids, the former in coral and the latter in blue chiffon with hats to match their frocks, and bouquets of Talisman roses, delphinium and cornflowers. Mr. Harold Sawyer was best man and the ushers were Mr. Max Walker and Mr. Eric Griffith. A reception was held afterwards at 47 Elm Avenue, and Mrs. Routley received in a gown of blue chiffon and lace, with black mohair hat and corsage of Sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots. Mrs Connery, mother of the groom, was in orchid lace, with matching hat and corsage of orchids. After an extended motor trip, the bride and groom will live on Broadway avenue, Toronto. For travelling the bride chose a suit of brown and white silk with pale yellow blouse and brown hat.

Many Receptions Planned For Officers And Passengers Of Airliner.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., August 2 (By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer). — While the R-100, holder of the trans-Atlantic record for lighter-than-air flights, was swinging lazily at rest at the mooring mast here to-day, workmen were preparing to crawl through the struts and braces of the big bag to repair the two fins torn during Thursday evening's storm.

Repairs Made From Inside.

The repairs will be made from the inside, the construction of the ship having allowed for this, consequently it is not believed there will be any necessity to take the monster to Lakehurst, N.J., where there is a shed sufficiently large enough to house her. A supply of fabric sent ahead from England for just such an emergency, is available here.

A result of the damage which was received over the St. Lawrence River, is that the capital will have to wait for its glimpse of Britain's monarch of the air. A journey to Ottawa had been scheduled for Tuesday, August 5, but last night it was officially announced that this trip had been indefinitely postponed. The official statement said that other trips, such as the one to Toronto and the Niagara Peninsula, and to Quebec would be postponed, and "it is probable that no extended flights in Canada may be undertaken." No decision as to the return trip to England was possible until the damage was repaired, it was intimated.

Newsmen To See Ship.

To-day a swarm of newspapermen from Canada and the United States will receive their first opportunity of seeing the mechanism of the R-100. A press inspection, to which all accredited representatives of newspapers and Press Associations have been invited, is scheduled for midday. Later in the evening the City of Montreal will give a reception at the airport to the officers, passengers and crew of the dirigible.

Sunday will be a free day for the officers, and on Monday they will be guests of the Canadian Club of Montreal at luncheon. On that day the members of the Montreal City Council and of various committees which handled arrangements in connection with the visit of the R-100 will inspect her. On August 6 Wing Commander R. B. B. Colmore and Major Scott, and possibly other officers, will be guests of the City of Toronto. On the same day the airship will be inspected by members of the Senate and House of Commons.

Million Words Sent Out.

In addition to the R-100 making a record, 78 hours 48 minutes, from casting off to mooring, the newspapermen here also made a Canadian record. More than one million words in news stories were sent out from St. Hubert airport to all parts of the world by telegraph, cable and wireless. The vast press gallery set up for the 200 odd newspapermen and women was served Thursday night and Friday morning by over 40 operators. At the finish it revealed all the wreckage of an editorial department with papers and telegrams galore bestrewing the concrete floor.

SETS NEW FLIGHT RECORD

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 2. (C.P.)—Major Geoffrey O'Brian, local aviator, completed an extensive tour of Western Canada when he landed here last night from Winnipeg and clipped more than an hour from the record he set on the westward flight to that city three weeks ago. Taking off at three o'clock Friday morning, Major O'Brian completed the 1,400 miles in 12 hours and 55 minutes.

The Weather

During July the rainfall locally was on the short side, and totalled only 2.61. The temperature for the month as a whole was higher than usual. Although there were no excessively warm days (89 degrees in the shade being the highest) there were more than the average number of days with 80 degrees and over. The lowest point was 45 degrees, with traces of white frost in some places. The light rain this morning was welcomed. It [illegible] W. B.

SHAW REVEALS FAMILY'S PAST

Suffered Social Ostracism Because of Father's Drunken Habits.

NEW EDITION.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 2 (C.P.). — George Bernard Shaw, with his customary Shavian frankness, in the preface to a new edition to his works, tells the world that his father was a drunkard and that in the days of his early youth his family suffered social ostracism because of his father's habits.

"Fortunately or unfortunately (it all depends upon how you look at it)," Shaw says, "all of the doors of society were closed to his family. The elder Shaw, it seems, was not a convivial drinker, but one wracked with shame and remorse when in his cups and after a mild fit he became a teetotaler —like his famous son always has been —but too late to save the family status.

"If you cannot get rid of the family skeleton you may still make it dance," says Shaw in revealing passages which seek to explain his shyness in breaking into the limelight when he first arrived in London many years ago.

E. A. PECK SETS NEW RECORD FOR PETERBORO WEST

First Member to be Returned on Three Consecutive Occasions.

BURNHAM 11 YEARS.

Riding Has Elected Conservative Twelve Times, Liberals Six.

With the election, on Monday last, of Edward Armour Peck to represent Peterborough West in the new House of Commons, this riding for the first time in its history has returned a member on three separate occasions to sit at Ottawa.

Not only does Mr. Peck become the first member here to be returned three times, but out of seventeen general elections and one by-election since Confederation he becomes the twelfth member from Peterborough to sit on the government benches. He will have to remain at Ottawa for the full term of five years, however, to equal the record of ten years' service hung up by J. H. Burnham. Mr. Burnham was elected to the Borden government in 1911, returned in 1917, and did not leave office until January, 1921 when he resigned as a protest against the action of his new chief, Hon. Arthur Meighen, in not going to the country immediately on his taking over the reigns of office from Sir Robert Borden.

Five Cornered Fight

At the resulting by-election, February 1921, the voters of this constituency for the first time were confronted with the task of selecting their federal member from among five candidates. Mr. Burnham ran as an Independent Conservative, Roland Denne as the official Conservative nominee, G. N. Gordon as the Liberal candidate, McMurray for Labour, and Campbell as a Farmer candidate. Mr. Gordon was elected, and was re-elected at the general elections later in the year.

Mr. Burnham, however, still retains the record majority for this riding, as well as the record number of years in office. At the War election of 1917 he was returned with a majority of 3,418 votes—a greater margin by 1,260 votes than the next greatest majority, that of Mr. Gordon at the 1921 general election; and greater by 1,309 than the third greatest, that of Mr. Peck in 1926.

Since the election of the first member, Mr. Perry in 1867, to sit on the Conservative benches behind Sir John MacDonald, Peterborough West has gone Conservative twice as often as it has gone Liberal. Mr. Peck

Hoover Will Fish in Glacier National Park

President Hoover will spend his fishing vacation this summer at Two Medicine Chalets in the Glacier National Park reserve. Rising Wolf Mountain (extreme right), under the shadows of which President Hoover will do most of his fishing while at Two Medicine Lake, was named after Hugh Monroe, a squaw man born in Quebec in 1798, whose Indian name was Rising Wolf. Rising Wolf was in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company before he drifted into the region of the Rockies.

Officers of Company Are Also Implicated In Verdict of Jury

Coroner's Jury After Being Out 35 Minutes Placed Blame of Young Recruit's Death Upon the Officials of the C. N. R. and Officers of Northumberland Company.

HAVELOCK BOY WAS KILLED ON JULY 19 WHILE RETURNING FROM BARRIEFIELD CAMP

Members of the Regiment Declare That the Doors on the Coach Were Not Closed and They Sat on the Steps to Keep Cool.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 2 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — That Victor Wright met his death through the negligence of the officials of the Canadian National Railway and the officers of C Company, Northumberland Regiment, was the verdict given by Foreman Deputy-Reeve N. Stone, after the jury had been out for thirty-five minutes, at the adjourned inquest on the death of Victor Wright.

The inquiry, which came up before the jury on July 22, was postponed until yesterday on the application of Alexander Elliott, of the firm of Gordon & Elliott, of Peterborough, who acted for the relatives of the deceased, on the ground that the evidence submitted was insufficient. The hearing was held in the Campbellford Police Court before Coroner Dr. D. J. Loucks, with Col. F. D. Boggs acting for the Crown.

Victor Wright was a 17-year-old Havelock boy, a member of C Company, Northumberland Regiment, who met his death by falling off the step of the train that was bringing the company home from Barriefield Camp, Kingston, on Saturday, July 19.

Sitting on the Steps

Evidence given at the inquiry on July 22 showed that Wright was sitting on the step of the coach, and when a few miles east of Stirling, fell off and was almost instantly killed. William Mason and Robert McGregor gave evidence at this hearing, as also did Major J. M. Hyggett, O.C. C Company, and Captain C. Free.

The Canadian National Railway Claims Agent, A. Mills of Montreal, acted for the railway company, and A. Elliott for the Wright interests.

The jury was composed of Deputy Reeve N. C. Stone, forman; J. C. Birmingham, Earl Stevens, T. Baker, P. C. Denyes, G. Haig, and John Simmons.

Harry Perry, Lindsay, gave evidence that he was the conductor on a mixed train on July 19th, leaving Belleville yards shortly after 12 noon. There were sixty-five officers and men of the Northumberland Regiment on this train. These passengers were in two coaches which had been shunted onto the end of the freight cars, and in front of the caboose.

Asked by Col. Boggs if the doors of the coaches were closed, the witness declared, "While in my charge the doors were closed and kept closed as far as I could manage." He went on to state that he was informed at Belleville that there were men for Stirling on the train, and he went to the rear of the train and climbed up through the caboose to ask the officers regarding this statement, who answered him in the negative.

GALT'S CHIEF IS SUSPENDED

Chief Constable Dan Boyd, Formerly of Peterborough, Must Face Board of Inquiry.

SERGEANT ALSO OUT.

GALT, Ont., Aug. 2.—(C.P.)—The local police commission will hear Chief Constable Dan Boyd and Sergt. R. Carson defend themselves under oath at a meeting of the commission next Wednesday against the charges of conduct unbecoming to police officers which led to their suspension last Thursday.

The Court of Enquiry will consist of Judge E. P. Clement, Kitchener, Magistrate Blake and Mayor Hilborne, both of Galt. Magistrate Blake who announced the suspension did not go into details of the charges and stated that the work of both officers had been hitherto satisfactory.

Chief Boyd, who started police work as a constable in Hamilton in 1912, had served at Belleville and Peterborough before his appointment here in 1927.

PARLIAMENT HILL IS VERY RESTLESS

Expect Bennett May Make Some Cabinet Selections Over Week-end.

WEIGHTY TASK.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 2. (C.P.)—With a new Dominion Ministry in the making, political circles in the capital presents a picture of restless expectancy over the week-end. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the victorious Conservative Leader, is sure to give very serious and more or less extended consideration to the selection of the men who will form his cabinet. The political future of many a supporter will be decided for or against during the next few days.

Meanwhile stalwarts of the party are reaching Ottawa from far-flung battle lines to be in readiness to offer advice to their chief when they may be called upon. It is a weighty task to form a Government in a country so divergent in its interests and so cosmopolitan in its population as Canada.

Most of the ministers of the King Government are now in the capital making preparations to vacate the positions they have occupied during the past Parliament. There is much routine to be carried out in order that their successors may be able to pick up the strings of tasks unfinished by the retiring government.

Mr. Bennett is expected to remain in Ottawa over the week-end and Premier Mackenzie King will probably divide his time between Laurier House, his summer home at Kingsmere and his office in the east block.

FOUR SCORE CHILDREN ARE HAPPY RED FOR AT CAMP ALL ARE WELL CA

FORMED 6 YEARS AGO.

One of the greatest thrills of your life is waiting for you at Jackson's Park. All you have to do is to go up some fine morning this summer and take it.

Down in the city children are playing in the hot streets. On the melting asphalt and the baking sidewalks they are making their pathetic little attempts to grasp the inalienable right to the pursuit of happiness which is supposed to be theirs. It is the high time of the year; birds are singing somewhere, and waters are splashing. But all these sad-eyed youngsters hear are sounds of squaling infants fretting in the heat; mothers scolding in the midst of endless irritating duties and the constant worry as to whether there is going to be enough money this week to make ends meet—whether the father will be able to hold his precarious job a few days longer or not. Automobiles and trucks roar madly past the door, horns and sirens shrieking, with their constant danger to life and limb. The few paltry trees along the street afford almost no shade. The feeble attempt at lawn and garden in front of the decrepit shack called "homfe" have shrivelled up and died in the scorching sun.

What chance is there for a growing child amidst all this?

Children Who Need a Chance

But these are children who aren't getting a chance. Many of them have been born with weak, sickly bodies; all of them are thin and undernourished. Their prospect in life is to eke out a bare existence in these surroundings: crawling to school in winter insufficiently fed and clothed and without the mental or physical stamina to compete with other children; quitting school at the lowest possible age and going to work in some factory to help hold the fast-growing family together. The lucky one will die young.

Who is going to do something for these youngsters? Isn't there anyone in a supposedly thriving community like this to make some provision to try and build up the little bodies? To provide some recreation for these un-

LIBERALS TOTAL 86.

Yamaska County, Long Doubtful, Goes To Tories By Lone Vote.

TORONTO, August 2. (C.P.) — The "backwash" of the Dominion election tide, has carried another seat to the fold of the Conservative party. Placed in the doubtful column since the results were made known on on election night, Yamaska, in the Province of Quebec, was declared to have been won by Paul Comtois, the Conservative, after the riding returning officer had broken the seals of the ballot box and checked the total vote. His margin of victory was found to have been a single vote over his Liberal opponent, Aime Boucher, former member.

Unless some of the constituencies in which recounts will be held alter the present day standing, the Conservative party will have a representation of 139 members in the next House, a majority over all other groups combined of 33, or 32 after appointment of the Speaker.

Conservatives 139; Liberals 86; United Farmers 10; Progressives 2; Lib.-Progressives, 3; Independents 4 — total 245.

STORM DAMAGE STORIES DIFFER BY R-100'S CREW

HOLE TORN IN FINS.

Riggers Worked Desperately, Clinging to Frame, to Make Repairs.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., August 2 (C.P.). — Officers and men told different stories today about the storm damage done the dirigible R-100 shortly before it completed its 3,500-mile flight from England early yesterday morning.

For the men a dozen of them who dropped into the hangar press room to cable relatives at home or telephone friends in this country, told of a "cyclonic current" the other side of Quebec that buffeted the ship from beneath and hurled it upward practically standing it on its nose for almost 2,500 feet in less than half a minute.

It was during that terrific moment, when all aboard "just crossed their fingers and waited," according to some of the eye-witnesses, that a strip of fabric about 15 by 6 feet was ripped from the port fin, opening a hole as big as a barn door into the giant envelope, exposing the intricate interior of the largest airship ever built, to the fury of the storm.

In radio reports from the ship itself yesterday and in interviews after the dirigible was moored to-day, officers minimized the dangers that had been encountered.

But the men scoffed at the suggestion that there had been no serious danger and pointed for evidence to the rude patch that partially closed the jagged opening and almost covered the fluttering tatters of the airship's torn "skin."

Worked Till Midnight.

They said that from late afternoon until midnight, Assistant Coxwains G. E. Long and L. A. Monerief, with an air crew of 16 men, including every rigger aboard, worked out on the stripped skeleton of the damaged fin, clinging to the metal frame above the waters of the St. Lawrence, and finally stopped the largest opening with a patch of spare fabric.

But even then not all the holes were filled, and even to-day, as the giant ship swung easily in the soft sun-

PREMIER KING IS MUM AFTER CABINET MEET

Under Diplomatic System Ministers Do Not Resign With Gov't Change.

NO MASSEY RESIGNATION.

Hon. C. MacMillan and Hon. F. Kay Attend For First Time.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 2. (C.P.)—With an attendance of fourteen ministers, two of whom had never before attended a meeting, the Mackenzie King Cabinet yesterday met for the first time since the election. The meeting lasted for four and a half hours, but the Prime Minister had nothing to announce at its conclusion.

"A post mortem and routine business" was the description of the meeting given by Mr. King as he emerged from the Privy Council Chamber.

The Prime Minister was asked if he had received the resignation of Hon. Vincent Massey from the post of Canadian High Commissioner in London. He replied, once again, that he had not; he also said, in answer to questions, that the idea of his Government in building up a diplomatic service was to follow the British system. Under that system he said, ambassadors and ministers did not resign with a change of Government. Therefore, if that system was followed, it would not be incumbent on Canadian Ministers abroad to submit their resignations now.

London Post Senior Position

Mr. King said that Lord Strathcona had continued as High Commissioner for Canada under Liberal and Conservative Governments. His own view, said Mr. King, was that the post of High Commissioner in London was the senior position in the Canadian diplomatic service. He agreed that he had stated this in Parliament.

It is probable that there will be one or more Cabinet meetings next week.

Among those present at the meeting were Hon. Dr. Cyrus MacMillan, Minister of Fisheries, and Hon. Fred Kay, Minister without Portfolio, who were appointed shortly before the election. The others who attended, in addition to the Prime Minister were: Hon. C. A. Dunning, Mon. W. D. Euler, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Hon. J. C. Elliott, Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Hon. Peter Heenan, Hon. Lucien Cannon, Hon. P. J. Cardin, Hon. R. Dandurand, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, and Hon. James Malcolm.

Among the absentees were Hon. Charles Stewart, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Hon. W. R. Motherwell and Hon. T. A. Crerar.

In addition to his annual vacation, one week's "depression" leaves was granted this year to the keeper of the morgue at Willisden, England.

REPAIRS MADE TO ARM OF BROCK

Monument Which Was Damaged Two Years Ago Is Repaired.

STONE WEIGHS 3 TONS.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 2.—(C.P.) — Brock's monument is again entire and the great arm and hand point out over the lake toward Kingston.

Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways and government member of the Niagara Park Commission, will make an inspection of the finished job and then the scaffolding will be removed.

Carved out of a single stone, weighing three tons, the massive arm and hand piece was placed in position.

In the hand is not a scroll, sword, telescope, or other articles long conjectured, but a stone.

The old arm was taken to Hamilton and wired together to serve as a model for the new one. The old arm was broken in a storm two years ago.

POLICE UNCOVER RUMBOLD CLUE

Taxi Driver Tells of Driving Two Townawanda Men to Road House

ON NIGHT OF MURDER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 2 (C.P.).—A new lead has been given to Provincial Police in their search for the perpetrators of the brutal murder of Phillip G. Rumbold near Port Credit on the night of July 21.

Following a visit to a roadhouse east of Port Credit, Inspector Stringer and Constable Joseph Allen came to Toronto and questioned Lyall Bishop, taxi-driver, regarding two men said to have been taken by him to the roadhouse at four o'clock on the morning Rumbold's body was found in his car in the Mineola Road.

Bishop gave the officers a detailed description of the two men who said they had come from Tonawanda the previous day. Inspector Stringer will show Bishop pictures of Tonawanda criminals from the "rogues' gallery" in an effort to identify the two men.

The taxi-driver stated the two men appeared to have plenty of money, flashing twenty and fifty dollar bills when at the roadhouse.

MORNING RAIN IS GREAT HELP TO THE FARMER

Many Sections Of Ontario Were Badly In Need Of Rain.

PASTURES SCORCHED.

Streams and Ponds In Western Ontario Are Dried Up.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 2 (C.P.)—An overcast sky this morning that carried a distinct threat of rain made Ontario farmers glad. The rural folk have been hoping for rain for the last few weeks and unless it comes soon practically all crops excepting corn will be seriously affected by the longest drought of the season.

Pastures throughout Western Ontario have been scorched by the heat, and milk production has been curtailed to a fraction of the normal supply, dairymen claim, and in some centres the entire industry is being threatened.

In the Chatham district beans, tobacco and root crops have suffered severely, and while corn has not yet been affected, as it thrives in a hot dry climate, farmers believe this crop too will wilt, if the dry spell continues.

Reports from other parts of the Province indicate streams and ponds have completely dried up and farmers are forced to haul water for their livestock.

Latest weather forecasts from the Dominion Observatory here predict light showers to-day. This will help the situation somewhat, but a steady rain of a day or two is needed to completely alleviate the situation, agricultural experts believe.

INDIAN LEADERS AGAIN ARRESTED

Patel and Four Others Held After Blocking Bombay Roadway.

SIT IN RAINSTORM.

BOMBAY, India, Aug 2 (C.P.) — Vallabhai Patel, Pandit Malaviya and four other prominent members of the Indian Congress Working Committee, were suddenly arrested this morning.

Patel and Malaviya had joined a group of volunteers stubbornly sitting on the roadway outside the Fort business area, where police had surrounded them and blocked their march to the Fort business area.

Throughout the night, even through a violent rainstorm that drenched both police and volunteers, Patel and Malaviya sat with Mrs. Hansa Mehta, President of the Bombay Congress Committee, and her followers.

The demonstration was in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the death of the Nationalist Leader Tila.

PRESS CAN AID TRADE MARKETS

Australian Trade Commissioner Claims Too Little News of His Country Printed.

WOULD EVEN EXPORTS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 2.— Trade and understanding between the different parts of the Empire are not likely to grow until the newspapers of the Dominions see fit to publish more news about each other; in the opinion of L. R. MacGregor, first Australian Trade Commissioner of Canada.

There is very little news about Canada published in Australian newspapers declared Mr. MacGregor, and since arriving here he had observed that there was very little Australian news in Canadian papers.

Speaking of trade between Australia and Canada Mr. MacGregor said:

"Since the trade Treaty between Canada and Australia we have been purchasing from the Dominion from $16,000,000 to $20,000,000 worth of goods per annum while Canada has been purchasing $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 worth from us.

"I consider the export of Canadian products to our country can be very greatly increased and I hope to be able to assist Canadian exporters in that direction," he said. "We should like, however, to break more even in the trade balance between our respective countries and in this regard, I hope for the support of the Canadian public," he added.

VESSEL'S CREW FEARED LOST

Only One Survivor as Fishing Schooner Goes Down Off Nova Scotia.

FIVE DAYS OUT.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 2. (C.P.)—Joseph Sampson, Halifax, N.S., who said he was a member of the British schooner White Way, told the British Consul here that the vessel sank last Saturday on the western banks, off Nova Scotia, and that he did not know the whereabouts of the captain and crew of ten men.

Sampson said he was picked up Thursday by the fishing schooner Mary Goulart after he had drifted 200 miles in a dory.

The White Way, Sampson said, was five days out of Halifax and had taken 20,000 pounds of fish when she opened in the bow and began to leak. While the Captain, William McDonald, and the rest of the crew were preparing to abandon the vessel, Sampson said he went to the forecastle to get his belongings. When he returned on deck, he said, he others had left the schooner.

He put off alone in the remaining dory.

CROWD THROWS STONES.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 2.—(C.P.)—Six persons were injured, two of them seriously, last night when police and Communists clashed in Union Square following a "Red Day" demonstration. A policeman and a reporter were among those hurt.

The altercation started just after the Communist meeting broke up when someone among a group of persons moving into a side street threw stones at police on duty in the square.

When the police charged the crowd ran, throwing the entire square into an uproar. Fighting between the Communists and police, many of whom wielded blackjacks, broke out in a dozen places.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., August 2 (C.P.). — William "Red" Hill, veteran riverman and navigator of the Niagara Rapids, has been offered a place in Sir Hubert Wilkins' submarine expedition to the North Pole. Hill will probably accept.

The offer was made by James S. Burke, of Lakehurst, N.J., a United States navy man.

Absence of nerves was said by Burke to be a necessity on the expedition, and it is believed that Hill has that qualification.

COMMUNISTS GET WARM RECEPTION AT BORDER CITIES

Red Orators Chased From Niagara Falls By Angry Crowd.

SOO RALLY FAILS.

Canadian Police Arrest 11, and U. S. Officers Take 9.

TORONTO, Ont., August 2 (C.P.).—Heralded as a provincial-wide demonstration in protest of "imperialistic wars" and as a movement in support of revolutionistic movements in other parts of the world, Communists' meetings scheduled in various parts of Ontario last night were quashed unceremoniously by police and citizens.

The majority of the demonstrations were scheduled to take place in cities and towns along the Canadian-United States borders. Canadian police arrested 11 agitators and the American police nine.

Crowd Saves Police Trouble.

At Niagara Falls, Ontario, angry citizens, many of whom were returned soldiers, saved the police the trouble of dispersing the Communists. Previously the demonstrators had attempted to hold a meeting on the American side, but the gathering was broken up after seven arrests had been made. Moving across to the Canadian side the Reds encountered trouble of a nature they had not bargained for. A large crowd led by William "Red" Hill, famous Canadian river man, pounced upon the Communists, tore down their banners, which were trampled under foot and leaped upon the truck carrying the leaders and chased them off the vehicle with well directed blows.

In Northern Ontario, where the Communists have been attempting to gain a strong hold on the sympathies of new Canadians, the meetings were stamped out before they had gotten under way.

Queen's Park, Toronto, where the Provincial Parliament Buildings are situated, has proved the nemesis of scheduled Communist meetings in the past, and last night was no exception. A large crowd, mostly idle spectators, gathered to see the clash between the Reds and police, but it was of little consequence. Two agitators were arrested and several led out of the Park when the Communist attempted to consolidate the crowd and hold a meeting.

Franciscan Friars from North Wales made a special tip to Kentish hop fields in England during the recent hop-picking season to care for children whose parents were working in the fields.

YOUNG CONVICT ESCAPES PRISON

Eludes All Guards at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary Last Night.

WOODS COMBED.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 2.—(C.P.)—The police to-day were searching for Jules Lagace, a youthful hold-up man, escaped from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, where he had been sentenced on Dec. 1929 to 12 strokes of the lash and ten years' confinement', last night.

St. Vincent de Paul is situated on the north shore of the Riviere Des Prairies and with guards posted on all bridges along the river it was believed by the authorities to-day that the escaped convict had proceeded north, hiding in the woods, unless he crossed over to the Montreal island unnoticed. The hunters were concentrating their search in that neighborhood.

COMMUNISTS AND POLICE BATTLE.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 2 (C.P.).—A gathering of about 300 persons who labelled themselves Communists and a squad of Montreal police staged a mimic battle on Fletcher's field here last night. The police were victorious, ten of their adversaries being removed to the police station in the "black maria."

The Communists had previously applied to the City Hall for permission to hold a meeting on the field. It was refused.

FLYERS REACH ICELAND

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 2 (C.P.)—With approximately one-third of their over-water route covered, the two young German airmen who are flying from Berlin to the United States cast their eyes to-day toward Greenland, their next goal.

The flyers, Wolfram Hirth and Oscar Weller, reached Iceland late yesterday from the Orkney Islands, covering the jump in ten minutes less than twelve hours.

"Big Ben," London's famous clock, was tested on 288 days in the year ending April 30, and on only 21 days did it show an error of more than a second, the maximum being 1.4 seconds.

FEW LOVERS OF THE CROSS

(A passage from a great religious classic)

Jesus has now many lovers of His heavenly kingdom; but few are bearers of His cross.

He has many that are desirous of consolation; but few of tribulation.

He finds many companions of His table; but few of His fasting.

All desire to rejoice with Him; few are willing to bear anything for Him.

Many follow Jesus to the breaking of bread but few to the drinking of the cup of His passion.

Many reverence His miracles; but few follow the ignominy of His cross.

Many love Jesus as long as they meet with no adversity; many praise Him and bless Him as long as they receive some consolations from Him.

But if Jesus hide Himself and leave them for a little while, they either fall into complaining or excessive depression of mind.

But they that love Jesus for Jesus' sake, and not for any consolation of their own, bless Him no less in tribulation and anguish of heart than in the greatest consolation.

And if He should never give them consolation, yet would they always praise Him and be always giving Him thanks.—Thomas A. Kempis' Imitation of Christ.

The Question ? ? Box ? ?

In this corner the enquiries of readers on Biblical and religious problems are answered. Address "The Q. B. Editor c-o The Examiner.

Q.—Do you think prayer is ever answered?—C. P.

A.—Anyone who doubts that prayer is answered should read the life story of George Muller and his orphanages.

Muller was a German, but his work was done in Bristol, England, where there were, a hundred years ago, many destitute children. Greatly concerned at their condition, this remarkable man prayed earnestly, and someone he had never seen and who lived hundred of miles away sent him three hundred dollars for the use of the poor.

He decided to build an orphan home and to ask God to provide him with the money. He did not solicit subscriptions, he did not advertise in any way. He simply prayed for $5,000. And he got the money. People sent him furniture, clothing and cash. He built a second orphanage and a third and a fourth and fifth all by prayer.

There were few people in Bristol who doubted if prayers were answered when George Muller was alive. They knew from the effects that lay before their eyes that prayers were answered.

But it must be remembered that Muller's prayers were unselfish ones. He did not ask anything for himself. So his faith was strong because it was sincere. He did not have little thoughts of doubt arising in his mind, because of the vague feeling that God was not interested in him. George Muller forgot himself in his love for children whom Jesus loved. Prayer is often answered when sincere and unselfish love inspires it. Many mothers have found that out.

Q.—The following passage in Ecclesiastes. VIII. 17, has me somewhat perplexed: "A man cannot find out the work that is done under the sun; because though a man labor to seek it out, yet he shall not be able to find it." Is there some hidden meaning? —A. W.

A.—The word "work" used in this passage is derived from the word "action," and the action referred to is that of God.

When we change the words around a little without altering their meaning we can see more clearly what is meant. The writer says, then, "that the work or action of God in the world is of such a nature that man cannot discover it; that if he labors to find it, he will not succeed; and that if a wise man thinks he knows how to discover it, he is unable to do so.

This is a reminder to us that we are surrounded by mystery, and it should caution us against believing that man can understand completely God's plan. This is conceit, and the truly wise man knows that when he has solved one of life's problems another more mysterious and profound confronts him.

Q.—Where was Ur?—M. C.

A.—In southern Mesopotamia. Famous as the birthplace of Abraham, it was in his day, about 3,400 years ago, a small mud-brick town similar to those existing at present in Mesopotamia.

About 2,000 years before the birth of Abraham it was a wealthy city at the height of its artistic culture, but it rebelled against Babylon, and about 500 years before Abraham's time it was laid waste. It was afterwards restored yet from 350 B.C. until the present day was uninhabited.

Q.—You have said two or three times, I have noticed, that conscience is the voice of God, but Schopenhauer says that conscience is one-fifth fear of man, one-fifth superstition, one-fifth prejudice, one-fifth vanity, and one-fifth custom.—E. W.

A.—This shows that Schopenhauer was not really a philosopher, for a philosopher is a "lover of truth."

In the New Testament the word conscience means "moral consciousness" and in English "conscience" is allied to "consciousness" and "science," because these three words all contain in them the idea of knowledge.

There is something in you that knows, that is morally conscious. This isn't any of the things that Schopenhauer mentions, for he is confusing the obstacles to the clear expression of conscience with conscience itself.

Fear, superstition, prejudice, vanity and frequently custom, are things which cloud man's mind and obscure his mental and spiritual vision. But more or less frequently these obstacles are overcome and then there speaks in the heart the "still small voice."

When you hear this "voice" again ask yourself, honestly, if it is anything that Schopenhauer has included in his catalogue of causes, and you will find it is none of them.

MANY TOURISTS ARE GOING INTO THE APSLEY DISTRICT THIS YEAR

Road to Apsley is Marked Out By Iroquois Trail Signs.

FISHING IS GOOD.

That the tourist traffic this season is normal and makes a satisfactory comparison with the volume experienced in former years, was the definate conclusion reached on the completion of a trip recently taken into the beautiful Loon Lake district in the Highlands of Peterborough County by an Examiner reporter and Frank G. Stinson manager of the local Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Associations.

On the outward journey from this city by automobile the route was logged with the aid of the speedometer in preparation for detailed information of the route to be published in the T.W.A. tourist guide next season, and on the return journey the road was suitably marked with route signs issued by the Iroquois Trail Association, and which have been a necessity for some time past.

At the end of the outward journey which had been made over the incomparable scenic route through Young's Point, Burleigh Falls and Apsley, the head of Loon Lake was reached, whereon is the site of Byles' Lodge commanding a wonderful vista of natural scenery and swept by the cool, pine laden breezes, at an elevation of 1100 feet above sea level. The visitors were immediately made familiar with the north country hospitality, finding themselves elbow-to-elbow at the dining table with a jolly gang of tourists from Toronto and Ohio. The hostess Mrs. B. B. Byles, who formerly kept the well-known Munro Hotel in Peterborough, stated that her bookings would ensure a full quota of summer residents until the middle of September.

Paradise for Fishermen

The lodge and its surroundings are particularly conducive to ease and tranquility. Loon Lake provides a paradise for the fishermen, being well-stocked with salmon-trout, bass and pickerel, while bathing in its dark mineral waters is reputed to be very beneficial to the health.

Chartering a Peterborough canoe equipped with a reliable Johnson outboard motor and with Gordon Lane of Apsley at the helm, the craft speedily plowed her way down the long reach of the lake to McCaskies' Lakeview Hotel at Glen Alda, where the familiar scene of parked cars bearing licence plates denoting their travels from far distant points in the States also spoke eloquently of the good business which is being experienced in tourist traffic and exploded the myth that conditions in the summer hotel business are not normal this season.

At this end of the lake, the fishing activities appeared to be more pronounced and a party of tourists were witnessed proudly posing for their photographs with a long string of fish-evidence of the sport they had enjoyed that morning.

Norm Patterson, Mr. McCaskie's manager, also had an optimistic report to make, stating that they had twenty guests in the hotel at that moment and that their bookings were taking care of the remainder of the season.

Severe Hailstorm

Mr. Patterson also related a peculiar phenomenon which occurred at Glen Alda three weeks ago in the form of a severe hailstorm, the like of which is unremembered by the oldest inhabitants of the village. The hail commenced to fall at three in the afternoon, continuing for an hour and causing damage to crops and property in the immediate neighborhood. The hail piled up in places to a depth of two feet and remained in solid form till late the following afternoon.

Continuing the trip, the boat headed across the bay to a resort owned and managed by a husky and genial Virginian, W. P. Hilton who is spending his twelfth summer in the district and who is this year operating a camp in place of his former summer hotel. Mr. Hilton explained that he is to commence the building of a new hotel this fall, which he hopes to have completed by the spring of next year. His plans for the new building are very elaborate, and the 10,000 feet of lumber for it, which is now piled on his property to season, has been cut on a section of his 500 acre estate and consists of white pine and several pieces of ashwood one-and-a-half inches thick, which he intends to utilise in the manufacture of the doors of the building.

Mr. Hilton in addition to operating the camp has five summer cottages situated on various of the islands which dot the surface of the lake. He referred to the fact that he owns more property in Chandos township than any other individual, and that he is extremely fond of that section of Canada. He expressed pleasure at the work which had been done on the roads in that vicinity, although he complained of one section leading to his property which has been absolutely neglected in the past twelve years.

Mr. Hilton and his wife are at present occupying a log house on the property, which was erected sixty years ago and he introduced the visitors to Elam W. Brooks one of the oldest settlers in the township, a distant relative of his wife's and a man who has done a great deal of apple grafting on the estate with marked success.

Speaking of the good fishing in the Lake, Mr. Hilton paid tribute to the work of the Fish and Game Association, who have done a great deal towards popularising the resort and attracting fishermen by their restocking operations.

Enquiries as to conditions in Apsley completely bore out the statements of the hotel proprietors. George Stephens, merchant, stating, "the tourist trade is very good," and adding that were it otherwise he would not be inclined to stay in the vicinity.

D. Brown who keeps a store and tourist information bureau, was of the opinion that at the opening of the tourist season this year they had more tourists than he remembers having seen in all his thirty years' business experience in Apsley. He considered conditions a little slack at the present, but was confident that judging by the advance bookings which have been made at the resorts, August is going to be an exceptionally busy month.

In reply to a question from Col. Boggs, Perry stated that the rear doors were closed.

The witness continued to explain that he left the coaches at about Foxboro, eighteen minutes run from Belleville, the time then being 1.05 and went to the caboose steps where he could see the whole train as it went round the curve at Madoc junction. The accident hapened at 1.11.

Col. Boggs—"When you left Belleville were all the doors closed and the traps down?"

Witness—"Yes."

Col. Boggs—"What happened when you found the men on the steps of the car?"

Witness—"They went inside and I put down the door."

The witness then explained that the train had stopped, and that he saw soldiers getting off, and he told them to get on, thinking that one of the section men had held up the train for a bad piece of track. He was then told of the accident, and got off the train and run back with the soldiers to where Wright was found calling to one of the soldiers to bring a pail of iced water along from the caboose.

Mr. Elliott—"Would some of the crew be going through the train?"

Witness—"No, because there would be no requirement for it."

Mr. Elliott—"Where the doors open when the accident happened?"

Witness—"They must have been, if he fell off the steps."

Asked by the jury if he met Mr. Mason he replied in the negative, stating that when he told the boys to get off the steps they raised no objection.

Questioned by Mr. Mills if he issued any warnings to the men not to sit on the steps the witness said it was not the custom, only in the case of children. He went on to explain that the men had lots of room in the coaches as there were only 65 of them in two coaches, each of which held from 75 to 80 passengers. Furthermore he said that the boys were quiet and well behaved, many of them sleeping most of the time.

Private Buchanan of Havelock was the next to give evidence, and stated that he was a member of C Company, Northumberland Regiment. Questioned by Col. Boggs as to where he was after the train left Belleville, he stated that he was standing at the doorway of the front coach, next to the box car, in company with Privates Hazel, Mason and Wright. The others were sitting on the steps at the right hand side. He went to this position after the coaches were put on the freight train on the siding.

Col. Boggs: How were the doors on both sides?

Witness: Open.

Col. Boggs: Where was Wright?

Witness: On the right hand side, sitting on a step near the bottom.

He went on to explain that Mason was with Wright and that he was with Hazel, and stated that the doors were opened when he went out and when the train started, and remained open until the accident.

Questioned as to his movements, he stated that "Hazel and I came in before it happened, and left Mason with Wright." We went in, he said, to wash.

In reply to Mr. Mills' questions, Buchanan stated that he was not inside the coach after leaving Belleville, but that from Kingston to Belleville he was in a seat with Wright.

Mr. Mills: Did you see anyone collecting tickets?

Witness: I did not see the conductor, but he might have been there.

The witness admitted that the officer had given instructions at Kingston that the men were to go to their seats and stay there, and when questioned as to why he was outside, he stated because it was hot, and wanted to cool off.

Private K. Hazel gave evidence that corroborated that given by Buchanan. He rode from Belleville with the other three fellows on the steps of the train. He went there after the train stopped at Belleville and the doors were open then. A little before the accident happened he went in to wash, and Wright was sitting on the lower step of the train at the north side, with Mason above him. He stated that he never saw the doors closed, that they were open at Belleville and that he did not see anyone close to them or hear anyone order them to be closed. He was sure the doors were never closed from Belleville to the accident.

Privates S. Blake, D. Watters of Campbellford and A. Thompson of Havelock also made statements to the effect that they saw Wright in the coach from Kingston to Belleville, but not after that point.

Private W. Rose of Havelock was next called and gave evidence to the effect that he saw Wright on the steps of the coach after the train left Belleville. He himself was also there but went back into the coach after the trained started.

Conductor Closed Doors

Conductor Perry was called the second time to give evidence in regard to his closing the doors where the boys were that he spoke to. He stated that he closed the doors and went on to the officers for the tickets. He was twice through the coach during the run. Referring to the men not noticing him, he explained that he was a freight conductor and did not wear a uniform, and he thought that that might account for the fact.

Mr. Elliott: Would you have seen the boys?

Witness: Yes.

Mr. Elliott: How do you account for the accident?

Witness: I can't.

Perry explained that the train officials have a great deal of trouble with the doors of the coaches, for sometimes the passengers open them, even after they have been closed.

Asked by the jury if the instructions to passengers were in the coaches, the witness said he did not notice them, but as they were in all standard equipment he thought it was possible they were there.

A large crowd attended the inquiry, which has caused considerable interest in the district; many people from Havelock, Victor Wright's home village, being among the audience.

Winners of Spectacular Victories in General Election

Here are three new members of the Canadian House of Commons who gained unexpected victories for their political parties in the general election held on July 28. They are, left to right: Armand Lavergne, who captured the Montmagny, Quebec, constituency for the Conservative Party; Arthur Sauve, former Leader of the Opposition in the Quebec Legislature, who was elected in Laval-Two Mountains constituency on a Conservative ticket; and Samuel Factor, who invaded the Conservative stronghold in Toronto and defeated T. Church, veteran Conservative member of Parliament and seven times Mayor of Toronto. Factor is a Liberal.

LOUIS LAMEY

HASTINGS, Aug. 2 — (Examiner Correspondence).—The entire community was shocked on Thursday morning at the sudden death of Louis Lamey, one of Percy Township's most prominent young farmers.

The deceased was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Lamey, he was born on Sept. 4th, 1899 on the homestead where he has resided all his life. Mr. Lamey was around on Monday and took sick Monday night, which at first was the Summer 'flu, but turned to paralysis.

He was married in 1924 to Miss Edith Lynch, daughter of Mr. Wm. Lynch of Hastings, who with Margurite aged 4 and John aged 2, are left to mourn the loss of a kind husband and loving father. There are also left to mourn his loss six brothers and three sisters, James and Harry of Percy, John of California, Fred of Vancouver, Sylvester of Bellvue and Dr. Martin P. of Toronto, Mrs. Thos. Lynch of Hastings, Mrs. John Roddy of Toronto and Mrs. Jos. McCarthy of Toledo, Ohio.

The funeral, which was private, was held on Friday morning to Our Lady of Mount Carmal Roman Catholic Church, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Mcguire.

THE ATH-A-LETE

Look, see! The burly ath-a-lete!
His day is one perpetual feat
Of strength and stamina and brawn.
He arises with a bound at dawn
To swing the weights for half an hour
Before his morning ice-cold shower.
Then off to class, the big baboon,
To while away the hours till noon,
When, having put his food to rout,
He throws the dishes round about.
Then, after a couple of friendly scraps,
He cracks a book or two—perhaps,
But oftentimes the hours he spends
In hurling brickbats at his friends
Until it's time to don a suit
And run around in hot pursuit,
And fight and scramble, push and maul
A-battling over one small ball
Then, tired but happy, home to sup
On twenty steaks or more, then up
To see the show. Then, back once more,
He heaves his roommate through the door,
And after most the night has sped
Takes off his shirt and so to bed.
"His sleep is short?" Don't be an ass!
He sleeps all morning long in class!

CIVIC HOLIDAY.

Peterborough, in common with many other Ontario municipalities, will observe Monday as Civic Holiday.

That there is little in a name is shown by the fact that most people are preparing to spend the city's own particular holiday out of town—in fact, Peterborough will be deserted by all who find it possible to get away.

But that is not as serious as it might seem, for wherever they go the holiday Peterborough's sons and daughters are loyal to their home city, and they will come back when it is all over more firmly convinced than ever that there is no place just like Peterborough and no place that they would rather call home.

The highway and the river and lake resorts lure on these summer days, and no one can be blamed for finding them irresistible.

Let us hope that our holiday-makers will remember the heavy toll that carelessness enacts, and that whether they motor or spend the week-end at a summer resort they will exercise caution and common sense, taking into account the danger that exists for those who forget the elementary principles of safety.

The heavy list of drownings and automobile fatalities already compiled this season should carry their own warning to those about to embark upon a Civic Holiday outing.

CAMPAIGNS TOO DULL

The St. Thomas Times-Journal considers that political elections in Canada are as a rule dull, colorless affairs, and points out that the blame for such a condition may be ascribed to the restrictions laid down by the electoral act.

There is a good deal in that contention.

For example, the regulation forbidding the carrying of election banners and advertising on automobiles within a week of election day and the wearing of political buttons or colors would seem to be unnecessary.

In Great Britain the wearing of political colors is always a feature of election campaigns—in fact, the colors of the contending parties appear everywhere, houses are decorated according to the political views of the inmate, and the election is considerably enlivened by this general display of colors.

Compared with that kind of picturesque campaigning, it must be admitted that we in Canada are much too sedate in our political warfare, and our elections lack the element of warm color that is a feature of similar contests across the Atlantic.

The fine art of heckling, too, is neglected here.

Once in a while an elector does venture to propound a question, but the audience usually takes him in hand instead of letting the speaker deal with the interruptor, and here again a lot of the interest that is found in English political meetings is missed.

THE QUEEN OF THE AIR.

It is to be hoped that Peterborough will next week have an opportunity of getting a brief glimpse at the R-100, the huge British dirigible that he added another page to the history of aeronautical development by a successful flight over the north Atlantic from England to Canada.

Canadians are intensely interested in the R-100, and are gratified that this country was selected as the terminal of her epic voyage.

Thousands of people listened-in to the broadcasted stories of the giant dirigible's journey up the valley of the St. Lawrence on Thursday night, and when the news came that the airship had been disabled there was a thrill of apprehension that disaster might overtake the queen of the air just at the moment when her triumph was well nigh complete.

Fortunately, however, the accident was not a serious one, and after temporary repairs had been made, the R-100 demonstrated her staunchness by ploughing through a heavy thunderstorm to safely reach her destination at St. Hubert airport.

The voyage across the Atlantic was described as perfect, and had it not been for bad weather in the last stages of the journey, the crew of the R-100, who had had dinner in England on Monday night, would have arrived in time to enjoy dinner in Montreal on Thursday, a 3,364-mile journey in three days.

The big dirigible has demonstrated afresh to the world that British invention, British thoroughness and British courage are still functioning perfectly.

CHOOSING A CABINET.

Selecting Mr. Bennett's Cabinet for him is a favorable pastime with newspaper commentators just now, and The Examiner has no desire to associate itself with the papers that are choosing the members to fill the various portfolios.

It is sufficient to point out that the selection of Ministers is one of the most formidable tasks which fall to the lot of a new Prime Minister, thanks to the precedents in this respect that have been established by earlier administrations.

The President of the United States has no such problem; he has the whole country to select from, and no consideration need be given to the political strength of the men chosen because members of the United States Cabinet do not have to be elected.

Under the Canadian system the Prime Minister has to take into account a good many things beside their capability for office in naming his Cabinet Ministers; the locality they come from and even their race and religion as well as their ability to be elected all have to be considered.

Every Province demands representation; the English-speaking minority in Quebec and the French-speaking majority have to be taken care of, and other interests and alignments throughout the Dominion expect that they will be given a member in the Cabinet.

If Prime Ministers had a free hand the problem would not be particularly troublesome—but having regard to the conditions mentioned, it must be admitted that there are easier tasks than the one now confronting Mr. Bennett.

THE BIBLE THE BEST SELLER.

It is sometimes well, in the midst of the tremendous output of new books to pause and consider the place of the Bible in the world book trade. It is said that, if a new novel reaches a circulation of 25,000 copies in its first year most authors are delighted. If it reaches 50,000 the author is overjoyed, and if it should chance to reach 100,000 his fortune is made. On the other hand, what are we to think of a book, millions of copies of which are sold annually, and which has gone on for more than a hundred years increasing its status. That is what the Bible has achieved, and this year has witnessed the greatest number of sales of the sacred book in the history of the British and Foreign Bible Society, the largest agency for its distribution in the world.

For the first time in the history of the Society the sale of the Bible, or portions of it, exceeded 12,000,000 copies. More than a million complete Bibles, more than a million and a quarter complete New Testaments, and 9,795,000 single portions were distributed. Thus, the world's best book is indeed the world's best seller, and this voluminous publication and distribution ought to bring great comfort to those who hold the faith that mankind is steadily moving onward and upward. In addition, the New York Bible Society distributes 112 Bibles every hour, which aggregates almost 1,000,000 copies in a year.

It is absolutely impossible to estimate the influence of the Bible in the course of such a world-wide distribution. In this connection it is well to remember the promise: "For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater; so shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth; it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." This mighty and silent evangelism is working throughout the world, gradually transforming mankind and social conditions to higher ideals.—Brantford Expositor.

THE UPSET IN CANADA.

(From the New York Times)

While the defeat of the Liberal party in Monday's election was expected by impartial observers, the overwhelming nature of the Conservative victory comes as a surprise. Even in the Province of Quebec, supposed to be joined to its Liberal idols, the Conservatives made large gains. But no one part of the Dominion can be said to have determined the result. Liberal losses were widely distributed. Mr. Mackenzie King, when he hastily decided upon a general election, could not have anticipated the complete sweeping of his party out of power. Into the causes of the overturn, everybody is inquiring.

Partly, they were the old case of a party staying long in office and going stale and accumulating discontents which finally manifest themselves at the polls. But there were other and larger and more definite influences at work against the King Government. It was held responsible for the bad times, which have been prevalent in Canada as everywhere else. On Saturday last, the Ottawa Journal, summing up, with an air of dispassionateness, the argument against Prime Minister King, condensed it all into the assertion that he had no policy to cure unemployment, and that he had not given Canada prosperity. This view of the case evidently won favor with the working classes in all parts of Canada. Previous to the election many straw votes had been taken in various shops and factories, with the result of showing a marked shift of the workers toward the Conservative party. Mr. King could not in reason be blamed for Canadian business depression, but he was punished for it. Such are the rough methods of a democracy which has come to believe that a government is incompetent if it does not provide work and happiness for all.

For Americans the chief importance of the Canadian election lies in the fact that the Dominion is lurching back not only to the Conservative party but to protective duties aimed particularly at the United States. Prime Minister King had already gone quite a distance in that direction. He had enacted certain countervailing tariff rates in reply to the higher American duties. But his successful Conservative opponent, Mr. Bennett, intends to go much further. This he made plain in the course of his campaign. His proposal is to continue to give Great Britain preferential tariff treatment, but to make sure that Canadian industry of every kind is safeguarded from foreign competition, especially the competition of the United States. What the new policy will be, if the Conservative party is able to carry it into effect, is clearly indicated in the statement made just before the election by Sir Robert Borden, Prime Minister of Canada in wartime, who came out strongly in support of Mr. Bennett. His words were, in part:

"The British Empire first and within the British Empire Canada first; the preservation of our home market for our own producers; the maintenance of our industries to give employment to our people. * * * Any policy would be disastrous that sends abroad raw materials which can be economically utilized in our own industries, and any policy which sends abroad good Canadian money to pay for articles that can be economically and usefully produced by the labor of our own people."

Very naturally, Washington is said to be already disturbed by this threat of a tariff war with Canada, till now our best customer. But if that war comes, it has distinctly been provoked by our own customs legislation. Even the Fordney-McCumber tariff contained rates that the Canadians felt were aimed directly at them. By the Hawley-Smoot bill the Canadian grievance has been made more acute. The resultant commercial feeling against the United States has been a contributing cause to the election of a Conservative Prime Minister pledged to hit American exports to Canada fully as hard as Canadian exports to us have been hit by our own tariff.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Besides getting ready for a special session of Parliament and for the Imperial Conference, selecting a Cabinet and preparing for the visit of British jurists to the Canadian Bar Association, Mr. Bennett has not a thing to do.

The exploit of the R-100 is another aerial triumph for John Bull.

Premier MacDonald's troubles are not confined to the ranks of the Opposition. He has plenty in his own party, it would seem.

Probably the R-100's slow passage up the St. Lawrence was due to the fact that the smoke of battle had not entirely cleared from the Quebec constituencies.

Among those who must be wondering what is going to happen next may be listed Mr. R. J. Deachman, the Consumers' League.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Hon. H. H. Steven's successful opponent in Vancouver Centre, expresses the hope that Mr. Stevens may be taken into the Bennett Cabinet. That is a sporting spirit that raises the tone of politics considerably.

News of Our Own Village

It being election day in the village many of the villagers got a ride on Mon. Geo. Gordon is still getting one from some of the village Tories.

Folks is saying, "Good morning Judge" to Joe Wearing, our golfing village solicitor, Joe having been picked for the bench in Middlesex, west of us. Atta boy, Joe, say we, although sorry to lose the same.

Dick Bennett of Calgary, west of here, whose sister, Millie, visited this berg last week and et supper at Mrs. Doc Cameron's, expects to take over a good job at Ottawa in the near future.

Joe Duffus had some step dancing on his programs during the recent campaign, but it wasn't a patch on the hoofing done by our worthy Mayor, Rollie Denne, and Jim Matthews, in front of the sanctum of this great family journal last Mon. p.m.

According to village Tories if Ham Burnham, our village orator, had started his speaking tour three weeks ago they wouldn't have been a Grit elected in this fair province.

The political marathon in these parts last Mon. saw Ed. Peck breeze home a third-time winner. Joe Duffus was first at the post, but when the race started Ed. went out in front and stayed there. Track fast, weather clear.

With the campaign over they aint nothing buzzing round the rural sections these nights except horseless carriages and mosquitoes.

A fellow from Ennismore ketched a 39-lb. lunge the other day, but that wasn't as big a fish as the fellow that said Ed. Peck would get 100 votes out in that neighborhood last Mon.

Mon. is Civic Holiday in the village, but so far as your scribe has heard the only things that will happen here will be morning, noon and night.

They aint no truth in the report that the pasture rights to Riverside Park has been let. It won't be long now, however, say we.

The fall fair will be held here the week of Sept. 8, but it aint hardly likely the R-100 will wait over for the big event.

Both Ed Peck and Joe Duffus used the microphone in the office of this great family journal Mon. nite to talk to the folks. Your's welcome any time, boys, say we.

A Thought

No man can afford to live on his character as he lives on the capital which he has acquired in business, and it is this conception of character which has betrayed many men. Character can be preserved only by a struggle in which there is no armistice or treaty of peace. Nothing but conquest, victoriously carried on, till the field is cleared by the summons of death.—Hamilton Wright Mabie.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 31.

"Range five hundred. Company, load!" Burney's order, relayed down the line in a low voice, was productive of a faint clicking of bolts as the cartridges were jammed home in the breeches, then silence again prevailed. Beads of perspiration came out on Ken Burney's forehead; his hands were wet; he sat behind a rock, with his rifle laid across it and waited. On the ground beside him lay half a dozen rockets and a box of matches.

Suddenly, from within the pass, there came a ripple of rifle fire; within a minute some fifty horsemen emerged from the pass at a gallop; out in front of a man rode on a brown and white pinto horse that Burney readily recognized as Rowdy. He cuddled the stock of his rifle firmly to his shoulder and lined his sights on Martin Bruce; then he drew a full breath, let it half out, took up the slack of his trigger, pulled a little ahead of his target and fired. Fifty yards from the pass entrance the man on Rowdy rolled out of his saddle and the horse stopped instantly, faced around and gazed curiously at the fallen man. But the latter's comrades did not halt, logging their horses furiously with their quirts they galloped down the valley and when the last of them had swept by Rowdy and the fallen man, Burney yelled:

"Commence firing."

An instant after Burney's men had opened the action, Tom Bledsoe's force on the opposite side of the valley came into action also. Then suddenly Burney heard a solid crash of musketry—a single ragged volley—and machine-guns commenced to chatter.

At a range of six hundred yards the Gallegos force concealed in the barranca had opened fire also on Bruce's force. With four machine guns and a hundred rifles assailing them from the front and thirty-two riflemen, expert riflemen at that range, assailing them from both flanks, the mad rout was stopped almost instantly. Caught in a bunched formation, the first horses to go down spilled those following after them, while a steady stream of bullets spat into the screaming, grunting, neighing, cursing, struggling mass. It was horrible.

The frantic cries of the survivors, endeavoring to identify themselves to the Gallegos men, were unintelligible above the noise of battle; their signals were interpreted as a desire to surrender, and since it was no part of the plan of Miguel Gallegos and Martin Bruce to extend quarter that day, their appeals went unheeded. Nor was it any part of Ken Burney's plan. He knew he was engaged in a battle of extermination; as the Bruce riders disengaged themselves from their fallen horses Burney's men concentrated their fire on them; three minutes from the time the Gallegos forces had opened on them nothing moved in that stricken field save the wounded horses. If there were wounded men they elected to lie still.

At his order Burney's men ceased firing; almost instantly the fire from Tom Bledsoe's concealed force across the valley ceased also, while from both parties broke wild cheers that carried in the crisp morning air down to Miguel Gallegos in the barranca. "Viva Gallegos! Viva Bruce! Viva! Viva! Viva! Abajo los Grongos!"

But Burney's force did not emerge from hiding; their leader was too shrewd for that, too good a judge of bandit nature. In the pockets of the fallen it might well be that some money would be found; certainly there were fifty good saddles, bridles, spurs, riatas, pistols and rifles to be appropriated by the men who should reach them first, and Burney grinned as he saw the Gallegos men climb out of the barranca and vie with each other in a race up the valley. But one man of that force did not join in the race, but walked sedately behind his victorious troops; through his binoculars Burney recognized him as Miguel Gallegos.

"Got to make certain of Gallegos today," he decided, and indicated the target to his men. "Wait until his mob has reached the Bruce dead, then everybody take a crack at Gallegos. Range six hundred. When he drops shift your fire to his men."

He picked up one of the rockets beside him and thrust the end of it upright between two bowlders, then turned and fixed his binoculars on Gallegos and his followers. "Get on him, men. Ready! Aim! Fire!"

As Gallegos crumpled, Burney touched a match to the fuse of the rocket. Up it soared with a rush, bursting with a prodigious report and unloosing a tiny parachute from which floated a small Mexican flag. Instantly the two machine guns he and Senor De Haro had secreted on their first visit to the valley came into action against the excited and unsuspecting Gallegos force, grouped among the Bruce dead. At the same moment Burney's men opened on them and the second act of the tragedy was on. Three minutes of rapid fire, then Burney sent up another rocket. This time it released a parachute with a small American flag, and in answer to its summons the rurales rode out of the pass in column of twos, swept into line and charged down the valley.

Instantly the firing ceased. By this time fully half the Gallegos forces were casualties and among the survivors there existed no thought of further resistance. Across the valley they fled like frightened rabbits, headed for the haven of the timber-clad slopes of the encircling hills, and as they ran the rurales broke formation and pursued them independently, sabering them, killing them with pistols, cutting them off from the hills and slaughtering them even while they begged for the mercy they would not have given.

For about ten minutes the rurales were busy riding over the field, giving the "mercy shot" to the wounded, then they formed up and rode on into the south to argue with the Los Osos contingent, doubtless. And when they were out of sight Ken Burney mounted his men, merged his divided forces and rode north out of El Cajon Bonita, merely pausing long enough to gaze into Martin Bruce's dead face and examine Rowdy for possible wounds. He had none, so Ken Burney tied him to a bush and left him there.

"Rowdy's status is that of a smuggled horse," he explained to Tom Bledsoe. "He entered Mexico illegally this morning; hence he will be confiscated as smuggled goods and sold at public auction for the benefit of the state. At that auction Senor De Haro will bid him in for about fifty dollars. This will give Senor De Haro a clearly legal title, which he will transfer to me when he presents Rowdy to me the first time I visit him. It will cost me five dollars export tax to bring Rowdy back into United States territory. Bueno!"

As they entered the pass Tom Bledsoe commenced to chuckle. "Nobody but Bruce saw us enter Mexico and nobody has seen us leave. Mr. Burney, a fox has nothing on thee. Was it thee that downed Martin Bruce?"

Burney nodded sadly. "I knew that when his rider rolled off the horse would not desert him. So I had to stop him before he could gallop into the effective range of the Gallegos gang."

They were back at the trucks by ten o'clock. As they came into camp the king tore loose a mighty yell:

"Are you all there?"

"Seguro, senor." Burney favored the king with a military salute. "I have to report your outfit intact and the contract completed in a highly satisfactory manner. Martin Bruce and forty-eight riders, about half of them Mexicans, with Miguel Gallegos and one hundred of his followers have been killed, and if you don't believe it ask the men. However, realizing you might require evidence, I have arranged with Senor De Haro to photograph both Bruce and Gallegos before burial and send their mugs to you."

"Tell me all about it," His Majesty ordered. And when the tale was told he queried, "What do you suppose caused Gallegos to open fire on the Bruce party?"

"I caused him to. As Your Majesty is aware, when a cowboy goes forth on a hard journey he rides his top horse. I worked long enough for Martin Bruce to know the top horses of his outfit, so from your remuda I selected horses of similar coloration. The day I went into El Cajon Bonita in force Gallegos had an opportunity to look the stock over; the day he delivered his ultimatum he had another opportunity—and he employed both opportunities. He would, you know. He would want to be in position to recognize my force by the horses long before he could recognize me. And of course Rowdy is a most spectacularly marked horse, which is why I sold him to Martin Bruce.

"I had a hunch Martin would ride him into action, so I delivered him to the old wolf yesterday. I took a chance that, even if he should be communicating with Gallegos he would not, having more important things to discuss, remember the unimportant and tell Gallegos he had received the horse and would ride him this morning. And to obviate the necessity for last-minute communications between Gallegos and Bruce I named a definite date for the battle and kept my appointment.

"When Bruce's scouts emerged into the valley and failed to locate me, they took the news back to Bruce. It puzzled him, worried him a little perhaps. Then, behind him, he heard a mounted force approaching and a subdued bugle call warned him they were rurales. Then the advance guard of rurales fired into him and Bruce lost his head. He couldn't afford to be taken by the rurales, and there could be no profit to him in fighting them in the pass. They're born fighters, those rurales, and they outnumbered Bruce. In the emergency he remembered he had a friend with a hundred riflemen and four machine gunners down in the barranca, so he decided to join forces with Gallegos in a hurry.

"That was his fatal error. He came out in a hurry. That was the way Gallegos expected me to come out—and when he saw that pinto horse of mine out in front—when he sized up the colors of the other horses in the Bruce outfit, he said to himself: 'Ah! Yonder cometh the gringo,' and got ready for business. Naturally I knew that as his party approached the barranca Bruce would wave his hat at Gallegos and endeavor to identify himself—so I killed Bruce before he could do that. Then my entire party opened on Bruce's men and they were all too rattled to do more than go wild. Gallegos couldn't see where our fire was coming from; probably he thought it was by Bruce's men from the hills near the pass. So, just to be neighborly, he got into action too—and that's the tail of the kangaroo."

What To-day Means To You.

If August 2nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4:15 p.m., and 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., and 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

You will probably ask for flowers and be given seeds on this date, but time will reveal that Fate has neither been unkind or unmindful of your welfare at this period of your life. Adventures in friendship.

The child born on this August 2nd will be given a considerable amount of determination, and it will not be easily thawrted in its purposes. It will be equable, friendly, companionable, musical and cheerful. It will be slightly self-centred.

You are not a scholarly person, but you are superficially very interesting, a good parlor entertainer, and a splendid amateurs in many things. The world amuses you, pleases you, and satisfies you. The role of light comedy suits you admirably, and you are proud of being a low-brow. High-brow masterpieces and tastes give you mental indigestion. You could never stand the strain of trying to live up to any reputation.

You do not have to examine the root, stem and flower of things to satisfy your thirst for knowledge; sometimes the bud or even the fragrance is enough for you, and you pass content with what you have received. You are clever enough to make your own happiness and to attain an average of contentment.

You seldom leave your audience low in spirits, you have the gift of lifting them out of themselves, or making them see the ordinary incidents and things in a new or more colorful light. You are not exact enough for important detail work, but you are clever in turning things off in the bulk. Your place is in a business world, when you can rely upon able assistants, with you as a manager. You know above all else how to handle people and how to get the best out of them. You have homely habits, and are fond of ease and comfort. You have a very firm moral nature. It makes you very unhappy to have those whom you love away from you, and in this respect you are a little too possessive.

Sunday, August 3, 1930.

If August 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 8:30 a.m., noon to 1 p.m., and 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., and 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

A day of rest is not indicated for this date, as the astrological influences portend a restless and unsettled atmosphere. Not a good time for letter writing. Postpone journeys! More auspicious influences will be felt before the expiration of the day, and you will probably go to sleep with a light heart.

The child born on this August 3rd will have a considerable amount of willfulness, activity and restlessness, and will measure all things from an intellectual standpoint. The motive temperament will dominate, and much dexterity will be shown in all matters where the hands are employed.

You try to disillusion yourself and the rest of the world that you are many things which you are not. You boast of having no sentiment, which is disproved by your fondness of animals, and your loyalties to people. You believe yourself in love with a recluse's life, and at the same time surround yourself with friends and leading an ultra-social life. You long to be alone, and are bored as soon as you are. You singe your wings in quest of the "bright lights," and regret you temporary loss of common sense. You are all mixed up in your values, and you will not find your stride before you are at least forty years old.

At times you are very self-confident and hopeful, and you work well and achieve much. At other times you feel that you have greater powers than you can express outwardly, and your ideas and ambitions are lost. You are an occasional victim of hypochondria, and you must fight such tendencies with all your might and main. One day you feel fit for anything and everything, and the next day you feel worried, anxious and below par. Your fight is not against circumstances or difficulties, but against your own negative thoughts. Your affectional nature is very strong and romantic. Many of your experiences in life will be in connection with love affairs and the inner feelings.

A STARTLING EVENT.

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Sir:

As I possess the blue book record of The Imperial Conference of 1926 which is now brought to the fore by the remarkable threat of the Premier of South Africa following the result of the Canadian elections, I may be excused for referring to it.

Premier Hertzog quotes Mr. Bennett's policy of "nothing for' nothing," and threatens the Government of Britain with changes in the tariff of South Africa if the present preferences accorded to South Africa by Britain are interfered with. The policy of working together as friends for mutual benefit is now declared by South Africa in imitation of Canada's new policy, to be a thing of the past and that South Africa being absolutely free and independent (as declared by the Conference) will proceed to "bargain" with Britain and the other dominions just as if they were strangers, thus declaring the British Empire to be ended. The London Morning Post deplores the condition things have got into. No doubt many people thought that Mr. Bennett's policy meant and could only mean something less than it appeared to mean. Now they will see that such is not the case and that the declaration by Mr. Bennett of his "bargaining" policy has put the Empire idea completely on the rocks. Nine people out of ten have not understood the far-reaching character of Mr. Bennett's policy but they will understand it now.

The contract with Argentina for wheat suspended by the British Government until after the Canadian elections has not been concluded and Canada loses her best customer for wheat. Canada stood all to the good by the Empire Preference system which she has rejected.

Canadian officials who welcomed the R-100 and officers of dirigible. In the extreme left is Mayor Houde of Montreal, and on his left is standing Sir Dennistown Burney, designer of the R-100. In the centre (with derby and cane), is Col. J. L. Ralston, Canadian minister of defence, who welcomed crew of R-100 on behalf of the Dominion government. Next to him is Major G. H. Scott, in charge of operations of R-100, and on whose right is Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, youthful commander of the R.-100.

EXPECT CANADIAN BUSINESS TO BE MUCH LIGHTER THAN PAST 4 YEARS

British Gov't Trade Commissioner Makes Exhaustive Survey.

WEALTH OF INFORMATION.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 2. (C. P. Cable)—That one may reasonably expect Canadian business as a whole to be on a smaller scale in 1930 than in the four preceding years, is the opinion expressed by W. Field, His Majesty's senior Trade Commissioner in Canada, in an exhaustive survey of Canadian conditions to May last. The report has just been issued in London as a British document. The commissioner says it should be a heartsome consolation to reflect that Canada was well content with its place in the world four years ago. The last depression was from 1920-24. A careful analysis of the situation reveals the fact that conditions at present are infinitely better than during that period. The statement is made that the Dominion naturally is feeling the effects of some of the vital changes occurring in the commercial and industrial life of the world, these include the substitution of rapid machinery for manual labour—for example, in the grain fields—the changes in distribution methods and reductions in production costs. Increased production of many commodities is occurring in several countries and there is consequently increased competition in the world's market and declining imports. The report, which contains a wealth of up-to-date information in concise form, records the fact that for the fourth year in succession, the Canadian mining industry in 1929 reached a new high record output. It also states that although the tobacco industry is restricted to certain areas, it enlarges the national revenue by approximately $35,000,00.

100 Acres Turkish Tobacco

About a hundred acres of Turkish tobacco were grown in Ontario last year. The production of wheat, livestock, dairy products, wool, petroleum and fish and furs is also reviewed.

Considerable space is devoted to the iron and steel industry, which, Mr. Field says, was founded upon the conversion of imported semi-finished material.

Under the close influence of this specialisation in the United States the steel mills of Canada have had to make the way, and this they are doing with success. The production of steel in the Republic last year was approximately 47¼ percent of the world's output. The increase alone over the 1928 output amounted to about 4½ million tons, or more than three times the entire Canadian production.

Dealing with the motor car situation it is recorded that business is serving in Canada to stabilise the demand for cars, a great proportion of factory output being devoted to this ever-growing sales outlet. The proportion in the United States is already 55 per cent. The life of the average car on this continent today is estimated at six years and nine months, with over a million cars registered in Canada, replacement demand alone in the near future should ensure a domestic market for 150,000 automobiles a year, even if the proportion of car owners does not increase. Foreign markets are absorbing a constantly increasing number of vehicles from Canada. Thus replacement and export ensure fairly steady business for Canadian factories and, except under unusually extreme conditions, fluctuations are not likely to be extensive.

Each 10 miles of the new main highways under consideration for England will require 30,000 tons of quarried stone, 7,000 tons of cement, and 500 tons of steel.

List Drifts Listlessly On Montreal Exchange

MONTREAL, Que., August 2 (C. P.). — Most traders apparently took a holiday to look over the R-100 moored at St. Hubert. At the opening of the Montreal Stock Exchange trading was very dull and stocks drifted listlessly.

A loss of 1 point was the biggest change in prices, it was registered by Dominion Bridge, down 1 at 59. Brazilian was unchanged, Nickel was down ¼, and the rest of the list was either unchanged or recorded fractional changes.

FIRMER TONE IN UTILITY SHARES

Leading Issues in That Group and Industrials Work a Point Higher.

AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 2 (C. P.). — Disgusted with the cranky stock market, traders all but ignored it to-day and share prices reflected little but the closing out short contract by bear traders anxious to be clear of commitment over Sunday.

A better tone in the utility shares, which were under considerable bear pressure yesterday, was an encouragement to such speculators for the rise as bothered to look at the ticker tape. Leading shares, both in that group and in the industrials, worked at point or so higher.

Traders could not find a clue in the conflicting and uncertain weekend trade and business report on which to base operations. Even the mercantile services were in disagreement.

REPAIRS STARTED UPON R-100'S FIN

New Panel to Cover Gaping Hole Being Made By Canadian Vickers Co.

TICKLISH JOB.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., Aug. 2.—(By Jack Hambleton, C. P. Press Staff Writer). —Repair work to the damaged fin of the British dirigible R-100 is well under way at this airport to-day. The damaged panel of the stabilizing fin has already been measured and a new panel has been made ready to be laced into place. "Coping" of the new panel, according to members of the crew, will be done from the outside of the huge envelope as the ship swings at anchor at the St. Hubert mooring mast. Present plans call for two men, in bo'sun's chars to be swung from each side of the big fin. Then they will pull the two chairs together with ropes, and start in on "dope" or glue the huge patch into position. The repair work is a ticklish job, since the tail of the giant ship is more than 200 feet above the ground.

The panel which will eventually cover the gaping hole of the fin, is Being Made at the plant of Canadian Vickers, Limited in Montreal, and will be at the airport before noon. Immediately upon its arrival members of the ship's crew will begin to put it in place, it was stated.

Estimate 10,000 Indian Volunteers Been Arrested

AHMADABAD, India, Aug. 2 — (C.P.)—The arrest of Vallabhai Patel at Bombay to-day added another to the long list of civil disobedience figures arrested since Mahatma Gandhi began his movement with a march to the sea last spring.

Leaders of he All-India Congress Committee here calculate that 10,000 volunteers have been arrested in various parts of British India on charges ranging from violation of the Salt Laws to agitation against payment of taxes.

They also estimate that in Calcutta alone there have been more than 700 arrests, in Bombay 900, in Lahore 400 and in the Peshawar district 1,500.

Among the prominent figures now in jail are Gandhi himself, Abbastyabji, Sarojini Naidu, Pandit Motilal Nehru and Pandit Hawarhal Lenehru.

WOMAN FIRE BUG SUSPENDED.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Aug. 2.—(C.P.)—Mrs. Mary E. Taylor who pleaded guilty in police court here to-day to sarting a fire on the promises of Mrs. L. M. Alport, Humberstone, was given suspended sentence and placed on $1,000 bond for one year. Magistrate Massey lectured the woman severely after she had admitted entering the house in the absence of the Alports and causing a blaze which did $100 damage.

Mr. Weese goes to the House of Commons for the first time. The Conservative member elected by Prince Edward-Lennox in three previous elections was John Hubbs.

HANKOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW

REDS 35 MILES NORTH.

Troops and Citizens Prepare to Resist Communist Attack.

HANKOW, China, Aug. 2 (C.P.) — Martial law has been declared in Hankow and troops began strengthening and erecting defenses against an anticipated Communist attack while Chinese poured into the foreign concession for safety.

Students of the training division were pressed into service. The populace, under a curfew ruling, must be off the streets by midnight.

Hankow, known as "the Chicago of China" because of its size, location and industrial importance, is with its sister cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, the presumed objective of the Communists' campaign that has spread over a wide area in the Upper Yangtse River region. To the north 35 miles the Reds have been blowing up bridges en route here.

Meanwhile, the Communists were reported still in control of Changsha, Capital of Hunyan Province, where they have looted, burned and despoiled for several days. The Radicals were said to have kidnapped and held for ransom 200 of the wealthiest Chinese residents of Changsha and to have dragged from hiding and executed sixty officers of Provincial troops.

BROILERS BRING 30 AND 35 CENTS

Chickens Are Plentiful on Local Farmers' Market.

EGGS 30 TO 35.

A lot of the little chickens that have been running carefree about the barnyard came to market this morning, minus their heads, and a lot of them were on the way to going home again, to make a pie for their owners' Sunday dinner. There were plenty of broilers on the counters to-day. One man who brought twenty-five of them mourned his luck when he surveyed seven remaining at a late hour, with no prospect of buyers.

"If I had let them all go at 35c a pound, they wouldn't be there now," he remarked sagely. His opening price was 38 and 40c a pound and he got stuck for the balance.

The prevailing price seemed to be 30 and 35c for these toothsome little birds. One woman offered a pair, dry-picked, for 90c, their combined weight bringing the quotation to less than 25c a pound.

Hens were 23 and 25c a pound. Spring ducks sold at 28c a pound at one counter, while another vendor offered a four pound bird at 75c.

Eggs and butter were plentiful also. The former sold at 30 to 35c a dozen, with one woman asking 40c for large white samples. Butter was 32 to 35c a pound.

On the open market the hot sun beat down on plenty of produce. Vegetables and fruit are at their best just now. The large carrots, the succulent beets, the fat butter beans, look good enough to eat, just as they are.

Butter beans were 4c a quart; large bunches of carrots, beets and onions were a nickel; tomatoes were 25c in quart boxes; green peas were 4 quarts for a quarter or 25c, shelled; potatoes were 25c a peck; pickling beets 40c a basket; gherkins, 20c a quart; small cucumbers 3 for a dime; small white onions 30 and 25c quart.

Golden Bantam corn made its bow to buyers this morning at 50c a doz.

Red cherries from local orchards were selling 3 quarts for 25c; green Transparent apples were 40c a peck, and Red Astrakans were 50c a peck. Plums were 15c a quart and huckleberries 25c. Red raspberries sold at 25c a quart and wild raspberries were two quarts for a quarter or 40c for a three-pound pail. Black currants were 25c a quart box and chokecherries were 5c a pound.

Honey was prominent in the local market this morning. One vendor had ornamental little octagonal glass jars that made the greenish-golden stuff look more appetisinf than ever. They sold at 25c apiece, while 2½ and 5-pound pails of colver honey were 35c and 65c.

Basswood honey was 75c in five-pound pails and 35c in sections carefully wrapped in waxed paper.

Little collie pups were selling at $1 and $2 each.

Bossy Gillis Seeking Position of Senator

FITCHBURG, Mass., Aug. 2 (C.P.). —Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis of Newbury Port to-day was a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

He assembled friends in a public lunch room here last night and announced his candidacy. "I am going to be the next United States Senator, and you can put that in your hat," he said. Continuing, he declared he would seek 250 names of nomination papers in Worcester, Suffolk, Middlesex and Essex Counties.

is Peterborough's tenth member, her sixth Conservative, and represents the twelfth time the riding has returned a Tory member.

Fights for Provincial House

Although there were some close federal contests here prior to 1917—when for the first time a member was accorded a four-figure majority—the Dominion elections have never represented the hectic battles which some of the provincial elections have.

While James Stevenson was returned to tOtawa in 1887 by a margin of only 16 votes, there was a time in the provincial House when the Peterborough member sat as a result of a one-vote majority.

The story is told, in connection with the latter election, of a farmer in Ashburnham who was plowing on election day, and, as he had a good deal of work to do and as the day was a threatening one, he decided not to cross the river to vote. Late in the day, however, he changed his mind and decided to take the punt across to the Peterborough side. (There was no bridge then). When he got down to the water he discovered that the punt had been smashed, either by the weaher or by some too-ardent political campaigner. Nothing daunted, he donned a bathing suit and swam across, casting his vote just before the polls closed.

He always declared—and probably rightly so—that his vote was the one which returned the member.

LENNOX MAJORITY IS 318.

NEWMARKET, Ont., August 2 (C. P.). — York North gave Col. T. H. Lennox a majority of 318, it was announced here this morning. The official figures are: Col. T. H. Lennox, Conservative, 10,402; W. P. Mulock, Liberal, 10,084.

Col. Lennox has held the seat of North York since 1925, when he defeated Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King by a majority of 494.

Nearly 5,000 men, women and children took part in the procession of the Blessed Sacrament at Dublin, Ireland, recently.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT OCCUPIES 975 ACRES, ONCE MARHSY LAND

Site Was Chosen in 1927 by the British Air Ministry.

HAS THREE RUNWAYS.

(By William Edgar.)

MONTREAL, August 2. — St. Hubert Airport, where about twelve months ago there were acres of mud and a few small huts, has been transformed into an airdrome which ranks as the most modern in the world, largely due to the incentive created by the announcement that the spot had been chosen as the landing point of the great dirigible which arrived in Canada on Thursday.

The site was selected in 1927 by representatives of the Air Ministry in London and the Dominion Department of National Defence, and is situated on the south shore of the St. Lawrence in open country free from smoke and other flying Hazards. The airdrome occupies a site of 975 acres and additional land is available for further expansion. It has the inestimable advantage of being quite level and sufficiently removed from adjacent hills to provide manoeuvring space for large dirigibles using the mooring mast that is the admiration of engineers everywnere.

The layout consists of three runways, radiating from the central point at angles of 120 degrees to suit all directions of wind. These runways are 150 feet in width and from 1,800 feet to 2,000 feet in length. A taxiway 100 feet in width connects the outer ends of runways Nos. 2 and 3 and encircles the whole field to connect with the terminus of runway No. 1. The angle between Nos. 1 and 2 runways forms the space for the dirigible mooring mast and its surrounding anchors.

The mooring mast, he most modern of its kind and the only one in Canada, was built at St. Hubert after the pattern of the one at Cardington, England, at the base from which the airship set out on its epochmaking voyage last Monday, and the engineers at St. Hubert have been able to install a number of improvements in the mast which do not figure in its English counterpart. The main improvement is the substitution of electricity for steam in the St. Hubert tower, the first in which this change has been made. This structure dominates the entire flying field, towering up something like 210 feet over its surroundings, and is completely equipped with all the necessary apparatus to ensure the safe mooring of the dirigible.

Passing through the top of the mooring mast and connected with tanks and plants on the ground are pipes carrying hydrogen gas, water, and fuel oil, which couple to projecting pipes on the airship's gondolas. Oil fuel for the ship is obtained from tanks at the airport, water from an adequate supply both for ballast and drinking purposes, and hydrogen gas for inflation of the gas bags from a special plant.

Furnished Rooms.

In anticipation of future passenger traffic, comfortably furnished rooms for airship passengers, as well as rooms for the use of customs and other officers, have been provided in the mooring mast. An elevator, running to within 20 feet of the top has been installed. The ground floor, besides forming the foyer, houses the necessary apparatus for bringing airships into position on top and contains pumps for renewing their supplies of fuel, gas and water.

The second floor contains the offices of airport officials. Above this is the sub-deck from which leads the passenger gangway to the cabin of the airship.

Though the mooring mast was undoubtedly the main attraction at St. Hubert—that is before the arrival of the aerial monster which took upon itself all the attention available—there are many other buildings which are hardly less important. There is a special plant for the manufacture of hydrogen gas which is fed into the airship's gasbags by means of pipes leading from the plant up to the mooring mast. There is the radio station, equipped with teletypes for the reception of meteorological reports; the lighting plant, which provides for the electric illumination of the field by night, and hangars, garages, and demonstration buildings are distributed along the taxiway.

The R-100 will spend about fourteen days in Canada, the greater part of which will be passed in Montreal; but flights will be made to Quebec, Ottawa, and Western Ontario to enable as many Canadians as possible to get a glimpse of the craft which Britain hopes will be the forerunner of a new mode of ocean transportation between the two most important sections of the British Commonwealth.

NO IMPROVEMENT IS NOTICED IN UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

PAY ROLLS CUT.

No improvement in the unemployment situation which has existed for the past ten months has been noticed yet in Peterborough and district, stated H. Robertson, manager of the local Employment Services Bureau in an interview this morning. Many of the city's larger industries are working on reduced schedules and reduced staffs, even to a greater extent than in the opening months of the year.

The information given to The Examiner this morning by the Bureau was the first released since June, when orders were given to Employment Service officials to withhold any information until after the election.

Lists at the Bureau still contain well over one hundred unfilled applications for labour and there is no immediate prospect of reducing the lists, stated Mr. Robertson. The number of unemployed registered at the Bureau is only representative of the total unemployed, he said, there being a great many in the city who have not registered and still others touring about the country making personal applications at the farms for employment.

One of the city's important industries has drastically cut its pay-roll in many departments in the past month while another industry which was working three four-day weeks out of four is now working on steady five and one-half day weeks with a greatly reduced pay-roll. Employees are working one week on and one week off at another of the city's larger plants. Plants dealing in iron and steel products are somewhat slacker than earlier.

The unemployed are largely unskilled labourers, Mr. Robertson said, although there are plenty of good men in all the trades to be had. There is not much work in the city for carpenters and brick-layers and some masons are idle. The farmers are seeking more help as the season advances. Many domestics have been absorbed in the resort districts but there is still a surplus of domestics with lesser qualifications.

Despite the general unemployment there are plenty of employment opportunities to be found, through the Employment Services for highly qualified men with training and experience in specific lines.

Seventeen Pound Pike Hooked in York River

WARSAW, Aug. 2 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Rev. H. B. Herrington, while fishing in York River, caught a pike weighing seventeen and one-half pounds. It was forty-three inches in length and seventeen in girth. When dressed it weighed ten and one-half pounds. It took Mr. Herrington about fifteen minutes to land the fish.

MESSAGE FROM KING GEORGE IS SENT ON R-100

Expresses Hope Flight May Open New Communication With Dominions.

Governor General Replies.

Use of New Mooring Tower Makes Canada Partner in New Experiment.

OTTAWA, August 2. (C.P.)—Messages which have passed between His Majesty the King and the Governor-General, on the successful flight of the R-100, were given out here yesterday. The message from His Majesty, which took the form of a letter from Lord Stamfordham, dated July 27, was as follows:

"My Dear Governor-General: The King has taken advantage of the flight of the R-100 to Canada to convey to you his hope that this first flight to Canada may be successful, and open up a further means of communication between this country and the Dominions.

"His Majesty is particularly interested to learn that the R-100 will utilize at Montreal the first mooring tower base which has been erected by any of the Dominions, and that Canada thus becomes a partner with the United Kingdom in the inauguration of this great experiment."

Reply by Cable.

To this His Excellency replied by cable as follows:

"I have just received Your Majesty's gracious message sent by R-100, which I am glad to inform you has safely arrived in Montreal. The people of Canada who gave a most enthusiastic welcome to those who have undertaken this most successful flight are proud to feel that through the erection of the mooring tower their country is the first in the Empire to inaugurate with the United Kingdom this great experiment. May I on behalf of the Dominion of Canada cordially thank Your Majesty for the terms of your message and express the hope that this great venture may develop in the future and be a further practical bond between all parts of the British Empire."

The King of Norway has just been appointed honorary colonel of the 106th Field Brigade, Royal Artillery, British Territorial Army.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Aug. 2. — Volume of cattle shipments to the Union Stock Yards, Toronto, this week were reduced to a half, as compared with the week previous. On Monday there were 1,100 stale cattle over from last week added to a light fresh run of 1,300 head. Trade opened slow, with prices 50 cents per cwt. on most classes of killers. Most of the stale cattle were again carried over. Trading for the remainder of the week brought no improvement in price of steers and butcher cattle. Cows recovered a half of Monday's 50-cent per cwt. decline, and baby beeves, in a light offering, sold firm to a shade stronger at the top in a range of 9 to an outside of 11 1-2 cents per pound on Wednesday.

Calf receipts were down over 2,000 from last week, and prices strengthened on the light offering, though only the odd load found export outlet. Good to choice veals sold at 9 to 9 1-2 cents per pound, with a few primes selling on Wednesday to special demand for the Jewish trade at 10 to 11 cents. Grass calves sold unchaneg to a shade lower for the bulk at a spread of 4 1-4 to 5 cents per pound.

Sheep and lamb supply was down 1,300 head, as compared with last week. Lamb prices opened at an advance of 50 cents per cwt. over last week's close. Tuesday's, and most of Wednesday's lambs sold steady at the advance and there was a neasier feeling due to fairly heavy road offerings after Wednesday noon. Eleven cents per pound accounted for sales of good ewes and wethers at Wednesday's close and in Thursday's light offering. On the bulk of sales for the week, good ewes and wethers brought 11 1-2 cents per pound, with culls down to 9 cents. Sheep were slightly stronger in the week's trading at a range of 5 to 5 1-2 cents per pound for good ewes and downward to 2 cents per pound for culls.

Hogs receipts at 4,200 head were 1,300 lighter than last week. The price was off 50 cents per cwt. on Monday's offering, but the market recovered this decline by Wednesday, when most sales of bacons were made at 11 1-4 cetns, f.o.b., and 12 1-4 cents, w.o.c., and trucked in hogs at 11 to 12 cents per pound, according to length of haul.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—After a week that was full of activity and soaring prices, the local butter market did a right-about face, and this week trading was at a standstill. But, receipts being light, an oversupply was not created, though consumption was off considerably, and prices remained firm at 28c to 28½c for Ontario No. 1, and 26½c to 26¾ for No. 2.

Some New Zealand butter arrived in Halifax about the middle of the week, and, according to local dealers, about 15,000 boxes will reach Toronto. But, though storages during August in Toronto increased some 35,000 boxes, most dealers thought that this New eZaland shipment would go into storage until a better market was offered.

Hot weather has certainly hurt local trade, and during the week it was extremely difficult for dealers to move even high-class butter in large lots. Buyers seemed to be stocked up again, and consumption was off to such an extent that it was almost impossible to interest them, especially at the week-end.

Cream

Churning-cream prices held firm until yesterday, when local buyers raised the price 1 cent. Country shippers were quoted 28c to 29c for special, 27c to 28c for No. 1, and 24c to 25c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

The cheese market made a slight advance during the week, but prices eventually settled at about ½c better, and shippers were quoted 17c for new large, 17¼c for twins, and 17½c for triplets. Prices to retailers remained firm all week at 19c for new large, 19¼c for twins, and 19½c for triplets.

Eggs

The local market started to slump the first of the week, and prices dropped slightly, but toward the end of the week, especially yesterday, condition were bad. Every broker in the city was trying to sell eggs, and very little success was encountered. Receipts, that had been piling up all week yesterday reached alarming proportions, but these were few buyers. Prices dropped Thursday to 31c for extras, 29c for firsts, and 25c for seconds, graded, free cases, with sales reported at even lower figures than these. Consumption had dropped off to the point where buyers would not consider any amount at any price.

Quotations to shippers held firm at 29c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 22c to 23c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Prices to retailers held firm at 25c to 26c for extras in cartons, 33c to 34c for extras loose, 31c to 32c for firsts loose, and 26c to 27c for seconds loose.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 2. — Early gains were not held on the wheat market yesterday and prices slipped back into dull trading to close ¾c to ¼c lower. Trade was the lightest in many days, little support coming to the front to care for offerings which were not at all heavy. May wheat made its first appearance on the board and closed at 99⅛ to 99¼ cents.

Export trade fell off to a great extent, foreign buyers apparently having secured enough wheat for their immediate needs. Extremely hot and dry weather in the Canadian West, certain to do crop damage if it continues, had no effect on the market.

Demand for most grades of cash wheat was fairly good, but holders preferred to retain their stocks at prevailing prices and trading was light. Coarse grains held their substantial gains on Thursday.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 2. — Prospects of the scantiest corn crop since 1868, with only two exceptions, lifted corn yesterday to a new top price record for the season. Mostly unofficial crop estimates showed a sensational drop of 405,000,000 bushels in the forecasts of 1930 corn production, as compared with similar private estimates a month ago. Yesterdays indications were for continuance of the drought that has been ravaging the fields throughout the corn belt, and that in Illinois was officially reported yesterday as being, for the last five months, the severest in fifty-three years.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, ¾c to 1⅝c a bushel higher than Thursday's finish. Wheat closed ⅞c to 1¾c off; oats, 1⅛c to 1⅜c up; and provisions at 5c to 35c advance.

Heavy Selling Develops.

Heavy selling to realize profits turned the corn market backward somewhat after an extreme advance of 2⅜c a bushel yesterday, that showed a maximum rise of nearly 18c since three weeks ago. The finish, however, was about 1c per bushel above the day's bottom level, the market receiving active buying support on setbacks.

Oats went higher yesterday with corn, and on the best class of buying seen in many months. The oats crop was unofficially estimated at 1,291,000,000 bushels, against 1,329,000,000 bushels a month ago.

STRAWBERRY ROOT-ROT CLAIMS HEAVY TOLL AMONG BIG PATCHES

One of Best Protection Schemes is Long Crop Rotation.

COVER IN WINTER

Root-rot or black-root is a fairly common disease of strawberry plants. Apparently plants of any age may be attacked but they are most susceptible at two periods, as follows: (1) shortly after being set out, (2) at fruiting time. In some patches little or no evidence of the disease can be found while in others 50 per cent or even 70 per cent of the plants are destroyed.

Symptoms

Plants which develop root-rot while young fail to grow normally and therefore have a stunted or dwarfed appearance. If plants are almost full grown when the disease attacks them the destruction of roots makes it impossible for the plant to support the large top. Such plants wilt very quickly. Sometimes young plants show the wilting symptoms as well as remaining dwarfed. In mild attacks the plants may live on until fruiting time. However, they are too weak to bear a crop and either die or at best produce very few mature berries.

Plants suffering from root-rot may be pulled up more easily than healthy plants and they then reveal the more striking symptoms which have given rise to the common name for the malady. The roots are blackened and their outer layers are soft and easily rub off between the thumb and finger. Later in the season even healthy roots darken somewhat but the outer layers do not peel off so easily. Moreover, late in the season healthy plants usually show new, white roots developing while diseased plants seldom produce new roots.

Control Measures

The principal control measures which have been found useful at the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, St. Catharines, Ont., are:

1—Practice a fairly long crop rotation. Strawberries should not follow a similar crop in less than five years if possible.

2—Avoid introducing the disease. When setting out to a patch produce plants from a field which was free from root-rot the previous year. Then discard from these any plants which have blackened roots.

3—Protect the plants during the winter by means of a suitable mulch. As soon as the ground becomes frozen hard, cover the rows with 2-3 inches of clean straw.

Company Receives First New Wheat

Constituting a record for early delivery of fall wheat, J. A. Blodgett, farmer of Cavan township today shipped in 400 bushels to the Peterborough Cereal Company Limited, which graded as first class milling wheat.

Officials of the Company state, that this is exceptionally early in the season to have wheat threshed and delivered to the millers and that the earliest in other years has been the middle of August.

AUGUST IS HARD MONTH ON COWS

Control of Flies and Protection From Sun Both Important.

USE ENSILAGE

August is the hardest month of the year for the dairy herd. If milk production can be maintained during this month little concern need be felt about maintenance of the milk flow during the balance of the season.

Superintendent W. H. Hicks, of the Experimental Farm of the Dominion Department of Agriculture at Agassiz, B.C., provides some useful suggestions for meeting the difficulties of this trying month. Principal among these are, control of flies, protection from the hot sun, an ample supply of cool water, and the use of a supplement dried pasturage. By adequate man will find his August problem pretty well taken care of.

Control of flies is best secured through the use of a suitable spray. At the Agassiz Farm a light spray is used which gives little difficulty in application, does not discolor the cows, is nicely scented, and is not too expensive. It is frequently applied twice a day.

Protection from the sun may be provided by shade trees in the pasture under which the cows may feed and rest out of the sun. Another satisfactory method is to stable the cows during the day and let them pasture at night. Shading and screening the windows provides added coolness in the barn, and it also helps in the control of flies.

During this month also a succulent roughage should be fed as a supplement to pasturage. Ensilage from clover, peas and oats, or corn gives very good results.

Every care should be taken to maintain milk production during August, and, incidentally, it is not a good month in which to have cows freshen because of the difficulty of getting them away to a good start in milk production at a time when feed and other factors are unfavorable.

EGG COLOR LINE VARIES WIDELY OVER COUNTRY

Why Certain Sections of Country Prefer One Color is Mystery.

FOOD VALUE SAME

Fowls Producing Brown Eggs Dress for Table Use to Better Advantage.

There are no doubt very few who would care to take literally the oft-quoted assertion of a well-known writer that gentlemen prefer blondes. Most certainly some gentlemen do prefer blondes, but there are others who have a decided preference for brunettes. No man who favors either the lighter or the darker tresses would dare to say that the color of his choice carried with it any superior virtue, grace, or distinction. He just likes what he likes and that's all there is to it. A very similar situation exists in the egg market, strange as it may seem to many of us. In some parts of the country, brown eggs are almost unsalable, with white ones at a premium, while in other places the exact reverse is true.

Just why certain sections of the country should be so thoroughly prejudiced in favor of one color or the other is something that requires a lot more explaining than the space allotted to this article will permit. No one has yet been able to discover that the color of an egg shell has any connection with the food value of its contents. On the contrary, it seems to be well established that if hens laying brown eggs are fed the same materials and cared for in the same way as those laying white ones, the products of both will be absolutely equal in food values. Nevertheless, these strange local prejudices must be considered just as certain merchants must reckon with the fact that women in certain parts of the country will accept nothing but Clark's thread, while Coat's thread, spun on the same spindles from identical raw materials, is the only brand others will have.

Follow Preference.

This peculiar state of affairs is of little interest to the poultrymen whose entire output is consumed locally. He knows the preference of his own neighborhood and, if wise, will cater to it. It is the poultryman or egg buyer whose output is too great for local consumption who must face the blonde-brunette problem when he sends his product out to market.

The great centre for marketing brown eggs is and has always been Boston and surrounding communities. There, the preference seems to date back to the days of the earliest settlers. The reason it has persisted for so long doubtless lies in the fact that most of the American class breeds—all brown egg layers—originated there.

The owner of "brown-egg" fowls has the advantage when it comes to supplying dressed fowls for family use. As for capons, these breeds are ideal. The capons rival turkeys for size and weight with flesh of such tenderness and delicious flavor it would take an expert to decide if anything on earth could equal them.

Nevertheless, many poultrymen whose chief concern is egg production, hold the white egg laying breeds in high esteem. They are undoubtedly wonderful layers and the various strains have been greatly improved of late years. Their eggs now compare quite favorably in size with the average run from brown egg laying breeds and it can no longer be said that the so-called "all egg" breeds are less productive than the general purpose or brown egg breeds during the fall and winter months. There are certain localities where white eggs are in great demand, whatever the reason may be. That, after all, is sufficient reason for raising the kind of fowls that supply them.

Public preference sometimes changes. The situation in New York is a good illustration of what can happen. There, brown eggs were at one time all but a drug on the market. Early in November, 1927, white egg prices began to decline and brown eggs forged ahead until the latter were soon enjoying a price advantage of 8c a dozen. Since then, there has been considerable fluctuation. In many other markets similar changes in one direction or the other have been noted.

Such changes as this are of no little significance to poultrymen everywhere. No matter how large or small your flock may be, if you produce eggs to sell, you want to be on the right side. Be prepared to swing with the tide of public desire. It may not be the most heroic measure, but, aside from Lindbergh's case, who ever heard of heroism that paid dividends?

Pullets Outclass Hens for Profits

In discussing methods of increasing egg production, F. C. Elford, Dominion poultry husbandman, asks the very pertinent question, "Why keep old hens?" He provides the answer by citing official figures from tests conducted by the Experimental Farms Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture showing that when pullets are tested against hens the average yearly profit over cost of feed is, for the pullet, $3.34 and, for the hen, $1.66; presented in another way, it costs 20 cents to produce one dozen eggs through pullets as against a per-dozen cost of 35 cents with old hens. It is also pointed out that it takes 60 eggs to pay for the cost of the bird, and any pullet or hen which doesn't lay at least this number is just a bill of expense. There are a number of good ways of getting hens that will lay a profit over their cost and keep.

ONE BIG DANCE LASTED WEEK

LARGE AND AIRY.

A dance that lasted a week would be something to write home about in modern times. In 1878, in New Zealand, such an event took place, and it isn't on record that the dancers objected.

H. B. Rye, who runs the dancing pavilion at the south end of the town, can remember when the guests at his parents' home kept up their festivities for a week, and sheep had to be slaughtered to provide for their meals. It was on his father's sheep ranch in New Zealand, a hundred and sixty miles from Auckland and ten miles from the nearest neighbor. The dance was scheduled for a certain night and the neighbors came from miles around, on horseback, to attend it. But the rainy season of May was at its height. The rain came and prevented them from riding back home over heavy trails. And so they kept up the affair for a solid week.

At the Pavilion, these nights, music is supplied by the Band Box Boys, a snappy five-piece organization of musicians that plays the new slow, dreamy music and the "hot" pieces that still appeal to the majority of steppers.

The pavilion is large and airy. River air floats in through opened sides and there is plenty of interest for the dance lovers who patronize it on warm nights.

EXPERIMENTS TRIED

Second Year Meadows Tend to Give Larger Yields.

Timothy is one of the most universally grown hay crops in Canada and consequently a considerable quantity of the seed of this crop is required each year, and it is usually in fairly good demand.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Kapuskasing, Ontario, an experiment has been conducted over a period of years, with the object of comparing the results in yield and quality of seed produced from seeding broadcast in combination with red clover, broadcast alone, in rows 12 inches apart, and in rows 24 inches apart.

The plot seeded with a mixture of timothy and red clover is cut for hay the first year and saved for seed the second, the idea being that the red clover will have largely died out and consequently the stand would be mostly timothy.

This experiment has been conducted in quadruplicate one-fortieth-acre plots, using a nurse-crop of either barley or oats.

In some years it has been found that the first-year meadow has not been a good stand and in some cases had to be cancelled. This was probably due, in part at least, to the smothering effect of the nurse-crop.

The seed produced the second year from the plots that were sown with red clover and timothy has usually been more or less of a mixture, as a percentage of the red clover remained in the plot. On the other hand, a good crop of hay is obtained from the mixed plot during the first year and seed harvested the second year can, in most cases, be satisfactorily separated with a good fanning mill, as these seeds differ considerably both as to size and weight. In this way it might often be possible to avoid buying a supply of timothy seed by saving a selected area that had produced a crop of mixed hay the previous year.

The average results show that there is not a very great difference between seeding broadcast and in rows, and considering the fact that fields sown in rows are more apt to become weedy unless cultivated which would take extra time and naturally add to the cost of production, it would appear as though the broadcast method is to be preferred.

It is quite evident that the second-year meadow tends to give a larger yield of seed than does the new meadow.

GALT POLICE SUSPENDED.

GALT, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.).—It was announced to-day that Chief of Police D. T. Boyd and Acting Detective R. Carson had been relieved of duty, pending the outcome of an investigation by the Police Commission of certain charges that have been made against the officers. Magistrate J. R. Blake, chairman of the Commission, who made the announcement, said the investigation would not be held until the end of next week. He declined to reveal the nature of the charges.

Heat of the sun's rays is believed to have ignited a bird's nest under the eaves of a house at Hounslow, England, causing destruction of the building.

PLENTIFUL FRUIT CROP DEPENDS ON ADEQUATE MOISTURE SUPPLY

Sod Mulch System Proves Excellent Conserver in Summer.

KEEP WEEDS KILLED

An adequate supply of moisture in the orchard is of great importance in the growing of a good crop of fruit. If the soil is low in moisture in the early part of the season the fruit is not likely to set well. If there is a shortage of moisture during the summer and autumn the fruit will not size up well and if the soil is dry when the winter sets in the danger from root-killing is made much greater, hence the importance of conserving moisture when there is any likelihood of there being a shortage.

It has been shown by experiments at the Experimental Farms and elsewhere that an enormous amount of moisture goes off into the air by transpiration through the leaves of crops, weeds and grass. The exhaustion of moisture from the soil by weeds can be prevented by early cultivation and even if cultivation is discontinued later on and weeds grow again, the conservation of moisture in the early part of the season is very desirable.

What is known as the sod-mulch system of orchard management is an excellent conserver of moisture. Grass is spread over the soil under the trees, preventing the growth of weeds and grass and saving the moisture.

Indian Hitch is Favored in North

For winter travelling dogs are, and will probably always remain, the most satisfactory for Northern Canada. The Indian single-file hitch is in general use in Canada except on the Arctic coast and is undoubtedly the most practical on unbroken trail in the woods, but should for all other use be changed for the more modern Nome hitch, which requires a somewhat wider trail but is otherwise much more satisfactory since the distance from the dogs to the load is reduced by half.

NEW OFFICES FOR FAIR OFFICIALS

EXHIBITS IMPROVE

More commodious offices have been taken by the Royal Winter Fair at 217 Bay Street, Toronto. The move is a necessary step in the development of the Royal as a national institution. Year by year the work has grown and the demands on staff and office room have become greater. The activities of the annual fair in November require the year-round work of a staff of seven persons and, for some time before and after the fair dates, of between 30 and 40 office workers. In addition adequate board room had to be arranged for committees and other meetings sometimes numbering fifty people.

This is in reality the only move made by the Royal since its establishment in 1922. In that period the Royal Winter Fair has greatly increased in scope and importance. While the actual number of entries now is larger than at the first fair, there is an unmistakable improvement in the quality of the exhibits that means keener competition nearer to the top in every class than was possible in the earlier days. Herein lie the merit and success of the Royal; it has already done much in helping to raise the general level of all agricultural enterprises in the Dominion. And the association has no intention of "resting on its oars."

The new offices are on the 10th floor of the Reford Building. Visitors will be cordially welcomed.

The dates for the 1930 Royal are November 19th to 27th, inclusive.

HOME PARTIALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Early Morning Blaze Breaks Out in Home of Dummer Farmer.

WARSAW, Aug. 2 (Examiner Correspondence).—The home of William Harding on the English Line was almost completely destroyed by fire early Thursday morning.

Part of the roof over the kitchen was burned; part of the inside kitchen walls and a hole was burned through to the stairway in the front part of the house.

Mrs. Harding, who is eighty-four years of age noticed the roof in flames and screamed, and a neighbor, Allan McCracken, rushed to the scene and in a short time a number of men had arrived and soon extinguished the fire.

BATTLE LINES TIGHTEN IN WAR WITH GANGLAND

U. S. Contest With Crime Costs 12,000 Fatalities Each Year.

COSTS 13 BILLIONS.

By C. R. GREENAWAY.
(Copyright, 1930)

DETROIT, Aug. 2.—(Special to The Examiner).—If somebody tells you a war is going on only a couple of hundred miles away, and you doubt it, just go to Detroit and observe police activities for a day or two.

For the past two days, I have been on the Detroit front in the "Crime Wave War" that is costing this country over $13,000,000,000 a year. This sum is more than the total of the Great War debts.

The magnitude of this warfare in the United States is shown by the existence of an army of close to 2,000,000 criminals. Holding them back is a force of 500,000 police, judicial and enforcement officials.

The conquest of Canada by the British did not cost half as many lives as this warfare claims in a year. Every twelve months there are 12,500 fatalities, it is estimated. At present there are close to 300,000 captives held in the jails.

Death Figure High.

I don't know how large a share of this casualty total they expect to have in Detroit this year. On Saturday it was reported there had been 86 homicides this year, with 38 shot by the police, and six policemen by gangsters.

Last year this city reported only 299 casualties. About 184 were listed as homicides. Police shot 98 and had a casualty list of 17, of whom four died.

These figures were questioned before the Police Trial Board when Superintendent James Sprott accused Police Commissioner William R. Rutledge, since deposed, of camouflaging police records.

Even if the casualty lists are diminished in the interests of pleasant police reports, however, there will be a high total this year, if the present rate of shooting continues.

In the two weeks before I came to Detroit eleven gangsters were riddled in gang feuds, and other murders averaged close to one a day. Then Wednesday morning, Gerald Buckley, radio announcer of station WMBC, was shot down in the lobby of the La Salle Hotel, just a short time after he had reported the recall vote deposing Mayor Bowles.

Two Deaths in Day.

The day after I arrived there were two murders. The next day there were two more in the Polish section; maybe three. A report has just come that a patrolman, attached to a radio car, has been wounded in a gun battle with a robber who was killed.

At the present rate the total of shootings and homicides in Detroit this year would exceed 700.

The underworld itself is sweating. At the Canfield precinct station, near the hotel where Buckley was shot and the miniature golf course where more than 90 gangsters were captured at play, I stood on Saturday and watched the loads coming back.

Two rival gangs, principally Italians, are fighting for beer and gambling territories. This is, perhaps, even more important, now that there is scarcely any Canadian liquor coming over the river.

The dividing line between the territories operated by the east and west side gangs has been Woodward avenue. All on the east was the sphere of the east side gang, with headquarters in Grosse Pointe. All west belonged to the west side gang, operating from Wyandotte and Ecorse, outside the city.

Everything was relatively peaceful while Sam Catalanotte controlled the east side. He was a leader who bore no challenging and stood for peace. While he had charge, the east siders stayed in their own territory.

But Sam died of pneumonia at an awkward moment, about the time of the St. Valentine's day massacre in Chicago. The funeral came little short of that of O'Banion's in Chicago with its $10,000 casket. Sam Catalanotte's funeral is said to have cost $20,000.

When Sam died there was no undisputed leader to take his place. The east siders began to cross the line. They "muscled in" the other fellow's territory, as gangland says, and the west siders, including some Chicago men, began to nibble into the east side.

Part of Politicians.

The guns began to bark. Sam Catalanotte had a brother, Joseph, who decided to assume the place vacated by his brother. He prepared to push out the invaders. The contest took on the character of a vendetta; a man for a man, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. It became a gun fight to the death, a warfare for the city's beer and alcohol trade. At this point politicians are declared to have entered in the proceedings. For considerations orders are said to have been given the police to "lay off" certain offenders.

At any rate, Norman B. Smith, reputed to be a whiskey and gambling "big shot," before he went to Leavenworth penitentiary, was able to tell Inspector Doyle in advance that he was to be moved from the first precinct when the Bowles regime took office.

Smith also told Doyle that the old centralized vice squad, formerly declared inadequate, was to be revived to control all raiding, and that Inspector Churchill was to be head of it. These things came about as he predicted.

Jerry Buckley, who was murdered, told the story of Smith prophecies and their verification over his radio station and reported that the next night he was visited by an attorney and eleven thugs, who intimated "what might happen" if he persisted. Buckley ordered the visitors out of the radio station.

Buckley, through the station, was attacking the police for their apparentunwillingness to act. This was another complication for the gangsters and the admistration.

CANADA'S MILK EXPORTS TO U.S. ARE WIPED OUT

Effect is Outcome of New Smoot-Hawley Tariff.

U. S. BRANCHES HIT.

Milk and Cream Exporters Turning to Making of

That Canada's milk and cream exports to the United States have been almost wiped out in the short time since the new Smoot-Hawley tariff went into effect in the United States, is the contention of the leading article in the August 1 number of Farm and Dairy, Toronto. Correspondents at border and other points and advices received by the Dominion Dairy Branch are The Farm and Dairy's authority for saying that "most plants throughout Eastern Ontario and Quebec which have made a business of collecting, separating, pasteurizing, and shipping milk and cream to the United States either have closed down or are being turned into cheese factories and creameries" since the U. S. tariff of 68 cents per imperial gallon became effective on June 18.

Although some of the milk and cream surplus is being diverted to the fluid markets of Montreal and other cities, these cities are not able to absorb the large extra supplies. Thus, Farm and Dairy continues: "The cheese and butter industries, in present conditions of low prices for cheese and heavy imports of New Zealand butter, are being further depressed by the quantity of milk and cream that this prohibitive tariff has made available. Every branch of the dairy industry is being affected by, and is likely soon to feel even more strongly, the change that was brought about in the export milk and cream movement only six weeks ago."

Only One Plant Exporting

Advices from the Eastern Townships of Quebec, quoted in the article, state that only one plant there continues to export cream, and that is a plant, operated by a Boston concern, which momentarily expects an order from its head office to discontinue shipments.

This draws attention to the fact that that the closing of the U. S. market has hit not only Canadian producers but the big United States concerns which had established plants here to collect and ship Canadian cream to New York, Boston, and other U. S. centres.

"These large concerns," declares Farm and Dairy, "which operate under different names but often with united force, established plants at strategic border points in Canada some three or four years ago. Because our biggest Canadian milk dealers are small in comparison, the American firms did not fear competition. Their volume of business ran into hundreds of millions of dollars, and they could well afford, when necessary, to pay a price in Canada that would stifle local competition. They pushed their way in, spent scores of thousands of dollars on plants and equipment, and for a time dominated the situation in the sections where they operated.

Situation Changed

"But that situation now has changed. Competition in the United States, not in Canada, was their undoing. Pressure by scores of dairy organizations in the United States, representing the producers, was brought to bear on Congress to lessen and finally practically to prohibit the importation of Canadian milk and cream. The Milk Bill, with its stringent regulations, and the Smoot-Hawley tariff were the outcome. The result was the passing out of the picture of these big United States concerns in Canada so far as export milk and cream is concerned."

It is pointed out by Farm and Dairy correspondents that cheese is already supplanting milk and cream with manufacturing and exporting dairy men. "It looks to me as if it will be all cheese with them soon, if the high tariff stays on," one correspondent declares. In the Drummondville section of Quebec, the Stormont section and the Brockville-Kingston district of Ontario, cheese-makers are finding increased patronage, according to reports.

Only a few milk-and-cream regions here have not been affected by the new tariff, says the article. One of these is Frontenac County, where cream exports were almost negligible before the tariff and where the net result of the last six weeks has been a steady growth in the cheese industry.

Export Now to Britain

"We were, however," writes the correspondent from that county, "sending some 500 or 600 boxes of colored cheese per week across the line. Since the tariff was raised, the practise has stopped, but I do not see that it has made any difference, as prices paid for cheese were just ordinary board prices. Our cheeses are now being sent to Montreal and from there to Great Brtiain, which is the only dependable market that we have, or ever have had."

Remodeling of milk and cream plants and condensaries into cheese factories is the order of the day, according to Farm and Dairy advices. Whether or not there will be any increase in the cheese and butter output of the country as a result of these changes, is a matter of contention.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

CAVAN.

Many Institutes are supplying first aid kits in the schools in their district. It is interesting to know what constitutes a first aid kit.

Wrap the bandages and a few pieces of old linen in white paper and seal up, then wrap in three thicknesses of brown paper and bake in the oven until the brown paper is seared and falls away. Do not undo the white paper, but place the parcel in the box. It is sterilized and ready to use.

In glass corked bottles get: Iodine, a small bottle of the tincture, two ounces will do. Carbolic acid: To make a solution, add one teaspoonful to a pint of water. This solution is excellent to disinfect a needle, or scissors, or to wash an infected wound, but should never be used to apply as a wet dressing and bandaged on. Aromatic spirit of ammonia. About three quarters of a teaspoonful of this ammonia in a half a glass of water makes a safe quick heart stimulant. Sweet spirits of nitre. A teaspoonful in a large cup of hot water taken on going to bed will often break up a cold or avoid the ill effect of a chill. Boric acid powder. Make a solution by adding one teaspoonful of the powder to a cup of hot water. This makes an excellent eye wash. It is a good solution to use in dressing wounds. Soda bicarbonate (baking soda). Use in a case of acute indigestion or you may add baking soda to warm water and in an emergency, when a finger of hand or foot is burned, immerse the part burned in this solution of baking soda and leave it covered by this solution until you prepare a dressing.

Now that you have your half dozen bottles held in place in a row by tape tacked on each side of each box, holding the bottle against the back of the box, you are ready to put in your remedies.

A tube of vaseline; a flat box of castor oil capsules; a roll of adhesive tape which will fit into the bottom of the box with the sterilized package of bandages and dressings; a ten-cent roll of absorbent cotton may be attached to one end of the box and at the other end have safety pins, a needle and a pair of small forceps.

This will complete a well-equipped box that will be useful to give first aid and also serve as a medicine cabinet.

WARSAW

Beautifying homes and public gathering places is of great interest to Institute women. In some places trees have been planted, beautiful entrances made for public grounds. Havelock branch a few years ago so repaired the old town hall that the council put an insurance upon it. The branch has the use of it. There were waste and untidy grounds around it which they cleared and planted trees, one for each soldier. Across the road is a beautiful gate way. Hampton has made a beautiful park out of a piece of waste land.

The planting of trees is quite common. Warsaw so far has not been in a position to do much of that sort of work, but the majority of members do try to have a nice lawn, with shrubs and flowers. To do this really requires a little aid from the men, and if the men really do not care what the grounds look like it is next to impossible for most women to make a lawn such as they would wish.

Many a woman, for the sake of having flowers, has recourse to annuals in the vegetable garden, and between there and her house plants she can generally manage to have flowers for the house.

The cultivation of flowers is a wonderful benefit to children, boys and girls. It inculcates a love of beauty, trains in noticing and caring for little things, and in patience. It trains observation, to notice the different habits of the various plants, and to notice weeds which will come up, and must be destroyed. A little knowledge of botany would help in the destruction of weeds. So many which have root-stalks are not killed but multiplied by cutting the roots underneath damp soil. They must be pulled up and destroyed. Drying in the hot sun from three hours to three days will destroy most of them. Other weeds have seeds quite matured, or which will mature even if cut, so that it does not do just to cut the plant down and leave the opened flower, else there is simply a host of seeds in a heap, ready for seed duty next year.

Cultivation of flowers also teaches combinations of colors, and of styles of plants, and should bring to mind a realization of the Creator's work. Soil that is prepared for the ordinary garden will grow most annuals well.

A perennial border is easily kept, if weeds and grass never get the start. Once they do it is very difficult to get it in good condition. Wild flower gardens, such as Anna McMurray has are not difficult and children especially could handle one.

Weedy, strong roadsides with rubbish piles are an eyesore, and should be done away with. If when a weed appears first, it were carefully watched, and destroyed, perhaps there would not be so many weeds.

MILLBROOK

"What is a normal weight?" was a topic taken up at a recent Institute meeting, with seasonable suggestions as to the proper procedure for a person who is ten or fifteen pounds overweight coming back to the avoirdupois suited to their build and height. Needless to say the discussion was prolonged and snappy, with many members participating.

The speaker pointed out that marked overweight is something not often seen to-day because there is a general realization that too much fat is not a sign of health. However, the members were also reminded that sometimes overweight is a condition that results from a state of the glands in the body, and must be treated by a physician, to ensure reduction by safe and sane means.

Coming back then to the question, "What is normal weight?" the fact was developed that one may easily determine proper weight according to individual height. Taking for instance a person exactly five feet high, the average weight would be one hundred pounds, each inch over that figure will mean an extra ten pounds, five feet five inches would accordingly call for aweight of one hundred and fifty pounds. If, however, the height is under five feet, subtract ten pounds for every inch below that figure from one hundred pounds—it may easily be seen, then, that a person four feet eleven inches in height would weigh ninety pounds.

"Worry over being a few pounds above the correct weight is not necessary," declared the speaker; on the contrary, though, if you find you are a few pounds below normal it will do no harm to give some consideration to the subject of making up the lack through careful diet, together with proper exercise.

Now as to right means of reduction, with emphasis on "right" for many a woman has ruined her health by taking the wrong means to this end. Plenty of exercise was mentioned in the discussion on this point, but several members advised caution in this matter, as going into violent exercises daily and suddenly had proved a serious mistake, personal experiences being cited as proof of this matter.

As to diet, it was pointed out that life insurance companies have found, through study and comparisons, that folk who are over weight in their twenties are more assured of longevity than are those who lack proper bodily avoirdupois in those years; while the contrary is true after the thirties have been entered. "As a rule most of us over thirty eat too much," declared one member; "yet I have found, when reducing, that it was wise to consult my family physician before entering upon a course of dieting for this purpose. Sugar and sweets must be almost wholly eliminated, and skim milk take the place of cream in tea or coffee. Potatoes and white bread are also taboo, as they are too starchy and fat producing; rich pastries, cakes, rich soups, and fat meats must be placed on the 'black list.' "But after all a starvation diet is not necessary, and indeed one prominent medical man suggests not so much cutting out of the diet all the things one likes, but reducing the quantity eaten" — this from a nurse-member.

Fresh fruits, fish and poultry, graham and bran breads and biscuits, and vegetables leave quite a list from which to choose, and one not lacking in appetising qualities, either. The drinking of plenty of water goes along with the diet for health, and is of decided value in preserving the complexion also.

Black Chiffon is a Chic Standby

There is a world of comfort to say nothing of chic in the evening gown of black chiffon. Indeed, it might not be going too far to say that no wardrobe is complete without at least one. Black chiffon has the admirable quality of being at home on every occasion. It gives the impression of fragility, yet it holds up well between cleanings. It is always a sophisticated choice, yet never a conspicuous one that is easily tired of. The evening gown shown in the Vogue sketch on the RIGHT above combines simplicity with distinction. Finely patterned black lace appears beneath the chiffon at the decolletage and about the hemline. The effect of a slim silhouette is furthered by the narrow shoulder straps. The shaped hip yoke in front is scalloped, and the circular flounce is added to the skirt in a scalloped line. In back, the decolletage is a deep oval. On the LEFT is a beautiful creation of eggshell satin for evening. (Sketch is by Vogue).

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

IF I SHOULD GREET YOU

If I should greet you after all these years,
If some returning tide of time could bring
In place of Autumn's prideful stress and tears,
The April raptures of our vanished Spring,
I would not ask you first of honors won,
Of wealth of friends or coveted estate;
The record all the world may look upon
And from it form its worldy estimate.

Instead, my questions would be these: "My friend,
Have you kept still the valiant soul I knew,
Untouched by fears that life sometimes must send?
Long are the years, friend, have they left you true?"

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG.
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

WHISPERING WINDS OF STARLIGHT

Softly whisper winds of starlight,
Rock the leaves to gentle sleep;
Whilst my love and I are roaming,
Sweet thoughts within us keep;
Cold the world seems without thee,
Dearest one, my joy and life,
In this little vale we'll linger,
Free from care and noisy strife.

Chorus:

Softly whisper, winds of starlight,
Rock the leaves to gentle sleep;
Whilst my love and I are roaming,
Sweetest thoughts within us keep.

Sweetly linger round her dwelling,
For my heart beats purest love,
And the starlight winds are telling,
Brightest hopes that soar above.
Nestle closer to my side,
Whilst the moon and stars are bright,
And the whisp'ring winds are fanning,
Purest love and joy this night.

FRANCE HAS AIR POLICE.

Air-police patrol has been established over France to control the movement of the large number of planes that pass over the country daily. Pilots violating international air regulations are subject to heavy fines. Police airplanes warn erring pilots by firing smoke bombs, and all air craft being signalled in this manner are required to follow the police ship to the ground and land alongside it.

Elaine And Her Ideas From Paris

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MAKING THE YOUNGSTER EAT

One of the difficulties that confronts parents is to have a youngster who never seems to be hungry, is not interested in his meals at all.

Now as food not only keeps up the heat and energy of the body, but is required by the child for growth, this lack of appetite is a serious matter.

Some parents threaten the youngster, and under their watchful eye he struggles with the food which is quite distasteful to him. This is wrong as the digestive juices do not flow freely under such conditions.

Other parents will coax their children at any and all times of the day. Perhaps an hour or two after the youngster has eaten something they will coax him to eat some more food; anything to get food or nourishment into him.

This also is a mistake as food entering the stomach where other food is lying only partly digested, actually interferes with proper digestion.

Other parents will promise rewards at meal time if the youngster will eat a certain amount of food, said amount being set aside on one side of the plate.

Now if a youngster has no appetite there must be a reason and that reason should be sought.

It may be that he is constipated, and has a 'sicky' feeling about the stomach that prevents him having any appetite.

He may have some infection in him that causes him to feel tired all the time and not interested in food.

He may live indoors too much, and not getting enough fresh air or oxygen, the food he does eat does not get burned up quickly enough for him to feel the need of more food.

Now if he is not constipated, has no infection, and gets outdoors, and still has no appetite, some suggestions from Dr. H. E. Stafford, Oakland, Cal., should be of help to parents.

He suggests:

(a) a well prepared meal to be offered at regular times;

(b) it to be served in an appetizing manner.

(c) The child shall come to the table in a proper mental attitude, that is free from fatigue;

(d) the child shall remain at the table uninterrupted for thirty minutes;

(e) no mention of food shall be made during or between meals.

In writing about this a short time ago, I mentioned that the biggest factor in creating an appetitie was outdoor play. Play brings about an actual need for food to make up for the energy expended, and to repair the tissues of the body worn out by the play.

PALE PEOPLE ARE IN PERIL

Some Form of Nervous Breakdown Always Threatens Them.

Pale people are almost always nervous. Paleness denotes lack of blood and too little blood usually results in jaded nerves, sleeplessness, headaches or neuralgia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are different from most other medicines—it is impossible to take them and not feel better. Their whole mission is to make rich, red blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and gives vitality to the whole body. Concerning them Mrs. G. Cook, Bloor Street, Toronto, says: "Two years ago I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a nervous breakdown, with the result that I have been well and strong ever since."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Millbrook

On Wednesday afternoon the ladies of the village of Bailieboro gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wicks, and spent the afternoon with Mrs. Wicks, who has been confined to her chair for the past four years with rheumatism.

The hostess was taken by surprise, but her cheerful disposition gave ready understanding of the unexpected "invasion," and to each guest a hearty welcome was extended.

Supper was served on the beautifully shaded lawn, the tasteful arrangements including daintily-laid tables, centred with summer blossoms, and comfortable chairs. Later flowers were presented to Mrs. Wicks and after the supper hour, Mr. Wicks expressed his appreciation on behalf of his wife and himself, for the kindness shown and the delightful social hours of the afternoon spent in their home.

Among those present were Mesdames J. W. Whyte, T. A. Skitch, T. E. Dawson, Thomas Wood, James Johnston, William Hutchison, N. Thompson, Wesley Thompson, A. Jackson, R. P. Harper, D. Armstrong, B. Johnston, James Byers; Misses Edna and Irene Dawson, Dorothy and Berdena Morton, Clara and Margaret Seens.

Guests from out of town included Mrs. Delbert Armstrong, Toronto; Mrs. Cann, of Port Hope, and Mrs. John R. Thompson of Millbrook.

Much credit for the successful gathering is attributed to Mrs. J. W. Whyte, Mrs. W. Bateman, Miss B. and Miss Irene Johnston and Mrs. T. A. Skitch.

As the good-byes were spoken many kind wishes for the hostess' restoration to better health were expressed on the part of the guests while both Mr. and Mrs. Wicks reiterated their enjoyment of the social occasion so happily and unexpectedly provided, and their gratitude for the kindly thought which had prompted the happily-arranged gathering.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I know there will be a large number of families in the city and even in the surrounding country, who will not be able to take a summer vacation.

• • • • • •

Some cannot take a vacation because of financial reasons while others cannot get away from their work long enough to enjoy a much-needed rest.

• • • • • • •

And so when a family cannot go away for a summer vacation, it becomes essential that they give the vacation atmosphere to the home, if they are to find relaxation through change.

• • • • • • •

It is possible to instill such an atmosphere without such radical changes that they involve cost or so much trouble that it robs the plan of pleasure and becomes wearisome.

• • • • • • •

Those who have not already put the house in summer order, can follow the suggestion given to-day and have the benefit during the coming weeks, which is a period equal to a long vacation for the average family.

• • • • • • •

The changes cannot radically effect the whole house as would be the case if done earlier. They must be centered chiefly, with minor alterations here and there that will be pronounced in appearance.

• • • • • • •

First of all make the veranda, if you have one, so inviting that it becomes a spot quickly sought whenever there is a period of leisure, though it may be short.

• • • • • • •

See that the chairs on it are comfortable as well as suitable. Sometimes in the endeavor to have them the latter, they lack ease. They are hard and straight-backed.

• • • • • • •

Don't forget to make a few chair seats. The applique patchwork which is used very much would be suitable in this case.

• • • • • • •

Put the tops onto old cushions, or cut a plain back of the foundation textile and fill each case which is made by seaming back and top together, with cotton batting, or any cheap filling which you prefer.

• • • • • • •

By having the materials all assembled and ready for work, a number of these chair seats and sofa cushions can be stitched on the sewing machine and completed in a few hours of an afternoon.

• • • • • • •

And the change they will make in the appearance of the porch will be gratifying!

• • • • • • •

A wall pocket for magazines is made from a hemmed strip of cretonne, or plain gay-toned wash material, tacked to the clapboard of the house, or part of the veranda.

• • • • • • •

If the strip is a yard long and eight or nine inches wide, it will hold many magazines and papers. Slant the strip outward a few inches toward the top when cutting it, and tack the ends straight.

• • • • • • •

This will give the needed fullness for the pockets. Tack two strips of braid down at intervals. This will hold the textile in shape and form three pockets. The centre pocket will be nearly straight.

• • • • • • •

If you have no porch, the front steps can be given an inviting appearance. Make gay cushions and place two on each side of the doorway, or more if the step is extra long.

• • • • • • •

Plants on a doorstep or a veranda are a great addition to beauty and summertime effects. And don't forget to make the inside of the home as cool as possible, putting away winter hangings, etc., and keep the light soft in the rooms.

The Indian Maidens

(By MRS. C. P. TRAILL)

As the traveller enters the channel knowns as the "Narrows" at the northern part of Katchewanooka Lake, before entering the locks at the village at Young's Point, the eye is attracted by a single, spiral, dark evergreen tree, which forms a striking object in the landscape. Outlined against the sky, it stands forth like a lonely sentinel as if to guard the little wooded island from intruders.

The little island should be held sacred. It contains one solitary grave—the resting place of a young Indian girl, who bore the unpoetical name of "Polly Cow", by which name the island is still called by the settlers at the locks.

There is a pathos connected with the traditional story of the life of the poor Indian girl, now forgotten by the inhabitants and even by her own people. She has passed away; only her grave and the name is left, and the strange verdict, "She died for love!"

Died for love! Reader, it is almost unknown disease in these, our unromantic days, but this is a tale of many years ago and even the Indians' world has undergone great changes, since this poor girl loved and died. Yet what little the writer of this brief memoir gleaned may not be without some little interest to a few of the travellers who may wish for information on the subject of the little island. It was in reply to the writer's question to the aged lockmaster, Patrick Young, that the little history told of the poor Indian maiden was learned—though he confessed he had forgotten much about her in the long years that had passed for he was but a lad when Polly Cow died.

"O I helped my brother to make the coffin that she was buried in. It was but a rough one, for we had but scant material and rude tools to work with in those days."

"You know her well, then?"

"Aye, madam, that I did and she was pretty and good for that sort," was the ready response.

"What was the cause of her death?"

"It was the heart grief that killed the poor young creature sure. She died for love. Sorrow to him who broke that young girl's heart," he added.

"And who was he—the lover?"

"He was an Indian, like her own people; but not of their tribe. He came from the far west, we heard, and was the son of some chief or warrior, maybe, and held himself high and haughty-like."

Polly was the daughter of a chief, who was known as Handsome Jack and Captain Jack and had control of all these upper lakes and the Otonabee River. He was a great man—was Captain Jack among our Indians"—and here I pause to note that I have since discovered that the Indian native missionary in his journal has made mention of a Rice Lake Indian family of the name of "Jack" one captain Jack, his wife and Mary Jack, their daughter. It occurs to the writer that the daughter Mary may be the heroine of the Island and the true Christian name has been changed by the settlers of that day to "Polly." The name "cow" possibly owed its origin to the Indian custom of bestowing the familiar name of some animal or object that was first seen or noticed by the child or her friends at her birth. In this way many original names are lost and a second one given and retained.

The rest of Polly Cow's history I gleaned by degrees as follows, chiefly from my old Irish friends of the Locks.

"The Indian brave or hunter 'Red Cloud' who came from some distant encampment to the wigwams at Clear Lake, won the heart of the pretty young daughter of Handsome Jack and was favorably received by the parents at first. Marriage is or rather was, an affair settled between the suitor and the elders of the house or tribe—a sort of bargain in which some equivalent is expected from the would-be bridegroom. The bride is passive in the affair. In this instance the daughter was only too willing to leave father, mother and the companions of her childhood to become the bride of 'Red Cloud', the young hunter, whose manly attractions had won her heart. Poor child, for the pride of being the chosen one she would have joyfully become his willing and devoted slave—and he her idol—but she loved too well but not wisely.

The father whose expectations had been disappointed by the want of liberality in the suitor, drew back and coldly declined to close the bargain for the hand of his daughter in spite of the pleading looks and even tears of the child, so the treaty ended and the offended young brave, 'Red Cloud' departed, never again to claim his weeping, would-be bride.

Alas for human love and human woe!

Broken-hearted, the poor girl—she was but a child in years, in guileless, simple faith—pined in secret and in silence over disappointed hopes.

"Too fondly nursed,
Too rudely crost."

Paler and paler grew her cheeks. She no longer adorned her hair with the gay feather of the war bird (Scarlet Tanger) with the flaming breast of the Oriole, or glossy green crest of the wood duck. All roughly hung the dark locks of hair over her brow as if trying to hide the hopeless look of despair in the sad, ever downcast eyes.

The trembling hands, the hollow cough, told soon its tale to those who had so often noted the glad look of the youthful face, and the laugh and smile and the kindly greeting she had ever given to the young lads and lasses when they came to the wigwam or when they met elsewhere. The poor girl shrank from all notice and kept aloof from all.

"How came the Indian girl to be buried on this little island?" I asked Mr. Young.

He said:. "She used to go there during her illness and expressed a wish to be buried there and so there she was buried. I was a young lad at the time; now I am far on in my eighties," he added. "I helped my brother to make the coffin for her and it was a sad, strange sight that burial. The canoes of her people were all lighted with torches, for it was at night they took her to the burial and then they put out the lighted brands and raised the death cry, "Ah-wo-nomin" repeated over and over again, till the lone, dark woods and waters gave back the wild, mournful sound."

"Was there no kindly Christian prayer spoken for that poor girl's soul?"

"No, madam, I think not. Poor Polly was but an Indian heathen."

Over that lowly grave nature with kindly hand has spread a verdant pall. A native vine now wreathes the spot of earth which covers the remains of the poor Indian maiden, remembered only by one aged, kindly heart, who kne wher in her youth. Even her Indian name is unknown. Not one of her people lives to record it.

happy ones? In the midst of our boundless forests and lakes, in the granary and garden of the world, they are starving for proper food, for fresh air, for cool waters, for healthy games, for love and care. Isn't there anyone to give them what they so urgently need?

Yes!

And that is where your thrill comes in. Go up to Jackson's Park one of these mornings—any morning but Sunday—at about 8.30. Two buses are arriving—big buses provided by the Border Cities Transit Company. In them are about four score children. The buses stop, and out tumbles a shouting, squirming, laughing mass of little humanity.

Do you hear that yell? Do you hear the thud of little feet across the grass? Do you know what it means?

The shout—just listen to it!—is an anthem to Nature and a Hymn of Thanksgiving. The thudding feet are racing with a great joy to hurl tired bodies into Mother Nature's soft and healing bosom. These are children released from heat and squalor and hopelessness into the cool shade of ancient pine trees, into fresh and clean soil scented with the balm of pine needles, into waters that bring grateful refreshment to bodies that have been tortured with pain and unkind blasts. Here to-day they will find good food to put flesh on the wasted limbs; they will find the expert care and the loving attention of which bitter circumstances has deprived them.

Gives Everyone a Thrill

And if that doesn't thrill you, you are a poor specimen indeed. But it will thrill you—it's bound to. It thrilled The Examiner reporter the day he went up to the Kiwanis Fresh Air Camp. It thrilled, with just a twist of pain to season it.

All summer the Kiwanis Fresh Air Camp is open to the unhappy and unfortunate children. They are kept there until medical attention, the right food, vigorous sports and a reborn will-to-live have built them up to the weight which experts have fixed as normal.

One boy gained six pounds in no time. He gained more and more pounds until one morning the nurse wrote on his chart the notation that he had reached the proper weight, and was ready to be sent home. The lad's sharp eyes took in the situation.

"Nurse," he demanded fearfully, "will I have to go home?"

The nurse nodded.

"Nurse," he gulped fearfully — "couldn't—couldn't you put it a little lower?"

The nurse would have been only too happy to put it a little lower—her kind heart had probably been guilty of the deed more than once—but she realized that down in city streets other children, underprivileged and under-nourished, were just crying for their turn to come up and room must be had.

Established Six Years Ago.

The Kiwanis Fresh Air Camp was established six years ago and the idea is to be credited to Mrs. R. R. Hall, of the Women's Health Association. At that time the Health Association ran a Motor Show for the benefit of under-privileged children, but it was found impossible to run it successfully in competition with the Kiwanis Made-in-Canada Fair. The two organizations pooled their resources and to-day the Made-in-Canada Fair is the chief source of revenue for the Camp.

No one realizes the tremendous amount of work which falls upon the willing shoulders of Mrs. R. R. Hall in this undertaking, declare those interested in the work. "We don't know what we'd do without her!" they exclaim. Constant visits to the homes of children, with the purpose of ascertaining whether or not certain cases are deserving, provide only one item in her budget of activity.

The Kiwanis Clinic, which is open to poor children on Tuesdays and Fridays the year round, is one gateway to the camp. Dr. C. B. Waite and his associates give their services free, laboring long and well. Another gateway is opened by the lists of children provided Mrs. Hall by Dr. A. W. McPherson, the public school physician.

"Our idea this year," declared C. S Browne, president of the Kiwanis Club, "is to get all the children in town who are underweight and, therefore, potential tuberculars." If the home—otherwise they stay at the camp until they do. The camp is open for nine weeks this summer to children between the ages of five and twelve years, although occasional variations in the age-limit are not frowned upon.

Capacity for 65 Children.

The capacity of the Jackson Park establishment with its six wooden buildings is theoretically 65 children. But there have been as many as 85 this year—more than 200 different children all told. This year's average is 70, as against 49 last year.

Miss Florence Vickers, a graduate of Nicholls Hospital is the nurse in charge of the camp. Since she is also the nurse at the Kiwanis Clinic, her aid in the selection of children is invaluable. When she was ill last winter Kiwanians feared they were going to be deprived of her services this summer; but to-day she is right in the midst of her third busy year at the camp. She is assisted by one lady each week from the Women's Health Association; by Mrs. Jones, upon whom falls the immense task of providing the meals; and by Miss Mary Mulholland, who is giving her services out of the goodness of her heart and in order to gain practical experience for the course in Social Service which she intends to enter at the University of Toronto.

Following the arrival of the children in the morning, breakfast becomes the first big event. And it is a big event, too, for these poor youngsters—big bowls of oatmeal porridge, mugs of milk, and plenty of bread and butter. On the heels of breakfast comes the tooth-brush drill. After each meal certain of the girls are assigned to the task of washing the dishes. At the end of the week they are rewarded by an extra dish of ice cream. And the advent of the ice cream is the week's red-letter moment.

After a period of setting-up exercises come the physical examinations and the marking of the weight charts. The condition of tonsils is very carefully checked. Mrs. Hall receives a list of those whose tonsils should come out. Drs. Buchanan and Cragg donate their services in getting them out—the only charge being one of five dollars for operating room fee. If the parents are unable to carry this sum it is carried by the City, the Health Association, or the Kiwanis Club.

After dinner the littlest tots, who are by this time tired out by a morning's play, are put to bed. Even if they don't sleep, they get a good rest. There are twelve cots at the camp, but they have become sadly dilapidated under pressure of strenuous usage. Poor children, it seems, like to jump up and down on a bed just the same as their more fortunate brothers do.

Swimming and Bathing

At 2.30 in the afternoon the hour for swimming and bathing has arrived. The pool was built of cement and sand six years ago, and this year the escaping sand has developed into quite a problem to the authorities. But that doesn't lessen the delight of the children any. The period during which they are permitted to splash around in the water is one of the happiest in their day.

Speed-wagons were the big feature the day The Examiner reporter was at the camp. There were two of them, and the children were taking turns pulling one another around the big "race-track" which provides the boundary for the camp area. They sped through space at a break-neck rate of speed. It looked to the innocent reporter as if they were bent on instant destruction. But Nurse Vickers preserved a calm frame so the reporter contrived to do likewise. Nothing happened.

Nothing serious does happen in the way of accidents at the camp, but the nurse's deft fingers soon contrive to soothe the minor tragedies which do occur. The only serious mishap which has taken place during Miss Vickers' three years at the camp occurred a week or two ago when one little boy on his first day at camp insisted on disobeying orders by attempting to come down the slide backwards, and in so doing fractured one of his wrists. Needless to say, however, he is being well looked after.

Money has been donated for the purchase of toys. Three dozen dolls form part of the camp's population. There are swings, too; and a four-board see-saw and a slide, both new this year. Permanent equipment of this kind is being constantly added with a view of reducing to a minimum the task of entertaining the children.

Baseball teams have been formed, and at times warmly-contested games take place. This year no cars are permitted in Jackson's Park, which is a Godsend to the camp.

Supper is served at 6.30. There is whole-wheat bread, brown bread and buttermilk, and sandwiches filled with—jam! The jam is provided by the ladies of the Health Association, and if any of them doubt that it is appreciated, they should go up and hear the shout that is raised when it appears. The older children who are in charge of the serving take their responsibilities very gravely, watching carefully that the stronger members don't take advantage of the weaker in the matter of getting more to eat.

After supper, back come the buses, and the children are returned to their own doors until the next morning.

To give a list of those who contribute materially to the work of the camp would take up more space than is available—and then there is always the danger of omitting some one. But, as Mr. Browne remarked, when one gets in an activity of this kind, he begins to realize something of the kindness which can lie, all unsuspected, in a human heart.

Yet, Mr. Browne declared: "There in Peterborou which the people know less about than they do about our Fresh Air Camp."

Pleased With Project

Last week too, Kiwanians from Ohio, in the vicinity on vacation, visited the camp and were enthusiastic in their praise. They were so full of the idea that they could scarcely wait until they got home before presenting the project to their fellow Kiwanians in their own clubs.

It is hard work for those in charge —"If I had a thousand pairs of eyes," declares Miss Vickers, "I could use them all!"—but is is the kind of work that they love. They are helping those who are unable to help themselves.

Two little cripples were pointed out to The Examiner reporter. They belong to a family of four children, all of whom have "chalky bones." The father, who was once a prosperous farmer in the West, spent all his savings in vain endeavor to cure his children. One of the little boys can't walk at all. The little girl, who is eleven, has had thirteen fractures; the oldest boy has had seventeen. The little boy who cannot walk makes wool purses. Each day of the school year a taxi, sent by the Kiwanis Club, calls at their home and takes them to school. Their teachers speak well of them. At the end of the year they stood high in their classes. Now they are out among the pine trees breathing in health.

This is the work that is being done. When one considers the thought, the love, and the skill that is laid at the feet of suffering innocence—at the service of children who have never had a chance— can one wonder any longer at the little boy who gulped through his tears: "Nurse, couldn't—couldn't you put it a little lower?"

Oriole Slugger Hits Forty-first Circuit Blow of the Season.

While the leaders were turning in victories to maintain their relative standings in the International league yesterday the spotlight was turned on Reading and Jersey City who put on a spectacular slugging bee in the Pennsylvania city.

Jersey City won the battle 15 to 8, but the real feature of the game was a hectic fourth inning that had few if any precedents. The Skeeters had scored three runs in the first to lead 3-0 going into the fourth. Here Jersey City's batsmen drove Mcafee to the showers in the midst of an eight-run rally that gave the Skeeters an 11-0 advantage. Nothing daunted, Reading came back in its half of the same frame to drive Bream to cover in another eight-run rally. That eight-run outburst, however, represented the Keys' entire offensive output for the day while the Skeeters maintained their attack against Grampp and Herrmann to win handily. Keesey got four of Jersey City's 20 hits while three of Reading's 12 safeties went to Davis.

Rochester and Baltimore both turned in victories, leaving the Redwings four and a half games in the lead.

Rochester turned back Toronto 11-6, raking Frank Barnes and Nick Harrison for 15 hits. Martin collected a homer and triple to drive in four runs. Bob McGraw gave up 11 hits, of which six were made in the first and seventh innings when the Leafs scored five of their six runs.

Lou Koupal was the hero of Baltimore's 3-2 victory over Newark. Koupal held the Bears to seven scattered hits and won his own game in the eighth with a perfect bunt that scored Heffner on a squeeze play. Joe Hauser's 41st homer accounted for Baltimore's other two runs in the first inning. Bon Brennan and Jim Faulkner, who divided Newark's pitching duty, gave the Orioles only seven hits.

Montreal hammered Buffalo pitchers for 16 hits and ran up an early lead to win 12-8. The Royals pounded Tomlin for six runs in the first two innings but had to withstand several late Bison rallies to win. Smith was hit hard by Buffalo and gave way to Pomoroski after the Bisons had scored three runs with none out in the eighth. Pomoroski held Buffalo hitless the last two innings. Henry collected a double and three singles off Tomlin.

CARDS REGAIN FOURTH PLACE

St. Louis Trounces Cincinnati Reds 10-1 While Cubs Beat Pirates.

PHILLIES FALL 9-4.

The National League race went along without a change except that the Pittsburgh Pirates after a brief day in a tie for fourth place, were sent back to the second division. The Pirates went down before the Chicago Cubs, despite a game rally in the middle of the game. Chicago started with four runs off Heinie Meine in the first inning, then made a strong finish to regain their margin after they had lost it.

The St. Louis Cardinals again became the only club in fourth place by trouncing the Cincinnati Reds 10 to 1. With Wild Bill Halahan hurlnng a four hit game, the Cards did not need all the hits they made as they came suddenly out of a batting slump to the tune of 13 blows. Cincinnati, which has the league's best fielding average, had an off day, and made four errors.

Brooklyn held its two game margin over the Cubs by resuming the old pastime of slamming the Phillies from pillar to post, ending the afternoon with 15 hits and 9 to 4 victory. The league leaders looked to be in trouble for the first two innings, but Harry Smythe could not hold them long while Adolfo Luque kept his steady hurling pace through the entire game, winning his eleventh victory.

The New York Giants and Boston Braves did the heaviest hittinng of the day and due to Freddy Lindstrom the Giants made their blows count for a 10 to 4 triumph, their fifth straight. Lindy hit two home runs; a double and a singe, and accounted for six of the runs. The winners made 17 hits, while Pete Donohue gave the Braves 16.

BRITISH EMPIRE GAME TRIALS

One week from to-day Canadian track and field officials select the Canadian team that will defend this country's honor in the coming British empire games. One week from to-day Charlie Higginbottom, the president of the Ontario A.A.U., holds the final tests for the selection of his team. The sprint events will probably be the greatest set of races yet witnessed in Canadia with Percy Williams, the "Vancouver Flash", endeavoring to re-establish himself in his former position. However he may meet trouble with a quartet of runners from the East who have been legging it along in fast time. From Cardston, Alberta, come Doral Pilling, the Canadian national javelin champion, who has hurled the "elongated toothpick" over 200 yards and won for himself a position on Canada's last Olympic team. Pilling is a graduate from the University of Utah, where he waltzed off with the heavyweight boxing honors of the school. Up to date the javelin thunder has been claimed by European countries who have out-thrown the athletes on this side of the pond decisively. We are led to believe that at the coming Olympics in Los Angeles there may be a different story to tell. Pilling has for the past few weeks been staying in Toronto in an effort to get himself in trim in preparation for a series of athletic events that will sweep both Canada and the States. It is announced that next Saturday's games will provide the first act of three outstanding meets in which Canada's athletes promise to play an important part. Following the national Canadian games comes the British Empire games at Hamilton in the middle of next month and the week following are the international games at Chicago with Great Britain and the United States competing. This is the occasion that Canadian athletes will have their big moment to win acclaim over the entire commonwealth of nations and the States.

TORONTO, August 2. — One hundred and eighteen entrants for the Canadian amateur golf championship to be played at the London, Ont., Hunt Club, commencing next Monday, were paired off for the 36-hole qualifying round by officials of the Royal Canadian Golf Association yesterday.

T. E. Arkell of London, Ont., and H. The 32 lowest scorers in the medal round will meet in the daily match play of 35 holes, culminating in the semi-finals on Friday and the final on Saturday.

The tournament played last year at Jaspar Park, Alta., was won by a United States player for the first time in the history of the event, Eddie Held of New York, former public course champion, triumphing over Canada's leading amateurs. He will defend his title and will be accompanied by 28 other United States amateurs, one of the largest invasions, if not the largest, since the tournament started in 1895.

Sixty-three players are entered from Ontario, including J. B. Nash of London, Ontario amateur champion; C. Ross Somerville of London, national champion in 1926 and 1928; Don Carrick of Toronto, National champion in 1925 and 1927; W. J. Thompson of Toronto, 1923 champion; Frank Thompson of Toronto, 1921 and 1924 titleholder, and the dean of them all, 72 year old George Lyon of Toronto, winner of the title seven times since 1903, his last being 1914, when he became a consistent winner of the senior title.

Quebec's 17 entrants include C. C. Fraser of Montreal, 1922 champion. Manitoba is represented by five players, including Dave Arnott of Winnipeg, who recently won a thrilling 37 hole victory over Dan Kennedy of Winnipeg, for the Manitoba amateur title. Kennedy also is entered in the national tourney. There are four players from Saskatchewan, the wheat province's team in the Willingdon Cup event to be played Saturday.

Ruth Connects For Two to Boost List

It was Babe Ruth's turn to have a perfect afternoon at bat yesterday, and the Babe did a very neat job of it by slamming out his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth home runs and a double and walking twice in five turns at bat. He gained six points in the averages, going up to .365. Al Simmons had a day of scheduled idleness, and Frank O'Doul slipped off a trifle with one hit in four attempts. The rest of the Big Six each hit twice in four trips to the plate. "Chuck" Klein and Lou Gehrig gained a point apiece, going up to .412 and .393 respectively, while Bill Terry, dealing in fractions, remained at the .396 mark. O'Doul lost a point, dropping to .401.

RUTH CONNECTS FOR 2 HOMERS

INDIANS-TIGERS WIN.

With Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig going like the proverbial house afire —or rather like a general conflagration, New York Yankees are looking more and more like the real threat to the supremacy of the Philadelphia Athletics in the American League pennant struggle.

The A's still have a commanding lead, eight games ahead of Washington and nine ahead of the Yankees despite the loss of a half game to the New Yorkers through their idleness yesterday, and a lot can still happen.

It can happen especially when the Yankees slugging duet is hitting the high notes, and Ruth and Gehrig have been doing just that in the past few days. The Babe clouted two home runs yesterday after a lapse of over a week since his last previous four bagger. They served to win a ball game from the Boston Red Sox, providing three of the Yankee runs in a 4 to 1 victory. They also put the Babe 16 days and 13 games ahead of his record pace of 1927 when he reached his present total of 38 on August 17 in the 115th game of the season. Ruth took up yesterday where Gehrig left off in hitting homers and winning games, but Lou still is leading the league in batting and doing his full share for the Yanks. Charley Ruffing did a lot, too, yesterday, as he held Boston to two hits.

Fail to Gain Places

The Yankees could not, however, gain on the teams that are pursuing them. Cleveland, in fourth place, and Detroit, in fifth, each won a game, and held their places. The Indians got the jump on the St. Louis Browns by nicking Holland Stiles for two runs in the first inning and held their margin to win, 6 to 3. Detroit hammered Dutch Henry around to inflict on him his 14th defeat of the year, as Earl Whitehill held Chicago in check. The score was 12 to 4, with the Tigers' 17 hits turning the trick.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, local ball fans what has been treated in recent weeks to a more or less messy diet of baseball oughta to get a better break in the play-offs in the various loops. The battle between the Rays and Oshawa in the Lakeshore loop and between the C.G.E. and the Crescents in the E.P. circuit oughta furnish all and sundry with plenty of excitement. And if the Rays come through their clash with the E.P. winners will be the best bill of the season.

Mister Primeau's C.G.E.'s has evidently begun to find their batting eye, which for most of the season musta been dropped outa the bat bag or something. The last coupla games the Electricians has been sloughing the ball all over the landscape, winding up with four home runs against the Cogs Thurs. nite, and if they carry that kinda hitting into the play-offs they're sure going to be tough knocking off, seeing their pitching and defence has been good all season. Next week sees them and the Crescents clash, and Mister Biroux's talent will hafta be at the top of their form to hold the lads representing the big electric plant.

Owing to me having said nothing about the Athaletes for a week or 2, Mister Connie Mack's lads has took advantage of that brake and going out and grabbing theirselves a lead which the day this was writ was 7 full games. It looks now like nobody was going to head off them lads, though now, seeing I called attention to what they been doing, the Mackmen is likely to throw a shoe or otherwise fall into a slump. Every time I pick them they start to curl up and die on me.

Up in the softball melee at Central School, Mac, they is plenty of of softball and more arguments these nites. They has been more debates up there than the political fuss produced, and the less they know about the rules the more some of the fans, players, managers and whatnot argue. The umpires is having a tough time, believe me, but so far they ain't been no riot calls issued, and mebbe the season will wind up without no third alarm fires developing in the loop.

Well, Mac, Joe Duffus and Ed. Peck hooked here Mon., and in spite of the red-hot weather, the lads did some smart running. Joe made it a little closer than he done 4 years ago, but Ed. had plenty left and he finished pulled up and looking back over his shoulder. Neither of the boys is entered in the British Empire games at Hamilton, both figgering they got enough exercise running round Peterborough County the last 7 or 8 weeks.

The customers what is interested in fishing may expect to hear big news from Stoney Lake any time now. I'm going after them muskies like Bill Fraser went after Milt. Maybee in the recent political fracas down Northumberland way.

Take care yourself, Mac.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

CAN. GENERAL TROUNCE SCOTS IN WHITE CUP

McMaster Brothers Were the Marksmen for the C.G.E.—Poor Shooting By Scots.

C.G.E. MEET BRINTON.

Second Half Very Uninteresting —Winners Dominate the Play.

The Canadian General made sure that they would meet the Brinton Athletic in the final of the White Challenge Cup when they licked the Scots to the tune of five goals to one in semi-final game that was not up to the standard of some of the previous encounters. The Scots were minus some of their regular players, while the C.G.E. had their regular eleven on the job.

First Half

All within a minute the Canadian General were up a goal. Burgess travelled down the wing, until well placed to cross over into goal, where J. McMaster made no mistake with a timely header inside the upright. The Caley's replied with a well-planned attack that left Curtain in possession of the ball inside the goal area. He dribbled past two men and with a right footer made a great attempt to get the equalizer; instead his shot hit the custodian in the face to upset him and go past from a weak shot by Best. Another breakaway by the C.G.E. forwards found them in proper alignment to make use of the opening presented by Burgess' perfect centre. It landed to the foot of Ban McMaster, who popped in the back of the net from close range. At last, the Scots settled down to business to test the qualities of Daynes as a custodian. He handled the situation well at all times, more especially in the scrimmages in front of goal. On one occasion, he ran out of goal to pick the ball off the toe of Curtain's boot when he was all set to score. Play ran from end to end with the players swinging the ball from touch to touch, thereby making the visits of short duration around the goal, also being unproductive of any scoring. Midfield play continued up to the interval. Canadian General 2, Caledonians 0.

Second Half

A re-arranged team by the Scots failed to nullify the Canadian General combination that was working like a perfect machine, while the defense of Chambers and Laidler proved of the faultless character. A new lease of life by the Scots came upon them too late as they compelled the Electric boys to fall back into the defensive territory to offset the attack of the Scots' front line. With no success in view they wilted away to permit the C.G.E. to force the pace again and they did so in such a manner that the loser's citadel was the main objective for a long while. On a mid-field tackle, Robb carried the ball up the field to maneuver for position and finally passed forward to J. McMaster, who found himself too well covered but he slipped the ball back to his brother, who did the needful with a low grounder. The next visit resulted in a similar performance with the same players participating in the scoring. To keep the game from being a whitewash, Curtain replied with a beautiful goal that Daynes never saw until it was in the net. Seven minutes before the final whistle, the once-famous last touch of the old C.G.E. came into evidence when Alex. Burgess led the attack to find himself still on the outside of the scoring list but had to content himself by giving J. McMaster the privilege of getting the fifth and last tally. Canadian General 5, Caledonians 1.

She's Making a Habit Of Hole-In-One Golf

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Most golfers will tell you one hole-in-one is enough, if they believe such a thing ever happened.

Miss Eleanor Labonte, member of the Charles River Country Club, finds them easily done. On Wednesday she got off a beautiful iron shot on the fourth tee, and the ball trickled into the hole, 153 yards away.

In a match Thursday, as a member of the women's four-ball team against Wellesley, she told friends on the same tee: "I shot a hole-in-one here once before this week. Here's how it's done."

Another beautiful iron shot, and the ball again rolled into the cup for another hole-in-one.

GOOD HURLING.

The Sugar Bowl nine came back to championship form last evening in the softball game to defeat the threatening Belmonts 11 runs to 6. The lads from the Sweets emporium went out in the first few innings and secured a comfortable lead, and from then on eased along comfortably in front.

Simmons, hurling for the winners, backed by smart support was most effective and Delahaye on the mound for Belmonts, did not waste any bad ones.

In the fourth innings the Belmonts broke loose to nab three runs and tie the score 4—4. But it was only a temporary reverse for the winners who returned in fifth, sixth and seventh, for a total of seven counters. The teams:

SOCCER TEAMS IN DOMINION FINAL

Montreal Nationals and New Westminster Royals Clash at Winnipeg To-day.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 2. (By The Canadian Press).—Two crack soccer teams from far sides of Canada do battle royal to-day—one to retain, one to regain the Dominion championship. Canadian Nationals of Montreal, holders of the title, and Royals of New Westminster, B.C., predecessors on the throne, clash in the third and decisive match for the Connaught Cup. Each eleven has won a match in the final series.

More than 6,000 soccer enthusiasts are expected to crowd into Carruther's Field this afternoon. The easterners are called by the mob to win because of their ruthless rally to a 5-to-0 victory Thursday night. Exchanges had been fairly even in the first match, when Royals took a 1-to-0 decision, but the champions showed predominating excellence in their comeback.

FIVE GAME SERIES.

Canadian Generals and Crescents will start their series for the East Peterborough League championship next Tuesday evening at Exhibition Park with Umpires Kay and LeBarr handling the contest. The game is billed to get underway at six o'clock.

The second game will be played on Thursday evening and on the following week the contests are scheduled for Monday and Thursday. If a fifth game is necessary it will be played on Monday, August 18.

When, in the opinion of the umpires weather conditions are not favorable for a game, the contest will be played on the evening following. Not more than nine innings will be played.

"Big Train's" Wife Dies From Pleurisy

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 2. (C.P.)—Misfortune continued to follow baseball's beloved "Big Train" Walter Johnson, ace of all speed-ball pitchers, followed him to the side of a hospital bed where his 35-year-old wife died from pleurisy aggravated by the heat.

Mrs. Johnson, born Hazel Lee Roberts, the daughter of the present mayor of Reno, Nev., was married to the famous Kansas ball player in 1913. Her father was then a congressman from Nevada, and she met the tall ball player at the height of his long term of diamond success.

CANADIAN OPEN GOLF TOURNEY MOST SPECTACULAR IN HISTORY

Eighteen Scores Under Par Recorded—Nicol Thompson Features.

AMATEURS ON MONDAY.

Brilliant Field to Paly in Canadian Amateur at London.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—(Special to The Examiner. Copyright 1930)—For the second time in 26 years a tie resulted in the Canadian Open last week over the Hamilton Golf and Country Club course. In 1920 at the Rivermead Club, Ottawa, the late Douglas Edgar, T. D. Armour, and C. R. Murray all registered 298 and in the play-off Edgar won. Armour was then a Scottish Amateur and entered from Edinburgh. Now once again as one of the World's leading professionals he tied for titular honors with Leo Diegel, four times winner of the event but the scores 277 were 21 strokes better than when the triple tie took place at Ottawa ten years ago.

There were some spectacular scores registered at Hamilton. Nicol Thompson, the veteran and popular pro of the local club started the fireworks going when he burnt up the course on the first day with a record 66. Wonderful golf for a player over 50 years of age. But the record was promptly tied the very next day by debonnair Johnny Farrell and then on the final round of the championship was thrust into the discard by Tommy Armour who came romping home with a scintillating 64. During the three days play there were 18 scores in the sixties, which constitutes a record for the Canadian or any other major championship.

Owing to both Diegel and Armour having other engagements the tie could not be played off until last Wednesday. The R.C.G.A. decided to again impose a charge of $1 to witness the match and generously donated "the gate" to the players, two-thirds to the winner and one third to the loser. As is now generally known Armour won the play off and for the second time is the Open Champion of Canada.

It is good news that Eddie Held of New York will after all be at London next Monday to defend his title of Amateur Champion of Canada. Held made himself very popular with players and galleries alike at Jasper last summer and he will be quite an outstanding attraction at the London Hunt course next week.

Indications are for the classiest field in the history of the Championship and Held will have to play better golf than he did at Jasper to retain his title. The two former champions, Somerville and Carrick, are decidedly in better form this season than they were last. Then young Nash, on his home course will be a distinct threat. The recently crowned Ontario Champion will want watching all right. Jack Cameron too, of Ottawa must not be overlooked. He is playing remarkably good golf, just now having won no less than six Quebec events this season and he will be quite a favorite in the pools.

Then there is the Western contingent to be reckoned with. They made golfing history at Jasper last year and it is quite on the cards that they may repeat at London. The West has never won the Amateur event although in 1921 Charlie Hague then residing in Calgary but now living in California, took Frank Thompson to the 38th hole before being defeated in the final at Winnipeg. Last year Freddie Wood, Vancouver, reached the semi-final, losing to Eddie Held 2 and 1 in a 36-hole match replete with interest.

Altogether a most colorful championship is assured. The London course is reported to be in fine shape and as it is the first time a major event has even been held there the galleries are sure to be large as the district boasts a big golfing population. All golfing roads next week, will lead Londonwards.

A particularly interesting visitor to the Canadian Open Championship last week was Mr. Albert R. Gates, Chicago, who was recently appointed Business Administrator to the Professional Golfers' Association of America which now numbers some 3000 members. Mr. Gates is a lawyer by profession and for many years has occupied a very prominent position indeed in legal and golf circles in Chicago. He more or less occupies the same position in professional golf in the United States to-day as Judge Landis does in professional baseball. He has the interests and welfare of all American pros very much at heart and his advice and counsel will be simply invaluable. Mr. Gates is of the opinion that the Canadian professionals and assistants who now number over 300 would also be well advised to appoint an administrator acting in conjunction with the Canadian Professional Golf Association, although of course the field in Canada is to a more or less extent limited as compared with the States. Sooner or later action might well be taken by the C.P.G.A.

Stratford is another progressive Ontario city which is now in the Public Golf Links column. Last Saturday the city council formally opened up an interesting 9-hole course for the benefit of the ratepayers and there is no question that from the start it will be self-sustaining. Nearly every city of importance in Ontario now boasts Public golf courses and it is only a question of a year or so, before every centre of any importance will provide "golf for the masses." The Royal and Ancient game today unquestionally is the most popular of all games in Canada. There are now over 600 private and public clubs and over 150,000 golfers in the Dominion.

Willie Lamb, former Scottish amateur but now professional of the Uplands Golf Club, Toronto, in the Canadian Professional Golf Championship at Burlington last week with a fine score of 141 duplicated Davie Black's great feat in winning the Canadian Professional Championship "three times in a row" and lifted the cup as a result. Dr. P. D. Ross, of Ottawa the Hon. President of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association very generously donating the second cup. It is understood too that he will present Lamb with this second cup and put up a third cup.

U. S. IS OBJECTING TO RUSSIAN WOOD

Soviet Imports Would Replace Importation of Canadian Pulp.

FORCED LABOR CUTS COST.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 1 (C.P.)—The statement that the importation of Soviet Russian wood by United States pulp and paper companies would replace the importation of wood and pulp from Canada was made to-day during the course of a hearing into protests over the embargo on Russian wood.

Operators of paper mills testified that they would have to go out of business if they were not permitted to import wood and pulp which, they said, was not obtainable in the United States in sufficient quantity.

A great deal of their raw product has been imported from Canada, they said, pointing out that the importation of Soviet wood would not be in competition with any United States industry, but with the lumber industry of Canada.

The Soviet product is imported at considerably less cost than the Canadian due, it is said, to alleged forced labor in the Soviet forests and on docks.

Children's Story Corner

THE TOYS QUARREL

The children were playing with the toys when suddenly the little Cuckoo sprang from his hiding place in the old clock and cried in an angry voice "Cuckoo, Cuckoo." He said it nine times—nine o'clock, long past their bedtime.

No doubt that was the reason the toys were thrust into their big box in the corner so hurriedly. Of course toys are kind to boy and girls and in return they expect to be treated with kindness and respect. I really think it was this unkind treatment which caused their bad humor and the terrible quarrel which followed.

The box of China Blue Dishes was very unlucky as it went into the big box first without even its lid on. In rushed the Runaway Train. All the little China Dishes screamed when they saw it coming, but it was of no use. Crash! Such a wreck! The little Blue Jug was instantly killed. Teapot who always kept a protective eye on little Blue Jug bounced over and struck the train window with his one long arm smashing it into many pieces. Bang! A wheel flew off the engine and three China Blue Cups lost their lives.

Poor little Baby Doll! A tiny piece of glass flew straight into her eye. Of course she lay over on her side and started to cry, calling all the while for her Mamma. Mamma Doll rushed over, talked to her, but still she cried and cried. Big yellow Teddy Bear was trying to go to sleep and he growled angrily:

"Can't you make that child keep quiet?"

Mamma Doll who was rather frightened of Teddy said timidly:

"I'm sorry, but I'm afraid she's hurt." "Doesn't matter," snapped Teddy, "throw her out; throw her out."

Thank goodness Baby Doll soon sobbed herself to sleep!

Usually, the children were very careful to place Black Felt Puss and Bowser the Bull Dog far apart but this night they were quite close to each other. Black Puss cried "Meeow" and her black fur stood straight up. "Bow-wow" snarled Bowser as he sprang at her. Pieces of fur and pieces of felt, two ears and one tail were flying in the air. How they scratched and bit each other!

The little Ford car was so frightened that he started to run. Then Toy Policeman thought he should direct the traffic. Bump! Ford Car went plinkety plank into him and knocked him down.

I don't really know what happpened to the Toy Aeroplane, whether he jumped out of the box himself or whether he was pushed out. At any rate he was found lying on the floor with a broken wing in the morning.

The only one [illegible] unharmed during that terrible [illegible] was Tommy Nigger the Lad[illegible]limber. He spent his life [illegible]up and down a little Ladde[illegible] Later on he told his friends that he would have been instantly killed in the train wreck if he hadn't mounted his ladder as quickly as his black legs could carry him.

Morning came and what a bedraggled lot of toys they were! Baby Doll was the only who had slept at all. The children couldn't understand what actually had happened and the Toys were too tired to tell them. Then they remembered how they had thrown them into their box. "'Deed we started the fight," said Tiny Jim as he hugged poor Bowser all scratched and torn. "We'll have to be more careful after this."

And the others all agreed with him.

A BEDTIME STORY by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND OLD GRIM.

Once upon a time there was a cross, old bear gentleman who lived in a cave not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. This bear was the great grandfather of Neddie and Beckie Stubtail, the jolly bear children who often played with Uncle Wiggily. So you may know by this that the cross, old bear was not the kind that eats rabbits.

You would think, if ever you saw Neddie and Beckie playing tag or rolling around on the soft moss carpet in the woods, that they never could have had such a cross, old great grandfather. But they had and everybody said:

"What a shame!"

Whether it was because he was old, or because he had only a few teeth left to eat money or because he lived all alone in the cave, that made the bear so cross no one knew.

"But our Great Grandpa needn't live all alone if he doesn't want to," said Beckie to Uncle Wiggily one day. "He could come and live with us if he likes, 'cause my daddy said so."

"Yes, but," spoke Neddie, "mother said it's just as well he doesn't come and live with us for he's as cross as two sticks."

"What kind of sticks?" asked Uncle Wiggily, smiling.

"Mother didn't say," answered Neddie. "But does it make any difference?"

"Well, I should think so," chuckled Mr. Longears. "A bear who is as cross as two little sticks can't be as unpleasant as a bear who is as cross as two big sticks, say like baseball bats. So if we knew what two kinds of sticks your great grandfather was as cross as, we might cure him."

"I guess Great Grandpa is cross," said Beckie, "because he lives in such a dark dismal cave all the while. He hardly ever comes out in the sunshine to play."

Suddenly Uncle Wiggily laughed and said:

"Beckie, you have the right idea! What your great grandfather needs is more sunshine. We must get him to come out of his dark cave."

"But we can't," spoke Neddie. "Lots of times Beckie and I go to see him and ask him to come over to our house. But he only growls at us and tells us to run away and play. He says he is old and nobody loves him and he wants to be let alone."

"That's bad for anybody, a bear or anybody else," said Uncle Wiggily. "What we must do, children, is to carry some sunshine into your great grandfather's cave and brighten him up."

"You can't get sunshine into that cave," said Neddie. "It's too deep and dark."

"We shall see about that," spoke Uncle Wiggily twinkling his pink nose which was almost like sunshine, it was so jolly and happy.

Neddie and Beckie ran along to play with the other children in Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains, and Uncle Wiggily hopped toward the cave where the old great grandfather bear lived.

"Where are you going?" asked Mr. Twistytail the pig gentleman as he met his rabbit friend.

"I am going to try and cheer up Old Grim," answered Uncle Wiggily, for Old Grim was the name of the great grandfather bear.

"Oh, you had better keep away from him," grunted the pig. "I heard him growling in his cave a while ago. He is as cross as three sticks."

"What kinds of sticks?" asked the rabbit.

"As if that made any difference," grunted the pig. "Mind what I say and keep away from Old Grim."

But Uncle Wiggily liked to see everybody happy so he kept on hopping toward the cross bear's cave and finally he stood in front of it and called:

"Come on out, Old Grim, and have some adventures with me."

"Go away and let me alone!" growled Old Grim. "I am very sad and unhappy and cross."

"Come on out in the sunshine and you will feel happier," said the rabbit gentleman.

"Go on away and let me alone!" growled Old Grim. Uncle Wiggily, looking toward the cave, saw how dark and dismal it was and the rabbit said to himself:

"I must get some sunshine in there if Old Grim won't come out." Then Uncle Wiggily hopped back to his bungalow and found a pasteboard box with a cover. Nurse Jane asked him what he was going to do with it.

"I am going to gather a box full of sunshine and carry it into Old Grim's dark cave," answered the rabbit. "Sunshine will cure him of being cross and ugly. I'm going to gather a box of sunshine."

Suddenly Nurse Jane began to laugh. She laughed so hard that she had to sit down and Uncle Wiggily wanted to know why she was laughing.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—and drug store.

BRITISH AIR RACE ECHOES.

Britain's joy over its victory in the Schneider Trophy race is being reflected in London in many ways. A dahlia at the Westminster flower show was named "Flying-Officer Waghorn," a taxi has "The Schneider" engraved on the doors, a new dance, "The Schneider Whirl," has appeared, and a well-known bar is featuring a new cocktail, "The 328."

English growers claim that fruit and vegetables grown in England retain their flavor better when canned than the produce of any other country.

NETS NOW SET FOR GIANT TUNA

Fishermen Develop Effective Way of Catching Once Scored Food Fish.

GAME FIGHTERS

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 2. (C.P.)—Formerly fishermen despised the "horse mackerel" or giant tuna even as they did and still do the dogfish, writes Alfred Elden in the current issue of a fisherman's magazine. The giant tuna of the North Atlantic is gradually attaining considerable commercial importance. In the Mediterranean and in California the tuna is a highly prized food fish. On the Atlantic coast, however, it is only in recent years that they have been saleable in any quantities.

Not only do they scatter the herring schools and mackerel by dashing through and devouring them by the hundreds, but they follow them into the weirs and pounds. There they tear their way through the nets to freedom unless they are harpooned.

Casco Bay fishermen took keen delight in harpooning one of the monsters whenever possible. Then they would lance it through the gills and leave it bleeding and dying as a "horrible example" to others of its species. Fifty years ago when fish was more valuable than it is to-day a few tuna were occasionally killed for oil which was taken out of the heads and bellies. There was no demand for the meat.

From June until October, these monsters school in vast numbers from Massacusetts Bay to the shores of Nova Scotia. With possible exception of one or two species of sharks these giant tuna are the largest fish found in these waters. They reach a length of 14 feet or more and a weight of 1,500 to 1,600 pounds, with 1,000 pounders not too uncommon. Still the majority of those brought to market run from 400 to 800 pounds.

Commands Fair Price

Not only has the giant tuna come to be regarded as an excellent food fish, either canned or fresh like swordfish, but it also commands a fair price. The fish are weighed after heads, tails and viscera have been removed but even so there is enough carcass left to count up fast. Considering their poundage the fisherman does not need to land many tuna to earn a good day's pay.

Canada has gone ahead of the United States in developing its tuna fishery. As a sporting asset it has plenty of thrills, as indicated by the accomplishment with rod and line of Zane Grey. Fishing off Indian Bay, Shelburne, N.S., in 1924, the author landed three giant tuna. But it is along commercial lines that Nova Scotia is employing some interesting methods. While small boats equipped with pulpits from which the striker hurls his harpoon at the individual fish, are used to hunt tuna in Canadian waters similar to the New England practice, the Nova Scotia fishermen have gone a step further.

There was little demand for them until recent years when a good market was found among the Italian and Portuguese population of the United States with whom they were considered a prime food fish.

Considerable shipments were made from the Clark's Harbor district of Shelburne county, N.S., and also from the Hubbards district of Lunenburg. No special efforts were made to catch the fish on a large commercial scale until 1919 when specially constructed trap-nets were set in St. Margaret's Bay, chiefly during July and August. Nearly 600,000 pounds were taken that year in two of the traps. The fish averaged 450 pounds each. This fishing is now definitely established in the Hubbards district.

As the present available markets do not invariably absorb the quantities shipped, profitable catches cannot always be sustained. When the supply is too large fishermen ship only such as will insure a reasonable profit, liberating the remainder which have been kept alive in the traps. Several hundred giant tuna have been set free in a single season. The marketed Canadian catch for 1929 was 267,000 pounds.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

PETERBORO "EX" NEXT BIG ITEM ON THE PROGRAM

Price of Admission This Year is Reduced to Twenty-five Cents.

BIG COMPANY COMING.

Splendid Vaudeville Program Has Been Booked by the Directors.

As the elections recede into the recent past and the community resumes its normal stride and mentality, Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition again invades public attention and claims the interest of all its supporters in the city, county and district.

The directors remind the public that they have reduced the price of admission to twenty-five cents and have arranged with a midway carnival company that was recommended by William Knox, the managing director of the Exhibition. Mr. Knox states that this show has its headquarters in London, Ontario. He saw it several times last fall when he was a judge at exhibitions in the western section of the province, and he was so impressed by its orderliness and its attractions that he believed it would not only meet with the approval of the local directors, but would also be favorably received by the general public.

The Exhibition Board directors have taken a strict stand on this question during the last few years, believing that as trustees of the Exhibition they owed the public a duty of protecting them against crooked gambling devices that have given many of the carnival shows a bad reputation.

Fine Vaudeville Program

Mr. Knox also points out that a splendid vaudeville program has been booked, and with horse races, the horse show, and other entertainment features, the Exhibition this year, reverting to its old pre-war price, will be more popular than ever.

In regard to exhibits Mr. Knox says he is assured of five new herds of cattle, three in the beef class and two in the dairy class. Two new exhibitors of horses are also coming for this year's show, and there are also new entries of sheep and swine. In fact, these departments are more promising than ever, and the public last year realized the extent of the growth of the Exhibition and its importance to the breeders of live stock throughout central Ontario.

Junior Farmers' Division.

This year's Exhibition will be during the second week in September, from the 8th to the 13th. Wednesday, September 10, has been allotted to the Junior Farmers, and the directors have appropriated $800 for prizes in the Junior Farmers' Department. The divisions of this branch are as follows: Livestock judging competition for the young men; household science judging competition for the young women; the inter-county bacon hog competition; the Peterborough county Holstein Heifer Club; Smith Township Ayrshire Heifer Club; Peterborough County heifer club classes; junior section in field crops.

This is a comprehensive program for the young people of the farms of the county and district. The livestock judging competition is open to farmers and farmers' sons who have not reached their twenty-sixth birthday on August 1, 1930, and who are not graduates of an agricultural college. The judging in the various classes begins at 9.30 a.m., on Wednesday, September 10, and continues until 4 p.m. The household science judging competition is open to women over 16 years and under 26, who have never attended a home economics school for more than three months.

The inter-county bacon hog competition is open to boys of from 13 to 21 years from Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria counties.

There will be forty entries this year as compared with twenty at last year's exhibition. Members of the club must exhibit their hogs at the Exhibition and each exhibitor must submit an essay of about 400 words, giving his experience with his pair of hogs. This competition is conducted co-operatively by the Exhibition Board and the Canadian Packing Company. The young farmers will again be the guests of Mr. G. B. Matthews at a banquet in the evening of Wednesday, September 10, at the Empress Hotel.

Special Eaton Prize.

The T. Eaton Company have donated a special prize of a cabinet of silver for the three best female dairy cattle.

All the cups and shields will be exhibited in the windows of the office of the local branch of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Knox will be at the Exhibition grounds during the last week of August and the first week of September for the convenience of exhibitors.

The illustration above compares the relative sizes of the R-100, English dirigible, now at Montreal, and the Toronto Union Station. The R-100 is 709 feet long and 133 feet in height, while the Union Station is 785 feet long and 120 feet in height. The illustration gives one a good idea just how the R-100 would look if it sailed directly over the Union Station.

Features of St. Hubert Airport.

The map reproduced above shows the disposition and relative position of features of St. Hubert airport, Montreal, where R-100 was handled upon its arrival.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 26 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan's instinct overcame his cannibalistic impulse. He lowered Kulonga's body and viewed the savage village, wondering over many features of this new, strange life. A woman directly beneath him stood over a small cauldron, dipping arrows into a seething substance. He knew that this was the deadly [illegible] that killed.

Tarzan wanted some of those little death-dealing slivers. He heard a wild cry from across the clearing and saw an excited black warrior standing beneath the tree in which he had killed Kulonga, the murderer of his ape mother Kala. The fellow was shouting, waving his spear, and pointing.

The village was in an uproar instantly. Armed men raced madly toward the excited sentry. Tarzan of the Apes knew they had found the body of his victim. Quickly he dropped into the now deserted village and gathered some arrows. Entering a nearby hut, he saw many weapons and skulls!

Tarzan made a pile of the hideous skulls. On the top skull he fastened the head-dress of Kulonga, the chief's dead son. Then he heard a mighty wailing and long, mournful howls. Quickly he disappeared into the foliage above, kicking over the seething cauldron, after securing a supply of poisonous arrows.

The natives filed up the street bearing Kulonga's body, taking it to the very hut in which Tarzan wrought his depredations. They came out in wild jabbering confusion. The awesome discoveries filled their hearts with terror. They conjured in their poor brains only the most frightful of superstitious explanations.

shine from the great mooring mast, hundreds of visitors stood underneath it and gaped upward at a still uncovered opening a few feet distant from the bulging patch over the larger tear.

During the hours that the riggers and other members of the crew were said to have been bending all their efforts to closing the gap in the side of the R-100, the ship was dodging about the sky between thunderstorms, and for a time even drifting backwards as the engines were stopped either in an effort to make the repair men's task easier, or in fear that further breasting of the wind until repairs were made might increase the damage already done.

NEW INVENTION SAVES 4 IN SUB

Officer and Carmeraman Trapped in Gas-filled Chamber 215 Minutes.

USE ARTIFICIAL LUNG.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 2 (C.P.)—Lieut. Charles B. Monsen, United States Navy, and three movie men were saved from possible death by asphyxiation in a sealed compartment of the submerged submarine S-4, by the new artificial "lung" of which Monsen was co-inventor.

The four men were trapped for 215 minutes in a gas filled chamber of the submarine but all escaped without ill effects through quick use of the "lung." They went down in the submarine to a depth of 45 to take pictures of the escape from the submerged craft of ten men through an emergency escape hatch. As each of the ten left the submarine a certain amount of water poured into the compartment so that when only Lieut. Monsen and the cameramen were left the water in the compartment came to the level of their waists. A sudden lurch of the submarine tilted the craft to such an angle that the water flooded batteries used for the movie cameras, resulting in the release of chlorine gas. By donning the "lungs" the four men were able to withstand the gas.

REGATTA ON AUGUST 6.

Augmented by three versatile male musicians, Virginia Dare and her orchestra will be the attraction supreme at Chemong Pavilion for an indefinite stay beginning Monday night, August 4. MOTOR TRIP TO GLENORA

Highway Travels Through Country Abounding With Picturesque and Scenic Beauy.

MOUNTAIN VIEW.

(By Examiner Correspondent)

A delightful motor trip is in store for anyone who has never travelled through that part of the country, after leaving the city of Belleville and crossing over the bridge to Prince Edward Island following the highway. The first small village of Rossmore is situated at the approach of the bridge in Prince Edward County. The roads are in excellent condition; huge piles of crushed stone are placed at equal distances along the highway to be used for road repairing when necessary. The chief industry of Prince Edward County is the wonderful gardens, fruit trees and especially the growing of tomatoes and peas. Pea shellers are seen here and there along the route where the farmers take their peas to be shelled, the pea straw is made into a large square stack.

The first place of interest is Mountain View, thus named being built on the side of a very high hill. Bloomfield is the next stop where the Canadian Canning Company had a large building. This village has a number of beautiful residences; the streets are wide and clean. Picton is the principal town, being the county seat. Continuing the journey five miles along the picturesque shores of the Bay of Quinte, Glenora is reached Cars can drive up the mountain by taking a winding road. Glenora is a pretty summer resort with the "Lake on the Mountain" the chief attraction. This lake is really a sanctuary for small-mouthed bass protected entirely by the Government. No boating or fishing is allowed here. The lake apparently has no outlet or inlet except for the immense flume of 90 pounds pressure leading from the lake down to the edge of the Bay of Quinte, thus feeding the largest government hatchery of its kind in Canada, consisting of several species of commercial and game fish. Under the former heading whitefish, herring and pickerel are classified, while the game consists of speckled salmon trout, German brown trout (which stands higher temperature than the speckled trout). The results from the hatchery were extraordinary successful this year, the busy season is from November to June. The shore line consists of a wall of solid rock, some places are 80 feet in heighth. The distance from the shore to Lake on the Mountain is about 185 feet.

There is a large canning factory owned by Silvester Church, who lives at Glenora. A ferry crosses to Adolphustown. When there are passengers with cars wishing to cross, the charge is 75 cents. A bus goes to Kingston daily.

There are specious picnic grounds in an ideal place, with many shade trees surrounding. Tables are at the disposal of tourists. Large receptacles are placed to collect waste paper and garbage, keeping the lawns in excellent condition.

Lake on the Mountain Pavilion is the chief attraction. Week nights, from 9 to 11 o'clock, music is supplied by Lake of the Mountain orchestra, consisting of five pieces — piano, drums, alto saxophone, trumpet and tenor saxophone. The interior of the pavilion is decorated with evergreens and colored paper and Japanese lanterns, inside of which are electric lights. The up-to-date floor is all that can be desired for the light fantastic. The charge for dances is 50 cents a night. There is a large dining hall, where meals are served at all times. There is also a confectionery store in connection with the pavilion, where ice-cold beverages can be had. Glenora is 28 miles from Belleville, situated on the mountain. There are two approaches—one leading to the back of the mountain, which is the safer for traffic, while the other leads along the shore of Quinte Bay, which is dangerous for cars. There is a United Church and school house which with a few private residences make up this beauty spot from which can be seen across the bay as far as eye can see islands dotted here and there between Prince Edward Island and the northern shores of the Bay of Quinte. A number of cottages have been recently built on the outskirts of Glenora in the heart of the wooded slope leading to the water's edge; these trees were as a forest and had to be cut down and cleared, like pioneer days, to allow for the erection of a summer home.

THIS SYSTEM'S METHOD

1. Elimination of toxic secretions, through the medium of profuse perspiration induced by subjecting the body to the action of mineral fumes at a low temperature.

2. Restoration of needed chemical elements, through inhalation. It is a recognized fact that drugs cannot cure an unhealthy body, and the best that can be done is to render whatever assistance can be given to Nature, for it is only through the natural functioning of the body that any corrective measures can come.

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., Aug. 5. (C.P.) — The St. Anne De Bellevue branch of the Bank of Montreal was held up and robbed of $8,000 by a lone bandit late yesterday, according to an announcement made by provincial police today.

The robbery was one of the cleverest engineered in this province. Late yesterday the manager of the Branch received a long distance call from Montreal and was advised a government bank inspector would call on him to inspect the books of the branch. Later the manager was called from a Ste. Anne De Bellevue hotel. The party calling identified himself as the Government Inspector and requested the arrangements be made for his entrance to the bank as it was after banking hours. The arrangement was made.

Locks Staff in Vault

A few minutes after agining entrance to the bank the cool-headed individual produced a revolver and herded the manager and his six assistants into one of the vaults. He then proceeded to loot the various cashier's tills.

Provincial Police stated that their investigations revealed the bandit had registered at a local hotel, changed his clothes and then proceeded to the bank, carrying a small black bag.

After the crime was committed, the police trail showed the man returned to the hotel again, changed his clothes and checked out. His movements from then on are still the subject of police investigation.

30 OUNCE NUGGET FOUND.

BENDIGO, Australia, Aug. 5 (C.P.) —Discovery of a 30-ounce gold nugget at Tarnagulla, Victoria, 40 miles from here, has started a new gold rush.

More than 250 prospectors, most of them driving high-powered American cars, have already reached the field and pegged out claims.

Australia to-day was in the throes of the greatest gold fever in many years, seven expeditions with full transport equipment including airplanes, trucks and camel caravans, the prospectors backed by many thousands of dollars and their outfits staffed by experienced pioneers have been fitted out for penetration of the waste areas where traces of gold have been found.

Priest Braves Fire To Save Challices

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 5.—(C. P.)—To save sacred vessels from the flame-licked altar, Rev. Father Edward G. Doe pushed through tongues of fire in St. Claire Roman Catholic church here yesterday and returned to safety with the challices.

Firemen posted in the doorway sprayed water over the faithful priest as he crept into the sanctuary, shielding his eyes with one arm. The fire was burning fiercely all about him as he forged his way to the altar and back. He escaped without injury.

Governor Probes Trial of Two Indians Who May Lose Their Ears for $7 Theft

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Governor Carlton has telegraphed Stanley Hanson of Fort Myers, known as a friend of the Seminole Indians, asking him to investigate reports that two Indian youths may lose their ears if they are found guilty by a tribal court of stealing articles from a filling station valued at $7.

A dispatch from Miami said that the Indian youths had broken into a filling station and stolen goods valued at $7. When Miami police went to arrest them, they were told by Chief Osceola that the boys would be tried by a court of tribal medicine men, and that their ears would be cut off as punishment if they were found guilty. The dispatch said that the police had turned the case over to the Indian court.

200,000 CROWD CROYDON FIELD TO SEE AVIATRIX

FLIES FROM VIENNA.

Cabinet Ministers Head One of Greatest Home-coming Receptions Ever Staged.

LONDON, England, August 5 (C.P.). — An English lass of 23 years, who besides having blue eyes and golden hair and a taking smile, recently flew an air plane by herself from Croydon to Australia, rested at a London hotel to-day after a home-coming reception such as the British Isles have rarely seen.

Over 200,000 on Field.

More than 200,000 people, London papers estimated, were at Croydon landing field last night to witness the delayed arrival of Miss Amy Johnson, or "Johnny," as she prefers to be known, from Vienna, Australia, aboard the City of Glasgow, regular passenger plane. More than a million, it was calculated, cheered her as she was driven through London to her hotel, sitting Lindbergh-fashion atop the back of the rear seat.

The young aviatrix was due at 6 p.m. from Vienna, but a half gale between London and Cologne made the plane three hours late. The crowd, augmented by the August bank holiday, remained nevertheless undeterred by reports that the plane had landed in France and would not cross the Channel.

Greeted by Parents.

The girl was greeted by her parents and three Cabinet ministers, Lord Thomson, Minister of Air, Rt. Hon. Miss Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, and Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal. A microphone was fitted for her to make a speech, but the roar of thousands cheering drowned out all except the words, "I am very glad to be home again."

FIRE DESTROYS FARMER'S BARN

LOSS IS HEAVY.

BRIDGENORTH, August 5 (Examiner Correspondence). — Fire of an unknown origin completely destroyed the barn of John Stinson, on the Fourth Line of Smith at midnight on Saturday. All the season's crop of hay as well as five loads of fall wheat were destroyed.

All the stock were released excepting five calves which were burned. The hen house was also destroyed, but they were successful in getting the hens out. Several sets of harness were also included in the loss.

A new threshing machine which Mr. Stinson had purchased last year and a gasoline engine were also destroyed.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Owing to the paving operations on the Lindsay Highway, it was difficult for the neighbors to reach the scene of the fire very quickly.

MOSLEM REPRESENTS INDIA.

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 5 (C.P.). — A Moslem has been chosen acting president of the All-India National Congress, and thus will be Commander-in-Chief of the National civil disobedience campaign, yet communal strife between Moslems and Hindus continued in India to-day.

No Chance or Need To Use Parachute During R-100 Trip

ST. HUBERT, AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 5 (C.P.).—"You can't fall out of an airship," said Frank McWade, technical advisor to the British Admiralty, aboard the R-100, to the Canadian Press to-day.

Mr. McWade's remark was prompted by a question as to whether or not the crew of the giant dirigible carried parachutes on their recent flight from Cardington to Canada.

"We all had parachutes," Mr. McWade continued, "but we left them at home. The inside of the ship is such a maze of wires, netting and girders that it would be very difficult indeed to get out in a hurry. And anyway, why carry a parachute when nothing can happen?"

HAMILTON IRON FOUNDRY BURNS

Spectacular Blaze Requires Efforts of All Available Apparatus.

LOSS OVER $100,000.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 5. (C.P.) — Fire destroyed the plant of the Canada Iron and Foundary, Stuart street, at noon to-day after firemen battled in vain to check the flames from spreading through the old stone building.

A spark from a passing locomotive was believed to have ignited the dry roof, and the flames blazed away for some minutes before they were noticed. The first alarm which the workmen inside the structure received was the noise of an explosion when the heat reached a cylinder of compressed air. This sent every man to the open in a hurry.

The blaze was a spectacular one, with all available apparatus being summoned to the spot, and at 1 p.m. the firemen were still pouring water on the ruins. The structure was owned by the C.N.R. and was formerly used as a yard shop, but had been leased to the Canada Iron Compny. The estimated loss was $100,000.

ROYAL YACHT SQUADRON ELECTS NEW MEMBERS

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 5. (By Thomas T. Champion C. P. Staff Correspondent).—The firing of the gun on the Cowes esplanade to-day summoned a meeting of the committee of the most exclusive club in the world, namely the Royal Yacht Squadron for the election of its new members. This year they included Lord Strathcona, Viscount Edham Thomas Sopwith, the noted aeroplane constructor and A. E. Mason, the novellist.

Whether anyone is black-balled is invariably kept a rigid secret. In any event the party suffering such a misfortune is seldom unduly depressed for his rejection may arise from causes unconnected with social qualifications and better luck probably attends the application when it is submitted another year.

Rough weather heralded the opening of regatta week yesterday. His Majesty's yacht, Britannia and other notable vessels remained at their moorings.

The Weather

Yesterday was another warm day. The highest the thermometer reached was 88 degrees in the shade. The atmosphere was humid and sticky. Towards evening a brisk breeze arose which cooled the perspiring populace to some extent. This heated spell combined with drought is doing serious damage to crops in some places, where conditions are much worse than they are in this section.—W.P.

PECK'S MAJORITY FIXED AT 1587 IN FINAL COUNT

17,608 People Voted Which Inclued 43 Whose Ballots Were Rejected.

15,795 IN 1926.

J. J. Duffus Polled 1,164 More Votes Than In Last Election.

E. A. Peck did not become officially the member for Peterborough West in the Dominion House until noon to-day, when Returning Officer Sidney Whatley declared him duly elected and set the official figures of his majority at 1,587 votes. In Monday's balloting, according to the revised count, Mr. Peck received 9,576 votes as again 7,989 for J. J. Duffus. This marks a decrease of 552 in Mr Peck's lead over Mr. Duffus in 1926.

The total of 17,608 votes cast in the recent election includes 43 rejected ballots, and the resulting figure of 17,565 votes counted shows an increase of 1,806 over the total of 15,795 in the last election.

The greater gain was made by Mr. Duffus who polled 1,164 more votes in this election than he did in the 1926 election. Mr. Peck's gain came to 642.

Kinmount Poll is Slow

Although the ballot boxes were opened and the recapitulation made yesterday, the final figures were not available until this afternoon, due to the fact that the returns from Kinmount, Galway Township, were not received by Mr. Whatley until noon to-day. A total of 76 votes were cast at the Kinmount poll, Mr. Duffus being accorded a majority of 50.

The greatest number of votes cast at any one poll occurred at 76, Town Hall, Lakefield, where 249 ballots were registered. Mr. Peck had a majority of one over Mr. Duffus at that poll. There was one rejected ballot. At Poll No. 42, Charles Breadman's house, 458 George street, Peterborough, there were 248 votes cast.

The greatest number of votes accorded Mr. Peck in any one poll was at No. 36, Thomas Littlefair's house, 55 George street, Peterborough, where Mr. Peck received 168 votes. At No. 61, Town Hall, Ennismore, Mr. Duffus received his greatest number of votes —196 being cast for him there.

Only 4 votes were cast at Poll No. 57, Catchacoma, in the Township of Cavendish. Of these Mr. Peck received 3, and Mr. Duffus managed to find one supporter.

It was hoped to combine the flight to Ottawa and Toronto into one, Mr. Lawrence said, and carry that out if reasonably favorable weather conditions should prevail. No approximate date could be set for such a flight, he said.

Former Champions Play Great Game Match Is See-Saw

CANADIAN AMATEUR GOLF TOURNAMENT IS BEING PLAYED AT LONDON HUNT CLUB

LONDON HUNT CLUB, LONDON, Ont., Aug. 5.—Eddie Held of Great Neck, N. Y., defending champion finished the first 18 holes this morning two up on John L. Lewis of Brantford, former Ontario Amateur champion.

They fought a close see-saw match in the first match play of the Canadian Amateur Golf tournament this morning. Held was one up at the ninth and he gained until he was three up at the 17th. Lewis had a one putt green at the home hole to get a birdie three and win the hole. Lewis won the tenth hole while Held made it one up again at the 11th. The Brantford player then took the 12th and they halved the 13th and 14th. Once more the New Yorker got into his putt stride and won the 15th and 16th and 17th. His putter working like a charm.

Even On the First

Held and Lewis started out even with fours on the first and Lewis missed a chance to win the short second when he took three putts. The defending champion took two putts on No. 3 to win while they halved the fifth in par threes, Held sinking a long putt. On the long sixth they were both on in three. Lewis laid his fourth dead but Held sank a twenty footer for a birdie to win. They halved the seventh and par fours on the eighth they were both on in two with Lewis away to lay his ball dead for a four. Held sank a long one for a birdie to win. On the ninth they both got long shots off the tee with Held close to the boundary with a slice. Lewis was away and on safely in two while Held hooked his second out of bounds and picked up to concede the hole.

Alex Weir of Winnipeg was six up on L. L. Vanzant of Tulsa, Okla., at the end of the 18th, somewhat of a surprise, as the Tulsa player had been going around in under par in practice rounds.

C. M. Stuart, of Montreal, finished the 18 all square with Frank Thompson, of the internationally known Golding family of Toronto Thompsons.

J. Piatt, Philadelphia, was three up on Jack Fuller of Montreal at the end of the first nine this morning, and it looked as if he was going to be more up at the end of the 18, as he was shooting a great game.

Francis Ryan, of Birmingham, Mich., co-medallist of yesterday's qualifying round, was two up on another Michigander, Ross Hayes of Detroit as they came up to the tenth tee.

George Boeckh, of Toronto, veteran tournament player, was three ahead of W. D. Taylor of Montreal on the first nine holes of play.

Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, who distinguished himself in yesterday's medal rounds, was one up on Hugh Dorthwick of Calgary as they made the turn.

Westerner Is Two Up

Alex Weir, Winnipeg, leader of the Western Canadian contingent yesterday was 2 up on L. L. Vanzeant of Tulsa, Okla., at the turn. Jack Cam-

CONTESTS CLOSE AT STONEY LAKE ANNUAL REGATTA

Entry List Was the Largest in Years—12 Canoes in Mixed Tandem.

GARRISON FINISHES.

Lengthy Program Was Run Off in Rapid Order—Weather the Finest.

STONEY LAKE, August 5 (By a Staff Reporter).—All channels led to Juniper Island at Stoney Lake yesterday afternoon when the resort's vacationers donned their true holiday garb for the big event of the season on this section of the Kawartha's, the annual Stoney Lake Regatta. The last word in sun-tan bathing suits, "shorts" and beach pyjamas as far as the women were concerned and what would have been termed "ice cream" trousers at an earlier date in the case of the men were the order of the day as the holidaying crowds convened in fleet yachts, humming outboard craft, and boats propelled by paddle, oar and sail. Old Sol beamed down from a blue sky which afforded no cause for pessimism other than a few harmless, fleecy clouds.

The entry list at the regatta was the largest in years. Each of sixteen events and a cuople of special contests drew six or seven craft and in the Mixed Tandem Canoe number, twelve canoes were entered. In the Seven-in-a-Skiff event, six skiffs with crews totallink forty-two in number competed. The program list was run off in rapid order, few waits of any length being occasioned as the entrants were hurried down to the starting line without delay.

The meet was handled by an efficient staff, J. R. Dodworth, W. G. Morrow and G. K. Fraser officiated at the finishing line. Referees were J. H. Renwick and Harry Foote while F. W. Jones and H. C. Wotherspoon handled the starting guns. J. M. Gouinlock, veteran of many regattas, kept things hopping with his megaphone. Other officials were W. Clink and G. Guillet. Mr. Morrow is honorary chairman of the Aquatic Association, and Mr. Dodworth, chairman. Mr. Fraser is vice-chairman.

Garrison Finishes

With the exception of a few contests, the winners battled hard for their honors. High-grade exhibitions of canoemanship by both sexes featured the afternoon. The form and ability displayed by some contestants was evidently not attained without arduous and persistent practice before the regatta.

The Mixed Tandem Canoe not only drew the largest entry list but provided the most spectacular finish of the day. It was run in two heats. In the first heat Florence Adams of Peterborough and Jack Ridpath of Lakefield led the field, with Billie Mackenzie of Lakefield and Stewart Wotherspoon of Toronto and "Skookie" Elmsley of Lakefield and Terry Hall of Peterborough close behind. "Pip" Killaly, Peterborough, and George Wadds, Toronto, led in Rosalind Brewin and Gordon Wotherspoon and Betty Fairburn and Jack Guillet in the second heat. In the final Adams and Ridpath beat out Emsley and Hall by a couple of inches and had little better lead over the craft manned by Killaly and Wadds.

Another event, the popularity of which seems to be unwaning, was the gunwale race. Ten entrants, among which were several girls, started their tippy journeys up the course at the sound of the gun. Two upsets soon reduced the field to eight. Jack Ridpath, Harry Stabler and Doug. Hall made the finish interesting by a desperate fight for first place on the home stretch, but Ridpath was given the decision. Rosalind Brewin was

BEDFORD, Que., Aug. 5.—(CP)—An inquest held by Coroner Mitchell has brought to light a fire tragedy which claimed the lives of three children of Dominas Di Narso, Italian farmer near Philipsburg four days ago.

In the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Di Narso, their two-storey wooden house took fire and burned to the ground. The heroism of R. E. Slee, manager of a stone quarry near the farm in dashing into the blazing building failed to save the lives of the three children trapped within. Mr. Slee carried little Marie, aged thirteen months from the building in his arms, but she died on the way to the Sweetsburg Hospital. The other two children, Therese, aged two and Nicola, aged three, perished in the fire, charred beyond recognition when they were found among the smouldering ashes.

Estelle V. Ready To Assault Record

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Aug. 5. (Canadian Press).—The test run yesterday of Estelle V. which Miss Marion Carstairs will drive in the Harmsworth trophy races at Detroit, Mich., proved satisfactory to Miss Carstairs who will attempt later in the week to break the world's record of 98 miles an hour for speed boats.

Yesterday's trial was to determine the efficiency of the cooling jackets which were installed last week. After the tests Miss Carstairs ordered new propellers placed on the boat in preparation for her assault on the record.

PECK IS BEHIND FIFE MEMORIAL

What Form Memorial Should Take Remains to be Decided.

DIFFICULT TO GET FARM

"I am certainly in favor of some recognition of David Fife," said E. A. Peck, re-elected member of Parliament, when asked this morning if he intended to support the proposals of J. J. Duffus, defeated candidate, with regard to the Fife wheat project. Mr. Peck was undecided what form the recognition should take.

"There doesn't seem to have been any tangible proposition put forward yet," he said. "The erection of a memorial in the square at Keene could probably be brought about quite readily. It would probably be quite difficult to secure an experimental farm."

Mr. Peck had little comment to make with regard to the promise of the Department of Agriculture in the King Government to send two men down this year to look over the possibility and the desirability of establising a demonstration farm in Otonabee as a memorial to David Fife.

Mr. Peck was of the opinion that Ontario could well do with another experimental farm and that this region would be a logical situation for it. There are at present three Dominion experimental farms in the Province, the large farm at Ottawa, the Kapuskasing farm far in the north, and the farm in Essex which is devoted mainly to experimentation in connection with tobacco crops.

Up to the present, three propositions have been considered in the Fife Memorial project, Mr. Duffus said to-day. One is the establishment of an experimental sub-station by the Government which would be practically a small experimental farm. Another is that the Government establish an illustration farm by which tracts would be let out and operated under supervision of the Department, and the third is the construction of a monument in Otonabee as a memorial.

FIREMAN BADLY BURNED AS C.N.R. PASSENGER TRAIN PILES IN DITCH ON HILL SIDING NEAR NORTH BAY

Engine and Five Coaches Derailed—Sleepers Stay on Rails.

VICTIMS ALLANDALE MEN.

No Passengers Hurt—Engineer Succumbs on Way to Hospital.

NORTH BAY, August 5. — Engineer William Hill of Allandale was scalded to death, and Fireman Harry Tomlin, also of Allandale, was seriously burned when a Canadian National passenger train en route here from Toronto, left the rails a mile south of Hill Siding early yesterday.

The engine and five coaches jumped the tracks, the engine turning over on its side. The five rear sleeping cars remained on the tracks. None of the passengers was injured.

Tomlin was able to crawl out through the door of the overturned locomotive, but Hill was pinned in the engine. For several minutes the blinding steam balked the train crew in their efforts to answer Hill's piteous cries for help. He was finally dragged out through the door, but was so badly burned that he died while en route on a special train to the North Bay Hospital.

On being pulled out from the engine Hill's first words were to ask: "How is my mate?" he was told that Tomlin had escaped.

Tomlin, too, as he raced by the mail car to get away from the murderous steam, called out to the mail clerks: "Get my mate."

Cause Unknown.

The cause of the accident has not been determined, according to a statement given out last night by W. A. Kingsland, general manager, central region, Canadian National Railways.

Auxiliary equipment was rushed from North Bay and Allandale to the scene of the derailment. In addition to the engine, the mail, express and baggage car, day coaches left the rails. The mail car piled up on the tender of the engine.

MARMORA HOLDS BIG PARADE ON CIVIC HOLIDAY

Booster Club Takes Charge of Activities on Village's Holiday.

CALITHUMPIAN PARADE.

Deloro Defeats Bethel in Finals of Big Softball Tournament.

MARMORA, Aug. 5. — (Examiner Correspondence.)— Marmora's Civic Holiday celebration, held on Monday under the auspices of the local Booser Club and the citizens in general, lacked nothing in attractiveness and under ideal weather conditions every event was splendidly carried out. Almost twenty years have elapsed since the villagers put on a Calithupian parade and so there was much conjecture beforehand as to how the parade would appear. So keen was the competition with regard to floats and individual costumes that a very high standard was reached, making the judging the most difficult of tasks. The order of the procession as it left the Public school grounds for the grounds of the Agricultural Society was: 'Cowboy on horseback,' William Gray; Great War Veterans; Marmora Community Band; Walter Donnelly wheeling Reeve F. N. Marett in a wheelbarow, which carried the sign, 'What we have we'll hold'; Joseph Dale on gaily decorated bicycle advertising Firestone tires; Piper James Galloway of Springbrook, dressed in beggar's attire; school children in motley costumes (some impersonating nursery rhyme characters); decorated car driven by Major A. V. Yates; 'Amos 'n Andy,' T. Pritchard and C. Auger; 'Coons afoot,' F. S. Johnston and C. Spry; 'Bride and groom,' Miss Lorraine Bell and Mrs. E. C. Prentice; 'School chums,' Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wells; 'Fairyland,' prettily decorated car with juveinles dressed as fairies, driven by E. C. Prentice; 'Our Canada,' well arranged car featuring Boy Scouts and Canadian girls, driven by Garth Sabin.; 'Maggie and Jiggs,' Miss M. Sullivan and Mr. H. Dunlay; 'Indian Scene,' float featuring Frank Wilkes as 'Redskin,' with Magee Sanderson as driver; '1830 and 1930,' Mrs. T. J. Byrnes and Miss Elizabeth McGrath; 'Singin' School' float, carrying members of the various church choirs who, attired in old-fashioned costumes, sang old numbers under the baton of their conductor, Mrs. W. H. Litt; Crow Lake orchestra; 'Just Married,' Grace Crawford and Reta Deacon; decortaed car driven by W. Darrah; decorated car bearing sign 'Be a booster,' driven by Miss Vivian Woodhouse; De Forest Crosley exhibit, F. N. SIX DEATHS IS HOLIDAY TOLL OVER ONTARIO

Three Are Drowned, Engineer Fatally Scalded, Two Shot.

RAIN BADLY NEEDED.

Crops and Pastures Burned Up By Terrific Heat in Western Sections.

TORONTO, Ont., August 5 (C.P.). —Another day has passed and still no rain has come to dampen the parched farmlands of Central Ontario. A heavily clouded sky, which early to-day brought partial relief to the worried minds of Ontario farmers, cleared after a few minor showers and a blistering sun sent the temperature soaring to 95 in Toronto. Higher marks were recorded in other parts of the Province, namely Hamilton, which recorded 98 degrees in the shade.

Crop Situation Serious.

Each day the crop situation, especially in Western Ontario, grows more serious. The Niagara fruit district reports the falling of fruit from trees due to the lack of moisture, while root crops, tobacco and vegetables are suffering severely. Pastures have been scorched beyond use, leaving farmers to feed their stock from the bins and the draining of many wells has left numerous farmers to transport water to stock and domestic purposes.

Yesterday's torrid temperature brought death to six of the thousands of holidayers seeking relief from the oppressive rays of the sun. Donald Darragh, nine, was drowned while bathing in the Ottawa River; Archie Morton, 25, and his brother David, 27, were drowned from their launch in Burlington Bay; William Hill, C.N.R. engineer, was scalded when an excursion train left the rails near Huntsville; Mrs. Joseph Blankfort and James Cyre, West Ferris Township, were accidentally shot with a rifle.

FIGHT WITH FISH ENDS IN DEATH

Giant Jewfish Drags Japanese Fisheramn From His Boat.

SPEARING OFF TAMPA.

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 5 (C.P.). — The story of a death struggle between a Japanese seaman and a 340-pound jewfish that dragged him into deep water and drowned him at Port Tampa was related to-day by port authorities.

Kimoto Toono, 25, arrived on the freighter Lisbon Maru July 18 and began spearing small fish from a fill. To keep the gig from getting away he fastened the end of the rope around his body, sighted a jewfish and sent the spear into its tail.

Dashing out into the bay, the giant fish dragged the seaman under before he could release the rope. Searchers who found the body the next day said the fish still was on the rope.

PANDIT NEHRU MOVED.

ALLAHABAD, India, Aug. 5.—(A. P.)—It was understood in political circles here to-day that Viceroy Lord Irwin had authorized the transfer of Pandit Motilal Nehru and his son Pandit Hawarhalal Nehru from the jail here to Poona in order to facilitate peace conversations with Mahatma Gandh.

Bounce Across Sea Inside Rubber Ball

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 5.—"Come, bounce with me across the sea in a great big rubber ball!" may yet become the plea of ocean-minded romancers if the plan of Carl Herzog and Fritz Vogel, two German mechanics, should materialize. They have written to rubber companies offering to bounce across the sea if any of the companies will construct a balloon fifteen feet in diameter, with walls a quarter of an inch thick. They would carry provisions for ninety days they said.

R-100 WILL MAKE TRIP TO TORONTO

Mammoth of the Skies Starts Tour Soon as Weather Clears.

REPAIRS WELL UNDER WAY.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 5 (By Jack Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer).—As soon as weather conditions permit, and repairs to her damaged stabilizing fin are complete, Great Britain's mammoth of the skies, the R-100, will fly to Ottawa and Toronto, according to an official announcement from the Department of National Defence at Ottawa to-day. The scheduled flight to Quebec has been definitely abandoned, since the ship passed over that city in the day-time while en route from Cardington, England.

Just what day the Ottawa-Toronto flight will start is still vague. The statement points out that atmospheric disturbances such as damaged the ship near Father Point while en route from England are more frequent over land than over sea, and that a high pressure area is distributed over Hudson Bay which is associated with disturbed conditions on the St. Lawrence Valley, particularly to westward of Montreal. The trip, therefore, will not take place until the weather has cleared.

Meanwhile, riggers to-day were busily engaged in lacing new panels over the huge gap left on the stabilizing fin damaged last week. Two hundred feet in the air, the riggers clung to supports and bracing wires as they stitched the gap together. After the patch is in position, only the "doping process" remains, and this is regarded as a minor job.

MISS M. BENNETT TO CROSS OCEAN

Sister of Prime Minister-elect Will Attend Imperial Conference.

EXTENSIVE READER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 5. — Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of Hon. R. G. Bennett, will accompany the Prime Minister-elect to the Imperial Conference this fall, she intimated to the Ottawa correspondent of the Mail and Empire, the newspaper says today.

Miss Bennett, the paper says, refuses to believe that she was a factor in the victory scored election day though she accompanied her brother on his entire tour and addressed numerous campaign meetings on behalf of the Conservative party.

She is much interested in European affairs and with her brother to guide her in what to read she keeps well posted, the Mail says. She dreads the talk of war. She likes golf, horseback riding, swimming and belongs to a mountain climbing club in the Rockies. "She is an outdoor girl but still she finds time for reading even with her political duties", the despatch says.

The world's largest seaplane, which is to fly from the European factory to the United States, recently had American engines installed in it.

FAVOR ABOLITION OF SPEED LIMIT ACROSS ONTARIO

Complete Approval of Idea Given By Ontario Motor League.

25 M.P.H. IN CITIES.

Suggest Motorists Ignore Requests of People Asking Rides.

WINDSOR, Ont., August 5 (C.P.). —Abolition of the speed limit on Ontario highways was favored yesterday at a session of the Ontario Motor League held in Kingsville. The matter was brought up by W. C. Robertson, secretary of the League, who presented a report of a Washington meeting for consideration. It was felt that the having a car in control should rule rather than the miles per hour. A limit of 25 miles per hour in cities was favorable.

The question of people asking for rides was discussed and it was felt that motorists should ignore such requests and thus help reduce the nuisance of hitch hikers.

Sessions will continue to-morrow.

TERRITORY TO NORTH POLE IS CLAIMED BY CANADA

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug 4.—(C.P.)—Canada will watch with a "jealous eye" anything resembling a design on the part of a foreign power to establish itself within the zone lying between her mainland and the North Pole, P. E. Corbett, Dean of the law school of McGill University, said to-day before the Institute of Politics.

Dean Corbett, who addressed the conference on "problems of sovereignity in the Arctic and Antartic" stated that Canada claims all discovered land lying between her mainland and the North Pole and will probably assert a claim to any land that may subsequently be discovered there.

A PICTURE NO ROBOT CAN PAINT!

ONE cannot produce art without feeling. Hence the inadequacy of mechanical rendition of music as a substitute for Living Music.

Life — glamour — excitement are fundamental requirements of the theatre. There is drama in the artist's struggle to please and in the emotional response of the audience.

Music supplied this life, this human contact for the motion picture theatre, until the coming of Canned Music.

The purely mechanical theatre represents the climax of a new spirit in the theatrical business, one that takes the docility of the patron too much for granted.

Millions of theatre patrons object to this and are voicing a demand for Living Music in the theatre by joining the Music Defense League. It is your right, also, to vote on this cultural issue. Sign and mail coupon.

PROSPECTORS SOUGHT IN NORTH

Well Known Saskatoon Man and 15 Year Son Missing in Pas District.

PLANE JOINS HUNT.

The Pas, Man., Aug. 5. —(CP)— Woodsmen of the North country today converged on the country near Bakers Narrows, where Harry Cairns, well-known Saskatoon, Sask., prospector, is believed lost with his 15-year-old son, George, in mid-July. Cairns and his son left for a journey to their claims between the Flin Flon and Cold Lake rail lines. A week ago their camp was found with articles in order but with no clue to the miners' whereabouts.

An airplane from Cormorant Lake base, not many miles away had flown over the area without effect and today awaited further orders at the base. Six men are already on the scene, seeking to find some trace of the lost men. At the Pas, the Prospectors' Club met yesterday and decided that eight or ten men would leave today for the Baker Narrows district.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—In a wild struggle to outdo each other's price-jumps, wheat yesterday made a greater leap than corn. The corn market, however, surpassed any high-price record which corn has heretofore touched this season. Disquieting reports of broadening irreparable damage to the corn crop as a result of unbroken drought and of scorching temperatures were chiefly responsible, together with an official statement that wheat was worth more as feed than corn.

Wheat prices derived a good deal of their upward momentum yesterday from indications of a cessation of pressure of newly harvested wheat Southwest and West. Export business in North American wheat yesterday lacked volume, but black rust infection was reported as spreading in Canada and adverse news about the French wheat crop persisted, a large part being described as unfit for milling. Oats sympathized with the upward swing of other cereals.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WNNIPEG, Aug. 5.— Unfavorable crop weather, both on the American Continent and overseas, which was responsible for advances in United States markets, shot the Winnipeg wheat market to higher levels yesterday.

The close was near the top of the day, ranging 3⅝c to 4¼c above Saturday. May reached $1.02¼ a bushel, as compared with the week-end close of 97¾c.

Pit operations, which included scattered selling by commission houses, were quite brisk for a market lacking foreign demand as the result of a holiday at Liverpool. Volume of trade for the session was quite large.

Fears that rust had made headway, following the humid weather the past several days on the prairies, were expressed today, but definite reports of damage from this source were lacking.

Cash wheat was in good demand, but offerings were light, and only odd cars changed hands. Cash coarse grains trade was dull, while the futures showed advances in sympathy with wheat.

CONTESTS CLOSE

the first girl to finish and claimed sixth place.

New Technique

Perrin Rork of Norwood showed the regatta throng a new technique in crab racing. While most of the others in the contests wandered and spun crazily about the course in their canoes, which were pathetically bow-heavy, he followed an undeviating path over the line due to the crafty manner in which he handled the paddle. Harry Sherrin came in many yards later and third and fourth places went to Jack Guillet and Sam Sherrin. The antics of canoes piloted by three lady entrants, Esme Heward, "Patsy" Tylor and Rosalind Brewin drew laughs and applause but no prize-money.

The best part of the Seven-in-a-Skiff event was the battle royal which ensued after the race was over. The crew of huskies which finished second decided that the winners shouldn't be allowed to take first honors without earning them, so proceeded to upset the over-manned skiff. Reduced to the status of water-pedestrians after a successful effort on the part of the second place crew, crew Number 1 returned the attentions of crew Number 2, who also took to the lake when their boat filled and sank beneath them. A general melee which did not end until all contestants in the near vicinity had a forced bath, resulted.

The batteries were: Bethel: A. Warren and H. Brown; Deloro; J. Brady and H. Bourean.

J. Brady was the outstanding pitcher of the afternoon showing great control with the ball and untiring energy.

At intervals during the afternoon pleasing selections were given by Marmora Community Band and Piper Galloway. It is estimated that a crowd of 800 participated in the celebration. At night a very successful dance was held at Marble Cliff Pavilion, Crowe Lake, with Copeland's Orchestra supplying the music.

Notes on the procession

The attraction second to none was the conveyance of Reeve F. N. Marett in the wheelbarrow, this being Walter Donnelly's payment of a long-standing election bet. The Reeve was merciful enough to alight from the barrow as the steep hill by the Royal Hotel was being negotiated.

Two clowns arrived with a fiery steed and chariot just before the procession marched off. Leaving their conveyance on a side road, they found that at the moment it was most required, their conveyance was missing. Undaunted, the clowns snatched what rides they could during the progress of the procession and later looked up the missing outfit.

A very primitive deer stalked along North Hastings Avenue prior to the parade but where he got to, when the counted cowboy was lining 'em up, nobody knows.

Amos 'n' Andy were right there in every respect and had their telephone close to hand for emergencies.

The L.O.B.A. float which, with the others won favorable comment, was the work of Thomas E. Potts.

"That lad should have gone to college, but his father died"

THAT LAD should have gone to college, but his father died....

"I remember well, what high hopes his father had for him. Intended to give him a good education and a real start in life but—well, he passed away at the wrong time."

"Wasn't there any insurance money?"

"There was none. His father intended to take out a policy but never got around to it. He was always so healthy."

"Yes, I remember too, he was hurt in a street accident and lingered for a while and then...."

Somebody's boy is being talked about every day in some such way as this.

Is your child's start in life insured? We will guarantee to pay any sum you decide upon—at any date you set, to you, to a guardian or to the young man himself—so that he will be properly equipped to face the world when the time comes.

Why not discuss this with us now — while you are insurable?

MR. PECK'S OPPORTUNITY AND DUTY.

If federal monies are appropriated for public works at Trenton, Cobourg and Oshawa, why should Peterborough's needs continue to be ignored?

The removal of Camp Borden to Trenton, which now becomes the training base of Canada's airmen, and the large expenditure for improvements to the harbors at Oshawa and Cobourg illustrate what can be obtained for constituencies by aggressive and influential representatives, although they be defeated Government candidates, as were Mayor W. A. Fraser, M.P., of Trenton, and W. H. Moore, M.P., Oshawa, in the elections of 1926.

When defeated candidates can win the ear of a Government so successfully, surely a member of the Government would not appeal in vain, especially when he has such a strong case as that of Mr. Peck's riding.

For more than fifteen years Peterborough's need of a federal building has been generally admitted. Prior to the war, when J. H. Burnham was the representative of this constituency, property was bought on George street and plans were under way for such a building. It was to provide quarters for a post office, customs office and Trent Canal offices. Since that time business in these three departments has steadily increased locally, and to such an extent that customs and canal offices are scattered all around town in various buildings on Water, Hunter and George streets.

The Conservative Government of Sir Robert Borden recognized the soundness of Peterborough's claim as presented by Mr. Burnham fifteen years ago; and the Conservative Government of the Hon. R. B. Bennett certainly cannot repudiate it, if Mr. Peck urges the requirement of a federal building here, not only for its utility and economy, but also as a means of relieving local unemployment.

Every argument advanced by Mr. Burnham in 1912 is vastly reinforced by present circumstances, if Mr. Peck will assume the opportunity that invites his immediate action. And if Mr. Burnham had such prestige in the Borden Government, Mr. Peck surely has a far greater prestige in the Bennett Government.

Peterborough needs the building; the Government bought the land years ago; local men need the work that would be provided; and there is every reason to believe that the new administration would look more favorably upon a petition from Mr. Peck than the outgoing administration looked upon the urgings of Mayor Fraser of Trenton and W. H. Moore of Oshawa.

Other Ontario cities are already preparing similar appeals to be submitted to the Government, and if Mr. Peck needs any support from the City Council and other local bodies he will find them eager to help him. Certainly he would have the ardent hopes and wishes of those citizens who would obtain employment on this building, which was projected and all but begun fifteen years ago.

Unemployment relief in Peterborough is a challenge to Mr. Peck's enhanced power as a member of the Government, and that influence would be splendidly signalized by an appropriation for a federal building at George, Sherbrook and Water streets. The expenditure of possibly $300,000 during the present fall and winter would be a substantial and timely contribution of local employment, and would give a fillip to Peterborough's self-confidence.

We have been told repeatedly that the Bennett administration intends to initiate during the forthcoming emergency session of Parliament public works that will provide relief for men who are unemployed. Surely on every possible count Peterborough has as strong and rightful a claim as that of any of the other cities which, according to press reports, are already preparing their appeals for consideration by the new Government.

Mr. Peck has the high honor of winning three federal elections in Peterborough; but the honor of having been the most aggressive representative of this riding is unanimously accorded to R. R. Hall, K.C., who contested and won only one election. His four years at Ottawa abundantly demonstrated what a member of Parliament can do for his constituency.

A man is perhaps finally remembered not so much for the political honors that may be heaped upon him, but for the service which he renders to the community.

R. R. Hall, K.C., quitted public life leaving his constituency and likewise this Province, by reason of the inauguration of the Trent conservation system, indebted to him, to his energy, his intelligence and his foresight.

At present E. A. Peck, M.P., stands deeply indebted to this constituency.

And for that very reason and because of his appreciation of the exceptional honors which Mr. Peck has received from his constituents, Peterborough may feel confident that he will not be content without an appropriation for the aid of this community's unemployed. Such an appropriation should be for the federal building which the Borden Government and J. H. Burnham planned fifteen years ago.

It would have been erected long ago, had not the war suspended and set back all the ordinary affairs of peace.

ACID TEST OF INSTALMENT CREDIT.

Instalment credit has undergone during the last nine months the fiery test of a long economic depression and has vindicated the faith of its sponsor, according to a recent review by the National City Bank of New York.

The survey shows that the percentage of retail notes for motor cars held by four finance companies and overdue thirty to sixty days in June was only 0.31 per cent. of the total loans, and that the amount outstanding was only slightly less than last year.

The total outstanding retail paper for the four companies amounted to $528,040,000 on June 30 last. Of those notes only $1,616,000 or 0.31 was past due thirty to sixty days, and only -985,000 or 0.19 per cent. was due over sixty days.

The bank's comment is: "While it is true that this represents a considerable percentage increase in past-due accounts as compared with the booming times of a year ago, the showing is nevertheless outstandingly favorable and should prove distinctly satisfactory to the friends of the instalment system where it is carried on with adequate diversity of risks."

The final results, the bank observes, will depend upon the duration of the depression. The expansion of instalment credit during recent years occasioned many misgivings, and predictions were made freely that the system would break down in the first period of unemployment and hard times, thus burdening industry with a heavy volume of repossession and accentuating the severity of the depression.

The value of repossessed cars during the year ending June 30 was $297,000, as compared with $172,000 in the preceding years. These were reclaimed by the companies. In addition to these, there were cars repossessed for dealers with dealers' liability to finance companies. Their value last year was $2,362,000, as compared with $1,314,000 in the previous year.

These figures are decidedly reassuring and probably are an index of the general reaction of instalment payments under the severe trial of the last nine months.

ANOTHER "RED" FAILURE.

Organized Communism's demonstration against war last Friday might have received some degree of sympathy from those who are utterly opposed to its subversive ideals and practices if Red Russia itself showed any evidence of a desire to promote world harmony and peace. Any agency that can help the cause of international good-will deserves at least a hearing from a world beset with national jealousies and rivalries, domestic unemployment and widespread strife; any agency except that which draws its inspiration from Moscow. For the Kremlin is no dovecote, and peace propaganda issuing from the Soviet stronghold is everywhere suspect.

The very fact that this "International Anti-War Day," August 1st, was planned by Communists at a time of world-wide unrest due to a universal condition of unemployment and discontent stamped it as a spurious gesture of peace. And the Reds responded from Adelaide in Australia to Sudbury in Ontario, and from Berlin to New York. That same day Moscow's Red Army received a gift of fifty-one military airplanes that were paid for out of a fund raised by Russian Communists, and Moscow's parades and demonstration were the prototype of the programs other Red centres were expected to emulate.

Too many trails of intrigue and revolt lead back to Russia and to the headquarters of the Soviets for the western world to pay any attention, except by the police, to peace proclamations tainted with Communistic origin. And although this "Red Day" was a complete failure, and a negligible event in this country, its organization and outbreak in Toronto, Niagara Falls, Sudbury and other cities is a rather disturbing indication of the existence of the medium of communication that directed it.

HATS—HEADS—HEAT.

Fiji Islanders and other savages have many advantages.

In their native state they are not troubled with tailors, shoemakers, hatters or hat checks.

Nature has provided them with tough hides, tougher than leather soles, and hirsute umbrellas that are always in style.

They have nothing to wear, nothing to lose and nothing to check.

But no one can live like a savage and do the work demanded of civilized man.

Civilization calls for hats because it calls for cool brains and you can't keep a cool brain under a hot, sun-baked head.

There is no way of beating the hat check except to put it in your pocket or under the seat.

To go about without a hat is only beating yourself.

You can recover a parked lid for a dime, a nickel or even nothing at all, but it may cost a fat check running into several figures trying to recover losses due to the hatless habit.

What was amusing when it started has become serious. Eminent specialists are now agreed that many people are paying in premature baldness, faded hair, defective eyesight, high blood pressure, mental inefficiency and general debility for the fad of going about without a hat.

They have been checking up on their hatless patients and have found these results.

Be wise before the hair falls out and before the machinery of your wisdom ceases to hit on all four or all six cylinders.

What shall it profit a man to save on his hat and lose on his head

The sunburn that you can see on your skin is harmless compared with the brainburn that others may have to tell you about.

Use your brains and wear a hat; wear a hat and spare your brains.—New York American.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The political intelligence of the electorate may be hazy as to what a "change" will bring about, but it certainly knows how to bring about a "change."

A Thought

GOODWILL

There are rules of fair play and decent conduct in business just as there are in sport. And in the long run, the man who breaks these rules suffers for it.

Goodwill! That is the main thing. It is more than money, because it is the basis of credit.

The man who builds up his firm's goodwill will soon create a goodwill of his own.—Casson.

What To-day Means To You.

"LEO."

If August 5th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., and 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., and 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The splendid astrological influences in force yesterday, are carried over to this date, and you may carry on without interruption or disappointment. Considerable travel. Speculation on the increase, and there will be a large get-rich-quick brigade. Danger in dalliance.

The children born on this August 5th will not be typical of any definite type, but will have struck a happy balance in temperament. They will rerond favorably to educational advantages, although they will show no special aptitude for any vocation—they will do all things with a fair degree of success.

Your very good mind is hidden from the world by your diffidence and shyness. You are never quite comfortable with strangers, and you never expect to be liked. It is not surprising, however, that the world values you higher than you appraise yourself, for you are not made of common clay. One only needs to talk to you for a short time to realize that you have sound judgment and a great fund of common sense. You are no good at so-called "small talk," but you lose your self-consciousness when in conversation about any subject which appeals to you, or about which you feel yourself informed. Your tongue never lets you down. If you marry the right type of person, the one for you, you will "come out" wonderfully. You are overly sensitive, and nurse useless and imaginary hurts and slights. You must learn that the character like the body is better for an occasional punch. You must not only acclimatize yourself to the world's flattering warmth, but must harden yourself to the cold and stormy draughts of criticism which circle around us all.

You seldom begin a battle, but when attacked you are a bitter fighter, and you can well protect yourself. In your home you are happiest of all, for here you feel yourself supreme. You are not fickle, and there will be only one true love affair in your life.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 32.

"Tet off your horse," the king ordered, and Burney obeyed. Instantly the king enfolded him in a grizzly bear embrace. "Son," he murmured huskily, "the first night you came to me I had a hunch you were a gift from God, only I didn't suspect, even remotely, how valuable you are. Don't go into the cow business for yourself, my boy. I'll take a back seat. I'll become chairman of the board and you can have the job of president and general manager and fifty thousand a year. And you can go fishing or hunting whenever you doggone please."

"I'm profoundly grateful for your offer. The salary is marvelous but the job isn't. You can't slip me your handcuffs and leg-irons, King Bardin. I want to be my own man. I don't want to be a pampered pet. I want to make my own hard bed and lie in it. This cock-eyed world is my oyster and I'll open it myself. That's final. No proposition you can make will be accepted. You've promised to do enough for me already and I haven't earned half that. Please give me a lift into Huachita in your automobile. There's a train due out of there for the west at three-forty-seven and I have a berth reserved on it."

"Got that girl on your fool mind, eh?" the king accused savagely.

"I was even thinking of her this morning while the shooting was good, king; she's a lallapalooza!"

"I hope she eats crackers in bed. I hope she's beef to the heel like a Hereford steer; I hope she wears a dirty old wadded kimono and leaves tufts of hair in her comb; I hope she spills powder on the bureau and opens your mail; I hope—but what's the use hoping anything? You're a wild ass of the plains and sweet Christian thoughts are wasted on you. Climb into the car and depart out of my life. I hate you. I do more. I hate you a second time."

As they parted at the railroad station in Huachita, Ken Burney said:

'Your Majesty, the men used those nice rifles so effectively this morning that I took the liberty of telling them they could keep them—with your compliments. And I wish you'd send about twenty dollars gold to each members of the rurale machine gun crews I had planted off on the Gallegos flanks. They were hidden there for two days and nights on cold rations before Gallegos occupied the barranca and if they'd been discovered it would have been highly inconvenient. Good-by, sir, and good luck to you. And please don't forget to make good old Tom Bledsoe your general manager." He lifted his sombrero and bowed. "My respectful compliments to the princess, sir."

Then the train rolled in and Ken Burney climbed aboard and started for Oregon.

The princess realized, after one glance at the king's face on that unhappy wretch's return to El Ranchito, that he was the bearer of doleful tidings. "Oh, Dad," she quavered, "is Ken Burney gone?"

"He is." His Majesty replied aciduously. "Damn his hide, he certainly is.

Without a single preliminary warning the princess crumpled up on the rug. "Oh, jackass that I am," wailed the king and fled for smelling salts. He was ten minutes restoring his daughter to consciousness—and even then she looked at him so wildly and accusingly he was not quite certain she had not lost her mind. "Buck, up honey," he pleaded, "the boy's gone but he isn't dead. He wasn't even hurt."

"Then where has he gone?" the princess glared at her parent. "Why didn't you bring him home with you?"

"He wouldn't come. He's left the country—quit me—passed me up like a white chip on the floor of a raided gambling house. I offered him the presidency of the Bardin Land & Cattle Company and a salary of fifty thousand dollars a year to stay on the payroll and he just laughed at me. He's earned about five hundred dollars in salary and he's sold his horse for a thousand—so he's rich and independent. He left Huachita for points west at three forty-seven this afternoon."

"Well, that's not such bad news." The hand of the princess strayed out and caressed his grizzled cheek. "At least you forced him to abandon his contract."

"I didn't. He fulfilled it—to overflowing—without a single casualty, for evidently he didn't regard the killing of Bruce and Gallegos and a hundred and fifty-two of their followers as anything more than a morning chore. He even drew his wages up to last night and said he didn't have the heart to charge me for a split day to-day. Five minutes after the shooting ceased he became a rolling stone again."

"Did he name the destination toward which he is now rolling?" The princess had so far recovered her accustomed mental and physical well-being as to become instantly practical.

"He did not, and I didn't ask him. I was too upset."

"Did you take note of the number of the car he entered."

"I didn't. I tell you my brain was numb. I was so sore at him I didn't care if I never saw him again."

"It's about time you retired, Pop. You're losing the old wallop. I'll mix you a drink—two of them—and when you're soothed and comforted tell me the sad story of the wicked knight."

So presently the king told her; and as he proceeded with his meticulous recital the eyes of the princess grew big and bright with pride and admiration, although she made no comment. As for the king, her sympathetic presence and the sound of his own voice appeared to soothe him—or perhaps it was the two old-fashioned cocktails his daughter had mixed for him, for at any rate his rage presently gave way to self-pity and vain regret.

"I'll never get over losing that boy," he declared. "I'll grieve over his loss from now until I find myself six feet from flowers I can't smell. He has everything.

"I recall that you required a man with the intestinal investiture of a bear and the super-intelligence of a coyote."

His Majesty nodded wretchedly. "He has more than that. He's a psychologist. He has, too, another quality that is getting to be as rare as the word that expresses it. He is prudent. He makes certain he is right; then he goes ahead. He's a leader of men. Tom Bledsoe choked up when he said good-bye to the boy—whereas you'd think the danged old Quaker would have whooped with delight to see the last of him—seeing as how Tom is my new general manager. "If these should ever want the job back again, Mr. Burney,' says Tom, 'it is thine. Gladly will I step aside for thee and go back to being riding boss'."

"Be comforted, Dad. You have lost one fine general manager but you have gained another. Now then, to business. Have you made any plans for reducing Ken Burney to such a state of economic helplessness that eventually he will be very glad to reconsider the offer you made him?"

The king replied that he was incapable of coherent thought, that he could only suffer. And (he added) it was a matter of surprise to him that she accepted the situation so philosophically; that the rising generation certainly had his time beaten a mile; wherefore he presumed she was just bursting with bright ideas and if so, to please drive up and unload them.

"It seems to me you're not quite a good sport," Muriel assured her sire. "You agreed to make it possible for him to be his own man and now you're wilder than a wildcat because he will not abandon that bright prospect and be your man."

Rivals Clash in Bombay Streets

First photos of fighting in India to reach this country. This remarkable picture of rioting in Bombay was taken in the thick of the fighting by a venturesome photographer. A Sepoy police constable, with lathi drawn back, is taking a Nationalist flag from a colorbearer in the picketing riots. Note the confusion among the other rioters.

U.S. STEEL SHOWS SLIGHT GAIN ON NEW YORK MART

Sever Drought in Central West Adds to Speculative Uncertainty.

WHEAT MARKET BRIGHTENS.

Short Crop Prediction in France Tend to Bullish Attitude

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 5 (C.P.).—The bull troupe continued to perform rather wearily to an all but empty house in to-day's stock market, but failed to show any signs of discouragement.

U. S. Steel was bid up moderately to new high ground for the current recovery above 170, and a few other pool favorites were turned over rather actively. Bulls still failed to develop any notable following, however, and while floor transactions reflected some stimulation, commission houses were all but idle.

Drought Damage Brings Set-Back.

The severe drought damage to crops in the Central West tended to accentuate speculative uncertainty, particularly on reports of heavy rains over certain areas, causing a substantial set-back in the cotton market. On sober second thought, Wall Street could not interpret a major domestic crop catastrophe very bullishly. Although it might end the depression in grain prices, a little more bullish attitude was taken toward the wheat market, with indications of a short crop in France.

Business news coming to hand was mildly favorable. In addition to the better tone in the grain markets, nonserrous metals are a little firmer, notably lead.

Chrysler reported July sales only about 20 per cent below July of 1929, relatively the best showing so far this year. Passing the Marmon dividend occasioned no surprise.

Call Loan Rate Up

The full effects of the August 1 settlements, delayed a little by the fact that the week-end intervened immediately after the first, resulted in marking up the call loan rate from 2 to 2½ per cent, but the long term credit outlook remained favorable as was attested by an easier tone in time money.

The Stock Exchange monthly collateral loan statement, showing a decrease of about one per cent, was favorable in view of the fact that stocks generally showed a substantial net gain for the month. Gold continued to flow to France and movement to London appeared to be imminent.

Although wholesale buyers, with only a month left to Labor Day, have not been very active in the New York markets of late, some pick up in retail trade is viewed as a seasonal certainty, and the merchandising shares were bid up more actively than for some time.

COASTGUARDS KILL COMPANION

BOSTON, Aug. 5 (C.P.). — Boatswain Lewis E. Pratt of the Salisbury Beach coastguard station was fatally wounded by bullets from another coastguard boat out of Base 7, Gloucester, last night, when his surf boat was mistaken for a rum-runner near the mouth of the Ipswich River, Ipswich, Mass. Early reports had indicated that the shots were fired from a rum vessel.

Doctor Drops Dead During Operation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 5. — (C.P.).—Dr. T. H. Williams was completing a Caesarian operation in a hospital here to-day.

Turning suddenly to Dr. R. M. Coston, he gasped, "Doctor, take care of my patient," and fell dead upon the floor.

Dr. Coston completed the operation without delay, and later in the day the mother and her newly born daughter were reported as doing "well."

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

TORONTO, Aug. 5. (Special to the Examiner.)—Leading Light Railway Equipment, Shoe and Leather, Chain Restaurant, Confectionery and Publishing Corporations, have actually made more money during the first half of 1930 than during the corresponding period of 1929, according to a survey of leading American corporations made by Alexander Hamilton Institute. In addition to the exceptionally good showing made by industries in these lines of activity, the second quarter has resulted in increased earnings over 1929 for Public Utilities and beverages. Comparison of net incomes with 1929 is still more favorable. All of these groups, except shoe and leather are ahead of their 1928 records, of 28 industrial groups, comprising 103 leading corporations, sixteen are showing greater income and twelve less income. In general, corporations producing consumption goods have suffered less than those producing capital goods.

Steel Co. of Canada, is one of the most complete organizations in its particular field in the Dominion. It ranks as a pioneer producer of steel sheets and today is the only producer in this country of steel sheets all the way through the process from the ore to the finished product. The company's first unit, comprising two hot mills with a capacity of 8000 tons annually was erected in 1918. In 1922 another mill was added this materially increasing production in 1927 the whole unit was rebuilt.

The financial district went back to work to-day after the long week end holiday, glad of the respite, yet oppressed by the close heat of the city street to-day.

The market was extremely quiet on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, there being no accumulation of orders resulting from the protracted holiday. Prices were strong, however, with nearly all the more prominent stocks above the finals of last week. The opening was marked by hesitancy and irregularity but after the first few minutes the trend turned definitely upward, although the small turnover necessarily limited gains. Improvement in the price of commodities is one of the chief factors making for a better stock market at the present.

New York is speaking out more this week with regard to the market. The Wall Street Mirror to-day stated that the sharp rally in commodities and the refusal of stocks to give ground under professional selling has brought further rally into the stock market and predicts better prices again to-day. One of the big factors in the situation now is that a crop scare is imminent. The continued drought in the west is simply burning up the growing crops and will do much to relieve over-production problem which has caused the drastic drop in farm product prices. It has been the contention that concrete buying improvement by merchants with bare shelves would bring about a stepping up in factory schedule. This is next step expected in business situation to help along seasonal recovery Other market letters stress the reopening of several automobile plants which should stimulate steel buying.

Spanish exchange may be stabilized, If plans of bankers and the finance minister bear fruit. The Pestota has been ruling far befow par in recent months, being quoted at 11.18, as against a high this year of 13.39 and a par of 1938.

NICKEL IS HIGHER NORANDA DROPS

Mining Exchange is Very Dull Following the Holiday.

GOLDS ARE FIRM.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 5. (C.P.)—Outside of a slight flurry in a couple of lower-priced issues at the opening, the session on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange this morning was very much the same as the lethargic sessions of the past week.

Internatkonal Nickel was higher, in small volume, while both Hudson Bay and Noranda declined. Price changes had no significance however. Lindsleys held up well, with the exception of Falconbridge off 5. Sherritt Gordon was up 3 and Sudbury Basin 10, while Ventures sold at the previous closing price

Golds were firm, Vipond advancing 8, Dome 5, Lake Shore 10, McIntyre 50, and Wright Hargreaves 1. Teck Hughes was off 5, and Amulet and Howey eased slightly. Siscoe, Kirkland Lake and Premier were unchanged. Miscellaneous stocks were practically unchanged.

Home Oil suffered a severe set-back, losing 30 points to $3.05. Chemical research lost 15, Associated 10, Alberta Pacific 1, and Dalhousie 1. On the other hand, Ajax was up 11, and Calmont 7. Nordon and Royalite were unchanged.

BRIDGE TENDER TAKES LIFE

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 5 (C.P.)—Despondent over failing eyesight and the loss of employment, Michael McCaffrey, for 25 years bridge tender on the Welland Canal at Queenston street, committed suicide during the night by shooting himself. His body being found by his family in the morning in rear of a shed in his yard. With the placing of part of the new Welland Ship Canal in commission, he found himself out of a job.

NIPISSING MAN SHOT.

NORTH BAY, Ont., August 5 (C.P.). — A bullet having penetrated his cheek and passed through the back of his head, the body of James Cyre, 35, was found yesterday on the front doorstep at the home of his parents near Nipissing Junction.

Chains! Chains!

Chains on an automobile from Ohio, parked in front of the Bank of Montreal this afternoon occasioned considerable comment from sweltering passers-by.

"I wonder if he expects to run into a snowstorm" perspired one loyal Son of the Northland, as he wiped his streaming brow.

There were several on the baking sidewalk who devoutly prayed that he might.

Whether or not the Yankee visitor had equipped himself with snowshovels to dig himself out of the drifts, it was impossible to ascertain, as the owner of the car was nowhere to be seen.

"Perhaps he's having a cup of hot chocolate," suggested one.

HEAVY TRADING IN VIPOND ISSUE

Between 10,000 and 20,000 Shares Are Traded in.

BUYING NOT LOCAL.

TORONTO, Aug. 5. (Special to the Examiner.) —The mining market came to life after the long holiday with decided flurry in Vipond Consolidated, between 10,000 and 20,000 shares being turned over during the early period. The buying is not all local, however, the price having strengthened considerably in Montreal on Monday.

While unable to explain the sudden renewed interest, Vipond officials state developments are progressing most favorably. Production has been stepped up to around $85,000 a month or $1,000,000 a year, and work continues to add new ore to reserves faster than it is expected early in September, should be easily the best in the company's history.

The management of Huronian Mining and Finance are allowing no grass to grow under their feet in their efforts to prepare a comprehensive report of conditions and operations at Howey gold mines. Huronian engineer is already on the property, and the conclusions should be ready for shareholders in October. The head office of Howey Gold has been transferred from the concourse building to the 12th floor of the Star building.

The following wire was received from the Kirkland Lake property of Oriole Mines early to-day: "Cut 23 feet of ore in diamond drill hole No. 15. Assays run $3.90 to $5.30 in gold at a depth of 560 feet. It is expected the main ore body will be cut at 625 feet some time to-day."

Though the recent movement at Ajax Oil is generally attributed to professional interests word around the street is that the well in which the company is interested in Oklahoma City field is rapidly reaching an important stage. Reports from the district a few days ago stated the well had reached a depth of 5,200 feet and that, barring accidents, it should reach the producing horizon 6,400 feet in ten days' time.

Ajax Oil and Acme Gas securing good results in the Oklahoma City section, the Tom Slick-Dannreuther well, located about a quatyer of a mile from the Ajax location and about a half mile from the Acme well, was brought in early last week, with an estimated flow of between 12,000 and 20,000 barrels of oil and from 100,000 000 to 150,000,000 cu ft., of gas per day This well of course along with all others brought in at the present time, comes under existing pro-ratio agreements.

SHERBROOKE RESULTS.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 5—(Canadian Press). — Official returns of the voting in Sherbrooke, July 28, give Charles B. Howard, Liberal, a slightly smaller majority than was at first reported, reducing his lead from 535 to 502. The final figures are Charles B. Howard, Liberal 8,546; Harold Lynch, Conservative, 8,044.

Mr. Archie Stinson and Miss Lorna McGill contributed a duet which strongly appealed to all and willingly responded to requests for encores.

Rev. Scott proposed a hearty handclap in appreciation of the very enjoyable evening and after the singing of the National Anthem the crowd dispersed with happy voices.

The gate receipts amounted to one hundred and forty dollars and the refreshment booth did a thriving business.

Modern But Lonely

Joan was "a modern" and wanted to make her way in the city. She was mighty plucky and tried to conceal her loneliness. But parents seem to understand such things. They began to telephone to her regularly. The family kept in closer touch with her and Joan did not get lonely any more.

GIBBON ESCAPES A BORE BY USING A STEPLADDER

J. Murray Gibbon

J. MURRAY GIBBON, well known director of publicity for a great railroad, is described as "the hardest man in Montreal to see." He has a reputation for side-tracking pests and bores that is the envy of many of his friends, some of whom declare that he has understudied Houdini or some similar exponent of "disappearing" magic, so successful has he always been in almost literally melting into thin air at moments of ennui that bade fair to lengthen indefinitely.

By no stretch of the imagination can Mr. Gibbon be termed "easy to approach," but whether this reserve of his is a birthright or a mask which he has acquired and developed would be difficult to say. They say that while a certain geniality and warmth distinguishes him among his more intimate friends, he carries at all times a kind of armor that keeps even his closest associates at a respectful distance. He has never been known to descend to rudeness but contrives to repel the advances of unfortunate folk with the utmost finesse that is in itself a kind of compliment.

A lady of Montreal, a society leader, has been angling for years to capture Mr. Gibbon as a guest at her parties. She has never yet succeeded but has expressed a certain sense of satisfaction in the mere declining by that gentleman of her invitations. "He is so very polite about it," she boasts, "that there is a subtle flattery just in being turned down by him."

The story is told of one occasion when Mr. Gibbon had a close shave. One of the more persistent types of bores had been sitting in his outer office all morning, waiting to nab him as soon as he should stick his head out of the door of his own sanctum. Twelve o'clock came and finally one. Mr. Gibbon had an important luncheon date. He called his secretary, or assistant secretary, and that young man said he had explained to the caller that the big man was out. "He says he's going to stay till you come in," the secretary added.

Mr. Gibbon nodded. He sent a careless glance about the room. A step-ladder that the janitor had left near one of the windows after he had fixed some loose wiring met his eye. Throwing off his coat he seized this ladder and started out of the room with it, giving orders meanwhile to the secretary to follow him presently with coat and hat. The waiting pest merely glanced up and yawned at sight of the stout, shirt-sleeved man who shuffled past him thus burdened. At three o'clock he went away, saying to the bland secretary in a mollified tone: "I'll take your word for it, son. He must be out, all right, and I guess the joke's on me!"

William Sutton

Simcoe Miller, Now Eighty Once Marched Against Riel

SIXTY years ago on the 31st day of August, 1870, a small army of British regulars and Canadian volunteers arrived at Fort Garry, now the site of Winnipeg, on the Red river. They had come to avenge the cold-blooded execution of one, Thomas Scott, an Ontario Orangeman, who the previous March had fallen victim to bullets fired at the instance of Louis Riel, the half-breed rebel, and to quell the rebellion which threatened to overthrow constitutional authority in the new west.

Their force comprised a contingent of British regulars, one thousand strong, under Colonel Garnet Wolseley, seven companies comprising 350 volunteers from Ontario and a similar troop from Quebec. While not a shot was fired by these soldiers, their journey remains a memorable one because it was the first time a military unit of sizable proportions had invaded western Canada and because it marked the end of the Rebellion of 1870 and the restoration of order in a country where trouble had been fomenting for long months.

Indeed the story of their expedition lives in military annals as a triumph. Carrying artillery, munitions and food for three months, they traversed the wilderness of northwestern Ontario by canoe, negotiated troublesome portages, ran rapids and reached their destination without the loss of a single life.

Few remain of that gallant band of Canadian volunteers who were willing to undertake the long and arduous journey overland to Fort Garry. At least one of them still lives. He is William Sutton of Simcoe, Ont., now in his 80th year, who recalls the details of that stirring adventure as clearly as if it took place only yesterday. A lad of 19 years when the rebellion broke out, he left his home at Ingersoll to enlist with the volunteers at Toronto, of whom he was the youngest member.

Let William Sutton rehearse the story of that pioneer cross-country march as he experienced it sixty years ago this summer.

"We mobilized at Toronto in the month of May, 1870," he relates, "and thence embarked by train for Collingwood, where we took a boat to the Soo, arriving there on May 24. After a short stay in what was then only a small village, we proceeded by boat to Prince Arthur (now Port Arthur). The government building was the only structure in evidence there at that time and it seemed to be the last outpost of civilization.

"We left Prince Arthur on July 4, going overland a distance of sixty miles through the roughest kind of country until we reached the Kaministikiwa river. Then partly by boats and by long portages, under the greatest difficulties, we went on to the Lake of the Woods, thence in the same manner to Lake Winnipeg, and down the Red river to Fort Garry, arriving there on August 31, almost two months after we had left Prince Arthur.

"Fort Garry was a desolate place when we arrived there. Riel and his followers had fled and only the few occupants of the fort remained to greet us. The breakfast table in the house where Riel had lived was covered with dirty dishes and we found that he had left the day before our arrival, apparently having been apprised of the army's approach by his outposts."

The true story of what happened to the bullet-riddled body of Thomas Scott will never be known, according to Mr. Sutton. He helped to dig up Scott's coffin and, to the surprise of himself and fellow soldiers, the coffin was empty. The corpse had disappeared, probably had never been buried. The theory entertained to this day by Mr. Sutton is that Scott's body was dropped through a hole in the ice of the Red river and was never seen again.

"The reason for Scott's execution was not difficult to ascertain," declares Mr. Sutton. "He talked too much. Riel did not molest the other occupants of Fort Garry and would not have harmed Scott if the latter had kept his tongue. But he was continually complaining and Riel had him imprisoned. Even that could not stop his voluble flow of criticism. Evidently he used no discretion in his remarks. Finally Riel became so incensed that he decided to make an example of the young man. He was placed in front of the wall of Fort Garry and dispatched by a firing party of rebels. Naturally I have no desire to condone the cold-blooded murder of Scott, but the truth is that he had only himself to blame for his unfortunate end."

Looking back to-day upon those eventful times in the west, Mr. Sutton recalls the hardship and inconveniences which they were forced to undergo. "It was a long, hard journey to Fort Garry, and we were mightily disappointed upon arriving there to find the object of our quest gone and the back of the rebellion broken. However, many of us were young and we looked upon the trip more in the nature of an adventure. We were greatly captivated by the new country through which we passed. I would not have missed the journey for the world."

Mr. Sutton stayed on at Fort Garry for upwards of a year and did not return east until the fall of 1871. He went into the milling business and at the time of his retirement a year or so ago he had been a miller in the town of Simcoe for over 50 years.

DUKE OF YORK UPSETS MONTREAL HOTEL WAITER

"SAY, this is the place where you keep the strike-breakers, isn't it?"

This odd question was asked one afternoon early in June, 1913, by a bright, fair-haired lad of 17 of a waiter in the Place Viger hotel, Montreal. The question seems all the more interesting when it is borne in mind that the youth who put the query was none other than Prince Albert, second son of H.M. King George, now known as the Duke of York.

This incident is a reminder that the Prince of Wales was not the first of the King's family to visit Canada, a fact that is often overlooked, and that Prince Albert preceded the heir-apparent, who first came to Canada in 1919, by a good six years.

At the time he visited the Dominion Prince Albert was a cadet on board the training ship Cumberland. This ship having called at Canadian ports, the opportunity was given to a number of the cadets, including the prince, to visit Niagara Falls, with the result that they spent a few hours in Montreal and Toronto en route.

The visit, of course, was entirely unofficial, but it is interesting to recall that Leslie H. Boyd, K.C., who until recently was chairman of the grain commission, and who at the time was an alderman in Montreal, was deputed to keep a fatherly eye on the lads while in that city.

As a matter of fact their stay in Montreal was very brief, only an hour or two for dinner at the Place Viger hotel in the east end.

As he dined the young prince revealed by his conversation that if his knowledge of Montreal was not exactly extensive, it was at any rate peculiar.

"Say," he suddenly asked the waiter who was in attendance, "this is the place where you keep the strike-breakers, isn't it?"

The waiter, astonished at such an odd question from a prince of the blood, had the presence of mind to murmur, "I beg your pardon?"

"This is the place where you keep the strike-breakers, isn't it?" repeated the prince. Then, noting that the waiter seemed rather nonplussed, he added, "They told us down in Halifax that when they had some trouble with the trams, all the strike-breakers came from Montreal."

"Ah," breathed the waiter, realizing that the prince was referring to a labor dispute; which about that time had disturbed the equanimity of the Nova Scotian seaport, and then went on to assure his royal highness that Montreal did not specialize in strike-breaking, that it was a pretty big place, and that it might have been possible that some men attracted by the news that there was a strike on in Halifax might have moved thither in the expectation of finding employment.

The incident showed that as a lad the prince was interesting himself in labor movements, and has no doubt studied them considerably since.

After dinner the prince and some companions strolled around the typically French streets in the neighborhood of the hotel before joining their special train for Toronto. At the cigar stand he insisted on buying a souvenir post-card of the hotel to send to his father; and then it transpired that wherever he stopped he made a point of sending his father and mother a picture post-card of the place if possible.

The Duke of York

Probably when his majesty got the card it may have reminded him that it was in the square outside the Place Viger that he received his first official greeting when passing through Montreal as Duke of York, the title, by the way, which has since devolved on Prince Albert.

On arriving in Toronto the Prince and his fellow cadets passed from the special C.P.R. train to the steamer Chippewa, by which they made the voyage to Lewiston, rejoining the special train on their return so that they might proceed to Kingston to board the steamer which was to take them through the Thousand Islands and down the St. Lawrence to Montreal.

If the prince was under the belief that Montreal was a city of strike-breakers, he must have gone away with the impression that Toronto was peopled with Presbyterians. At the time of his visit a Presbyterian congress was being held in the Queen City, and as luck would have it, the delegates that day made the Niagara trip on the Chippewa, so that nearly every passenger apart from the prince and his fellow-cadets was wearing the badge of Presbyterianism!

This Heroic Life Saver of Lake Erie Has Saved a Total of Fifty Lives

IN a few weeks' time, when the storms of autumn again begin to sweep across the great lakes, seafaring men who brave the treacherous waters of Lake Erie will look to Capt. James Grubb to save them in case their seamanship is found wanting.

Capt. Grubb, who is in charge of the life-saving station on Point Pelee, Essex county, has never yet failed to effect a rescue, even under the most trying conditions. Many persons to-day owe their lives to his stout heart and strong arms.

During the years that Capt. Grubb has been in charge of this life-saving station, and previously, he has saved at least 50 persons from drowning. About half of them were members of the crews of ships that were driven out of their courses by storms, and ended up on the treacherous sandbars that fringe this section of the Lake Erie coast; the others were fishermen and amateur sailors who got into difficulties.

Capt. Grubb's most recent exploit was the saving of 12 men and a woman from the freighter N. J. Nessen after she went aground near Leamington on October 22, 1929. This rescue was carried out in the face of difficulties that were believed to be insurmountable until he overcame them.

Darkness fell several hours before the N. J. Nessen went hard aground on the sandbar, and panic-stricken watchers on the shore were helpless when it came to a question of bringing relief to the trapped skipper and crew. Waves were breaking over the freighter, and it was feared that she would break in two under the strain and drag her crew to their deaths.

A feeling of optimism was injected into the watchers, however, when Capt. Grubb and his life-guards reached the beach. His poise was unruffled. Puffing unconcernedly on a short-stemmed pipe, he surveyed the scene through the darkness and mist.

"She's good for a few hours yet," he observed. "I'll be here at daybreak and take her crew off. We can't do anything now."

If anything, the storm was worse as day dawned than it had been during the previous night. Five hundred feet of boiling surf lay between the ship and the shore, and a cutting gale was blowing. Experienced fishermen and seamen declared that it would be foolhardy to attempt a rescue under such conditions, but Capt. Grubb and his life-guards—a crew he selected himself—did it without mishap.

Back in May, 1925, Capt. Grubb rescued seven men from the sandsucker Kelley Island when she went aground and turned turtle off Point Pelee. This rescue, too, was effected in the face of discouraging odds.

Rescuing men and women from pleasure boats that get caught in squalls on the lake is just part of Capt. Grubb's day's work. Needless to say, he has risked his own life many times while saving others, but worry over his personal safety has never deterred him.

Capt. Grubb is short and stocky, and has a lined and weather-beaten face. His eyes are steady, with a little twinkle of humor wrinkling the corners. The twinkle is always there, regardless of the situations he confronts.

This veteran seaman is about 55 years old. From boyhood he has earned his livelihood from the lakes, as his father did before him. When there is no life-saving to be done, Capt. Grubb works as a farmer and fisherman.

The father was also a fisherman and, by the way, probably set the example that his hardy son has followed. He, too, took part in many rescues, and years ago was decorated by President Cleveland for saving passengers from a doomed lake vessel.

Capt. Grubb was born in Essex county, near the coast he knows so well, and has resided in it practically all his life. He is married and is the father of three children. One of his two sons, Lyle, manned an oar in the lifeboat when the N. J. Nessen crew was rescued.

Poet Was Not Sparing In His Use of Films

THERE is no greater bird lover in Canada than Wallace Havelock Robb of Kingston, where the Ontario government has created a 300-acre crown game reserve at "Abbey Dawn" in recognition of his studies and service.

With the co-operation of Allan Brooks, the famous Canadian artist, Mr. Robb has presented to the Ontario Museum a collection of one hundred bird paintings in oils that has already done much to disseminate useful knowledge of Canadian birds and bird life and has attracted widespread attention.

In addition to being a lover of birds Mr. Robb is a poet of no mean merit. His first book, "The Quill and the Candle," published in 1927, contains an appreciation by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, and was issued under royal patronage, a rare distinction indeed for a Canadian book.

Although a keen observer, Mr. Robb is also a bit of a mystic. He is not one of those who can dash off a poem on the typewriter. He has to be in the mood and the surroundings must be appropriate. The twenty-six poems in his little book each have a dedication and a prose introduction.

The originals were written with a wild goose quill by candle light.

As an indication of the laborious and painstaking nature of Mr. Robb's bird-life studies, it may be pointed out that one summer he tried to get a good photograph of the shy songsparrow, which the French-Canadians call the Rossignol. The bird was nesting and a speed camera was focussed on the approach to the nest from a strategic point.

Then Mr. Robb waited patiently for a favorable opportunity to snap the mother bird.

Before he managed to get a photograph good enough for reproduction he had used up forty-two plates.

He Made a Study of Immigrants Now Made Public Service Chief

AN intimate associate of Saskatchewan judges and leading barristers is Percy Shelton, one of the speediest shorthand men in the province and himself a lawyer by training. Mr. Shelton has just commenced his duties as the first Saskatchewan public service commissioner after many years' service as chief court reporter in the province. He came to Canada from England 23 years ago, ambitious to break into the newspaper profession on this side of the Atlantic. To-day he makes light of his early efforts in Ottawa and Regina.

Percy Shelton

Two years ago an immigration survey was completed by a special committee of the Canadian Legion in Saskatchewan. The preliminary report covered nearly 100 pages and went into the whole question of settlement in an unusually thorough manner. The report found unusual favor at the annual convention of the Legion and it was the source of editorial comment from coast to coast. Percy Shelton was the compiler of the "volume."

From that success it was only a step to a position on the Saskatchewan government immigration inquiry commission, which this year toured the province and gathered information on the successes and failures of various settlement schemes. Shelton was barely through that assignment when Premier Anderson called on him to take over the reorganization of the civil service in Saskatchewan and "place it outside politics."

There are few westerners so well informed about affairs on the prairies. This lawyer-reporter knows the courts of his province inside and out, he has travelled with grain commissions from Prince Rupert to Fort William. He is a war veteran with a library of war books that is far ahead of the average. And he has made immigration his hobby and that is the most contentious question on the prairies to-day.

In June he started his duties as public service commissioner and immediately arranged for a trip to England—and at his own expense. He will study old country methods with a view to improving the system in Saskatchewan. Those who know him best place a great deal of confidence in his future with the Saskatchewan public service.

Shanghaied on His First Flight Guy Weadick Now Likes Planes

IT appears that the cause of it all was Baron von Lowenstein—not the regular baron, of course, but a police dog belonging to Guy Weadick, famous manager of the Calgary stampede and owner of the ranch adjoining that of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. In his less formal moments the baron goes by the more democratic name of "Jerry."

Recently, while Mr. Weadick was staying with his wife at the Palliser hotel in Calgary, a telephone call came from his ranch on the Highwood river that the "baron" was short of dog feed, and that a few other supplies would be acceptable to the man left in charge of Guy's "critters." When could they be brought out? The recent snow-storm had played havoc with the trail up the Highwood, and it looked as if Jerry would have to wait for a chinook to get his rations.

Discussing the matter with Mrs. Weadick, Russell Reeves, who had just piloted a Buhl air-sedan to the municipal airport, suggested that Mr. Weadick get the supplies for the ranch and that he would take them out.

The stampede manager, who doesn't mind in the least sitting the hurricane deck of a bucking bronk, had steadily refused to become "air-minded," and he consequently declined the offer with thanks.

The pilot went into a detailed explanation of his fourth trip from Tulsa to Calgary, the 1,600 miles of which he had made in 12 hours and 50 minutes. Guy admitted this was good time but added that it was too close to 13 hours to be anything but an evil omen.

The result, however, was that the three ladies of the party, including Mrs. Weadick, boarded the plane with Reeves, flew up the Highwood, delivered Jerry's meat, and flew back to the airport in 20 minutes, in time to catch the stampede manager before he had left the grounds.

Weadick seemed almost convinced, but it needed something else to clinch it. At that moment Jack Dillon, Calgary oil man, arrived from Edmonton in another plane. As he stepped out he saw the Weadick party and, going over to them, started on a long recital of the beauties of the air age.

Becoming interested in the lecture, Weadick made the mistake of stepping inside the plane to hear an explanation from Reeves on some part of the mechanism. Mr. Dillon also entered behind him, and the first thing that Guy knew he was soaring skyward, and not knowing whether he was exactly enjoying the experience.

A few days later came the anti-climax. The occasion was a trip to the Dominion government air station at High River. What was more natural than that the suggestion should arise that a plane be utilized owing to the uncertain condition of the roads. The party was large, however, and the resourceful stampede manager suggested that he and Mr. Dillon would go by automobile, leaving the plane ride to Jack McGuire, hotel manager, and to Jack Drumheller and R. L. McMillan, both prominent coal operators.

To his immense relief, his subterfuge was not suspected, and the two parties met safely at the High River port. But here a new difficulty arose. Drumheller and McMillan would not be going back, and so there would be ample room in the plane for the whole party. Anticipating trouble, Guy hurriedly excused himself, saying that he had an urgent call from the town of High River.

He had been gone for some time before the idea at last dawned on the others that they had been tricked, and Mr. Dillon was forthwith dispatched on foot to bring the deserter back to take his medicine. When he had almost reached the town who should appear but Mr. Weadick, on his return, and the stampede manager tried to explain that he had just gone for the exercise. Not satisfied, Dillon wormed from him the truth that there would be no train back to Calgary until the following day.

They walked in silence towards the airport, and had not gone far before they met Mr. McGuire, who pretended that he did not recognize them as he attempted to pass on the roadway. Taking each one firmly by an arm, Dillon marched them meekly back to the port and assured them that they would get front seats in the plane for the return journey.

They did. The trip back to Calgary was made in 20 minutes.

The result of it was that the first terrors were finally over, and two more Calgarians had become "air-minded." It is said that one has a morning coat and the other a pair of spurs and a ten-gallon hat that they would like to swap for aviators' helmets.

SCOUTS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Noel McGill of W. Virginia, Is Guest Preacher at Christ Church, Campbellford.

APPEALS FOR LOYALTY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Featuring a parade of the 1st Campbellford Troop Boy Scouts to attendance at divine service at Christ Church, Campbellford, on Sunday last, Mr. Noel Gill of Charlestown, West Virginia, a layman of the church, delivered a splendid and inspiring address, confining his remarks entirely to the boys. The service was conducted by the rector, the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, Mr. Gill reading the lesson.

Taking for his subject one of the many qualities that are of the utmost importance to Scouts, and a quality that is expected from all Scouts, "Loyalty," the preacher stressed the importance of being loyal to ideals and aims, and not being fault finders. He drew attention to the fact that there was never a general who was without fault, but it was because of the loyalty of his officers and men in forgetting the faults and working in harmony for the common good, that spelt success. This had been evidenced in the Great War.

Mr. Gill defined loyalty as "the spirit that makes you stand up for and support any organization to which you belong," and pointed out that this support was the means of the success of that organization. He stressed the fact that grumbling and fault-finding boys, whether in the school or troop, did not add to progress. It was up to the boys to be proud of that organization to which they belonged, and to work to make it perfect.

The preacher also stressed the fact that in the future the boys would become citizens of this great country, and members of the communities in which they would live. Neither the community nor the country could prosper if they were filled with grumblers, for this type of man never did anything to help toward progress.

He also appealed to the boys to be loyal to their leader. "Don't be a slacker, even if there are plenty of faults to be found, but stand shoulder to shoulder with the loyal ones, and the faults will disappear."

And in conclusion, Mr. Gill stated that they could and must be loyal to the greatest organization of all, the Church. The great leader of all called upon all the boys for loyal service, especially at their time of life, when character was being formed. "Be loyal to the great leader, Jesus Christ, and so become loyal and true Christian men," was the message he left with his hearers.

Thomas Cole of Bridgenorth Seriously Burned About the Head.

NOT IN DANGER.

Immediately Plunged Into Lake When His Clothing Caught Fire.

BRIDGENORTH, Aug. 5.—Trying to start a camp-fire with the aid of gasoline, Thomas Cole of Bridgenorth was seriously burned about the head and shoulders on the Ennismore side of Chemong Lake on Sunday afternoon. He now lies in Nicholl's Hospital, Peterborough, where he was reported to be out of danger this morning.

He stooped down and the gasoline was ignited by a spark in the old fire. Flames burst in his face and set afire the light clothing he wore at the time and although he immediately plunged into the lake, his face, chest and arms were gravely burned.

He was taken across to Bridgenorth in a canoe and then rushed to Nicholl's Hospital where he was attended by Dr. J. A. Morgan. Commenting on his condition this morninf Dr. Morgan said that it can not yet be ascertained exactly how serious the case is althogh the injuries are not likely to be fatal.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Melville Moncrief of Omemee, wore a dainty frock of white georgette with tulle veil and orange blossoms, white shoes and hose and carried a bouquet of butterly roses. She wore as her only ornament, a crystal necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. Miss Eunice wore a pretty green silk frock with ecru lace trimming, and Master Ronald wore navy blue.

Miss Mildred Smith, sister of the bridegroom, who played the Wedding March, received a handsome gold bar pin as the groom's gift.

Following the ceremony the company, which consisted of the immediate families of the happy couple, sat down to a bountiful luncheon, after which Mr. and Mrs. Smith left by motor for Muskoka where they will spend the honeymoon. The bride travelled in a beige georgette, made with jacket effect, with hat, scarf, shoes, gloves, hose and purse to match and a coat of tweed in shades of sand and brown with fur collar. Grains of Wheat and Rice Shot from Huge Guns

To make them twice as delicious . . . twice as digestible

How exploding 125 million food cells makes Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

HAVE you tasted this utterly different kind of cereal . . . Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice . . . the crispest, crunchiest cereal on the market today?

Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are different because they're made differently. Choice full-flavored grains of wheat and rice are sealed in huge bronze guns. Then revolved in fiery ovens. This expands the natural moisture in the millions of tiny food cells. Then the guns are fired. Causing 125 million explosions in every grain.

Every tiny food cell is blasted open. The grains are made as completely digestible as though they had been cooked for hours. Hence Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are virtually as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

These grains "shot from guns" become 8 times normal size. They have all the buttery crispness of fresh toast. They taste like sweet new nut-meats. Never before was rich grain nourishment made so delectably good to eat. Order Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice from your grocer today. The Quaker Oats Company.

TORONTO BEATS ROYALS TWICE; RED WINGS LOSE

Montreal and Toronto Are Tied For Third Place in International.

BUFFALO WINS.

Jersey City Defeats Baltimore 7 to 5 in Night Game.

TORONTO, August 5 (C.P.). — Once more the Baltimore Orioles have passed up an opportunity to draw closer to the fast-stepping Rochester Redwings, pace-setters in the International League.

The Redwings bowed to Buffalo yesterday afternoon, but Baltimore, facing Jersey City in a night game at the Skeeters' park, took the short end of a 7-5 count and remained five full games back of the leaders.

The Rochester-Buffalo struggle was a slugging orgy that went 11 innings before the Bisons won the contest 13-11. Each club made 19 safe hits, and Rochester led 10-3 at the end of four innings only to see the Bisons slug away until they had pulled up to even terms and then won out by bunching three extra hits in the 11th. Rochester went to extremes in fielding with five double plays and five errors. Carlisle Littlejohn, who had won six straight games in relief roles this season, suffered his first defeat. Worthington was the leading hitter of the day with four safeties one a homer.

Jersey City pounced on Monte Weaver for three runs in the first inning but needed a three-run rally in the eighth to beat Baltimore 7-5. Baltimore bunched hits to tie the score with a three-run rally in the third and rallied for two runs in the ninth before Guise who came to Grant's rescue could retire the side. Baltimore found difficulties in playing under the lights and made six errors.

Toronto took a double bill from Montreal 9-8 and 8-4 to gain a virtual deadlock with the Royals for third place. A double by Davis followed by Sheedy's single gave the Leafs the morning game in the ninth inning after Montreal had overcome a six-run deficit with rallies in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings. The afternoon game was a close struggle until the Leafs bunched three hits, one a double by Cole, to score three runs and take a commanding lead. Joe Shaute pitched effectively for the Leafs in the afternoon game. Ripple connected for four hits, including a triple in the morning game.

Newark made it four in a row from Reading, winning 8-5. Both starting pitchers, Jim Faulkner of the Bears and George Bell for Reading, were hit hard and gave way to relief hurlers. Herb Thomas continued his heavy slugging, getting a home run and a double to drive in two runs for the Bears.

Jamieson had almost won his own game when he drove the ball into the city park for a home run but was called out for failing to touch second. McLean's homer then put an end to the game.

Goldsmith's pitching was the game's big feature, the Smith's Falls twirler retiring the side on strikes in the first, sixth and seventh innings. Dowsett, at first for the visitors, had only one fielding chance.

MENIE TRIMS BETHEL 11-9

Four-Run Rally in Sixth Gives Visitors the Victory.

2ND GAME OF PLAYOFFS

BURNBRAE, August 5 (Examiner Correspondence). — Menie softball team invaded Bethel on Friday evening for the second game of the playoff series, and surprised everyone, including themselves, by winning 11 runsto 9, and tying up the series. Six runs down at the end of the second the cause looked hopeless for Menie, but a few well placed hits coupled with some loose work on the part of the Bethel battery gave them the deciding margin. Menie started off with two counters in the first on hits by Rannie and Eagleson, a passed ball and a sacrifice fly by Frank Little. Bethel came back by pounding Kerr hard for six hits, aided by two errors, giving them five runs. In Menie's half of the second, Broadworth performed the remarkable feat of striking out Kerr, Shillinglaw, and Hay in order. Bethel added three more when Bill Warren and Percy Gibson singled, followed by Ab. Warren's homer to deep left. Menie got four back in the third on successive hits by Lew Little, Rannie, Eagleson, and Frank Little. Bodwell's two errors and a sacrifice hit. Gerald Broadworth started the fourth with a homer to centre for Bethel's ninth and last counter.

Menie forged ahead in the sixth. After Kerr had started by striking out for the third time in succession, Shillinglaw secured his only hit of the game, Hay was safe on a missed third strike, Lew Little scored both with a slashing single to centre, but was forced at second by Rannie. Eagleson then secured his fourth hit in as many times at bat, and the two runs were driven in on hits by Frank Little and Petherick. Tom Little ended the inning with a foul fly to Carlisle, failing to reach first, a decided contrast to the previous game when he got three hits, two of them triples. Kerr led off the seventh with his only hit, a good single, and scored Menie's eleventh run on sacrifice hits by Shillinglaw and Hay.

Rannie and Eagleson, with three runs each, scored just over half of the Menie total. Bethel's dying attempt looked good to win the game, but taking chances on the bases proved their undoing. M. Gibson was out to start the inning, but Carlisle singled and advanced on Walt Warren's fourth hit of the game. Carlisle attempted a steal to third when the catcher fumbled the ball and was out on a snap throw. Bill Warren singled for his fourth hit, and trying to steal second on the pitch to G. Broadworth, was thrown out by T. Little.

Incidentally much credit for Menie's win must go to Petherick playing his first game of the season as an infielder. He had four put-outs at second, as well as several assists. His work on the last play undoubtedly won the game for Menie, as Warren was only out by a few inches at best. Bill Warren, Gerald Broadworth, Percy Gibson, and Ab. Warren scored two each, with Bodwell contributing the other. E. Broadworth, usually a strong batter, failed to reach first. G. Broadworth, P. Gibson, and A. Bodwell got three hits each. Kerr struck out four of the Bethel batters with Broadworth causing eight Menie men to swing at third strikes. Inability to hold the fast pitchel ball on the part of W. Warren and the failure of his pitcher to cover home plate on short passed balls allowed Eagleson to score two of his three runs.

Runners left on bases spells a sad story for Bethel as eight of their runners were left by the wayside, while only four Menie men stayed on the baselines.

The third and deciding game of the series is called for Wednesday evening at Stirling Agricultural Park. A close game should result, as the scores of the two previous games show only a two-run margin on each occasion.

Bethel — G. Broadworth, p; Will Warren, c; M. Gibson, 1b; Bodwell, 2b; E. Broadworth, 3b; A. Warren, ss; Carlisle, lf; P. Gibson, cf; Walt. Warren, rf.

Menie — Kerr, p; T. Little, c; Shillinglaw, 1b; Petherick, 2b; Rannie, 3b; Eagleson, ss; Hay, lf; L. Little, cf; F. Little, rf.

Score by innings:

Exhibition Game.

A friendly game of softball was staged before Wednesday evening's league service by Menie Juniors and the local team whose pitcher happens to be the only members over junior age. Unfortunately the scorekeeper ran out of materials before the game ended, but had enough information on hand to show that the locals were leading, though both teams ran the score into two figures. Some of the features of the game were fine catches by the respective centre fielders, good work by Menie's left fielders, nice fielding by the local shortstop, and a freak catch by Menie's shortstop of a ball which bounced out of the pitcher's hands. Hutcheon had Kerr guessing at times and struck him out on three occasions. Whitton got a nice home run, while F. Fry and Crawford each secured three-baggers. Errors were numerous at the outset, but as the game progressed the play became much better. Craighead at first looked best for Menie's infield.

Starter in 1930 Swim

DON FITZGERALD WINS BIG SWIM

Ruth Sutton of Peterborough Wins First Women's Swim at Juniper Island.

SAILING RACES.

JUNIPER ISLAND, Aug. 5.—Don Fitzgerald of Lakefield triumphed over a field of six swimmers in the one-mile championship swim held in connection with the Juniper Island Regatta with other preliminary events on Saturday afternoon. He will hold the G. K. Fraser Challenge Cup, donated by Mrs. G. K. Fraser, for the coming season.

Fitzgerald's time for the mile was 36 minutes. With powerful, even strokes he led Allan Grey and David McCarthey over the line by a safe distance. Grey won second prize and McCarthey third.

In the women's mile championship swim Ruth Sutton of Peterborough covered the distance in 42 minutes to win the G. K. Fraser Challenge Cup donated by Mr. G. K. Fraser. Mrs. M. Patterson and Gwen Sorby offered strong opposition finishing second and third.

Russell Wins.

In a field of six Roslyn Russell of Toronto piloted his canoe to victory in the canoe sailing event and took possession of the Morrow Cup. Charlie McLeod of Toronto gave him a close run and finished a good second. Andrew Brewin of Toronto captured the Fraser Cup for 14-foot dinghies when he handily outdistanced six other entries in the Dinghy Sailing. Bill Crouse and Stuart Wotherspoon battled hard for second and third positions, Crouse emerging the victor.

With a nice exhibition of seamanship, Crouse won the open sailing against three other competitors. He left second and third places to Brewin and Robert Morris. The course was three miles and two laps were required in each event.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

REDUCING DURING THE HOT WEATHER.

When the warm weather is at hand, it is a good time for our overweight friends to get started on a reducing diet.

During the cool weather, so much food is needed to retain the heat necessary to keep the body functions in proper condition that a reduction in diet at this time seems to upset some individuals, and they feel 'chilly' all the time. With others the cool weather is the best time.

During the warm weather about 15 per cent. of the usual food intake may be safely omitted and this is a big start towards reduction.

Now, as the eyes, the brain appetite, enters into this matter of dieting, it is wise perhaps not to cut down so much on the 'bulk' of the food eaten.

For instance, sugar, butter, and cream do not 'bulk' very large but they are certainly fat producers where little exercise is taken.

Bread and potatoes are likewise fat producers but they take up a little more space on the plate. If, instead of these foods, other foods that are more bulky, and appeal to the eye and brain are used; enough food is thus eaten to 'satisfy' the individual's appetite.

Such foods as lettuce, celery, turnips, apples, spinach—all excellent foods—may be eaten in large quantities to make up for a decrease in butter, fats, cream, potatoes and bread.

At the end of each week the weight should be taken and if there is not a decrease of one to one and a half pounds, a little less food should be eaten, particularly your cream and sugar.

It is not wise to cut down too much on meat or eggs as they are necessary for repair of tissue.

Now, what about water?

Despite the statements frequently made that water does not put on weight, experience proves only too well that water does put on weight, particularly on those who are overweight. You and I know many individuals who drink quarts of water daily and can't put on one pound of weight. This is because they are what is called 'drys,' their tissues simply will not hold much water. However, most of our overweight friends are 'wets,' whose tissues will hold large quantities of water, and this water makes up considerable of this excess weight.

Water is good for most of us. It is needed for all the processes, and a glass of water twice a day between meals is advisable.

And water does seem so satisfying in the warm weather.

However, if weight is to be reduced, it must be done in a systematic manner, and the eating of the above bulky foods, and drinking only small quantities of water should enable one to get off consderable weight in a safe manner at a safe time of the year.

CANOE BUILDERS HOLD EXCURSION

300 Enjoy the Fourth Annual Picnic of Canadian Watercraft Company Limited.

STOP AT ROTARY CAMP.

Happy, yes that's the word, happy and a bit tired after a real day's excursion up the lakes nearly 300 employees, wives and families of the Canadian Watercraft Company Limited, filed off the old reliable Stoney Lake at George street dock Saturday evening.

It was the fourth annual outing of the combined staff of the Peterborough Canoe and the Canadian Canoe Companies and the officials had spared nothing to make the day a success. For the mothers it was a holiday in every sense of the word—not a lunch, pie nor cake had to be taken as both lunch and supper were arranged for by the companies. For the kiddies it was a day chuck full of pleasures—bags of candies for each going up, sport-sand swimming at Clear Lake camp and all day suckers coming back, kept the youngsters extremely busy.

Start Made in Rain

Rain, steadily teeming down, made the start at 8 o'clock just a little damp, but half an hour later up the canal the sun broke forth and made up the rest of the day for his lateness. The trip up through the great lift lock proved, as always, a thrill for those fho have never made the passage. Picnic spirit prevailed, friend chatted with friend, while the younger set gathered round the piano some budding artist produced a violin and songs were order of the day.

Shortly after 12 o'clock the steamer docked at the Rotary camp on Clear Lake. Here on tables spread on the bank overlooking the lake, lunch was served.

Sports came next on the program, and in the boys' sport field, while the men played ball, the tiny tots' races were run off under the able management of Superintendent Thomas Taylor, Thomas Henry and a willing committee. Special prizes were given the winners, but every boy and girl received something for his or her efforts in the sprints. Considerable enthusiasm was shown in the men's and ladie's races for the splendid prizes put up.

Vote of Thanks

At the conclusion of the races Harry Morgan, mill foreman, on behalf of the employees, heartily thanked Messrs. W. A. Richardson, C. H. Rogers, president and vice president of the Peterborough Canoe Company, the other officials and the sports committee of the Canadian Watercraft Company for the grand outing, which this year even excelled the trips of other years.

Just before embarking at 4 o'clock, two men's swimming races were staged, and the many entrants chased Tommy Dunlop and George Weir, the winners, hard for the prizes, a fine mantle clock and silver tray.

Two speed boats had been brought along for aqua-planing but the lake proved too rough.

Lucky Number Contest

As the crowd came aboard for a cruise around the lake each was given a lucky number ticket—Fred Stapley, Albert Turcott and Irwin Luther hold the lucky cards.

The trip up to Juniper Island and down the other channel to Young's Point and on through the numerous locks past Lakefield, in the cool of the evening, was one that for sheer beauty can hardly be excelled.

On the way down supper was served on board and the trip finished out in songs and round and square dancing.

The prize winners were as follows:

Boys (6 years and under)—Grant Dundas, John Doran.

Girls (6 years and under)—Nellie Smith, Alfreda Wilson.

Boys (6 years to 8 years)—Grant Dundas, Kenneth Sanderson.

Girls (6 years to 8 years—Gwen Record, Eleanor Taylor.

Boys (8 o 10 years)—Tom McCarthy, Jack O'Dette.

Girls (8 to 10 years)—Doris Frost, Doreen Smith.

Now is a good time to be making Christmas gifts!

• • • • • • •

Now don't stop reading the column just because I have commenced talking about Christmas gifts when the weather isn't very much in the way of being Christmasy!

• • • • • • •

But really when the weather is hot one tries to do as much inactive work as possible and there is something in fancywork that accords with the prevailing beauty of summertime.

• • • • • • •

The very word fancywork separates it from practical sewing and gives a certain attractive glamor to the needlecraft. And by following the inclination to do the daintier stitchery of fancywork saves herself the undesirable rush that proceeds Christmas.

• • • • • • •

You will have noticed the number of cross stitch designs which are being shown. There are some very pretty cushion covers and there are some lovely needlework-picture patterns which are lovely when framed.

• • • • • • •

If you have a friend with a foot stool and you wish to give her a top for it, cut the shape of the canvas so that when worked it conforms to the size of the stool. These are really lovely when done in attractive colors.

• • • • • • •

Remember when selecting the canvas with few or many holes to the inch according to whether you wish the design to be large or small. The fewer the number of holes to the inch the smaller the design will be.

• • • • • • •

A smart way to embroider the pattern and one which takes the least time is to baste the canvas to a piece of cloth and cross stitch the design only taking each stitch through canvas and the cloth.

• • • • • • •

Pull out the strands of the canvas after the work is done and the silhouette will be left on the textile. This is one of the oldentime popular ways of working designs especially those for chair seats and it can be used to advantage today.

• • • • • • •

The design is sometimes done in beads if the work is for a bag or a pin cushion. Beaded cushions are coming into evidence in antiques which are revived today, which brings them into popularity in modern work with a quaint flavor which the design certainly has.

• • • • • • •

The canvas should be very fine for bead embroidery and the beads large enough for each one to fill the space of a stitch.

RECKLESS DRIVING COSTS MAN $20

Driver's License is Also Cancelled By Magistrate For One Month.

An automobile accident on George Street on Saturday night had a Police Court sequel this morning when Herbert Colmer of this city was fined $20 and costs and his license withdrawn for a month on a charge of reckless driving. Colmer was driving at a high speed down the wrong side of the main street, it was claimed, and rammed into a car driven by Isabel Archibald, which was coming off Lake Street. He immediately drove at a high speed from the scene of the accident, but some men who pursued him in another car managed to catch up to him in the vicinity of Rye's Pavilion and get his license number.

Both cars in the accident were badly damaged but the occupants were practically uninjured.

Two Otonabee men paid $10 fine and $4 costs each for consuming liquor in a shack which failed to come under the classification "private residence." The offence occurred on July 9.

Pleading guilty to a more serious breach of the Liquor Control Act, having liquor in a place other than a private residence, Arthur Philips was fined $100. The liquor was found in his car in this city on Sunday night.

A Warsaw man, charged with vagrancy and a North Monaghan man charged with a breach of the L.C.A., were remanded for a week.

NORHAM LADIES' AID GIVEN HEALTH TALK

Regular Monthly Meeting Held at Home of Mrs. Charles Peterson.

NORHAM, Aug. 5.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The monthly meeting of the Norham Ladies' Aid of the United church was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Pearson. The president, Mrs. Norman Gummer, presided. After the singing of a hymn, the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. B. Isaac and Mrs. Clare led in prayer. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the financial returns from the garden party.

It was decided to extend an invitation to the Morganston Ladies' Aid for the next meeting of the society and Mrs. Isaac offered her home for the meeting.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Lotta of Healy's Falls gave a very interesting heath talk and demonstrated the new method of cooking without water. He said that the average housewife threw away about one half of the food when she pared her vegetables and threw away the water in which they were cooked. The mineral salts are most plentiful just under the skin of the vegetable and these are thrown away, also other minerals are dissolved in the water and thrown out.

Mineral salts compose a great part of the human body and if the supply is not kept up disease follows. Therefore we ought to favor any method of cooking that keeps these mineral salts in the food.

He showed how the heavy wear-ever aluminum retained the heat and acted as a fireless cooker.

Mr. Latto cooked meat, potatoes, carrots and beets without water and served it to the ladies present and the general opinion was that this method of cooking gave a very fine flavor to the food.

In a guessing contest that followed Mrs. Diamond guessed the lucky number.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Pierson for the use of her home.

Twenty-seven vessels, totaling 90,-65 tons, were launched at the Clyde shipyards in June, the largest tonnage output since June, 1906, excluding the war years.

Raybestos Drop First Game of Playoff to Oshawa

LOOSE FIELDING GIVES THE ARABS 7 TO 1 VICTORY

Second Game Will Be Played in Oshawa on Saturday.

DAINTY PITCHES

Arabs Were Entitled to Only Two of Their Seven Runs.

Loose fielding cost the Raybestos ball team a stinging defeat in the first game of the Lakeshore League championship playoff with Oshawa Arabs here on Saturday afternoon. The Rays had their worst day of the season kicking in with seven errors to present the Arabs with a 7-1 victory.

A complete reversal of form will have to be shown by the Brakeliners if they hope to take Andy Cohens' team into camp right in their own bailiwick at Oshawa next Saturday. If the Rays fail then it will be the Arabs which will meet the winner of the C.G.E.-Crescent tangle in the first round of the O.B.A.A. playdowns.

The twirling of Rus Kitchen was the one bright spot in the whole afternoon's work of the Raybestos' nine. The tall righthander displayed great form and if he had been backed by his usual support would have enjoyed a win. He earned a victory on his performance, setting the Oshawa sluggers back with but eight scattered hits and being on top of the batters throughout.

The Arabs were entitled to only two of their seven runs, the other five being directly due to boots on the part of the Rays' defence.

Collect Eleven Hits.

Meanwhile the Rays collected eleven hits of Duke Dainty, the Oshawa ace, but they failed to come through with hits when they were needed to give runners the final shunt over the scoring platter. Eleven Rays died on the pathways.

Most of this was due to the cunning of the Duke's left arm. The veteran of many Central League campaigns had a world of stuff but he only called on it in the pinches and at those stages had the Rays whiffing the ether. He retired eight on strikes and issued but one walk.

Home Run in First.

A home run that was a gift gave Oshawa a start in the first innings. Rowden plastered a single into centre field. The ball eluded Moore and while Hall was retrieving it Rowden made the circuit. In the third McDougal got to first when Mein fumbled his roller and the runner went to second when the second sacker followed up by making a wild throw. He scored on Grey's single into centre.

The Rays secured their lone tally in their half of the third. With one down Hall hit into centre field for two bases, and scored on Moore's single into right. In the fourth it looked as though the Rays would come through with another, when Hillier drew a walk and Rogers singled with none out. However, Hillier was caught off second, Mein fanned, and Corrin rolled to third.

Right along in each of the succeeding innings the Rays got men on second and first but they could not get them around. In the seventh H. Nicholls was tossed out at the plate when he tried to score from second on Moore's rap into short right.

The Arabs made it three in the seventh when Elliott singled, stole second and came in on Grey's double.

Again in the eighth the Rays had two men on with but one out, but Dainty rose to the occasion and whiffed the following two batters.

Defence Wide Open.

In the final frame the Rays' defence broke open and four runs crossed the plate in short order. With Whitely out, T. Elliott drew four balls, and stole second. He scored on Grey's single. Fair got a life when Kitchen muffed his short grounder. C. Elliott singled, scoring Grey. Fair and C. Elliott made a double steal. Rowden raised a sacrifice fly into left field, scoring Fair. Young's grounder went through Hillier and C. Elliott scored. Hubbell's fly was taken by Heckman to end the session.

Grey, right fielder for the Arabs, was by long odds the most effective offensive weapon of the winners. In four appearances he gathered four hits and each came at a time when they counted.

Jimmy Hall turned in one of the bright plays in the game when he grabbed Hubbell's line drive in the eighth. The ball was labelled for extra bases but Hall jumped in the air to haul it down.

Peterboro, Omemee and Keene Win Softball Trophies

GIANTS CLIMBING TO LADDER TOP WIN 12 OUT OF 15

Extra Base Hits Coupled With Effective Pitching Spells Success.

ROBINS BEATEN 4-0.

Boston Braves Eke Out a 3 to 2 Decision Over the Phillies.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (C.P.).—Extra base hits, coupled with a steady, effective pitching, is spelling success for the New York Giants as they slowly climb toward the top of the National League percentage ladder.

Putting together these two effective styles of play, the Giants have won 12 of their last 15 contests to mount within four games of the League leading Brooklyn Robins in the National circuit. The persistent climb also has narrowed both the Cubs' advantage ove their New York rivals, the difference to-day being just one and one-half games.

The Giants furnished a good example of why they are pennant contenders yesterday when they defeated the Robins 4 to 0. There was not much difference between the pitching of Fred Fitzsimmons and Watson Clark of the Robins in so far as number of hits were concerned. The Giants got nine and Brooklyn six, but three of New York's total were of the home run variety. One came off the bat of Allen in the first inning, and Lindstrom and Terry connected with the other two in succession in the ninth.

In the only other National League game on the books, the Boston Braves managed to eke out a 3 to 2 decision over the Phillies, despite Lefty O'Doul's single, triple and home run. Bob Cunningham played an important role in the Braves' triumph, holding the Phillies to eight hits and driving in two runs with a double.

SUGAR BOWL NINE WINS FIRST PLACE AT BRIDGENORTH

Softball Tournament and Horse Shoe Pitching Contest is Big Success.

KEENE GIRLS WIN.

Omemee Boys Win Challenge Trophy in Class "B" Events.

Peterborough, Omemee and Keene took home the silver trophies from Bridgenorth United Church's fourth annal Softball and Horseshoe pitching contest, staged Monday afternoon at the park grounds.

Two Lakefield men, H. Allen and N. S. Osborne won the main event in the horseshoe pitching by defeating S. Woods and A. Russel of Buckhorn 38 to 50 points. Bridgenorth crashed into the prize list by take the Consolation money, when Albert White and Harry Gravelle downed W. Hocking and B. Bennett of Ennismore 50 to 40. The second draw went to a Peterborough team, composed of Thomas Drum and Geo. Badget who were victorious over their Bridgenorth opponents, Sandy McManus and Buff McManus by 50 to 15 points.

Old Sol favored the holiday crowd with a bright sunny afternoon after spitting a few drops of rain, and as a result 11 softball teams turned out to have a try for the silverware.

In Class A, the Sugar Bowl boys of Peterborough had little difficulty in making a cleanup of the two teams they met for the honor of bringing to the city the challenge trophy for the second time since it has been offered, Harrisons capturing it last year. Clashing with their rivals of the city league, the Brinton Carpet nine, Len Forsythe stood on the mound and hurled his outfit to an 8 to 3 victory before a wildly enthusiastic home crowd.

Sturgeon worked hard but the B. and B. boys took him for seven singles and two double hits, while Forsythe issued two singles, a triple and three doubles, and led with 6 strikeouts to one by his opponent. Until the sixth the Brinton lads failed to break into the score column, and then were shut off with two counters. Kitchen in the ninth laid out a triple and managed to get across the rubber with a counter before the session closed. Forsythe opened the scoring, following a nice single and Gillespie and Dormer both followed after getting on through a couple of errors. In the third Nicholls scored on a single, Gillespie walked and scored, and Dormer scored after another single. Again in the 5th the Sugar Bowl crew added to their comfortable lead by garnering two more, when Geo. Dormer made the runway on a muffed fly into right field, and Weese also left his footprints on the home sack after a single. From then until the end the session tightened up and any scoring that was done was made by the Brintons.

The Lineups:

Sugar Bowl—Hardill, rf; Nicholls, 3b; Forsythe, p; Gillespie, cf; G. Dormer, ss; Weese, 2b; Dallin, lf; Maudsley, 1b; Jones, c.

Brintons—Creighton, 3b; Corbett, 1b; Hass, c; Rose, rf; Kitchen, ss; Sturgeon, p; Thornton, lf; Rose, cf; Frick, 2b.

Omemee's Second Win

Omemee with a borrowed battery stepped in after drawing a bye in the preliminary round and took home for the second year in succession the coveted cup by trouncing the Keene boys by 6 to 2 in class "B".

From start to finish it was a real battle, although the Keene aggregation failed for six long spasms to get a counter. It was a pitchers battle with the honors about evenly divided between Parsons and Fletcher. Each twirler struck out nine, though the Omemee lads led slightly in base hits, Mackey getting a double, Brown reaped two and N. McNeil pounded out a circuit clout. For Keene Davies was the only man to get a double. In the single hit column both outfits chalked up nine apiece.

Errors, the ghost of the diamond took a heavy toll on the Keene chances being responsible for three of the Omemee runs. The second innings saw Omemee get away to a good start when Wilson opened the battle by getting on on an error. W. McNeil followed with a nice single and N. McNeil followed with a circuit clout that made things bad for their hard working opponents. Connors scored on an error in the third, and Mackey and McQuade both came home after singles in the sixth. Whalen singled and scored for Keene in the seventh and Fletcher singled and scored in the eighth, and with the double by Davis it looked as if a rally was being staged. However it proved a false alarm. Two pretty catches were made by D. Davis in the seventh and W. McNeil in the sixth.

The lineups:

Keene—Robinson, c; Whalen, 1b; Brown, ss; Nelson, 2b; McCarthy, 3b; Fletcher, p; Hal., rf; Davis, lf; Nelson, cf.

Omemee—Morden, 1b; Brown, cf; Connors, c; Wilson, 2b; W. McNeil, ss; N. McNeil, 3b; Mackey, cf; McQuade, rf; Parsons, p.

Umpires — Dobson, plate, Green, bases.

Keene Girls Victorious

Two old rivals met when the Keene and the 6th Line, Otonabee girls fought it out for honors. After meeting five times this summer and the latter taking three of the matches, the 6th line girls weakened yesterday to let Keene take home the challenge cup for the second time in succession on a 16 to 7 score. Mary Hall the twirler for the losers served up a much superior brand of ball but had some weak backing in the field. Mary doled out 11 strikeouts in the seven innings she held the mound and on top of that and splendid work on the three bases, the outfield was unable to hold her up.

For Keene, D. Gainor, H. Nelson and R. Gainor were outstanding, while for the 6th line V. Elliott, L. Bowoe and I. Davis starred.

Lineups:

6th Line Otonabee—Mary Hall, p; L. Donaldson, c; V. Elliott, 1b; L. Bowie, 2b; I. Daves, 3b; M. Renwick, ss; H. Weir, lf; D. Elliott, cf; H. Donaldson, rf.

Devils Down Indians

Bridgenorth Devils in the boys' game had little trouble in taking their neighbors up the line, the Chemong Indians for a 13 to 3 tally and were awarded the bat and ball put up as the prise.

The lineups: :

Chemong Indians—A. Clarke, 2b; M. Watson, c; A. Elkin, 1b; R. Clarke p; W. Wright, ss; G. Clarke, lf; D. McPherson, rf; J. Gemmell, 3b; R. Pulkinghorn, cf.

Umpires—Bradshaw bases, Connors plate.

Leading Preliminary

Of the preliminaries the Lakefield-Keene game proved the best by long odds, and as the result of a last minute rally in the sixth and seventh the Keene lads walked out from under a whitewash to trounce the Cementville boys by a 7-3 tally. Doug Brown turned the tide in the last half of the seventh, when the Keene boys had only four counters to Lakefield's five. With three balls and two strikes called on him, a man on third and two down, Brown lapped out a nice single that tied the proceedings and sent the game into an extra innings that ended in victory for the Keene crew. Fletcher was the outstanding man of the game. He pitched a good brand of ball and can be practically given credit for winning his own game. G. Nelson and McCarthy put up some smart plays, while for Lakefield, Payne, Christian, Wannamaker and Junkin were outstanding.

Lineups:

Keene—D. Davis, lf; Whalen, 1b; Robinson, c; Davies, rf; D. Brown, ss; Fletcher, p; M. McCarthy, cf; A. Nelson, 3b; G. Nelson, 3b.

Brintons Take First

Brintons won their first round with little difficulty from the Harrison aggregation taking them in for a 10-3 trimming. Up until the fifth the game had signs of ending in a tough battle but Montgomery weakened in the fifth and as a result the Brinton lads lifted several costly drives out past the outfield that resulted in 8 runs. Several errors also added to make a poor finish between two teams that are struggling neck and neck for the second half honors in the city league.

Brintons—Creighton, 3b; Corbett, 1b; Hass, c; R. Rose, rf; Kitchen, ss; Sturgeon, p; Thornton, lf; H. Rose, cf; Frick, 2b.

10 Teams in Main Event

Ten teams entered the horseshoe pitching main event, and under the able supervision of Walter Fitzgerald Peterborough and scorers, J. Rome and H. Nugent, Peterborough, and Albert White, Bridgenorth and others

The most keenly contested event proved the battle between Thomas Drum, Peterborough and Robert Tulley of Smith for the ringer prize, the former winning the laurels after the pair tying with four ringers on four shoes. A second tie followed and the match went an extra four ends to break the deadlock.

A most creditable showing was put up by Harry Gravelle, 17 year old lad of Bridgenorth in the Consolation season when time after time he doubled up to pull his team out and finally capture the hobors.

Rev. Totton Presents Cups

At the conclusion of the sports the Rev. Mr. J. O. Totton pastor of Bridgenorth United Church presented the trophies to the winning teams and congratulated them upon the splendid exhibitions they had shown. Miss Dorothy Gainor accepted the Girls trophy on behalf of the Keene visitors while F. G. Parsons for Omemee was presented with the men's Class B trophy. The Class A cup was handed to M. MacWilliams representing the Sugar Bowl team.

Under the direction of Mrs. Harry Jopling, president, the Ladies' Aid Society provided an excellent supper served in cafeteria style, and together with the sales of cakes and pies afterwards realized the sum of over $40.

Softball Notes.

There will be plenty of softball for the fans this week, two games being scheduled every night. Tonight Harrison and Westclox will battle it out at Central School grounds. This game is very important as both teams are neck and neck at the top rung. A win for Harrison's will create a tie for first place, while a Westclox win will give them a good grip on first place.

At the Brinton grounds Sugar Bowl and Brintons hook up. Both these teams are tied for third place and both have a good chance of winning the second half. This also should prove a good game.

Wednesday night Belmonts and Westclox at Central and Harrison's and Brintons at Brinton grounds.

ATHLETICS GAIN ON THE SENATORS

Washington and New York Were Both Idle Yesterday in the American.

DETROIT TRIMS CHICAGO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5. (C.P.)—The pennant chase in the American League saw the Athletics take advantage of the Yankees and Senators' idleness to gain a half game with a 13 to 4 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Lefty Grove hung up his seventeenth victory of the season, easing up near the close to let the Sox hit, but shutting down when men were on base. In addition the Mackmen's ace accounted for three runs with a home run in the second inning. The champions pounded Horace Lisenbee and Bob Smith for 15 hits, including two doubles, three triples and a pair of home runs. Two of the triples and one home run, his twenty-sixth of the season, were credited to Al Simmons.

Game Goes 12 Innings

Charlie Gehringer was the whole show at Detroit as the Tigers took a 12-inning pitching duel from the Chicago White Sox 7 to 3. His home run in the twelfth with the bases loaded gave Vic Sorrell the best of the hurling argument with Ted Lyons. Previously he had hit another home run in the third with one man on the sacks.

Coming from behind in the ninth with a three-run rally, the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns 5 to 2. It was Wesley Ferrell's eighteenth mound triumph of the season.

CANADA'S FINEST YOUNG ATHLETES TO MEET IN TORONTO ON SATURDAY

Canadian Athletic Championships Will Be Decided at Varsity Stadium.

WINNERS IN EMPIRE GAMES.

TORONTO Ont., Aug. 5. (By The Canadian Press).—A great assembly of Canadian athletes, perhaps the finest ever seen in Canada yet, will vie on track and field for double honours at Varsity Stadium on Saturday. The Canadian Athletic championships will be decided under auspices of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. In the background loom the Empire games to open in Hamilton a week later. The lure that has drawn athletes from all parts of Canada to the Canadian title meet at aVrsity Stadium, a highly necessary preliminary test.

Stars who brought fame to Canada at the Olympic games will find themselves pitted against a hard-trained, keen-spirited rank and file. And Percy Williams of Vancouver, his Olympic sprinting crowns very little dimmed in the fierce competition he has seen since Amsterdam days, will be confronted with a little band of sprinters of no mean ability —Ralph Adams, Leigh Miller and Johnny Fitzpatrick of Hamilton, to mention the outstanding ones. All are in perfect trim.

Williams Big Favorite.

Williams of course is expected to take the Canadian sprinting titles in his stride, in more senses than one. They are now held by Adams, who captured them with some speedy footwork up in the Rockies last year in the absence of Williams. Saturday's championships assume a much more competitive character than last year's tourney, and there seems little likelihood the athletes will complain of a wet snowfall or of the high altitude catching their wind, as some did at Banff a year ago.

Percy and his fellow sprinters show themselves to the public in an exhibition race during the Dominion police athletic games at Toronto Island on Wednesday evening.

Athletics from every province will be here. The meets in different sections — there were keenly-contested sectional games at Cornwall, Brandon and Edmonton yesterday, and there have been earlier provincial meets—will be climaxed by the Canadian meet which promises to set up a new mark for the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union to shoot at in future years.

As in earlier meets both on land and water, some special events have been added to the regular Canadian championship program to familiarize the athletes with these features of the Empire Games. Entrants from far parts of the Empire who are getting in shape at Hamilton for the greater events will probably be down here in force to see their Canadian competitors perform.

LAWN BOWLING

Civic Holiday was observed on the greens of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club yesterday by a local tournament in which twelve rinks contested.

A series of five games was played —one in the morning, two in the afternoon and two at night. First prizes were carried off by Harold Freeman, second by J. Bennett and third by J. W. Mayneord.

The next event on the Peterborough Greens will take place on Friday night when the weekly tournament takes place

KING OF MOCKERY PIERROT IS DEAD

Great Corsican, Conducts Stage Funeral of Famous Character.

NONE TO TAKE HIS PLACE.

PARIS, France, Aug. 5. (By Josephine Hambleton, C. P. Staff Correspondent).—Pierrot is dead.

To have seen his cortege carried in the mid-summer night up the mountain of Ventoux, where it overlooks the valley of the Rhone, to see it wend its way to the cemetery of Sauveterre, whose grey walls enclose a silence more heavy than that of any pantomine, was to see the passing of something beautiful from the world.

For Pierrot, "the eternal anonymous," the Light o'Love, the Phantom of Youth, had a being and a name—Severin.

Severin, King of Mimes

Severin, the king of Mimes, was a Corsican. He learned his art in Marseilles, capital of the pantomine where boys in the streets, as in Naples, speak to each other by this language. The art has been kept alive in Marseilles since the Greeks landed on its shores 3,500 years ago. In all that time it has known many eclipses, broken by periods of great popularity.

From Debureau and the great Rouff, famous masters of pantomime in the last half of the 19th century, Severin inherited the man with the white face and of him made Pierrot.

Of Severin it was said, "He had a tongue in every finger, every gesture touched a human cord. No other pantomimist could catch the dream to which two hearts beat and make it live before the eye as did Severin."

He took Pierrot the gay, Pierrot the mocker at man's frailities and showed him the butt of fate, the deceived, the abandoned. In Chand d'Habits' hands and masks, and the red shadow he reached the heighth of his popularity. Then came the war. He was three times wounded, three times decorated.

Mourned After War

Since then he has known indifference and oblivion, eating his heart out far from Paris at Chateau-Neuf-des-Papes, which looks down upon the deserted palace of the Schism Popes at Avignon. Just before his death, in his biography, Pierrot wrote of Columbine:

"Slight girl with eyes of heaven—for you were pretty, unbelievably pretty, with your soft, innocent air—so you had to desert Pierrot. But did you have to do it so cruelly? Could you not have dissembled a little longer, even if you loved another?

"You knew from the doctor it was a question of a few weeks, perhaps only a few days.

"Such is love. So let it be. Poor Columbine."

Severin was the only one who ever improvised the death of Pierrot on the stage. He made the elusive phantom mortal. It was prophetic. He leaves none to take his place.

Pierrot has gone forever from the world's stage.

CRESCENTS MEET C.G.E. TO-NIGHT

First Game of the E.P.L. Championship Finals Played To-night.

PLAY NINE INNINGS.

Crescents and Canadian Generals go to the wire this evening for the first game in the E.P.L. championship finals. Both clubs are confident. Pitching assignments have not been announced.

The contest will start at six o'clock and will go the regulation nine innings. The second game will be played on Thursday evening.

Information on the O.B.A.A. draw for the first round is to the effect that if Oshawa wins the Lakeshore League the Arabs will play Toronto and the E.P.L. winner will meet the Bay of Quinte champions. A win for Raybestos over Oshawa will mean a first-round series between the Brakeliners and the victor in the local loop.

Because the Iron and Steel Workers' Confederation cannot finance him any longer, it is expected that Tom Griffiths, the Socialist M.P. for Pontypool, England, will resign his seat in Parliament.

BRITISH ATHLETES NEARLY MISS TRAIN

Entrants at Empire Games Leave for the Hamilton Contest.

LONDON, Aug. 5. (Canadian Press Cable).—Lord Burghley, the noted hurdler and Brooman the lightweight boxer, were forced to show their mettle when their train pulled out of Waterloo Station towards Southampton this morning carrying forty-six British athletes bound for the Empire Games in Hamilton, Ontario.

Burghley and Brooman were talking to friends at the barrier when the whistle announcing the train's departure sounded. Dispensing with further farewells the men dashed after the departing train. Brooman side-stepping knots of people adroitly and Burghley hurdling two luggage barrows. After a good sprint they managed to jump into a rear coach on which some enthusiasts had pinned a Union Jack.

Tennis by artificial light is booming in Australia, where it is estimated there are more than 2,000 night courts on which play is enjoyed under electric lights.

OPPOSITION PROMISES SOUGHT BY HON. G. FORBES

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 5.—(C.P. Cable via Reuters.)—Premier, the Rt. Hon. G. W. Forbes, who succeeded to the mantle of the late Sir Joseph Ward, will not leave for the Imperial Conference in London this autumn without first securing an agreement from the leaders of the official opposition and the Labor parties that his government wil not be overthrown in his absence, he announced to-day. Mr. Forbes declared controversial matters would, as far as possible be disposed of before his departure.

The Government has been in power since 1928 largely by the aid of Independents. The strong and much-respected personality of Sir Joseph Ward, New Zealand's veteran statesman, who died a few weeks ago, was credited largely with keeping his party in power.

WILSON IS REMANDED

Youth Faces Charge of Manslaughter Following Auto Crash.

LINDSAY, Aug. 5 (Examiner Correspondent).—Howard Wilson, of the village of Omemee, who is charged with manslaughter, came before Police Magistrate Jordan, Saturday, and was remanded for a week. Young Wilson was the driver of the car which turned over a few evenings ago on the Downeyville road, killing Helen Johnson, a young girl of that village.

A Trio of Stars —By Jimmy Thompson

Both the eastern and western extremities of the Dominion will be represented at the track and field championships to be held at Toronto, August 9. These trials are the final blowouts for the coming British Empire Games at Hamilton. The card for this year's meet is patterned after the Olympic Games, and the events are held at metric distances. Canada's Marathoners have already been chosen, but the runners who will carry the maple leaf at five and ten thousand metres at the Games will be chosen from the championships. Speculation is rift as to who will constitute the team, as there are so many capable runners to choose from. At 10,000 metres Wilf. McCluskey of Toronto has earned the title of "chief of the sixes," owing to the fact that he has yet to be beaten over the six-mile route. While Reynolds of Galt, generally regarded as one of the best fifteen-milers, will also be battling for a place on the 10,000 metre team. Experts claim that he will secure this without much difficulty. Walter "Red" Hornby, the Hamilton Olympic club star, is the outstanding favorite for the 5,000 metre event.

PERCY WILLIAMS READY FOR RACES

Olympic Sprint Champion Welcomed in Toronto With Other B. C. Experts.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 5 (C.P.)—Percy Williams, Vancouver, B.C., Olympic sprinting champion, was welcomed by local sport enthusiasts to-day when he arrived here with the Bhitish Columbia entrants in the Canadian track and field championships next Saturday.

He was accompanied by John Cameron, Police Chief of New Westminster, B.C.; Archie McDiarmid, Vancouver, both weight throwing experts, and Bert Davidson of Vancouver, manager of the team. Williams and Cameron will make their first public appearance here to-morrow in the Toronto police games, and all three will compete in the Canadian championships Saturday for the right to represent Canada in the British Empire Games at Hamilton.

Among those at the station were Harry Warren, B.C., sprinter, and Duncan McNaughton, high jumper from the coast, who arrived some days ago.

Has No Alibis.

"What was wrong when Eddie Tolan and George Simpson, United States sprinters, beat you at Vancouver in July?" Williams was asked to-day.

"There was nothing wrong," he replied; "nothing could have beaten Tolan that day. They beat me and I have no excuses or alibis."

While admitting that he was still taking treatments for his sore leg, Williams refused to make this an excuse for past or future defeats. "If I can't win, then they are better than I am," he insisted.

Ladies Welcome Sprinter

When Percy went to Varsity Stadium to shake out the kinks in his legs after his long train ride from Vancouver, he received another reception of a variety which staggered the bashful sprinting champion.

Three hundred women were doing physical exercises on the sward as part of their work in the summer physical training course at the University of Toronto. Williams sought out a quiet place on the back stretch but one sharp-eyed young woman discovered him.

Percy was forthwith surrounded, forced to give a speech to his admirers and a demonstration of how Olympic races are won. After that ordeal he was allowed to proceed with his work-out, still watched by a bevy of the fair students who abandoned their own exercises for the day.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TAG GAME.

"Good morning, Mrs. Twistytail!" called Uncle Wiggily to the fat pig lady as he saw her coming out in the yard one one day to hang up some wet clothes on the dry line.

"Oh, good morning, Uncle Wiggily," grunted Mrs. Twistytail. "What brings you around here so early? Are you looking for adventures?"

"I am looking for one of your stockings, Mrs. Twistytail," said the rabbit gentleman.

"One of my stockings! Ho! Ho!" laughed the fat lady pig, shaking all over like cornstarch pudding riding on an electric fan. "Don't tell me you have lost your socks and are going to try to wear one of my stockings. It would be a mile too big for you. I'm so fat! Ha! Ha!"

Mrs. Twistytail was fat and knew it and she wasn't ashamed of it. She thought it was rather jolly

"I'm not asking for one of your stockings for myself, but for my little friend here, Porky Pine," said Uncle Wiggily and then the pig lady, looking over the fence, saw the little porcupine chap with his sharp quills standing out all over him like a dill pickle stuck full of toothpicks.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the Lady pig.

"Don't let him come near me! I'm very tender and soft though I am fat!" grunted Mrs. Twistytail, waddling toward her pen house. "I like Porky, and all that, but I don't want any of his quills sticking into me! No, indeed! Excuse me!"

"Wait a minute, Mrs. Twistytail!" called Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "Porky isn't going to stick you and it's just because he doesn't want to stick any of his friends that I am asking you for one of your old stockings."

"I don't understand," grunted the lady pig, coming back to the yard where she was hanging up her clothes to dry.

"It's like this," explained Mr. Longears. "None of the other animal boys and girls will play tag with Porky on account of his quills sticking them if they so much as touch him. Porky is very lonesome, with no one to play with. So when I saw your stockings hanging on the line I thought if you would let him take an old one, so he could cut off the foot and slip the leg over his quills, they wouldn't stick into anybody when he played. Will you?"

"Why of course I'll give him an old stocking!" grunted the lady pig.

"Oh, thank you, so much!" squeaked Porky.

Mrs. Twistytail took from the line a stocking the foot of which had some holes in it. With her scissors she cut the foot from the stocking leaving the round, big leg, like a bag without any bottom.

"Slip yourself into that stocking leg, Porky," said Uncle Wiggily. "That will hold your quills down and you can safely play with the other children and not prick them. Get into the stocking leg and then I'll watch you have a game tag."

But this was easier said than done. Porky must let his head and legs stick out of the stocking leg or else he couldn't run about and see to tag the others.

"We must cut four holes in the stocking leg for Porky's paws to come through, said Uncle Wiggily. "There is a hole already for his head to stick out. But your tail must be covered, Porky, my boy, for that has many quills on it."

"Yes, my tail must be covered," Porky agreed.

Mrs. Twistytail cut four holes in the stocking leg for Porky's paws and then Porky tried to crawl into it. But it was hard work and at last Uncle Wiggily and Mrs. Twistytail had to help him by holding the end of the stocking leg open with three branches for Porky to pop into Doing this the rabbit gentleman and the lady pig took care not to be stuck with Porky's sharp quills.

But at last the little porcupine boy was inside the stocking leg, and very funny he looked, too, please let me tell you. Uncle Wiggily had to laugh and so did Mrs. Twistytail and so did Porky himself when he looked at his reflection in a spring of water that was like a mirrow.

"Come on now, I'll watch you play a new kind of tag!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily as he walked beside Porky through the woods. Soon they heard the merry shouts and laughter of the other animal children who were having fun.

"Oh, I want to play!" cried Porky, skipping ahead of Uncle Wiggily into the crowd of animal boys and girls.

"Oh, Porky, we like you, but you can't play with us because you'll stick us with your quills!" said Baby Bunty.

"No, Porky won't stick you now, for he has Mrs. Twistytail's stocking leg on, and it is so thick no quills will come through," said Uncle Wiggily. 'Let Porky play tag with you!"

"Oh, yes, Porky can play with us now!" barked Jackie Bow Wow. And when they had all laughed, with Porky, at his funny stocking leg protector, they played a fine game of tag as Mr. Longears watched.

WEDDING BELLS

THORSEN-ANDERSON

St. Andrew's United Church was the scene of a quiet evening wedding on Saturday, when the marriage took place at seven o'clock of Jean Helen, only daughter of Mrs. T. L. Andderson, Frederick Avenue, and the late T. L. Anderson, to John Christian Thorsen of Toronto, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Thorsen, of Hillerod, Denmark, formerly of Aberdeen, Scotland.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean. John Crane officiated at the organ.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Stanley Anderson, of Toronto, who gave her in marriage. She wore a lovely gown of Madeleine blue flat crepe with close-fitting bodice and long, full skirt. The yoke, of beige lace, formed a tiny sleeve and extended down in a deep point, both back and front.

Her picture hat was of mohair in a matching shade of blue and was trimmed with a narrow beige ribbon band. Long gloves and hose were of beige silk, with blonde kid shoes. The bride's only ornament was a necklace of blue crystal and her bouquet was of Butterbfly roses and gypsophila.

The only attendant was the dainty little flower girl, Marie McLean, who was frocked in a pink silk crepe with black slippers and pink silk hose. She wore a pink bandeau in her hair, and carried a basket of pink snapdragons and gypsophila.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Ross Williamson sang very sweetly, "At Dawning."

An informal reception was afterwards held at the home of the bride where her mother assisted in receiving, wearing a dress of black flat crepe with a flowered pattern in periwinkle blue, and a black hat.

Refreshments were served from the bride's table, which was done with a cloth of Madeira embroidery and lace insets, silver bud vases filled with sweet peas, silver candleholders with blue candles, and the bride's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorsen left later by motor for a brief honeymoon at Beachwood. On their return, they will make their home in Toronto.

The bride's travelling outfit was an ensemble of navy silk with eggshell blouse, a small hat of stitched navy taffeta, beige for scarf, brown shoes and eggshell hose.

KILLORAN—BUCHA A

The marriage of Irene Agnes, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Buchanan, of 87 Benson Avenue, to Joseph Leo Killoran, B.Sc., of Drummondville, Quebec, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Killoran, of Albert Street, was an interesting event of this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, where the Nuptial Mass which united them in the holy bonds of matrimony was solemnized at eight o'clock by the Rev. P. Costello.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a lovely frock of graceful, long lines. The skirt fell in soft draperies to her ankles, all the way around, from a peplum ruffle that outlines the natural waist line. The gown of shell pink georgette was posed over a foundation of pink silk crepe whose deep skirt ruffle and pointed yoke of heavy cream Spanish lace showed through the thin material. It had tiny puff sleeve and a yoke of the georgette was outlined at the back of the frock by a tiny ruffle.

The bride's large picture hat was of shell-pink lace straw, made with a narrow brim in the front and a flaring, fan-like flange at the back. The crown was encircled by a narrow band of shell-pink velvet ribbon. Her slippers were of matching pink satin with eggshell silk hose. She wore opera length gloves of white kid and a pearl necklace. Her bouquet was of Sunburst roses and lily of the valley showered with long white ribbon streamers, studded with valley lilies.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Buchanan, a sister of the bride, was charmingly gowned in poudre blue georgette, the skirt made with three tiered ruffles and the tiny sleeves ending in ruffled flares. A large hat of blue mohair had a matching velvet ribbon band and flat silk flowers embroidered on the side flanges. Long white kid gloves, matching blue kid slippers and eggshell hose were worn and the bridesmaid carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. Her pendant was of brilliants, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Lillian Hurley played the wesding music and Miss Geraldine Collins sang an Ava Maria and other hymns, during the progress of the ceremony.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Buchanan, mother of the bride, receiving in a gown of beach sand ninette with coat of beach sand moire, matching hat and shoes and corsage bouquet of lily of the valley and roses.

Mrs. Killoran, mother of the bridegroom, was in dark blue crepe morocain with blue stitched taffeta hat and corsage bouquet of lily of the valley.

Refreshments were catered for by Messrs. Hooper and Sons and were served from the bride's table, centered by the cake and arranged with a silver bowl filled with pink Dorothy Perkins roses and pink candles in silver holders tied with tulle bows. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of flowers; snapdragons, phlox, gladioli, nasturtiums and roses.

Mr. Killoran and his bride left this afternoon by motor for a honeymoon trip to Bigwin Inn, Muskoka, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, Tadoussac and the Saguenay. They will reside in Drummondville, Quebec.

The bride travelled in a smart three-piece ensemble of sand and brown silk tweed, with a tailored blouse, small sand felt hat, sand snakeskin shoes and purse, matching hose and gloves.

HOWARD—ROGERS.

An unusually interesting wedding took place in St. George's Church, Grafton, Wednesday afternoon, July 30, when Dorothy Beatrice Isabella, daughter of Lieut.-Col. C. H. Rogers, O.B.E., and Mrs. Rogers, was married to James Willis Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howard of Palermo, Ont., and direct descendent of the present Earl of Carlisle, whose family name is Howard. The Rev. T. Stannage Boyle, D.D., D.C.L., rector of St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, conducted the ceremony, and the wedding march was played by Miss Kathleen Warner, also of Cobourg. The church was beautifully decorated, and the bride and groom stood under an arch of flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked beautiful in her wedding gown of ivory Japanese embroidered chiffon, made in simple lines. Her veil of tulle was caught at the sides with clusters of orange blossoms, which also trimmed the long train, and her bouquet was of dainty garden flowers in pastel shades. Miss Tanis Rhoades, second daughter of Lieut.-Col. W. Rhoades, D.S.O., and Mrs. Rhoades of Toronto, was maid of honor, and was extremely dainty in her frock of yellow chiffon, with Bo-peep hat. She carried a garden bouquet of small delft blue cornflowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Phyllis Rogers, sister of the bride, was very lovely in her chiffon frock of delphinium blue, and carried a bouquet of yellow and gold cornflowers. Mr. J. Strathalan Nation of Toronto attended the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. John and Gordon Proctor of Brighton and Garth MacDonald of Cobourg. After the ceremony a reception was held at Woodside on the spacious grounds of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. R. Z. Rogers, who received with the bride and groom. A unique feature of the event was the cutting of the bride's cake with a small silver-hilted sword presented to Major Robert Rogers, Loyalist, previously to the American Revolution, and the cake stood on a walnut stand used at the grandmother's wedding in Chatham 63 years ago. The groom's gift to the bride was a hand-carved coffee stand and chair, made in India, with tray of inlaid Indian brass; to the maid of honor and bridesmaid, imported purses of antique embroidery, and the groomsman, a meerschaum pipe. Later Mr. and Mrs. James W. Howard left for a boat trip, the bride travelling in a very becoming ensemble of pale green crepe, with baku hat, sandals and gloves in eggshell shade. On their return they will reside at 2 Belleville Apartments, Belleville, Ont.

WILD RASPBERRIES ARE MOST PLENTIFUL

KINGSTON, Aug. 5 (Special to The Examiner).—The wild raspberry crop about Maribank, in Hastings County, is wonderful. It is the largest that has been known for years. Many cars and other vehicles are parked on the sides of the highway from West Plain to the Hog's Back road. The occupants are all out picking the berries. The farmers' home, all over that part of the country are being stocked with raspberries as never before.

MANY ANTARCTIC BRITISH CLAIMS ARE DISPUTABLE

U. S. Geologist's Assertion Made on Basis of Right of Discovery.

WILKES LAND EXAMPLE.

Woman Says if Claims Projected England Own Three-fifths Continent.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 5.—(C.P.)—Many of Great Britain's claims in the Antarctic, particularly in the Falkland Islands dependencies and the Ross dependency, are challengeable on the basis of right of discovery, Dr. Laura H. Martin, geologist and geographer of Washington, D.C., told members of the Institute of Politics to-day.

Problems of Sovereignty.

In an address before the conference on "problems of sovereignty in the Arctic and Antarctic," Dr. Martin said that Great Britain asserted Dominion over several polar areas extending beyond parts discovered by Englishmen. As an example, she cited Wilkes Land, part of a segment discovered by Lieut. Wilkes of the U.S. Navy in 1840, although explored more fully by an Australian expedition in 1911-12.

"If Great Britain should project these claims to the Pole as it has done in the Falkland Islands and Ross dependencies claims, we would see that altogether it has laid claim to nearly three-fifths of the continent (3,000,000 out of 5,000,000 square miles)," she declared.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 27 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

It was a well-laden Tarzan who dropped into the midst of Kerchak's tribe. With swelling chest he narrated the glories of his adventures and exhibited the spoils of conquest. Kerchak was jealous of this strange member of his tribe. He sought some excuse to wreak his hatred upon Tarzan.

A month Tarzan practised with his bow and arrows. During this time he further investigated the cabin, and found the metal box containing his father's diary, some photographs, and a diamond locket. This took his fancy. He placed it about his neck, in imitation of the black men he had visited.

When his arrows were gone Tarzan renewed the supply, repeating his former pranks while the natives were enjoying a cannibal feast. They were filled with fear at this new manifestation of some unseen, unearthly evil power. Returning homeward, Tarzan encountered Sabor, the lioness, and sent an arrow into her.

Removing the great pelt, he hastened to the tribe, who gathered to see this new proof of his wondrous prowess. Only Kerchak hung back—nursing his hatred and rage. Suddenly something snapped in Kerchak's brain. He sprang biting and killing among the assembly. "Come down, Tarzan," he cried, "come and fight."

Breathlessly the tribe watched as Kerchak, roaring, charged the relatively puny figure. Tarzan tore loose his knife and drove it into Kerchak—below the heart! They struggled long. Then the great body shuddered, stiffened—sank limply. Kerchak was dead. Thus came the young Lord Greystoke into the KINGSHIP OF THE APES.

Mrs. Tucker was a life-long member of the Presbyterian Church, her special interest being the Women's Missionary Society. She took a part in the church's activities that only the most earnest and loyal of workers can fill.

JOSEPH SUCEE.

A wealth of beautiful flowers eloquently bespoke the loss felt by friends and loved ones of Joseph Sucee of 169 Hunter Street East when he was laid to rest in Little Lake Cemetery yesterday afternoon. He died at his residence on Saturday in his seventy-first year. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. A. J. Brown and Rev. Dr. J. E. Moore. Dr. Moore in a short address took as his text "There is but a step between me and death."

Joseph Sucee was born in Asphodel, near Norwood, on October 27, 1859. He was married twice, his second wife predeceasing him by only a few weeks. By trade he was a blacksmith and carriage builder, and was for some years in the implement business in Peterborough. He was a member of George Street United Church.

ONTARIO TRIP OF DIRIGIBLE R-100 PROBABLY TAKE PLACE NEXT WEEK

Repairs to Giant Airship Will Be Completed To-night.

OFFICERS HOLIDAYING.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., August 5 (By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer).—With perfect weather, riggers who are busily working on the damaged stabilizing fin of the British dirigible R-100 are encountering little difficulty, and it is expected that by dusk the repairs will have been completed. The huge patch covering the gap opened when the ship struck heavy weather is nearly covered. Several new panels have already been laced into position, and only two or three more remain. After the lacing process is completed, the panels will be "doped" from the inside of the ship, and after this she will be ready to move at any time.

Prospects that the ship will fly over Ottawa and Toronto this week appear unlikely. An atmospheric disturbance is centred over Hudson Bay, and is connected with disturbances over the St. Lawrence Valley. These storms are far worse over land than over the ocean, and until the disturbance clears, it is believed the ship will remain at the mooring mast here.

Officers Holidaying in Ontario.

To-day officers of the ship are holidaying and attending to engagements in various parts of Ontario. Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100, took off at 9.30 a.m. for Ottawa, where he will lunch with His Excellency Lord Willingdon and was followed an hour later by Wing Commander R. B. Colmore, Director of Airship Development, and Squadron-Leader R. S. Booth, captain of the vessel, and W. A. Lawrence, press liaison officer. They will return later to-day.

This morning the R-100 was thrown open for visits by invited guests and the inspections will continue throughout the week, according to an official schedule issued last night. Since every hour from to-day until Saturday night is scheduled for inspections and social activities, it would seem that the vessel will not leave the mooring mast for her Ottawa-Toronto flight much before the first of next week.

In Air Over Night.

Just how long the airship will take to complete her trip to Ottawa and Toronto when the weather has cleared is problematical. It is understood that she will cruise over the capital on the way to Toronto and come straight through to St. Hubert on the return trip. At any event, it's practically certain that she will be in the air over Western Ontario all night. No passengers will be carried on the trip, with the exception of one or two newspapermen and technical advisers.

Large crowds thronged the airport from early morning until late last night to see the big ship, while to-day the gates are again open. Many attempts have been made by unauthorized persons to enter the mooring mast, and thus reach the dirigible, but so far as is known none have yet succeeded. A strong guard of Royal Canadian Mounted Police is stationed around the mast, and unless documentary authority is produced the "gate crasher" faces a hard task.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN

"The Lambeth Conference" was the subject of two sermons on Sunday in St. Johns Church by Rev. R. C. Blagrave. At morning service he said in part the Lambeth Conference which is being held during these five weeks in Lambeth Palace, London is the seventh of its kind and is looked upon as of the greatest importance not only to the Church of England but to the whole Christian world. The meetings are held in secret and findings are known only through occasional reports given out until the conference is ended.

These Lambeth Conferences had their origin in a meeting of the Provincial Synod of Canada in 1865 over which Archbishop Lewis then Bishop of Ontario and residing in Kingston, presided. A request was sent to the Archbishop of Canterbury to call together all the Bishops of the Anglican Communion throughout the world. As a consequence the first conference was held in 1867. 144 invitations were sent out and only 76 attended. To the present conference 350 were sent out and there are 310 in attendance.

The findings of the conference are not binding upon any part of the church until by councils or synods they are legally adopted. Being a Conference they express opinions and convictions. At the same time they carry a moral authority which cannot well be repudiated and become naturally the law or policy of the church in proportion to the unanimity with which they are put forth.

Of outstanding concern to these Lambeth conferences has always been the question of Christian reunion as it must be to any Christian. Until the last conference, 1920, with the exception of the setting forth of what is known as the Lambeth quadri lateral reunion with the Greek Orthodox church was mainly considered as the first step. At the last meeting the church extended the hand of fellowship to all Christian Communions in what is said to be the noblest pronouncement by a great Christian body since Apostolic days. Conferences with other Communions, including even the Roman church at Malines with Cardinal Mercier, though not recognized by the Pope followed on until a couple of years ago, when on the question of church orders they came to an end with the best of good feeling.

Lambeth this year among other problems will have some pronouncement on doctrine as intimated by Archbishop Temple in the opening sermon. Some effort is to be made to give a large conception of God, consistent with the widening knowledge of His universe. The church has the creeds as her anchor and she has learned not to persecute tho' there are still those who would burn at the stake, those who do not agree with them. The church refuses to make martyrs in that way. She has learned also to trust revealed truth and not to hedge it about with stone walls and she has learned that the main thing to be desired is loyalty to the Lord and Master, Jesus Christ. She believes the church broadened and adapted is the best instrument to secure such loyalty and devotion. These sermons will continue next Sunday.

Farmer Buried Under Gravel Landslide

LINDSAY, Aug. 5 (Examiner Correspondent).—Fred Sawyer, a farmer who resides near Minden, Haliburton County, had a narrow escape from death a few days ago. He was engaged in drawing gravel when a heavy rainfall set in. He decided to take refuge under his wagon in the gravel pit. When the storm was at its height, a landslide occurred which frightened the horses. They made a bolt for freedom, and Sawyer was buried in the slide. He received serious spinal injuries, and it is feared that complications may result.

KING GEORGE TAKES PART IN RACES AT COWES.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The King participated to-day in his first yacht race since his illness. He took part in the Royal Yacht Squadron competition on his racing cutter Brittania.

The sea had quieted down after a blow and there was only a slight breeze as the Brittania got away, leading several competitiors. The minesweeper Sloop Albury in attendance on the Royal Cutter prepared to bring the King back to the steam yacht Victoria and Albert if the weather turned bad again.

COUNCIL ASKS FOR NEW FEDERAL BUILDING

Fire Sweeps Sudbury Rooming House

TWO MEN PERISH SEVERAL BURNED IN SUDBURY FIRE

Boarders Succumb to Smoke Fumes Before Help Arrives.

ONE LEAPS TO SAFETY.

Origin of Blaze Blamed on Wandering Unemployed While Seeking Shelter.

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—In a fire which broke out about 4 o'clock this morning in a new wing of a local rooming house and spread to the older part of the building two men J. Brandes, travelling occulist of Montreal about 65 years of age and Robt. Arnold, 55, were overcome by smoke and died before they could be reached.

Revived By Pulmotor

Arthur Keppla, who has worked in lumber camps around Sudbury for years was also overcome by smoke, but was revived by firemen with the pulmotor. Robert Milmoure was badly cut and bruised when he leaped out of a second story window, while Wm. Gary was burned in attempting to make his escape.

It was some time after the alarm was given that the absence of Brandes and Arnold was noted. Firemen despite flames made a rapid search and located Arnold, but were unable to find Brandes, who was later discovered, dead in a room in the front part of the building.

The fire broke out in a building at the rear of which plasterers had just started work yesterday. The woodwork was badly charred, but otherwise the fire damage in the occupied part of the building was slight.

Heat Terrific

The smoke and heat was so terrific however, that hardly an occupant of the building escaped without a scorching. It is believed possible that some of the wandering unemployed who make use of the employment bureau operated by the McAndrew Bros. in the same building were spending the night in the shelter of the wing under construction and that the fire was accidentally started by them.

1930 Census Shows 122,728,873 People Now Reside in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (C.P.).—The first complete preliminary census figure to-day showed continental United States to number 122,728,873 inhabitants.

Outlying possessions add 14,772,685, making a grand total of 137,501,561.

The total population increase of the last census was 16.1 per cent. The two States topping the list in numerical gain were: New York with an increase of 2,224,28; and California, with an increase of 2,215,421.

Only one, Montana, showed decrease—a loss of 15,370 people in the ten years.

ATTACK ON GIRL JUST "MADE UP"

Woodbridge Domestic Confesses to Injuring Her Own Face.

WORRIED ABOUT FRIEND.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.) — Admitting that the attack of which she claimed to have been a victim was purely fictitious, Miss Frances Yzeck, domestic at Woodbridge, Ont., summer home, told Charles McCarthy, Carleton County Police Chief, that after injuring herself in the face she manufactured a startling story about three men invading her room and brutally attacking her. Chief McCarthy stated the girl gave as a reason for manufacturing the story that she was "worried about a friend in Toronto."

The report of the attack on the girl caused several residents of the summer resort to abandon their cottages.

Miss Yzeck told police that she was attacked in her room on Thursday morning last and made to drink a liquid which burned her throat. The police said at that time that she was found unconscious on her bed. The screening on her window had been cut with a butcher knife. It was this that resulted in the breakdown of her story, Chief McCarthy finding that it had been cut from the inside. He stated that he also found in her handbag a watch which she reported stolen.

WARM WELCOME GIVEN OFFICERS OF AIRSHIP R-100

Maj. G. H. Scott, Commander, and G. B. Giblett Entertained in Queen City.

MEDALS PRESENTED.

Commander Describes Trip Over Atlantic as "De Luxe Tour."

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(CP)—Major G. H. Scott, Commander of the British dirigible R-100 and G. B. Giblett, meteorologist of the airship, arrived here this morning from Ottawa, and were welcomed at the Union Station by Mayor Bert Wemp and a large party of citizens.

Included among the welcoming party were Brig. Gen. D. C. Draper, Chief Constable, Controllers Pearce and Somerville, Captain E. O. Hand, President of the Toronto Flying Club, Major General Garnet Hughes and H. G. Stapells, acting President of the Empire Club, where Major Scott spoke at a luncheon in his honor today.

Civic Breakfast

Shortly after their arrival, the visitors were entertained at a civic breakfast at the Royal York Hotel, and then proceeded to the City Hall, where a civic welcome was tendered the intrepid airmen.

In a brief interview with the Canadian Press, Major Scott compared the recent flight of the R-100 from England to Canada with that of the British dirigible R-34 from England to the United States 10 years ago, which he commanded. The former he said, was a "picnic" while the latter was a "de luxe tour". Describing the comfort of the trip on the R-100, Major Scott said among other things the crew had warm water for shaving, good bunks and a first class dining room, while on the R-34 the crew slept in hammocks and ate off, their knees.

Major Scott said he would go to India on the R-101 when it flies to India late this year. The R-100, he said, left without radio maps, which had not been perfected, but the airship obtained radio weather maps from trans-Atlantic liners enroute and the navigator had no difficulty. Otherwise, he said, the air liner would have taken another day to cross the Atlantic.

EDDIE HELD IS TWO UP AT 18TH ON C. M. STUART

On the Fourth the Montrealer Hooked His Second Shot Into a Trap.

THOMPSON LEADS TAYLOR.

Only One International Match Being Played in Amateur Golf Tournament.

LONDON, Ont., August 6 (C.P.).—Eddie Held, defending champion, was up two on Carrol Stuart of Montreal at the end of 18 holes of match play in the Canadian amateur golf tournament here this morning. The New Yorker was two up at the turn and retained his advantage. They start out again this afternoon to decide who gets in to-morrow's quarter finals. Held and Stuart halved the tenth, while Stuart won the eleventh only to lose the 12th. The thirteenth was a tie, while Held won the fourteenth and fifteenth, with Stuart taking the sixteenth. The seventeenth was a half and Stuart won the home green.

Alexander Weir of Winnipeg and Jack Cameron of Montreal finished the first 18 holes all square, both shooting approximate 72's.

In the Held-Stuart affray, Held won the first hole with a par four to the Montrealer's five. They both went one over par on the short second to halve it and the same thing happened on the third when they took fives. Both were trapped near the green, and neither could get the advantage.

Hooked Into Trap.

On the fourth Stuart hooked his second shot into a trap. Then the Montrealer failed to get out of the sand and had to use us three strokes before he got on the green, making it an easy win for the New Yorker.

On the fifth also Stuart was trapped with his tee shot while Held was on in one and down in two to win. Stuart got one back at the 510 yard sixth.

On the eighth Stuart took three

Resolution Passed Asking New Premier To Erect Building

Movement is Set on Foot Whereby New Building Would Be Erected at Corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets, Combining Post Office and Customs House in One.

FOUR APPLICATIONS ARE RECEIVED BY COUNCIL FOR EXPECTED VACANCY OF CITY SOLICITOR

Ex-Mayor A. A. McIntyre is Appointed to the City Trust Commission to Take the Place of the Late J. J. Hartley — Miniature Golf Course Fee is Set at $100.

A new federal building for Peterborough combining the Post Office and the Customs House under one roof was the movement set on foot last night at the regular meeting of the City Council when the Aldermen moved a resolution to the Hon. R. B. Bennett prime minister-elect asking that the necessary steps be taken. Mayor Denne started the wheels moving when he suggested that Peterborough should get a new Customs House and Post Office. He said that the property at the corner of George and Sherbrooke streets had been bought by a Conservative government in 1914 for this kind of a building but the war intervened and nothing had been done. He thought that now was the time especially as it would relieve unemployment and that money had been placed last year in the estimates for an addition to the post office. In the resolution to the Hon. Mr. Bennett a copy of which will be sent to E. A. Peck, M. P.-elect it will be pointed out tha. the revenue derived from the port of Peterborough is such as to justify such an expenditure. The aldermen were unanimous and many favorable comments were passed on the course The Examiner had taken in suggesting such a building.

Routine Business

Last night's council meeting was one of the shortest of the year, only routine business being dealt with. Alderman McNabb asked wha. had been done in checking up on the outside labor employed on the city paving and Alderman Stocker was quite indignant about the slight that had been given him by laborers of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company as they passed through the city riding on one of the Company trucks, yesterday. Alderman MacNabb was assurred everything possible had been done.

Application from Joseph J. O'Brien, J. R. Corkery, A. L. Elliott and J. W. Stevenson for the position of City Solicitor which it is expected will be vacant in a few weeks on account of the appointment of Joseph Wearing as Judge of the County Court of Middlesex County. The applications were left to a Committee of the whole Council.

The movement set on foot by the Mayor of Guelph whereby the municipalities will unite in asking the government to take over the burden of Suburban Road and Provincial highways from the cities and larger towns was heartily endorsed. The municipality of Guelph had taken a census of 15 cities in Ontario of not more than 30,000 population and found that in one year these municipalities had contributed to the government $2,500,000 for Suburban Roads and Provincial Highways and they themselves had constructed without any government help 365 miles of permanent paved streets at cost of $7,885,000 to the ratepayers. It was also pointed out that the government's assessment was most unjust and was milking the ratepayers of the cities and towns for they received nothing in return for the large amounts collected in gasoline taxes.

MAN IS INJURED AS CARS COLLIDE IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Vito Miccoli Suffers Severe Cuts About the Face and Scalp.

DRIVER ARRESTED.

J. O. Jackson Appears in Police Court Charged With Criminal Negligence.

Vito Miccoli, of 440 George Street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital, and J. O. Jackson, of Bailieboro, is faced with a charge of criminal negligence as the result of a head-on automobile collision at the first turn of the Provincial highway out from the city at 4.25 o'clock this morning. Miccoli is suffering from severe cuts about the face, scalp and ears, and possibly a fractured skull.

According to the police, Jackson was driving a light delivery truck belonging to Gilgour and Son towards the city at a high speed. Rounding the last turn on the highay before Monaghan Road, he was travelling on the wrong side of the road, it is claimed, and crashed into another light truck in which Carl Smith of Benson Avenue was driving, and Miccoli was a passenger. Miccoli's head was forced out through the plate glass windshield, the glass causing the lacerations. Neither of the other two was injured.

Investigation revealed that the brakes had been applied by Jackson for a distance of 93 feet before the crash. Reports from St. Joseph's Hospital at noon indicated that Miccoli was resting more easily. This morning he was in a state of semi-consciousness and bleeding freely. Dr. T. C. Louden is attending.

Jackson was immediately arrested by Traffic Officer Hornick and appeared before Magistrate Langley in Police Court this morning on a charge of criminal negligence. On the request of the Crown, an adjournment was granted. Bail was set at $4,000.

16 YEAR JOCKEY FLUNG TO DEATH

Tragedy Occurs as Daredevil Rider Sprints For Gap in Montreal Race.

HORSES FALL IN TANGLE.

MONTREAL, Que., August 6 (C.P.). — Jockey Ossie Cooper was thrown to his death in a tangle of race horses and riders in the running of the second race at King's Park half-mile track here yesterday. J. Kennedy, midget apprentice lad, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries which leave him in a critical condition to-day, and Jockey Willie Primrose received a fractured hip and a scalp wound. Cooper, a smiling boy of sixteen, was hunched on the shoulder of Captain Coll as a dozen thoroughbreds thundered down the back stretch of the second race, one mile and seventy yards.

Twin Brother Leading.

They swept to the turn. In front of Ossie was Reggie Cooper, his twin brother and greatest rival, up on Mary Wit. "Let me through, you guys; here I come," shrilled Ossie's boyish voice. Daredevil rider by reputation, he streaked for a gap next the rail as Reggie shouted a sharp warning, "Take back, take back." But Ossie never "took back" in his life.

There was a crash, a billowing of dust as horses and diminutive riders fell in a jumped heap. Steel-clad hoofs pounded Ossie's skull. Spectators streamed across the track to rescut the injured. The field sailed on to the tape. Durberville, one of the fallen horses, scrambled to his feet and pounded madly down the track, a "bleeder" and dropped dead at the paddock gate.

Fails to Speak Again

His race run, Reggie Cooper dashed madly back to the scene of the spill, sobbing as he ran. With his mother, father and a young sister, he crowded into the ambulance where Ossie was laid. The boy did not speak again. He died an hour later, victim of a cerebral hemmorhage.

Kennedy, the injured boy, is reported in a serious condition at Royal Victoria Hospital with a fractured skull.

At sight of him there was renewed cheering and waving of hats and handkerchiefs from the throng ashore.

B. C. FOREST FIRE MENACE GROWS

Fighters Keep Blazes Well in Hand Around Vancouver.

RAINS ARE NEEDED.

VANCOUVER, B.C., August 6 (C.P.). — Danger for forest-fire destruction of valuable stands of timber is increasing with continuance of dry weather, high temperatures and low humidity.

Conditions are dangerous all through British Columbia, it is declared by forestry officials. Weather forecasts indicate a continuance of the present situation for some time.

Several new fires are reported in various parts of Vancouver forestry district, although none as yet appear to be of disastrous proportions.

Fanned by the high wind the fire near Point Atkinson Lighthouse, in the vicinty of Caulfield, West Vancouver, caused great anxiety late yesterday. Twenty extra men were sent thereby the Forestry Department, bringing the number of firefighters up to about 70.

Summer Homes in Danger.

West Vancouver is a popular summer resort, and it was feared for a time that summer homes would be endangered. Summer campers turned out in force to assist the firefighters to combat the blaze.

Another fire was reported to-day to have broken out at Mile 52 on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. It is in a logging slash, and is said to cover about seven acres. A crew of 34 men is combatting the outbreak.

Four small fires are reported in the same neighborhood. A fire is also noted at the head of Silk Lake, about 30 miles from Victoria, Vancouver [illegible].

LONDON, Aug. 6—Karachi despatches to The Daily Herald report that 12 persons were killed and 150 injured during an outbreak of communal rioting this evening at Sukkur, Northwestern India.

4,080,000 GALLONS WATER USED IN CITY OF PETERBORO ON TUESDAY

Figures Represent the Largest Consumption of Water in Several Years.

FIREMEN WATERED PARKS.

In an effort to combat the weather man, Peterborough citizens yesterday used 4,080,000 gallons of water, according to city filteration plant officials. If the peak load had continued for 24 hours, the day's consumption would have been 8,000,000 gallons, it was declared. Although not the largest day in the history of the filteration plant, these figures represent the largest consumption of water in several summers.

The water of lawns, the continual running of water for drinking purposes, and the vast amount of water used for baths and showers with the mercury hovering around 90 degrees, all account for the increased use of the commodity. Yesterday, however, 334¾ tons of water were soaked up by the arid lawns of two city parks when Fire Department hoses were called out to try and rescue the grass from the effects of an almost unprecedented dry spell.

In the morning one line of hose was in operation at Victoria Park for an hour and three quarters, spouting 27,825 gallons of water. In the afternoon Confederation Square took 46,110 gallons from two lines of fire hose playing for an hour and twenty-seven minutes. The total of 7,935 gallons represents a large share of the 4,080,000.

FOREST FIRE BREAKKS AGAIN

BOURNE, Mass., Aug. 6. —(CP)—An alarm was sounded for all available firemen at 6 a.m. to-day when forest fires that had been brought under control early today broke out anew along a five mile front at Ellisville, near Plymouth. The fire last night half destroyed several square miles of woodland and a number of cottages before being controlled.

Attire Unimportant As R-100 Appears

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).—As evidence of the intense interest taken by he metropolis in the coming of the R-100 the following story is worth telling. When the great ship passed over Montreal at 2.30 on Friday morning, a clerk on night duty at Place Viger Hotel hurriedly awoke all the occupants with the news. The greater part of the guests hastened to the roof and it was not until the airship was lost to view that a lady guest realized that she was on the roof with five gentlemen and was clad only in her nightdress. And it was only her exclamation of horror preceding her sudden flight back to her bedroom, that drew attention to the fact.

DETROIT BANDIT SHOT BY POLICE

Kills Robber While Fleeing After Robbing Hotel Register.

COMPANION ESCAPES.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 6.—(CP)—A policeman early today shot to death one of two men who held up a small hotel. The other man escaped with approximately $100 in cash.

The two robbers held up H. C. Bass, night clerk at the State Hotel and forced him to open the cash register. Patrolman George Caughlin who had been assigned to guard the hotel in an effort of the Police Department to check robberies at such places, opened fire as the men ran after getting the money.

HOME SECRETARY ON HISTORIC DUTY AT ROYAL EVENT

Hon. J. R. Clynes at Thames Castle Awaiting Birth of Possible Heir to Crown.

TWO LEGENDS VARY.

Claim Custom Started in Reign of James II With "Warming Pan" Incident.

LONDON, England, Aug. 6 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—When Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes arrived at Glamis Castle yesterday it was to fulfil the historic and very necessary duty of the Home Secretary.

The presence of the Home Secretary at the birth of a possible heir to the Crown is supposed to have its origin in the famous "warming pan" legend associated with James the Second. It was asserted and widely believed at the time that James' wife Mary never had a child, but one was introduced to her in a warming-pan and afterwards became the Pretender to the throne of England.

Legends Vary

A legal authority informs the Canadian Press, however, that the association of the Home Secretary with a royal event of this character has its beginnings much farther back in history, when the sovereign's chief minister was always a priest and was called "The beloved clerk who sits continually by outside." This priest used to control the Royal Household and looked forward to receiving his ultimate reward in the form of a Bishopric.

Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes is a quiet little man. He was one of seven children of an Irish laborer, and was born at Oldham sixty years ago. At the age of ten he went to work in a cotton mill. No Cabinet Minister in the present Labor Government had a harder bringing up, and his poor physique is doubtless one of the consequences. As a lad he earned a little extra money clog dancing. Neither in private nor in public, however, does Clynes betray any grudge against society for that he endured. He is a great reader and a delightful man to talk to on a host of topics.

Prince Will Visit South America 1931

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 6. (C.P.) The Prince of Wales, who, among his many other roles, has been called the British Empire's "best travelling salesman" plans to visit Argentina and Brazil next year, it became known to-day.

The visit of the Prince to Buenos Aires will be for the particular purpose of opening the British Trade Exposition.

BRITANNIA WINS RACE AT COWES

King George is Aboard as His Royal Yacht Crosses Line First.

ONE YACHT GOES DOWN.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Eng., Aug. 6. (C.P.)—A Steward was drowned and a racing yacht, the Lucilla, owned by J. Lauriston Lewis, was sunk in a collision at the start of the Royal Regatta events to-day. The King, aboard the Britannia, witnessed the tragedy.

The Lucilla ,manoeuvering with the twelve-meter boats for the getaway, was hit by A. A. Paton's big cutter, the Lulworth, and went to the bottom in three minutes. The Lulworth rescued the survivors of the Lucilla's crew.

Stewart Is Lost

When the crew of the Lucilla came ashore it was stated that William Saunders, a steward on the sunken craft, had lost his life. The flag on the motorboat Marjorie, owned by Lewis was flown at half mast.

The Britannia won the race, which was excitingly close throughout and thereby scored her 200th victory.

The result was a popular one with the crowds ashore, particularly as the King was aboard, and there were rousing cheers when the royal craft crossed the line ahead, winning from White Heather by half a minute.

As the Britannia swept across the line the King could be seen standing on the deck smoking a cigarette, evidently pleased with his victory.

Canada Urged to Back Atlantic Air Service

BRITAIN WOULD FORESTALL NEW GERMAN-U.S. LINE

R-100 Designer Urges Committee Probe Situation at Once.

BENNETT, KING PRESENT.

Burney Proposes Fleet of Liners Carrying 100 Passengers—$1,000 Fare.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—A Challenge to Canada to take the next step in putting the British Empire in the forefront of airship transportation through the inauguration of a trans-Atlantic service between Great Britain and Canada before the service between Germany and the United States being planned by Dr. Hugo Eckener gets under way was voiced yesterday by Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the dirigible R-100. Sir Dennistoun spoke before the Canadian Club at Ottawa.

Probe Situation At Once

In the presence of Hon. R. B. Bennett, the incoming Premier, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister, and Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General, the sponsor of the first Great Britain-to-Canada airship flight asked for the formation of a committee of prominent business men to investigate the situation within the next few days and decide whether the Canadian Government and business interests were prepared to back a trans-Atlantic airship service. With the views of such a committee before him, he would be able to lay a concrete proposition before the British Government on his return to London.

Prepared to Start Building

He was prepared, he said, to untake at once the construction of an airship with a cruising speed of 85 miles per hour carrying fuel for a 6,000-mile flight, together with 100 passengers and 10 tons of mail. With a fleet of such vessels a regular service between Canada and Great Britain could be maintained, taking two and a half days for the westward crossing and two days for the eastward. He named $1,000 as the initial passenger fare, but predicted a gradual reduction until it would compare favorably with steamship rates.

OFFERS REMEDY FOR DEPRESSION

J. T. Crowder Claims Canada Needs Research and Administrative Bureau.

GOVT'S GET TOGETHER.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 6—(C.P.)—The gravity of the business depression with consequent unemployment and lack of consumer demand confronts Canadian business with the necessity of establishing a research and administrative bureau composed of representatives of the government The universities and the business interests of the country, whose duties should be to keep a perpetual survey of business development within Canada to anticipate possible trade depressions sufficiently in advance to take preventative measures, said Joseph T. Crowder, President of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada in convention here yesterday.

Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments are the bodies most capable of creating employment, said Mr. Crowder. Their work could be more intelligently planned if they knew in advance just what was likely to happen in business circles, and where indications pointed to impending trade depression, these bodies could to advantage so plan government works as to absorb the shock of the unemployment in certain commercial enterprises, thus sustaining employment and consumer demand.

CROP OUTCOME VERY UNCERTAIN

Rains Needed Badly in Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta.

HARVEST GENERAL 10 DAYS.

OTTAWA, Ont. August 6 (C.P.).—"Although the Western wheat crop is generally well advanced in the filling stage there is still much uncertainty as to the probable yield," states the crop report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. "Lack of moisture in Saskatchewan and South Alberta and damage from rust in Manitoba and South-eastern Saskatchewan, are features of this week's reports. Alberta crops alone have registered an improvement in the past two weeks, the large central area being again benefited at the last week-end by good rains. Cutting of early wheat and barley is common in all three provinces, with indications that harvest will be general in a week or ten days."

PLANE FORCED DOWN.

Woman Sounds Alarm — Skiff Rescues Parachute Jumper Mile From Shore.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., August 6 (C.P.). — Gerry Fitton, Toronto, prominent Canadian pilot, was drowned in Lake Ontario late yesterday while attempting to swim ashore from his plane which he was forced to land. Terry McGovern, parachute jumper, who accompanied Fitton, clung to the plane and was rescued in an exhausted condition.

Fitton was completing a return flight to Toronto when he was forced down a mile from shore. The engine dropped out when the plane hit the water, McGovern told his rescuers, and Fitton decided to swim for shore. A strong off-shore gale was blowing at the time and apparently proved too strong for the pilot, though he was reported to have been a strong swimmer.

A woman discovered the plight of the fliers and sounded the alarm. A boat was tied to a car and brought seven miles to the scene and a number of men rowed out to the plane. McGovern was found clinging to the wing, exhausted and about to slide into the lake.

Fitton, who was known for his ability and daring, had been barnstorming with McGovern in the district over the holiday.

COWES, Eng., Aug. 6. (A.P.)—Collision and sinking of one of the yachts competing in the races here to-day marred the start of the contests The King and other members of the Royal Family aboard the Britannia were participating in the events when the accident occurred.

As the twelve motor boats were monoeuvering for the start, one of them, the Lucilla, owned by J. Lauriston Lewis, was hit by A. A. Paton's big cutter, the Lulworth and sank in three minutes. The Lulworth picked up the Lucilla's crew.

Governor-General To Visit Haliburton

LINDSAY, August 6 (Examiner Correspondence).— Through the influence of T. H. Stinson, K.C., M.P., the Village of Haliburton is to be honored by a visit from His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada on October 3. The municipal bodies in the different villages and townships in the county, as well as the school children, the Canadian Legion, ect., will all assemble in the village to welcome the Viceregal party. A patriotic program is in the hands of a capable committee, and during the day His Excellency will be asked to plant a tree in the Memorial Park in Haliburton Village.

Law Lays Ban on Fast Time Dance

LINDSAY, Aug. 6. — Daylight saving time is unofficial any time it clashes with law, two provincial constables maintained at Long Beach, as they refused to allow a dance to start at 12.01 a.m. Monday. That hour, they claimed, was only 11.01 p.m. by standard time and therefore dancing would be a breach of the Lord's Day Act. The dance was postponed for an hour.

GERMAN PARADE ANGERS BRITISH

Consul May Be Withdrawn After Dilating on Past Victories.

TANGA PROTESTS.

LONDON, August 6. — Despatches to The Daily Mail yesterday said that the British mandated territory of Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa, was in a state of ferment over a recent parade of German marines from the cruiser Karlsruhe and a speech by the German Consul at Tanga.

British authorities may demand the withdrawal of the Consul. The German cruiser last week made the first call of a German vessel to these East African waters since the war.

At Tanga a party of marines marched past Consul Speiser, who took their salute amid the "hocks" of the German residents.

At a banquet later the Consul dilated on the past German glories of the colony, and referred to the severe repulse of a British invading force at Tanga in 1914.

The British Commissioner rebuked the Consul, who apologized. Subsequently a British cruiser landed a force that marched through the town and saluted the British flag. It is said that an apology from the captain of the Karlsruhe will also be demanded.

NOTED WOMAN WRITER SUCCUMBS IN CALIFORNIA

PALO ALTO, Calif., Aug. 6 (C.P.).—Death yesterday ended 80 years of writing for Isabella M. Alden, who gained fame as Pansy, the pet name she signed over her first story when she was but eight years old. The story appeared in a Gloversville, N. Y., newspaper.

During her long career Mrs. Alden wrote more than 120 books, the best-known being the Chautauqua. Hester Reid and Life of Christ Series. She continued to write, although ill, during the last four years, her "Memories of Yesterday" work was an autobiographical volume.

RUSSIAN PULPWOOD IS ARRIVING FOR U. S. BUYERS

MONTREAL, August 6 (C.P.. — More Russian pulpwood is arriving in Canada en route to the United States to feed paper mills in that country, the ss Kirsten Miles being due at Three Rivers to-day. With the American embargo against Russian pulpwood raised, the entry of the cargo will not be questioned as was that of the ss Fishpool some days ago.

Two more vessels left Archangel on August 2 for Canada with pulpwood cargoes for New York points, and will dock this month at Sorel.

YOUTH TAKES HIS LIFE

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—In view of his mother, George Wallace 23, stopped his motor car on the Prince Edward viaduct last night and leaped over the railing to the railway tracks. He was dead when reached by police. The youth was said to have threatened to commit suicide because his mother complained of him drinking.

INQUIRY IS MADE INTO DEATH OF BRUCE MAHAFFY

Death is Found to Have Resulted From Being Struck or Dragged By Train.

TRAINMEN ARE PRESENT.

Engineer Said He Saw Young Man Lying Between Rails as Train Approached.

"We believe that Bruce Mahaffy was killed on the morning of July 27, 1930, at 3.45 a.m. eastern standard time on the Canadian National Railway tracks near Jackson's Park as the result of being struck and dragged by a freight train, No. 801, and that no blame should be attached to the train crew."

This was the verdict brought in by the coroner's jury following an inquest into the tragic death of Bruce Mahaffy, 26, of 492 Cambridge street, held in the Police Court Chambers last night, after deliberating for 35 minutes. Little or no evidence suggesting foul play or suicide had been brought forth.

The jury consisted of Gray Copping foreman, John Milane, John Kylie, Harold Freeman, Lorne McDonald, Edward Riley, Gordon Logan, Edward Collins, David Fleming, Ford Turner and Alex Archibald.

Robert Mahaffy, the father of the deceased man, said that the last time he saw his son was about 2 o'clock on the Sunday morning of the death. He related that he had been sitting in a chair sleeping when the boy came in after being away all afternoon and evening and that he said he was going to Lindsay.

"My wife made him up a lunch and gave him some money. He took a coat and some extra pants. He left between 2 and 3 o'clock."

Coroner T. W. H. Young asked: "Is two o'clock your regular hour for sitting up?"

"No."

Waiting Up.

With reference to the fact that Bruce Mahaffy had attempted to steal $2 from a local shoe repair man during the afternoon the Coroner asked, "Why were you sitting up? Were you waiting for him to come in to tell him that the police were looking for him?"

"No, I didn't tell him. My wife did."

LINDSAY RATES ARE REDUCED

Hydro Commission Has at Last Achieved Long Sought After Reduction.

POWER RATES LOWER.

LINDSAY, August 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — As a result of persistent demands on the part of the local Hydro Commission, the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission has granted quite a decided reduction in current rates for domestic and power.

As an indication of how the new rates work, it might be pointed out that for the householder using a three-wire service and using current in excess of 100 kilowatt hours per month, the saving will be some $10.80 a year. There is also a fair saving for power and commercial users.

Riots are again prevalent at football games in Ireland this season.

WARSHIPS SENT TO AID YANGTSE FOREIGN FLEET

Fear Rises as Communist Army Approaches Hankow.

TOWNS PILLAGED.

Many Missionaries Missing, Believed Taken By Marauders.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 6.—Aroused by further outrages against foreigners in China by bandit-Communists armies, foreign governments yesterday ordered additional warships to proceed up the Yangtse River to reinforce 11 gunboats at Hankow and five at Changsha.

Despite announcement of the Nationalist government that its troops had re-entered Changsha, recently razed by the Reds, the situation was considered grave there and at Hankow, which is threatened by approaching Communistic armies.

Leaving Sasebo, Japan, for Shanghai, four Japanese destroyers were rushing to join others in the Yangtse patrol.

The Communist menace sweeping the Yangtse Valley affected the great southern provinces of Hunan, Hupeh, Kiangsi and Fukien. Despatches from far-flung areas throughout these provinces said numerous Red bands numbering from a few hundred to 10,000, continue to pillage towns and rob the populace without opposition.

Foreigners Fleeing

Foreigners throughout these areas were fleeing towards river and costal cities. Whereabout of many of them was unknown here. The majority were missionaries, recalled for safety.

Headquarters here of several missions reported varying proportions of their inland staffs had reached places of refuge, while other were bottled up at interior town, avoiding the Reds, but unable to reach treaty ports. Still others, it was feared, had fallen into the hands of marauders.

Along the Yangtse, between Kiukiang and Hankow, the Communists for 24 hours have been looting and burning villages, apparently seeking to terrorize country folk into joining them.

MAJOR P. BAPTY LEADS SHOOTERS

Veteran Rifleman Captures Toronto Trophy on Second Last Shot.

HAZE BLURS TARGETS.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—A blistering sun, torrid temperature and a slight haze again greeted competitors on the third day of the Ontario Rifle Association's annual meet at Long Branch ranges. Late yesterday, a scorching sun beating down on the parched turf left a haze which partially blurred the targets and made sighting extremely difficult.

It has not yet been decided when the shoot-off for second place in the City of Toronto event will be staged. The feature of yesterday's program, the Toronto Trophy was captured by Major P. S. Bapty, who on his second last shot at 900 yards, won over Quartermaster Sergt. A. C. Smith, Toronto postman. In second position with Smith are Quartermaster Sergt. A. E. Evans, of the British Columbia Rifle Association and Corp. G. E. Matchett, of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry. It was Smith's first attempt at the 900 yard distance. Major Bapty, veteran of many such campaigns, is at the head of the list for aggregate scores on all events.

The two main events of today's schedule are the Lieutenant Governor's event, first stage to be shot over 300 and 600 yards, and the Gibson Memorial to be shot over 300 yards. The final stage of the former contest will be fired off Friday over 900 yards.

According to Major J. T. Dempster, secretary the entry list of 372 names is the largest in the history of the association.

PRISONERS FIGHT FOR BALL FIELD

Eighteen Injured on Welfare Island as Negroes Take Diamond.

RIOTING CONTINUES.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 6 (C.P.).—Eighteen prisoners were injured late yesterday in a riot between whites and Negroes which began when Negro prisoners monopolized the baseball diamond on the recreation ground at Welfare Island in the east river.

The trouble began yesterday when white prisoners went to the field and found Negro prisoners using the diamond. Threats were exchanged at that time, but guards were able to prevent violence.

To-day, however, the Negroes again got possession of the diamond, and a general fight broke out in which about two hundred prisoners took part. Pending the arrival of police, emergency squads from Manhattan, the Fire Department Company on the island turned streams of water on the rioters in an effort to stop the fight.

FENELLA HEARS FINE SERMON

Rev. R. W. Paton Speaks on Training of Memory to Retain Right Thoughts.

LARGE AUDIENCE

FENELLA, August 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — Speaking to a large audience on Sunday evening in Fenella United Church, Rev. R. W. Paton chose the two following passages of Scripture as his text, "Thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee" Deut. 8:2; and forgetting these things which are behind," Phil. 3:13, "There is always a kinship between great souls and while these two text seem to contradict one another, yet we cannot conceive of Paul and Moses, being in contradiction, as both forged out a doctrine of the past. There are things we must remember, there are things we must forget. Memory is a rich faculty, it must be trained to forget the things better forgotten and to retain things that strengthen us.

The hallowing of the earth is memory's secret, thousands journey to see Bonnie Doon and the old Kirk at Alloway, because of the great heart of the poet, who suffered there. A glory and a richness falls on Nazareth because of the memory of Jesus Christ memory can consecrate.

Jesus placed a great emphasis on memory he exalted it, and recognized it as a moral power. He said this do in remembrance of me. It is more than a gift, it is a religious force. It is possible to make yesterday the enemy of to-day when memory of the past is allowed to weaken some, for the present.

When certain people complain that the church of to-day is not so efficient as that of thirty years ago, they forget that which they should remember, and remember that which should be forgotten, like the children of Israel who murmured against God; when faced by desert hunger they remembered the flesh pots of Egypt.

Must Forget Sins

Then we must forget the sins of our fellow-men. Nothing is so detrimental to the growth of a man's soul, as the memory which grips like a vise the sins, and failings, of other men. Sometimes, men desert the house of God for years because of some offence taken, and because they have allowed memory to retain this offence.

The forbearance of God is a perpetual wonder. What would happen men and some women were it not that God can cast out from His remembrance our past iniquities. If we are going to grow in grace and in the knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus Christ, we must be able to forget the sins and mistakes of others.

We would all like to forget our own sins. David said, 'My sin is ever before me.' Even after we know God has forgiven us, our sins flash back across our memory. There seems to be an involuntary resurrection of the past. But this is a sign of growth. It is a token of struggle Heavenward, and not a cause for disappointment. Remember the way God has led thee from the bondage of sin, in liberty, in Jesus Christ. Give thanks to God Who has led you out of darkness into most marvellous light.

We must not estimate the path we are treading, by the present difficulties, and disappointments, but by the goal towards which it is leading us. Moses was not discouraged in the desert, for he knew that he was being led towards the promised land.

The road by which God leads us is a varied path, we may wander, and wonder, in the wilderness. There will be sunny spots and dark valleys, bright days and dark days. But this is the path by which God is leading us to the promised land. 'Remember the way which the Lord thy God has led thee,' but forget those things that would hinder you, from doing the will of God, from laboring together with Jesus Christ.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1930

THE CONSUMER MUST WAIT.

Declining commodity prices merely irritate the average consumer as his patience is drawn and stretched waiting for his share of the decrement.

For instance, wheat in New York is quoted at $1.00 a bushel, as compared with $1.52 a year ago. Coffee is around seven cents, but twelve months ago it was sixteen cents. Rubber that was $20.50 is down to $10. Cotton was $19 a bale and now it is $12.85. Flour a few days ago sold at $5.20 wholesale in New York, but last August it was $7.85.

The metals, hides and various other commodities have also shrunk in value, and the dollar's buying power should be correspondingly enhanced. But is it? The downward trend no doubt looks good to the consumer who expects that it will eventually be an advantage to him, but what of producers, the farmer for example, north and south of the border whose dollar grows less as the market recedes from its figures of a year ago while the cost of the goods he has to buy remain more or less stationary?

COUNCIL APPEALS TO GOVERNMENT.

The resolution adopted by the City Council last night virtually endorsing The Examiner's proposal that E. A. Peck, M.P., should urge upon the Government the construction of a federal building in Peterborough as a practical and immediate means of providing local employment is striking evidence of the local appeal and approval of the suggestion.

As representatives of the city, the Council submit its claim not only to Mr. Peck but also to the new Prime Minister, Hon. R. B. Bennett, and it is understood that the Council wishes to send a deputation to Ottawa with the request that this public work be undertaken here as soon as possible.

The taxpayers of Peterborough, through their Council, have been carrying on various works this summer, partly as a responsibility to give employment to citizens who needed it. The assistance of the Government will be an agreeable co-operation in this form of relief, and at the same time will furnish the local federal staffs with the increased and unified accommodation which they have lacked for years.

Naturally a new federal building would be a distinct asset to Peterborough.

All these considerations are fully recognized by Mr. Peck, and it is earnestly hoped that the Government will give a prompt and favorable reply to his petition and that of the City Council.

PETERBOROUGH—A SUMMER RESORT.

Peterborough is not only the centre of an extensive summer resort district. It is a summer resort in its own right. Visitors perceive that pleasant quality at first sight. Some day our own citizens may realize it.

Lake and river and canal within our city boundaries afford ample facilities for fishing and boating, and even swimming if there be a screen of bushes nearby. From our back door at the locks to Hastings we have a glorious stretch of forty miles of river and lake, following the windings of the Otonabee to the open spaces of Rice Lake and then into the Trent River. You may make a day's trip of it or a week's. And with a speed boat, you can get down and back in an afternoon.

You can live at home and go paddling and fishing every day, paying only for the rent of your canoe or skiff. With a car you can extend your range over a territory of infinite variety of scenery; fish in different water every day, and be back home every night. And nearly every road from the city brings you to some summer resort or another.

We make our own boats and motors, the best outfits in the world. We have plenty of fish for those who will go after them; and in the fall wild ducks are found in most of our lakes and bays.

There is not another industrial city in the Dominion with the natural attractions of Peterborough and its vicinity. We say that as if we believed it; but we don't. We have only a glimmering of its meaning. And that is why we do not exploit our city as a summer resort. Some day we may.

PULPWOOD COMPETITION.

Two recent news items indicate a determined effort by United States newsprint interests to reduce their dependence upon Canadian sources of supply.

One of these reports last Friday announced the admission of cargoes of pulpwood from Soviet Russia, of which seventy-nine ship-loads have been mentioned as consigned to the International Paper Company. Some of them have reached eastern United States ports, others are on the Atlantic, and the rest are preparing to leave Archangel.

The other news dispatch referred to a survey of Alaskan pulp resources by the U. S. Interior Department, and its report to the United States Senate.

Competition from both these sources may not seriously affect Canada's exports of pulpwood and newsprint to the United States, a branch of our foreign trade that has expanded rapidly during the last decade. Nevertheless the objective of this Alaskan enquiry is quite candidly directed at Canadian business.

"Editor and Publisher" in its August 2 issue says: "With American newspapers practically at the mercy of the Canadian newsprint manufacturers and the demand for newsprint constantly growing in the United States, the necessities of the situation are forcing newsprint consumers to take a lively interest in the Alaskan possibilities. . . . All the evidence proclaims the fact that the United States consumers of pulpwood have been neglecting a source of supply which, if it does not hold the potentiality of making these consumers completely independent of Canadian paper manufacturers, certainly would place them in a position where they were not completely at the mercy of the Canadian producers."

It is estimated that Alaska could supply about one-fourth of the American annual pulp requirements.

The shipments of Soviet pulpwood broke into the front pages of newspapers last Friday with the revoking of the embargo which threatened to shut out the Russian wood because of the allegation that it had been produced by convict labor. The embargo was imposed July 25. It was suddenly removed on the strength of statements by several Soviet agents and representatives of the International Paper Company that state prisoners in Russia were not engaged in the production of this pulpwood. However flimsy this evidence may appear, the plans of the International Paper Company have so far succeeded. This is the same company that was embroiled in the controversy some months ago with the Premiers of Ontario and Quebec on the question of a cut in newsprint prices. Apparently the company is taking another avenue of attack on Canada's pulpwood industry. The Russian wood is admittedly no cheaper than the Canadian, but it offers a competitive resource against the exports from this country. In its present stage this Soviet business is probably not a serious threat to Canada's pulpwood market.

THE MINIATURE GOLF COURSE.

One of the unique things about Americans is their capacity for sudden and unpredictable change, in small things as in larger ones. For a striking example witness the Tom Thumb golf courses which have sprung up like mushrooms all over night.

The miniature golf course has appeared so fast and so ubiquitously that it is unnecessary to tell any one what it is. Who has not seen young and old industriously putting balls around a gaudily decorated vacant lot? Who, motoring peacefully in the dead of night, has not wondered about a blaze of light far in the distance, only to find that it was a miniature golf course brilliantly lighted and filled with enthusiastic miniature golfers? And who is not fascinated by the little artificial mountains and the diminutive rivers and lakes, with their even more diminutive bridges?

a subject deserving some explanation The idea of a miniature course is a simple one and apparently a lucrative one, too. Why was it not thought of before? Why, all of a sudden in the year of grace 1930, should it appear all at once in full bloom? Why not in 1921 or in 1923? Why did they not appear bit by bit so that one might have become used to them? Finally, who is the genuis who said to himself: "I shall cover the United States with Tom Thumb golf courses over night?"

It is said that they are so popular that attendance at motion picture theatres, has been affected by them. They are certainly healthful and wholesome sources of entertainment. The player is out of doors and derives a certain amount of exercise. Only praise seems due them. But how and why did they happen? Let it be agreed that their eruption is a symptom of health. What factors determined that the public body should take this sudden interest in outdoor fun? Will the experts in mass psychology please answer?—New York Herald Tribune.

MR. HARRY STEVENS.

Very general regret has been expressed throughout Canada that Mr. H. H. Stevens was defeated in the recent general election, and the reasons for it are almost inexplicable. Mr. Stevens had been member for his late constituency since 1911, and his hold there was regarded as impregnable. In addition to his recognized ability he was personally popular. Various causes have been assigned for defeat, but whatever they were they seemed to affect the seats of five others as well—two colleagues in Vancouver, General McRae in North Vancouver, Mr. McQuarrie in New Westminster, and Mr. Brady in Prince Rupert. Nothing of a personal or derogatory character could be charged against any one of them. Some say it was their opposition to the Australian and New Zealand treaty, others to the salmon treaty which they opposed in 1929, and others to the British preference. Liberals in British Columbia are saying it was the reaction against the Tolmie Government, which they predict will meet a similar fate when they go to the country.

In the case of Mr. Stevens, his defeat is a distinct loss to the Hon. R. B. Bennett as the leader of the incoming Government and to the country as well. He was eminently fitted to assume the important duties of the office of either Minister of Finance or Minister of Trade and Commerce. It is not known that he would accept either portfolio now, even if a seat could be found for him elsewhere. Some time ago he announced that he would not be a candidate in the recent election, as he wished to concentrate his entire attention upon his private affairs, which had suffered adversely on account of political duties and responsibilities. He only changed his mind at the urgent request of Mr. Bennett. It has been suggested that as the term of Mr. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, expires in February next, one of the members elect in that Province might be induced to resign and accept the post to be thus rendered vacant; but how Mr. Bennett or the members themselves would view such a proposal cannot, of course, be anticipated. Everybody, however, would welcome him back to the House of Commons, and a point might even be strained to accomplish that desirable end.—Ottawa Journal.

LIBERAL VOTE INCREASED

To the Editor of The Examiner,
Sir:

It won't do for our Tory friends to do too much hollerin' about Ontario because while this province increased its number of Tory members by 3 the Liberals according to government statistics increased their total vote by no less than sixty per cent. over last Federal election.

STINSON'S ELECTION

To Editor of The Examiner.
Dear Sir:

The electors of Victoria and Haliburton gave Mr. T. H. Stinson, K.C., Conservative, a majority of 3000 over his opponent, Mr. T. J. Carley, Liberal, at the polls on Monday last. Polling was very heavy, showing the interest taken in the two candidates and the election in general. In 1926 a total of 8,976 votes were cast, when Mr. Stinson defeated Mr. J. J. Thurston by 3,053. On Monday the total vote (unofficial) was 15,262 in Haliburton County. With one exception, Mr. Stinson was given a majority at every polling booth.

The above clipping is from the "Minden Echo" which shows that in spite of the array of orators which were sent from Peterborough and other points into Mr. Stinson's constituency, it had little effect on his majority. These speakers included Lawyer Hall, Lawyer Wearing, Lawyer Kerr, E. C. Drury, Mrs. Forbes Allan and last but not lease (especially in size) "J. H. Burnham ex-M.P." who spoke in Lindsay the Friday night before the election, which turned several Liberal votes to the Conservative column.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for the space in your paper.

THE "EMPIRE" DIFFICULTY.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—It is customary for a birth of any kind to be accompanied by pain, but the pains of the British dominions or rather of the "Mother" country in attempting to give birth to the British Empire have "got them all beat." The difficulty which at the moment looks to be insurmountable is founded on the fact that there are different parties holding different opinions and if the prevailing opinion be "national" instead of "imperial" it is of course all up with the "imperial." If we do not agree on that point and insist that to be "national" is to be "imperial," then two diametrically opposed ideas, the "national" and the "imperial" must continue to strive for dominance. We can reduce this whole question to its simplest form if we realize that it is wholly impossible for British free traders and dominion protectionists to agree to form an empire or any other body. Hence that form of compromise known as "preference" which gives just enough "edge" to the contracting parties to enable them to find it to their advantage to trade with each other. At present, as The Times point out, there is no possibility of an empire if it is to exist only in name. Unless people find it to their advantage all round, that is from all points of view (not materially alone), they will not grow together and work together. History shows that. Hence if a body to be known as "The British Empire" does not appeal to all the people concerned it will not eventuate. That is just where we are now. At present the free-traders appear to be in control in Britain and the home-traders in Canada. Unless they can come together, which appears quite improbable and hopeless, there can be no British empire. The same fact confronted the U. S, but they resolved to fight it out and did so, a thing of course, impossible with us. The Canadian elections appear as a notification to Britain that a British empire in fact is impossible. "National" interests are to govern. If so, and an imperial working partnership cannot be arranged, the end has arrived. It is not a question of bluff or pretence, but of fact. At present it looks doubtful.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 15.

"I was a fool to do it, my dear. I could have traded with him on a cash basis; he would have been satisfied with five thousand dollars, and that wouldn't get him to first base in any kind of business."

"Well, I'll tell you to nullify the deal with honor. Call up your general counsel and the other moguls that attend to your business when you're away and instruct them to start for Tres Pinos by automobile to-night, see Ken Burney's father and buy his ranch. You know what it's worth and you can buy it in the name of a dummy. Old Mr. Burney is doubtless very much discouraged; he is in ill health; he has no cattle and his ranch is mortgaged—in all probability at seven per cent. He must pay his interest out of the lease money and I daresay that leaves him little to live on. He must always be troubled by the thought that, if and when the lease expired and you do not renew it, he may not be able to lease it to others, in which event he will be horribly embarrassed to meet his interest payments; eventually he may lose the ranch on mortgage foreclosure.

"I understand cattle ranches are very hard to dispose of now, and if you offer him a good price there is a very strong probability that he will sell to you. With the ranch sold, Ken Burney will have no place to put the three thousand head of cattle you have agreed to sell him on such easy terms."

"Oh, he could lease another ranch cheap enough."

"But you didn't promise to stock any other ranch for him, Dad. You can point out to him that few ranches he may be able to lease will be as good as the one his father sold. I heard you say once that the Santa Inez rancho was the finest fattening range in California, and you can point out to Ken Burney that this knowledge actuated you in formulating your agreement with him, because you realized that in operating his father's ranch, with which he is familiar, his chances for success were fifty per cent. brighter than on any other ranch you know of. You can point out to him, too, that if he has to lease a ranch, the lease money will far exceed what he would have to pay for taxes on his father's ranch and hence under that method of operation you would have to give him ten years time instead of five, and this you are unwilling to do. If he objects to this, you stand pat and finally offer him some cash as a compromise settlement."

"Oh, Lord," the king murmured, turning his eyes piously ceilingward. "Why weren't you born a boy? I'd never miss Ken Burney if your dear, departed mother had given me the breaks. Yes, my dear, you have detected the milk in the coconut. He'll settle for twenty-five thousand cash, invest the money and give his revered old father the income for life. Consequently he'll be busted again and this time he'll not be so high and mighty. Put in a long-distance call for the home office. The vice-president never leaves there before six o'clock."

At five minutes of six the vice-president of the Bardin Land & Cattle Company had received his orders.

When His Majesty emerged from the telephone booth, on his rugged features he wore the first smile in nearly thirty hours.

The train Ken Burney caught out of Huachita was a slow one and he was two days reaching Los Angeles. He was due at Dan Wilkins' ranch in Harney, Oregon, within three days if he was to keep his promise. Nevertheless, he did not want to go through California without paying his aged and infirm father a visit. So he chartered an airplane and flew to the Santa Inez Rancho at Tres Pinos in two hours. His father still occupied the family hacienda, having excluded that and a few acres of land from the ranch lease.

The plane deposited Burney in a pasture half a mile from the hacienda and he walked up. To his surprise he found a large moving van in the front yard and strange men carrying out the furniture. On the veranda he found his father, looking and feeling depressed.

Again the Latin streak came to the front. Father and son embraced each other and Ken Burney kissed his father, first on one cheek and then on the other. "Bank close in on you, padre mio?"

"No, Kenneth. I've sold the ranch to a man named George L. Borthwick, in San Francisco. He offered me a price I couldn't resist. After all, Kenneth, unless you could arrange capital to stock the ranch and operate it, the bank might take a notion to foreclose before we could sell it elsewhere, so I decided to play safe."

Ken Burney patted the old man's back. "You did perfectly right," he assured him. "Of course it's a blow to have to leave the old place—but beggars can't be choosers. Did Borthwick pay cash?"

"Yes. Son, I have two hundred and sixty-eight thousand dollars in the bank. I am moving to a small rented house in Tes Pinos." His trembling old hand closed over his son's. "The money will earn five per cent. net and I can live well on a quarter of the income. The remainder I will save for you, my son."

"Good old Felix," his son murmured. See that airplane down in the horse pasture, father? Well, it's going to carry me on to Oregon, where I'm going to try to purchase fifteen thousand head of cattle, all ages and sexes," and he told his father of his impending deal with Dan Wilkins. "If I can tie those cattle up by making a nominal down payment, I can grow them out on the Wilkins range, without cost, for one year, and unload at a fine profit.

"Father, the cattle business has reached its farthest south and is recovering. I feel in my bones that it is going to come back strong and that cattle well bought now will be worth twenty dollars a head more a year from now. Want to go in with me on this deal? I'll furnish the work and you furnish two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. However, I'll not ask you to put up a cent until I know beyond the shadow of a doubt that I can, in a pinch, dispose of the entire lot at a profit before the next payment comes due. I'll play safe."

"Old Felix Burney was somewhat of a philosopher. "As you will, my boy. You may draw on me at sight up to a quarter of a million."

"Good old Felix Burney," his son reiterated. "But I want something more. I want the full name and address of the man Borthwick."

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, August 6.—Although a fairly good export business was reported done in Canadian wheat over the holiday, the main source of strength in wheat prices here yesterday was the continued upward trend of corn values in the Chicago market. The close here ranged from 2¼c to 3¼c a bushel higher, with the May future soaring well aoove the "dollar mark" to finish the day at $1.05¼.

Hot and dry weather in Western Canada, coupled with drought in the United States corn belt, along with a bullish crop report, were the factors in the advance. A private report estimated the Prairies wheat crop at 302,000,000 bushels, far below previous estimates.

Pit offerings were quickly absorbed, southern and local interests taking the bulk of May futures sold.

Cash grain trade was fairly good while coarse grains were in poor demand, though prices generally followed the higher trend of wheat.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—Influenced by the strength of the Winnipeg and Chicago grain markets, prices for all lines of cash grain here yesterday were advanced 1 to 2 cents per bushel.

A stronger feeling also developed for spring wheat flour and values were marked up 10 cents per barrel. All lines of mill-feed were increased $1 per ton.

The demand for all lines of butter continued dull and the undertone to the market was easier. Receipts were 3,518 boxes.

The cheese market remained quiet, with prices about steady. Receipts were 7,261 boxes.

An easier feeling prevailed for eggs and values in some cases were shaded 1 cent per dozen. Receipts were 3,293 cases.

A reduction of 25 cents per 80-lb. bag was made in new local-grown potatoes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 6—Moves by President Hoover to furnish Government aid to drought areas gave a powerful upward impulse yesterday to prices of all grains, especially corn. Largely owing to market effects of a statement which the President issued relative to Government relief, corn quotations went soaring above any point heretofore reached this season and up 5¼c a bushel from today's bottom level. An estimate from Secretary Hyde of the United States Department of Agriculture suggested corn crop losses amounted to 500,000,000 bushels and there were unofficial estimates that the hay crop has been reduced 10,700,000 tons, and the market suddenly shot skyward, offerings being altogether inadequate to cope with the urgent demand.

Closing indemnities were: Wheat—Sept., 89½c to 89¾c, 94½c to 94¾c; Dec., 93½c to 93¾c, $1.00⅛ to $1.00⅜; March, $1, $1.05¼. Corn—Sept., 90½c 93¼c; Dec., 86¾c, 92⅞c to 93c; March 89¼c, 96c.

Shake-up Follows Complaints That Officers Failed to Prosecute Communists.

CONSTABLE REPLACED

THOROLD, Ont., Aug. 6.—(C.P.).—Constable Thomas Shelton, St. Catharines, has been appointed Chief of Police of Thorold in place of Frank Collins and Constable James Ross, Niagara Falls, Ont. has been appointed constable replacing Constable Reid.

The shakeup in the force followed the investigation by a committee named by the Town Council to enquire into complaints against the former members of the police force, based on alleged failure of the officers to prosecute vigorously communist agitators.

Some weeks ago the force was asked to resign in a body and then re-appointed with the exception of one constable. Since that time it is alleged that two Communists who had been arrested were not brought before the Magistrate and the new complaints led to the appointment of the committee which formally presented its report to council last night.

LEADING SHARES SAG ON MARKET

Grain Markets Are Again Buoyant But Trading is Apathetic.

IRON REPORT DISCOURAGING.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 6 (C.P.).—The drought appeared to have injured the bull pasturage in to-day's stock market, and the mid-week business statistics provided no relief.

Leading shares sagged 2 to 4 points or more as trading remained apathetic. Some market operators were said to have found the market too sluggish for successful trading and to have suspended activity.

The grain markets were again buoyant, and while some stock market interests endeavored to interpret the breaking of the depression in the wheat and corn market bullishly, the stock market as a whole displayed considerable nervousness as to the effects of the extensive crop damage on autumn business prospects.

Reviews Disappointing.

The weekly steel trade reviews were disappointing. "Iron Age" stated that steel mill operations had dropped to 54 per cent. of capacity, after holding at 56 for four weeks, but said that a seasonal upturn would appear in a month or two.

Freight car loadings for the fourth week of July were reported as nearly 9,000 cars under the previous week.

Some of these statistics were regarded as representing water under the mill, and Wall Street believes that it may be a little early to look for a marked seasonal upturn in steel operations, but the psychological influences seriously hampered the bull cause.

Such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can., Dupont, Rock Island, Westinghouse Electric and Atchison lost two points or more, Atchison after selling up 4 in the morning. American Telephone, Union Pacific, Eastman, Allied Chemical, American Water Works, American Tobacco B and Case lost 4 or more. There were a few firm spots during the earlier hours of trading, Woolworth rising 2 and Davison Chemical 3 points.

PEACE BRIDGE PIONEER DIES

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Aug. 6. — Hiram H. Green, pioneer promoter of the International Peace Bridge, died to-day at Buffalo. Mr. Green, who was 65 years of age, was born in Buffalo but had lived in Forth Erie for the past 25 years. He bought the first share of stock in the Buffalo and Fort Erie Public Bridge Company, of which he was a director.

MINING MARKET SUFFERS LAPSE

Mining Corporation Touches New Low of $1.05—Ackerman Up 25.

NORANDA STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6—The market on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange to-day lapsed into the lethargic state apparent in the sessions of the past week. True, there were a few outstanding price movements, but these were unaccompanied by any signs of real volume.

International Nickel and Noranda failed to move far from the previous closing levels, while Hudson Bay was not traded in all morning. Only two Lindsleys were sold, and both were unchanged, Sudbury Basin at $1.70 and Sherritt Gordon at $1.32.

Mining Corporation sold down sharply from the start, and touched a low for the day at $1.05, where it was off 20 points. Later the stock recovered part of its loss to $1.11. A quarterly report on the company's properties issued to-day was the only cause evident for the stock's decline. Granada Rouyn was 10 lower at $1.40, while Abana was off 2, and Big Missouri 2. Waite Ackerman climbed up 25, to $3.26, and Pend Oreille sold unchanged. Arno and Manitoba Basin were fractionally higher.

Price changes in the golds were mixed, Dome off 5, and Kirkland Lake 1, while Vipond and Hollingers were each up 5, and Teck Hughes, Wright Hargreaves, Premier and Sylvanite held unchanged.

Nordon was the only oil to chance, without returning to its previous closing price, holding a 6-point gain at $1.03. Alex, Clamont, Calgary, and Edmonton, Chemical Research and Royalite were all unchanged at midday.

WHEAT TOUCHES NEW HIGH LEVEL

Dominating Factor is Torrid Weather Over U. S. and Canadian Grain Belts.

Futures Over Dollar Mark.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 6 (C.P.)—Reaching the highest levels in weeks, the wheat market continues to soar upward to-day, and an hour after the opening had reached well above the "dollar mark" for all futures Torrid weather across the grain belts of the United States and Canada was the dominating factor.

At 10.30 a.m. wheat ranged 4¼ cents to 4 3-8 cents higher than Tuesday's close. October was quoted at $1.01¾; December, $1.03½; and May, $1.09 3-8.

Other grains followed the wheat trend, October flax recording the greatest gain, 7¾ cents a bushel at $1.84¼.

CAPT. HAWKES AFTER RECORD.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, August 6. — Captain Frank M. Hawkes, attempting to establish a trans-continental air record between New York and Los Angeles, arrived at Port Columbus at 7.48 a.m. to-day, two hours and forty-eight minutes after he left Curtiss Field, New York. He refueled here nd left for St. Louis, his next stop, at 8.04.

LOSES BEARD ON GOVT.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 6—The embarrassment of paying the old election wager by pushing the victor down the main street in a wheelbarrow is only momentary compared to that of Francis X. Chauvin, stalwart Liberal of East Essex. For the past week now Mr. Chauvin's best friends have passed him on the street without a trace of recognition for Mr. Chauvin is now without the luxuriant beard which for years had graced his classic features.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

TORONTO, Aug. 6 (Special to The Examiner).—Word was received from New York this morning to the effect that Warner Brothers had consummated a deal with Famous Players' Canadian Corporation whereby all Warner Brothers-First National and Vitaphone attractions will be shown in all Canadian theatres owned and operated by Famous Players' Canadian Corporation. It is believed this constitutes the largest booking arrangement ever negotiated in Canada. Warner Brothers and First Nation Pictures plan to produce forty pictures each in the 1930-31 season. Within the next three weeks they will have completed their 1929-1930 productions schedules consisting of thirty-five feature pictures each and studios will be closed down until resumption of activities schedules between November 1 and 10. The contemplated shutdown of the studios is in line with the usual procedure of closing the plants for a period of from 8 to 10 weeks.

Application has been made to the Toronto Stock Exchange for listing of the common and Class A stock of St. Lawrence Corporation Limited; 1,407,806 common shares of no par value. St. Lawrence Corporation Limited is the holding company formed to bring under one management St. Lawrence Paper Mills, Lake St. John Power and Paper Company and Brompton Pulp and Paper. It is understood the greater part of the outstanding stock of the constituent companies has been turned in by shareholders in exchange for stock in the new organization, although there has been activity of the new stock on Toronto Exchange it has been traded on an "if, and when issued" basis on Toronto for a matter of about three weeks now.

New York brokers still are advising clients that any weakness should be used for the purchase of the better grade securities. While there is no visible change in the general business situation it is felt without doubt there will soon be sufficient encouragement to induce those who have been waiting to make their market commitments to start buying. "We continue hopeful and think that better class of stocks are likely to emerge from current dullness at rising prices soon as the first tangible evidences of recovery in business manifest themselves" states another letter.

PRICES EASIER ON TORONTO MARKET

Leaders Ease Point in Sympathy With New York's Lead.

NICKEL, BRAZILIAN DOWN.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6.—Trading was on a greatly reduced scale on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning and prices eased off from a fraction to one point as leaders moved irregularly lower in sympathy with New York. There was very little selling on the decline and consequently the decline occasioned practically no comment.

International Nickel and Brazilian were two of the outstanding stocks to react below last night's close, both losing 1-2 point or more. Massey-Harris, which lately has been quite firm at 27 or better, to-day was down to 26. Cockshutt Plow held unchanged at 17.

City Dairy, the feature yesterday, was quieter and although off slightly from its new top for the year, still was firm above 66.

Oil were mixed B. A. Oil up a small amount. Imperial and International Petroleum off again. Crown Dominion gained nearly a point. Walkers was steady at 9, other liquor stocks unchanged.

The steels held up better, Standard Steel and Steel of Canada retaining their position and Page-Hersey Tubes regaining a point to 89.

In the general election of September 1926 his majority over A. G. MacKinnon, Conservative, was 915, although he polled a smaller vote than in this election.

PREMATURE BURIAL IS GIVEN PROHIBITION AT A SPEAKEASY

Customers Make Merry When Famous Barroom is Filled With Music and Color.

SOUVENIR HUNTERS.

HALIFAX, N.S., August 6 (Special to The Examiner. Copyright, 1930). — In one wild carnival of music, color and mirth, the Slaughter House, most famous and popular of Glace Bay's "speak easys," closed its doors in the wee small hours of the morning, after a career that would afford material for many a tale.

Decorated with colored lights, streamers of bright ribbons, hundreds of gay baloons, and with the plate glass mirrors that line the walls bearing inscriptions, "Farewell Prohibition," and "Welcome Government Control," the scene within was a merry one. Refreshments, sometimes "on the house," flowed steadily. Two orchestras kept up the jazz spirit.

At midnight the guests officially buried prohibition, a somewhat premature burial, for Government Control is not yet in operation in Nova Scotia. Empty bottles were flung in a pit over which a great bonfire was started. Rockets and flares shot up as the fire burned, and, welcoming Government Control, the party continued until the small hours, when the proprietor solemnly locked the door on a hall stripped of everything portable. The souvenir hunter had been very busy.

In the early days when law was enforced with the strong right arm the Slaughter House was the pioneer barroom of Glace Bay. It was the scene of many a battle. After prohibition it retained its name and most of its old customers as well as many new ones.

BANKS TO CARRY UNSOLD '29 CROP

Statement Follows Conference of Prairie Premiers and Bank Heads.

NO NEW GUARANTEES.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.) — That the Canadian banks had promised to carry the unsold balance of the 1929 wheat crop and that the arrangements were satisfactory, was the statement issued by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba following a conference here to-day between eight managers of leading banks and the Premiers of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Wheat Pool officials were also present at the conference.

Premier Bracken, when asked whether the Governments of the Prairie Provinces would renew the guarantees for the Pool to the banks, which expired August 1, said: "There has been no request made for guarantees on the new crop and it is not anticipated that a new guarantee will be required.

"The guarantees were to cover the whole crop and the only difficulty rose through a small portion of it not having been delivered at the end of the crop year, July 31. It is concerning that portion that we have been having conferences with the banks. The banks and the pools are carrying on with respect to the balance of the 1929 crop exactly as they did prior to July 1," Mr. Bracken explained.

EDDIE HELD IS

shots to get on when his second went short of the green, then he rimmed the cup with his first putt. Eddie was two on and two down.

On the ninth Stuart hooked out of bounds. This is the narrowest fairway on the course.

Held split the centre with a beautiful tee shot, but was short on his second, and was lying more than a dozen feet from the green. However, the New Yorker got a five, while Stuart under his loss of stroke and distance penalty had to take a six to lose the hole and be two down at the turn.

Everybody seemed a bit wild this morning. The creek at the first tee seemed to have a magnetic attraction for balls, while Sandy Somerville of London, who is playing 19-year-old Eric Russell of Toronto, sliced a beauty out of bounds on the first tee.

Course Is Hard Baked.

A scorching sun is blazing down on a course that is almost as hard baked as cement and is brown instead of green. It is the hottest day of the tournament by far, with very little wind to relieve the intensity of the heat. However, the Held-Stuart match and the Somerville-Russell match both have fair galleries of ardent fans.

Eric Russell of Toronto is giving Somerville, two times Canadian champion, a real battle. Before the ninth the 19-year-old Torontonian had his veteran opponent two down, but Somerville got them back to be all square at the ninth.

Alex. Weier of Winnipeg and Jack Cameron of Montreal, were all square at the ninth. Cameron missed a two foot putt on the ninth green while Weir put on an eight footer into the cup to square the match at this point.

F. J. Wright of Newton, Mass., was shooting a good game to be six up on J. Raymond Ferguson of Philadelphia at the end of the ninth.

Wright went out in two under par.

Eddie Held was two up on Carroll Stuart at the end of the 11th. Held won the tenth and Stuart came back to win the 11th.

Alex Weir was one up on Jack Cameron at the 11th green.

Gordon Taylor, Jr., of Toronto, was four up on Fred Hoblitzel at the end of the first nine this morning.

Thompson Up Half Way.

Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, was three up at the end of the 18th hole in the morning round on W. D. Taylor of Montreal

In this match they halved the first two holes while Nicol won the third with the fourth halved. Then Taylor managed to get the fifth. Nicol took the next three running while they halved the ninth to leave Thompson three up at the turn. Coming home Taylor won the tenth, but Nicol promptly got it back at the 11th. Then Taylor took another hole and Nicol took another, a see-saw affair. They halved the fourteenth, Thompson won the fifteenth, they haved the sixteenth, Taylor won the seventeenth and then they halved the

VIPOND REMAINS TRADING ISSUE ON MINING MART

To-day's Stock is Well Taken at Prices Above Yesterday's.

HOWIE SHIPS BULLION.

Substantial Improvement in Grade of Cobalt Ore Mined Being Noticed.

(Special to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—Vipond Consolidated continues to give the arm chair occupants in the boardroom something to talk about to-day the stock being well taken at prics even above yesterday's high. Some are attributing the strength to talk of the possibility of Hollinger, Vipond's big neighbor taking a concrete interest in the property while other are looking forward to the forth-coming annual report for an explanation. Whatever the reason for the move may be the fact remans Vipond has been steadily improving its position of late with efforts covering several years time just beginning to get results.

Advices from around Sioux Lookout, are to the effect another shipment of gold bullion will be brought out from the Howey Gold Mine a day or so ago by airplane. This makes the second or third shipment from the property and is understood to have been valued in the neighborhood of $50,000. The ontario Department of Mines report shows that output of Howey for the month of June was about $52,000 from about 10,000 tons and from other sources it is learned gross value of the ore treated was about $5.50 a ton.

C. G. and S. Mining Corporation is reported to have put a large crew of men at work on their properties in Dasmeloises township, Quebec, adjacent and west of the Abana group. Officials of the company expect results in the course of a few weeks, indications secured in previous work on the 1,200 acres having been promising.

2,500 Tons Treated Daily

Some quarters are of the opinion that while the new McIntyre Porcupine mill will have a rated capacity of 2,000 0tons, it may actually be found capable of treating closer to 2,500 tons a day. There is no evidence as yet of actual mill construction, the foundations and other work now under way being in connection with the mining plant and shops. Mill construction will be launched as soon as designs and plans receive final sanction, however. While the new plant will differ in some respects from other mills in the district, there will be nothing experimental about it, the process have been thoroughly tested in a small section of the old mill.

A program of diamond drilling is in progress on the Junior Frood property in the Sudbury area. The claims lie adjacent to the Walmer group and are north of the Frood mine.

A substantial improvement in grade is indicated in the ore being treated by Mining Corporation at its Cobalt properties. An output of 146,843 ounces of silver with average mill heads of 27.98 ounces per ton is reported for the quarter ended June 30, 1930, which compares with production of 214,417 ounces and average grade of 19.12 ounces per ton in the corresponding quarter last year. The amount of Cobalt shipped, totalling 57,349 pounds from the frontier property reveals another source of income that may serve to keep things going for some time.

START DRAGGING FOR FLIER'S BODY

Believe Undertow Make Recovery of Jerry Fitton's Remains Difficult.

McGOVERN DIRECTS HUNT.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.) —Supervised dragging operations to recover the body of George "Jerry" Fitton, drowned in Lake Ontario near Presque Isle Point yesterday is proceeding, but chances of finding the body by this method is remote. The plane crashed in 50 feet of water and there is a strong undertow at this point of the lake. A shoal is also at this part of the lake and should the body drop off this shoal it would be next to impossible to recover it as the water drops to nearly 150 feet.

The plane, not badly wrecked, has been towed to the shore and is in charge of McGovern, stunt flyer, who was with Fitton at the time of the crash. McGovern, except for a few minor bruises, is none the worse for his experience and was about today directing the grappling operations.

It is believed the engine stalled at a low altitude, which caused the crash.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, Man, Aug. 6.—(C.P.)—(Opening prices.—Wheat: Oct. ½ to 1 higher at .98 to to .98¾; Dec. ¼ to 2⅛ higher at 1.00 to 1.01⅜; May ¾ to 1⅞ higher at 1.06 to 1.07.

Election Of Fraser Subject Of Protest

HASTINGS, Aug. 6 (Special to The Examiner)—A a well-attended meeting of the Conservative Party of Northumberland County was held at Colborne last night. It was the unanimous voice of the meeting that a protest against the election be entered and it is thought that this will take place as soon as possible.

WEALTH OF WESTERN CANADA VIVIDLY OUTLINED TO ROTARY

L. B. Howland, of Toronto, Addresses Weekly Rotary Luncheon.

VANCOUVER A GATEWAY.

The magnitude and potential wealth of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast country was surveyed by L. B. Howland, of Toronto, in an inspiring and expansive address at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday.

In Vancouver, B.C., there lives a man named Jason Allard. On the day of his birth, Jason's father was so busy that he was unable to give any attention whatever, either to child or to mother. In short, the elder Allard, together with other men behind a wooden stockade, was repelling an attack by hostile Indians. In his own body, Jason Allard to-day carries shots fired into him by the savage's muskets. And in the span of this one man's lifetime what has happened? Close to the site of that little stockade there stands to-day, the first port on the Pacific Coast, a mighty city with five railways running in and out of it, with 5,000 ships a year clearing from its harbor, with magnificent buildings, with enterprise and industry evidenced in every corner—such is Vancouver. Consider the province of British Columbia combining romance with industry, mining in glaciers, digging gold above the clouds. In eight years the Premier Mine alone has delivered $35,000,000 worth of gold, silver and lead, adding its quota to a total provincial mineral output worth between sixty and seventy millions of dollars annually. Consider British Columbia making $25,000,000 in a year from its lumber.

Consider all these things and note that it is only 173 years ago that Voltaire wrote of what is now Canada as "A few acres of ice." Consider all these things and remember that it is just over forty years since the last spike was driven in the C.P.R.; that it is only thirty years since gold was first found in the Klondike, that it is only twenty years ago since two of our provinces were created—and then compare the record with that, say, of England, whose tin mines were supplying javelins for Caesar's army over 2,000 years ago.

A Vast Granary.

To many it may seem the language of exaggeration to say that civilization and the white mans supremacy in finance and commerce depend upon the rapid development of the various states and territories west of the Rocky Mountains. Alaska is equal in area to Texas, Oregon, Washington and California, and its potential food supplies are far greater than those of Texas and New England combined. Western Canada can produce more food stuffs, coal, forest products, fish, gold, copper, silver, lead and zinc than the whole of Europe and Asia if Russia be left out of the picture.

In the season of 1927, Western Canada grew 14% of the world's wheat and supplied half of the wheat imports of the old world, and in a decade will be supplying three-fourths of the wheat imports of the eastern hemisphere.

From 1928 crop, 83,000,000 bushels of wheat went to the markets of the world via Vancouver, and in less than a decade Vancouver must become the unrivalled wheat emporium of the world. In 1915 the U.S. produced 1,025,821,000 bushels of wheat. The average wheat production since is less less than 800,000,000 bushels and rye, oats, barley and maize crops also average less than that of 1915.

The U.S., in other words, has passed the peak of grain production. Moreover, to manufacture the best brands of flour, U.S. millers must import enormous quantities of wheat from Canada to mix with the inferior wheat grown in the States. All this is significant and tells its own tale, equally significant is the fact that the U.S. is now importing large quantities of poultry, cheese, butter, milk and cream from Canada, as well as cattle, sheep and hogs, also butter from Australia and New Zealand, and eggs from the Orient.

The U.S. farmers complain that they are being impoverished because they are unable to compete with Canadia and Australian producers.

Minerals.

It is only yesterday the amazing discovery has been made that beyond the rails that the frontier in Northern Ontario extending from Labrador to Alaska is the biggest and richest mineral zone that has ever been explored or known to man. In a little while Canada will be producing more gold than the U.S. and South Africa. Indeed the Dominions, gold, copper, lead, silver, nickel and zinc mines will make more millionaires than did South Africa's gold and diamond mines, and along that marvelous mineral zone Labrador to Nome, are greater hydroelectric resources than in all the States east of the Rockies. The flood of gold and silver which California poured forth, 60 and 70 years ago, caused the transformation of Continental America, and of the Pacific Coast into the most productive grain and livestock region possible. It had to half the rail mileage of the world being constructed in America, it saved the world from famine and civilization from eclipse. And Canada's wonderful gold deposits will transform Western Canada into the most productive mineral agricultural and industrial region of the world.

Be it remembered that through Canada lies the direct and shortest route for comers, travel and communications between Europe and the Orient. The route by air, rail, and water, from London or Paris, to Tokio or Manilla, via Quebec, Jasper and Vancouver, is a thousand miles shorter than by way of New York and Seattle.

When the Quebec, Jasper and Vancouver line is double tracked and its road bed perfectly ballasted and its motive power and equipment the best, it can sell transportation between Atlantic and Pacific coast points, 20% less than any other railway crossing the four mountain ranges to cross, with four times heavier grades, while Canada's National Railway has but one mountain pass to cross almost on a water level grade.

Vancouver a Gateway.

Vancouver is the gateway to the mineral, agricultural and industrial region of the earth's surface, has before it a unique and glorious destiny. Within three hundred miles of the city, over 4,000,000,000 H.P. of Hydro Electric current are available for development at minimum cost. Here is a summer clime more agreeable and more salubrious than any other comparison. Here also is the most glorious scenery that the eye of man ever beheld. Within the last thirty years the population of the U.S. has increased from 75,000,000 to 120,000,000 while during the same period, the number of cattle in the U.S. has slumped over 10,000,000. Hogs have fallen 11,000,000 and there are 20,000,000 fewer sheep now than there were thirty years ago. There are millions of idle hands and brains clamoring for employment congregated in the U.S. towns and cities, but these illions will not move out to the rural districts to produce agricultural and dairy products. It is too easy to pick up a living at casual jobs or in idleness. With the aid of the tractor and up to date machinery, wheat grown on good land is a profitable crop at present price, but on inferior and worn out lands neither wheat nor pasture can be made to pay, consequently each year more and more farms are abandoned and the exodus to town and cities keeps pace. These facts are unmistakable evidence that the U.S. with its stupendious industrial expansions, will continue to draw greater and greater food supplies from Canada and Australia, so must Europe with its ever expanding population and increasing industrial activities. Soviet Russian and semi-Socialist Australia, are not likely to add materially to the world's supply of bread stuffs.

Peace River Country.

From 60,000,000 acres planted in wheat the U.S. last year produced less than 800,000,000 bushels. Western Canada on the other hand of the same year, harvested 600,000,000 bushels from some 23,000,000 acres. There are no more rich virgin wheat lands available in the U.S., but in western Canada, over 120,000,000 acres of prolific virgin wheat lands are waiting to be transformed into fields of golden grain by the thrifty and adventurious pioneer. Moreover, in western Canada, are the finest pastures of the American continent where 100,000,000 head of cattle and equally as many sheep can be ranged and finished. In the Peace River Country, 400 miles direct north of Vancouver, in the same latitude as Ulster, Poland and Scotland, are 47,000,000 acres of the richest pasture and wheatlands in the western world, where from forty to seventy bushels of wheat to the acre are harvested, its quality excells that of any wheat grown in any other part of the world.

The Peace is equal in area to Great Britain and Ireland and is capable of producing enough bread and beef to supply the wants of half the people of Europe. At its western end the Peace is less than one hundred and fifty miles from a Pacific seaport, and it is safe to say that in a decade or two this new country will be shipping more bread stuffs to the old world than Australia, Argentina or the United States.

The climat of the Peace is much more agreeable and much healthier than that of Australia, Argentine, Scotland or Germany. In the same country are the biggest deposits of the highest grade smokeless steam coal known and its potential hydro-electric resources are greater than those of Great Britain, France and Germany combined. The Laird region just north of the Peace is another potential empire of immense resources of soil, mineral, forests and water power, while Alaska and the Yukon in course of time will produce more bread stuffs, fish, beef, pork, poultry and dairy products than Texas, Oregon, California, Washington and Idaho combined. The truth is, Alaska and Western Canada's potential agricultural production is greater than the potential agricultural production of the whole of the U.S. Once and for all, it may be well to dissipate the false notion that Western Canada and Alaska are handicapped by an inhospitable climate. The Japanese current and the Chinook sweeping over the Pacific tropical seas to Alaska and the Canadian west, give to them more genial and healthier clime than the gulf stream and its accompanying trade winds give to France, the British Isles, Germany and Scandinavia.

A Great Destiny.

North of the 49th parallel of lattitude in Europe dwell its most stalwart progressive and intelligent people and north of the 49th parallel also are Europe's greatest industrial, commercial, financial and agricultural activities. It is equally true that north of the 49th parallel of latitude, will be found in the course of time, the most dense, most intelligent and most progressive population of the North American continent. It is well to bear in mind these things when attempting to visualize the future of Western Canada and Alaska and the part they are destined to play in the economic life of the world. Seated on the verandah on Grouse Mountain, on a summer afternoon, the traveller may see unrolled before him the most glorious vision of sea, sky, forests, islands, seashore, and mountain scenery. The Chalet itself, is almost 4,000 ft. above the harbor, on the slope of forest clothed mountains. Below in the harbor are the flags and ships of all nations. Girt by the sea, is Stanley Park and along the high cliffs above the Gulf of Georgia, extend the gardens, lawns and meadows of Vancouver's University. It covers five hundred acres and is the most beautifully located university of the world. Vancouver is built on the peninsula girt by the harbor. The Fraser River and the sea, and no tongue or pen can do justice to the grandeur, beauty and sublimity of the scenery which compass it on every side and as far as the eye can range.

Some day, Vancouver will become the most populous, the richest and commercially the most important city on the American Continent. Indeed when Canada surpassed the United States in wealth and population as it is certain to do, Vancouver may become the Metropolis of the English speaking world and the centre and metropolis of the British Empire.

REFORMATORY TERM IS GIVEN W GEDGE

Mother Pleads Guilty to Assaulting Two of Her Children.

A sentence of two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory was passed on Wilfred Gedge, employed in this city, by Magistrate Langley in Police Court this morning when he pleaded guilty to charges of forgery and stealing from his employer. He was already under suspended sentence on breaking in and entering and stealing counts on which he was convicted earlier this year.

The forged document in the case was an agreement between the Gilson Manufacturing Company with which Gedge has been employed, and E. Disney. Gedge stole a washing machine from his employers and illegally sold it, returning only a portion of the money he received to his employers.

Hon. G. N. Gordon appeared for the prisoner.

Even the most inveterate Police Court spectators failed to see this morning's lengthy docket through. There were city police cases and provincial and traffic cases to be heard. Many were adjournments from earlier courts and also many adjournments were effected to-day.

H. Y. Wood paid $5 and costs for allowing his car to be driven over the speed limit on George street during July. Mrs. Vina Morgan was charged with assaulting two of her children, William and Irenus, aged 6 and 9 years, and occasioning bodily harm. She pleaded guilty and was allowed to go on suspended sentence, a year probation, and $100 bond.

John Thompson of Peterborough paid $7.50 and costs for speeding on Highway No. 7. For a similar offence on Highway No. 28 Gordon Davey paid $7.50 and costs also.

U. S. BARGE CANAL IS BADLY NEEDED

Col. Green Quotes Figures Showing Great Increase in Tonnage.

HUDSON TO GREAT LAKES

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 6 (C.P.) — Colonel Frederick Stuart Green, State Superintendent of Public Works, last night asserted that increase in tonnage carried on the State barge canals and decrease in tonnage carried on the Canadian St. Lawrence canals, "point unmistakably to the necessity of building a ship canal from the Hudson River to the Great Lakes."

Up to July 26, Green said, barge canal tonnage this years increased 387,088 tons over tonnage for the same period last year, and that up to June 30, tonnage on the Canadian canals dropped 226,571 tons.

Canadian Tonnage Drops

"This is significant," Green said, "when it is noted from the Canadian Government report that tonnage is lighter on their canals this year than in any years since 1926. Tonnage carried on the Canadian St. Lawrence canals in 1929 total 5,718,650 tons; in 1928, 8,411,542 tons, a drop of 2,692,891 tons. On the other hand, barge canal tonnage has been maintaining a steady upward trend. At the present rate we will beat the 1929 record of 3,089,903 tons. I predict that within five years barge canal tonnage will equal that of the Canadian St. Lawrence canals.

"Every year I am more convinced we shall have a ship canal across New York State. Not only the increase but the character of the tonnage shows this is the next necessity."

SIX MARKSMEN TIE IN PRIMARY

Saint John Woman Among Leaders in Lieutenant's-Governor's Match.

SHOOTING IMPROVES.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.) — Six marksmen, including Mrs. J. N. Dow of Saint John, N.B., scored possibles in the primary round of the first stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match shot off this morning over the 300-yard range at the 59th annual meet of the Ontario Rifle Association.

Others who registered bull's-eyes with their seven shots were Cadet Shaver, Hamilton, Ont.; Sgt.-Major Emslie, Toronto; Sergt. Hobbs, Toronto; Master Gunner L. Collins, Esquimault, B.C., and Pte. J. M. Grant, Victoria, B.C.

Better weather conditions than yesterday were partly responsible for the improved shooting, although atmospheric conditions were still far from ideal. Mirages raised by the hot sun and a fitful wind made sighting difficult.

The firing at the second range in the first stage will be at 600 yards, the second stage at 900 yards being fired Friday morning. Four trophies with $394 in cash prizes will be awarded to winners in the Lieutenant Governor's match. Three medals, gold, silver and bronze, have been donated by His Honor William D. Ross.

The outstanding match on this afternoon's program is the Gibson Memorial event.

Advertised Brands Are Always Best

"Yes . . . . I always recommend advertised brands . . . . and I'll tell you why---I want my customers to get good goods.

"Advertised brands are the best value you can buy. In every line they lead in quality. They have to.

"Do you think a manufacturer goes on drawing people's attention to his product by advertising it if it isn't A1 quality? Certainly not---the very fact that he advertises it is a guarantee that it is a good product.

"Why are advertised brands purchased time and time again by the same people?

"Why are the trade-marks of advertised brands so well known everywhere?

"Simply because the public has proved by actual test that advertised brands are the best goods money can buy.

"I know I could make more money by selling my customers an inferior substitute, but I could do it only once. They don't come back a second time.

"No . . . . Substitution doesn't pay.

Of course advertisers recognize that the most effective means of keeping the Canadian public informed of the merits of advertised brands is the daily newspaper, because practically every Canadian family reads a daily newspaper every day

Jack Primeau 17 Years in Business

Interior of the Jack Primeau Store, Hunter Street

Above photograph shows the interior of the Jack Primeau Store on Hunter Street, which has just recently been remodelled. The floor space has been considerably increased by the installation of the most modern type of clothing racks and display cases. A scheme of interior decoration provides the finest illumination possible, and in all, the store is one of the most modern in the city.

FASHION-CRAFT STORE STARTED IN YEAR 1906

Operated First Under Business Name of Laidlaw and Oles.

RECENTLY REMODELLED

Store Has No Affiliations Financially or Otherwise.

For 17 years Jack Primeau, a Peterborough boy, has been serving the public of this city in the gent.'s furnishing business under the respected quality-banner, "Fashion-Craft."

The firm, which is now known so widely in Peterborough and district under the name of Jack Primeau, was organized in 1906 by Laidlaw & Oles, whose names the business originally bore. After four years A. M. Laidlaw took over the firm, and in 1913 Mr. Primeau took a position in the store. Through a transaction in December, 1918, Mr. Primeau purchased the business, and since that time has been the sole owner and operator. The Primeau store has no affiliations, financial or otherwise, with any outside chain.

Well Qualified to Serve.

Mr. Primeau is well qualified to serve the people of Peterborough in the haberdashery business. He was born in this city, the son of John Primeau, who was widely known as a barber, having operated 40 years on one stand situated in the present site of the Heintzman Hall. He was educated in Peterborough schools, and before entering business in this city, enjoyed the benefits of nine years' experience in some of the largest stores in Canada and the United States. During that time he gained a thorough insight into all branches of the business in manufacturing and salesmanship. He took advantage of his opportunities to learn the meaning of value and also the principles of fair and square business dealing which have contributed to the success of th largest clothing firms in America.

Rotary Slogan Applied.

Applying the spirit of the Rotary slogan, "He Profits Most Who Serves Best," to the operation of his business, it was not long before it took its place as one of Peterborough's foremost firms in the clothing line. Mr. Primeau gradually built it up by endeavoring to give at all times quality and service at reasonable prices.

During the present year the store itself has been completely remodelled for the purpose of modernization. A new front of a type providing greater display space and providing excellent illumination throughout has been constructed. Floor space has been considerably increased by the installation of the most modern types of clothing display racks and display cases. A scheme of interior decorating to provide the finest illumination possible in the store has been successfully followed out.

The Annual Big Purchase Sale which the Primeau Store is launching on Thursday this week is in pursuance of the policies Mr. Primeau has followed during his period of business here. At this time of the year the factories concentrate their efforts on turning over their stocks. It is the policy of the Primeau Store to take advantage of the great discounts offered by the manufacturers and give the public the benefits. As in all firms recognizing up-to-date business principles, the Primeau Store follows the policy of carrying no stock over from one season to another.

A very impressive sermon was preached by the officiating clergyman, from part of the 29th verse of the 29th chapter, of the book of Deuteronomy. "The secret things belong to the Lord our God, but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever." The preacher touched upon the horizons of life as viewed by the religious Christian.

EASTERN ONTARIO CROPS DOING FINE

North Has Too Much Rain While Western Districts Shrivel Up.

HARVEST MAY BE EARLY.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 5. (C.P.)—Northern Ontario is suffering from a surfeit of moisture, Southwestern and Central Ontario is shrivelled under dry weather, while the situation in Eastern Ontario is very satisfactory, is the statement of the Ontario Department of Agriculture on crop conditions issued here to-day.

In south western and Central Ontario large areas have no rain since June with the result that late crops are suffering. The corn and bean yield has been seriously reduced while pastures are drying up rapidly. Harvest is two weeks earlier than usual in this area.

From Eastern Ontario the report is prospects are bright for a bountiful grain harvest and late crops are not suffering from lack of moisture, as they are in western counties.

In the Temiskaming district of Northern Ontario crop prospects are very poor owing to excessive rainfall in July. Further north the situation is more satisfactory and crop prospects in the Cochrane area are about normal.

"How much money did your wife give him?"

"Seventy-three cents."

William Check, the engineer in charge of the train that ran over Mahaffy testified that it was a long, heavy freight train drawn by two locomotives and was going east from Lindsay towards Peterborough.

"I saw a man lying between the rails with his head on the left rail, 80 to 100 feet ahead," he said when asked when he first became aware of the man on the track. The train was going down a grade and could not possibly have been stopped, he testified, but the regular brakes and emergency brakes were applied immediately. On account of the curve the whistle had been sounded 800 yards from the scene of the fatality and again at a distance between 400 and 500 yards. When the train moved around the curve the locomotive headlight showed up Mahaffy lying on his back between the tracks with his head over one rail. His face, which was turned upwards, could be plainly seen in the glare, Mr. Check said.

Moving 20 M.P.H.

Mr. Check estimated the train's speed at close to 20 miles per hour and the time of the accident as 3.45 a.m., standard time. Twenty-seven cars of the train passed over the body before the train was stopped, he said. In answer to the question of a juryman he opined that the sound and vibration should have awakened Mahaffy if he were asleep.

John Parker, fireman, told of the application of the brakes. Daniel Coulson, brakeman, who was riding in the cab ahead of the fireman gave testimony which paralleled that of Engineer Check. He said that they could not see Mahaffy clearly enough to tell whether he was asleep or not and that they could not see any marks of injury on him before the train struck him. There would have been time for Mahaffy to get off the track even if he had been aroused by the train as it came around the bend, Parker opined.

The conductor, Albert Gassien, was riding in the caboose according to testimony. He ran up beside the train when it had been stopped and discovered the mangled body. He saw that one foot was almost severed.

Cake and Cheese.

The spot on which the dead man had lain was marked by the presence of some cake and cheese and a razor, Provincial Constable Harry Thompson said. The body was dragged 50 paces. Seventy-two cents were found later. Stating that he had known Bruce Mahaffy for four or five years, Constable John Thompson of the City Police who went to the scene provided identification.

Dr. Herbert Young, who went to the scene of the tragedy in the capacity of Deputy Coroner in the absence of Coroner Young, testified that the body was cut and gashed, one leg fractured, one foot almost severed and one side of the head crushed so that the brains were scattered.

"There weren't any injuries that could not have been caused by the train in view of the fact that it dragged the body some distance. Death was instantaneous. I would say that death took place about an hour before I arrived." Dr. Young stated that he arrived about 4.30 a.m.

PREMIERS AGREE ON SEAWAY PLAN

Claim Bennett Finds All Ferguson's Formulas Acceptable to Dominion.

BE NO QUEBEC KICK.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.) — "Strong reports have gained currency in well-informed circles, that an understanding has been attained between the incoming Federal Prime Minister and Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario—to which the Province of Quebec can readily subscribe—that will permit of the speedy development of the St. Lawrence River Waterway navigation canalization with the Provincial power rights fully safeguarded," so says The Mail and Empire in a front page article today.

"When interviewed last night," The Mail says, "Premier Ferguson reserved comment, except to point out that as the St. Lawrence was an international stream, the United States would have to be consulted in any scheme of the development. This would not prevent the St. Lawrence from being developed along all-Canadian lines," he added.

The newspaper says it is reported "on good authority that Mr. Bennett finds acceptable for all Dominion purposes, the formula laid down by Premier Ferguson to Premier King, for the prosecution of the seaway and the preservation of Provincial sovereignty.

KEENE INSTITUTE.

Regular Monthly Meeting Was Held Last Night in Keene.

KEENE, Aug. 7. (Examiner Correspondence)—The Keene Branch of the Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, August 5th. Miss Dorothy Chapman was in the chair.

In answer to her name at the roll call, each member gave a salad suggestion.

As the topic was "Pioneer Days" the girls came in old-fashioned costumes which were entirely in keeping with "Believe me if all those endearing young charms" and "Juanita" as sung by Miss Marion Comrie and Miss Louise Donaldson, but not quite so appropriate for dancing the very up-to-date fox-trots with which Miss Mable McCarthy delighted the young people when the serious part of the meeting came to an end.

Miss Bertha Elmhirst gave a comprehensive reading on the problems of the early settlers in Upper Canada.

A debate "Resolved that the pioneer woman contributed more to civilization than the modern woman does" had to be omitted, unfortunately, but it is hoped it will be given later in the year.

RESOLUTION PASSED ASKING MR. BENNETT passenger bus licenses, and auto and truck licenses.

Armour Road Ratepayers Present

A number of ratepayers of Armour Road formed a deputation regarding the paving of that street. They wanted to be assured by the council that in doing part of the paving this year and the remainder next that the cost would be no greater than if it were done all at one time. City Engineer Parsons was unable to state the exact amount that it would cost to lay the concrete strips on each side of the pavement but in the past the concrete has always been cheaper than the asphalt he said.

By-law 2925 appointing W. R. Morris arbitrator to assist in adjudicating the city's share in all county buildings and law expenditures was passed:

By-law 2926 fixed a fee of $100 on all minature golf courses in the city.

By-law 2927 appointed ex-mayor A. A. McIntyre as a commissioner of the City Trust Commission to take the place of J. J. Hartley deceased.

By-law 2928 was an agreement with the City Service Oil company whereby the city will permit the company to use a roadway from its leased C. P. R. property where it intends erecting storage tanks to the street.

Eating house licenses were granted to H. J. Boyle, G. A. Borland, Armstrong Garage, Dawson's Service Station, N. G. Doukas, Miss M. C. Kennedy and V. Boorman, William Corner was granted permission to erect gasoline pumps at 116 Stewart street.

Alderman Cotton was given permission to have lights erected at the corner of Hopkins Avenue and Albertus street and also to have the lights on Charlotte between Park and Monaghan Road hung from the center of the street.

C. N. R. agent McNab will be asked to have the nuisance of leaving carloads of cattle, calves and hogs near the diamond at night removed.

Alderman Macdonald asked that the weeds be cut from along the streets surrounding King Edward school grounds.

Alderman Tuggey suggested that the city provide a tent for those who bath at the foot of Dublin street but Alderman Stocker declared he had no money in the estimates and Mayor Denne thought that trouble might follow if the city did not also provide a watchman. Alderman Tuggey declared that bathers undressing there were creating a nuisance and he thought the least the city could do was to provide some suitable accomodation.

Letters of condolence will be sent to the families of J. J. Hartley and W. J. Henry city assessor. Also a letter of congratulation will be sent to City Solicitor Wearing on his recent appointment.

Those present were Mayor Denne, Alderman Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, Holland, McIntyre, Fitzpatrick, Macdonald, MacNab, Huffman and Tuggey.

ST. THOMAS CHURCH AT MILLBROOK OPENED AFTER BEING REDECORATED

Venerable Archdeacon Davidson Special Speaker at Evening Service.

BIG RENOVATION PROGRAM

MILLBROOK, August 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—An atmosphere of deep spiritual significance and of heartfelt gratitude for the mercies bestowed by an All-Loving Father, were outstanding characteristics of the re-opening services held in Saint Thomas' Anglican Church on Sunday, following an extensive, interior renovation program.

A large number of communicants were present at morning worship, when the celebration of Holy Communion was conducted by Rev. P. W. A. Roberts, rector in charge of the parish of Millbrook and Cavan, who preached an appropriate sermon, and had charge of the entire service.

The Venerable J. C. Davidson was the special preacher for the evening service, which began at 7:30 o'clock, the former rector, Rev. Canon Allen, leading in an appropriate prayer, after Rev. Mr. Roberts had pronounced the 'Call to Thanksgiving' for the beautiful house of God, the wording being practically identical with that used at the re-opening of Saint Paul's Cathedral, London, England, and extended on that occasion by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The words of the prayer in which Rev. Canon Allen led the congregation were first spoken at the original consecration of the choir of St. Paul's Cathedral over two hundred and twenty years ago, "and so we are tonight linked up with the history of that great church beyond the seas, which goes on to the eternity of God, and stretches back through the centuries to its roots in the Old Land."

Members from Peterborough Choir

The choir was augmented for the services by members of the choir of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, and in referring to the improvements made to the interior of the church, Rev. Mr. Roberts explained that these are not fully completed, the memorial lighting for the Nave not having yet been installed, nor the floor covering obtained. When the program is entirely complete there will be a forma dedication service, probably early in September, when it is expected the Bishop will be present.

The names of those residing outside the community or deceased who have assisted financially with the beautifying of the church auditorium were read by the rector in charge, the explanation being made that all local contributions were voluntary offerings, no solicitation having been extended; the names read included: Mrs. (Dr.) Norman Allen, Toronto; Mrs. (Dr.) Bland, Toronto; Mr. Walter Collins, Montreal; Mr. George Dawson, Saskatoon, Sask.; Dr. Lawrence Fallis, Detroit; Mr. Fred Hayward, England; Mr. Richard Mitcheson, France; the late Misses Mary and Annie Kells (legacy); Mrs. Reid Lowery; the late William Lang (legacy); Mr. Bruce McBain, Winnipeg; the late Rev. Joseph Wilks (legacy); Mrs. Wilks; Miss Alice Turner, and Miss Macklin, Victoria, B.C.; and Mrs. C. M. Westmacott.

The indirect lighting which adds so much to the beauty of the chancel was the gift of Dr. H. A. Turner, and the solid brass Memorial Cross, adorning the altar, was given by Mrs. A. A. Smith, in memory of her husband, who was for many years People's Warden of Saint Thomas' Church, and to his personal friendship with the late Mr. Smith, and the latter's keen interest in the church's welfare and the carrying out of the improvement scheme in contemplation before his decease, Venerable Archdeacon Davidson made touching reference.

Preceding the sermon Rev. Mr. Roberts, on behalf of the officials and the congregation of Saint Thomas' Church, requested Venerable Archdeacon Davidson to "receive at our hands these gifts," and the latter made formal acceptance of the redecorated and beautiful sanctuary as part of the church property of the Deanery of Peterborough, and of the Diocese of Toronto.

Warmly congratulating the congregation on their beautiful church, "which was erected under the late Venerable Archdeacon Allen many years ago, and which has an honorable history," and mentioning his personal appreciation of the honor and pleasure of being present on the re-opening occasion "and of paying a visit to this large and important parish," the minister for the service spoke of the inspiration of the cross, "the symbol of a sacrifice never to be forgotten, and the token of the hard and rugged life, as well as of the heroic and noble life, we are called upon to live, following our Saviour's example; the emblem of a life lived for others."

The text was taken from Haggai 2:9, "The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the Lord of Hosts; and in this place will I give peace, saith the Lord of Hosts," and the exhortation which followed emphasized the fact that the church should always be a place of special loveliness, bringing a vision of the glory and majesty of God, raising the worshippers toward Him as His love and power are revealed in the sanctuary. "The church should be the ideal family home, bright, warm, gladsome, and colorful, sacred on week days as on Sundays; leading to a growth in Christian character through worship in the house of prayer. Be proud of your church, and drawn through it to Him to Whose honor it was erected."

"Realize in the house of God the constant presence of our Lord Jesus Christ; let the atmosphere of peace and love live in it, and let us do our part to allow our Saviour to come into our hearts more and more."

Interior is Beautiful

The beautifying of the interior of the church, toward which the W.A. contributed the sum of four hundred dollars, has included the tinting of the walls to a soft buff shade, toning off to a greenish tint, producing an effect of restfulness, and blending harmoniously with the colors in the stencilled design that encircles the walls of the Nave at the ceiling, where blue is the prevailing shade, and also borders the four-foot dado which shades off to a brown, the design in this case being a twining-leaf pattern in which are interspersed emblems peculiar to the Christian faith. To quote from a description furnished by the rector, "Here for instance, one may find a double triangle denoting the two-fold nature of our Lord; three little fishes, cunningly woven together, and calling to mind the small boy's offering which, in the Master's hands, served to feed the multitude; also the Shepherd's Crook, indicative of Our Lord's ministry. Within the Chancel, where the walls are tinted the same as the Nave, the panels are stippled in a pleasing effect of brown, and divided by imitation archways; here there is still richer symbolism, the beautifully painted devices a ground of gold including the Pelican, tearing its breast, in church art always considered as typical of the Fatherhood of God; the Lamb of God, typifying our Saviour; and the Dove, with outspread wings, representing the Holy Spirit. On the organ side there is the Rose of Sharon, twined among the branches of the True Vine, and between the archways, on the opposite side, the clusters of the Grape and the Wheat, to indicate the life of Jesus, given for the world."

Over the main doorway on either side, are the Greek letters for Alpha and Omega, a sign of God the beginning and ending of all; and over the door itself the three Christian Graces Faith, Hope, and Charity. Throughout the church is a wealth of Christian imagery that will well repay study; the motto, "My Lord and My God," is intertwined with the scroll of conventional design that ornaments the rear wall of the chancel above the beautiful memorial window under which is the handsome oaken reredos, and the high altar. Lettered in the lovely scroll work over the wide arch giving entrance to the Chancel are the words, "The Lord is in His Holy Temple, Let all the earth keep silence before Him."

Miniature flower stands have been placed in each window, and it will be a service of love for some of the younger members of the congregation to keep the holders filled with fresh blossoms week by week.

The wood in the choir stalls, and the pews has been finished in a soft walnut tone, blending well with the neutral shade of the wainscott, and bringing out the beauty of the design in a way that was never appreciated before.

The several memorial tablets which adorn the walls of Saint Thomas' Church have been freshly polished and placed in position, and the entire effect of the improvements has been to increase the sense both of length and breadth of the church auditorium. The renovation scheme included the vestry and the approach to the robing-rooms, and was in the hands of the firm of T. G. Browne, of Newtonbrook.

The laying of a hard wood floor in the Chancel, the installation of six Memorial lights in the Nave, and the carpet to centre the Chancel and the main aisle to the entrance doors, are features waiting to be proceeded with before the improvement program is completed when the Bishop will formally dedicate the beautified sanctuary to the Glory of God, and the worship of the congregation.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

REALITIES

"As real," we say, "as this rough wall
Of stone by which we stand,
Or these old oak trees, straight and tall,
Against the verdant land."

But are these things we touch or see
The ones most truly known,
That we impute reality
Always to star or stone?

Ah, better if we would but say
As real as love or trust,
Or truth which will not pass away
When this great wall is dust!

While Time's slow hand brings lofty tower
And temple to decay,
Still will hope's fragrant blossom flower,
Still love's white flame will stay.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

BUILDING UP YOUR HEART RESERVE.

In a case of pneumonia or typhoid fever, the patient is apparently progressing favorably when he begins to look and feel weak, and stimulants become necessary.

What is the matter?

Very often it is because the heart muscle begins to falter, begins to run rapidly and less regularly.

That power it had within it to keep it going, hour after hour, is lessening. This power is known as the heart 'reserve' something that enables you to engage in hard exercise or work, and to fight off the ailments that attack you.

For years it was thought that this power to pump blood was due to a nervous impulse sent from the brain to a little bundle of nerve tissue on the right side of the heart.

However, it was found that heart tissue could beat even when not connected to this bundle of nerve tissue.

Then a research man discovered that by injecting a liquid extract made from a certain portion of the heart near the location of this nerve bundle that the heart muscle would beat or contract.

Other research men then found that an extract made from other portions of the heart would also make this heart muscle beat or contract.

This made it appear that the heart muscle itself had a substance within it that had the power to make the heart contract.

This was thought then to be the course or cause of heart 'reserve'; something within the heart substance itself.

However, research men found that an extract made from the liver also had the same effect, and also, an extract from the skin.

What does all this mean—

That there is a substance in the heart muscle that helps to make it contract, but that other organs and tissues likewise help to supply this juice or extract.

In other words the strength of your hearth to overcome an ailment, to keep on working against difficulties, depends on how it was when it was given you by your parents, infections, upon the exercise or work you have done; and last but not least, the condition o fthe other organs and tissues of the body.

The lesson of course is that by keeping that body of yours in good general condition by common sense care as to food, sleep, and exercise you are really building up your heart reserve.

To make it impossible for prisoners to recognize other inmates and plot with them, convicts in the model French prison at Fresnes, near Paris, are now compelled to wear masks which cover their head and shoulders. The wearer can breathe freely through the loose mesh of the mask and is able to see everything except the face of another prisoner dressed in the same headgear. VISITING the sick is often a doubtful compliment to the person who is ill.

• • • • • • •

Visiting the sick has to be done with discretion. The time when the person is first taken with a malady is the period when rest and quiet is imperative.

• • • • • • •

But, it is also the time, when friends, surprised at the calamity that has befallen a household in the illness of one of its members, hurry to see the friend and offer aid.

• • • • • • •

Perhaps they have been fearful that the person was over-doing, was carrying a heavy mental strain or knew she might have to undergo an operation. As soon as they learn of the illness, it seems the kindly and correct thing for them to go to see the person.

• • • • • • •

Fortunately this form of attention is becoming less and less in favor but physicians say it is still in vogue to a certain extent.

• • • • • • •

Instead of calling on the sick, a more graceful attention is to send a note saying how sorry you are to hear of the illness and as soon as the friend is able and would enjoy seeing her friends, you will be delighted to call.

• • • • • • •

During the time of the illness you can keep informed about the condition of the friend through the family. When a person is very ill it is wise for some one of a group of friends to phone or call and make inquiry at the house and then give the information to others.

• • • • • • •

A different one of the group can inquire each day and then phone to the rest. In this way it is known at the house that all the friends are eagerly interested and the family will appreciate more than they can express how good it was not to be continually disturbed by repeated telephone calls for which they really have no time to answer.

• • • • • • •

Flowers can be sent to cheer the sick room, delicacies to tempt a poor appetite, greeting cards with happy and comforting messages, little gifts to surprise and give pleasure, books and magazines to occupy weary hours.

• • • • • • •

But—the state of the patient should determine the sort of remembrance to send. If a person is desperately ill, there is little one can do except send kindly messages, with occasional flowers. But later when the patient has passed a crisis and can realize attentions, then they are most welcome.

• • • • • • •

Then there comes the time when a patient is getting better and cheery calls, short, unhurried, and yet full of an outside atmosphere to change the trend of thoughts, are desirable.

• • • • • • •

They help the patient to get well. It is a pity that often at such times, when anxiety has given place to knowledge of the gradual and sure convalescence that the interest of friends slackens.

• • • • • • •

Instead, for the good of the patient this is just the time when visiting the sick is most welcome. It is then that friends can be like a tonic in the sick room!

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SUNSHINE BOX

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was laughing so hard that she could not get up off the bench outside Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, where she had to sit soon after she began to giggle.

"What's the joke?" asked the rabbit gentleman who had hopped back from the dark cave of Old Grim, the cross bear gentleman, to pick up a pasteboard box. "What is so funny, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?" Mr. Longears wanted to know.

"The idea that you can shut up some sunshine in a box and take it to the cave of that cross, old great-grandfather bear to make him more cheerful—that's funny! That's why I'm laughing at you!" said the muskrat lady housekeeper with another chuckle.

"Then you think I can't put sunshine in a box to take into a dark cave to cheer up an old bear; is that it?" asked the rabbit.

"That's it!" giggled Nurse Jane. "If he wants sunshine why doesn't he come out of his cave and have adventures with you?"

"That's just it, Old Grim won't do it!" Uncle Wiggily answered. "You know he is the great-grandfather of Neddie and Beckie Stubtail. They told me about him and Mr. and Mrs. Stubtail want him to come and live in their jolly cave. But Old Grim won't do it. He lives by himself in the deepest, darkest cave I ever saw. Not a ray of sunshine ever gets in, and it's staying in the dark that makes him so unhappy and cross. I went to see him. I invited him to come adventuring with me. But when he wouldn't, I knew the only thing to do was to get some sunshine into his dark cave. That will cure him. So I'm going to put a lot of sunshine into this pasteboard box, clap the cover on and hurry with it to Old Grim's dark cave."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Nurse Jane again. "You are a dear, old rabbit, Uncle Wiggily, but you are also very silly. You make me laugh! The idea of thinking you can catch sunshine in a box, cover it up and take it into a dark cave and let it out!"

"Can't I do that?" asked the rabbit.

"No, indeed you can't!" giggled the muskrat lady.

"I'll show you!" said Uncle Wiggily firm like and determined.

He took the cover off the box and set it out in the bright sunlight that was all around his hollow stump bungalow. The golden, yellow beams of the great ball of fire up in the sky, which we call the sun, shone down and filled the box. All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily jumped up, clapped the cover on and cried:

"There! Now I have a box of sunshine and I'm going to take it to Old Grim's cave and let it out to glow on him. That will cure him of being cross. You thought I couldn't do it, Nurse Jane, but I have caught a box of sunshine!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the muskrat lady again. "You are jolly and happy enough to be sunshine yourself, Mr. Longears, even without being shut up in a box. But if you think you can bottle up sunshine that way, I'll show you that you can't. Listen!"

"I'm listening," said Uncle Wiggily. "What is it?"

"In your bungalow," went on Nurse Jane, "is a big, dark closet. That is, it's dark when you go in and shut the door. Now that closet is as dark as Old Grim's cave, I'm sure."

"Yes, I guess it is," said Mr. Longears, holding under his paw the box of sunshine. "But what of it?"

"Well," went on Nurse Jane, "if you come in that closet and shut the door,

Laughing so hard she couldn't get up and then take the cover off your box, you will see just how much sunshine you have caught. You can try it before you take it to Old Grim, you see. And if your trick works, you can easily come out and catch more sunshine."

"Yes, that's a good idea," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I'll show you, Nurse Jane, that it is easy to catch a box full of sunshine and take it to a dark cave where there is no light to cheer up a poor, old bear. I'll open my box in the dark closet and let the sunshine out."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the muskrat lady again, and Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose in a queer way and wondered. Soon he hopped inside his bungalow with the covered box under his paw, Nurse Jane opened the door of the closet and she and the rabbit gentleman went within. When Nurse Jane closed the door it was very black and dark inside—as dark as a coal pocket.

"Now," squeaked the muskrat lady "open your box, Uncle Wiggily, and let us see how much sunshine you have caught for Old Grim."

"I'll show you!" said the rabbit gentleman. He began to take the cover off the box and a very queer thing happened.

Uncommon Sense
By John Blake

IMMITATIONS.

Children must begin life by imitating. But they do not continue it long, if they have any brains, and most children have more brains than they are given credit for.

I know that in the schools the lives of great men are held up to pupils as examples which they will do well to imitate.

But the children cannot successfully imitate them in the first place and in the second place if they try they are just little automatons without any character or individuality.

In many big business organizations you will find dozens of clerks and other underlings imitating the big boss, or the small bosses who are over them, snapping out their words in the same fashion.

Naturally everybody else in the place knows what they are doing and laughs at them.

Yet they continue to believe that by adopting the manner of a successful person they will become like him.

Exactly as well try to become like him by wearing the same kind of clothes or the same style of hat.

You are lucky if you find early in life, that you are you, and that you can't be anybody else.

It is well enough to emulate other whom you admire, and to imitate their habits of work and their habits of study.

But it is idle to try to imitate their tricks of speech or other peculiarities.

It does rising young poets no good, and it does not increase the value of their verses to imitate the ways of Shelley or the manners of Byron, or the affectations of some of the poets of the present day.

Only a comedian can gain anything by imitating another actor, and his imitations are frankly burlesque.

You may not be handsome or gifted or magnetic, but that is your misfortune—not a serious one, for many people who are none of these things are successful and happy.

So don't think that by behaving like handsome or gifted or magnetic people you are going to acquire these qualities.

You will only acquire a manner that will lead people to grin at you behind your back, and possibly in your face.

You are you. You were born that way, and you always will be so. You have a big start in being born in an age of education and opportunity. Make the most of it, and there is no reason to believe that you will be a failure.

But don't act like somebody else, or try to think like somebody else, however important or noble. It simply can't be done.

Crescents Beat C.G.E. 13-3 in First Game of Finals

JEFF HARDILL HURLS GREAT BALL WHILE TEAMMATES ARE EFFECTIVE BOTH ON DEFENCE AND WITH THE BAT

Sweetman Gets Home Run, a Double and Two Singles.

FROST IS INEFFECTIVE

Crescents Score Five Runs in the First and Six in Second.

Jeff Hardill swept aside what little opposition Canadian Generals had to offer at Exhibition Park last evening and Crescents walloped Bun Frost for a 13 to 3 victory to perch on the sunny side of final series for the East Peterborough League championship. The big boy on the Crescents' hurling heap who had indifferent success throughout the league schedule went to work last night with speed, control, and plenty of hooks, and looked good all the way. The Generals' pair of runs in the fifth were a gift when Crary failed to block a soft chance from Johnston. They scored their third run in the eighth on a pass.

While Hardill was treating the fans to a very fine exhibition of mound work, his teammates were equally effective on the defense, and were a case of dynamite with the willow, Bill Sweetman showing the way with a home run, a double and two singles. Sweetman's homer in the third with the bases loaded and two gone, was a bounding ball through Beavis. Crescents hit hard in the first and third for eleven runs and gathered two more counters in the fifth when F. Jones tripled and Sweetman doubled.

Pretty Fielding Plays.

The game abounded in pretty fielding plays, one by Ash when he strolled far from his bag to coo J. Jones' drive in the second, being a standout.

The second game will be played on Thursday evening with Utronki and Masterson as the probable twirlers. While the attendance at the game last night was large, the clubs are operating under considerable expense and must have funds to carry on in the O.B.A.A. playdowns.

There were two big frames to last night's contest and Crescents got all the glory. Hitting the first pitched ball, Joe Jones wafted the spalding behind Red Hollingsworth for a neat single. Sweetman rolled an easy one to the box but Frost could not pick up the ball. Crary singled into middle, Beavis failing to come in for what appeared to be an easy out on a fly ball. Then Hickey singled between short and second to score two runs. Collins tripled between left and middle to score another pair of runs, and the catcher made it five counters on Hardill's single to right. Hardill was forced at second by F. Jones who in turn was pegged out by Hatton and Heard grounded out.

Homer With Bases Loaded.

In the sixth with Hickey retired on a fly ball to Beavis, and Collins out on a peg from Rose, Hardill singled into middle. F. Jones shot a hit into left and Heard singled into left to score Hardill. Lebarr walked to fill the bases. Joe Jones singled through short to score F. Jones and the bags were still loaded when Sweetman hit out to Beavis. The ball took a bound on the hard turf away from the fielder and went on into deep middle allowing Sweetman to realize a baseball player's dream of a circuit clout with the bases "full."

Canadian Generals looked bad as Hardill retired the side in the first on three weak wafts to the box. They didn't look any better in the second when retired on strikeouts. Smith getting a life when deadheaded. The third brought their first safety, a single by Hatton but no runs. The fourth brought nothing but a pain as the Crescents infield worked smoothly to retire the side in order. The fifth brightened as Smith and Harmer singled. Swanston, batting for Hatton, missed one, fouled another and popped out to Heard. Frost fanned and Rose took one to populate all corners. Johnston's ground ball went through Crary to score Smith and Harmer, after which Red Hollingsworth forced Rose at second. Ash inserted a triple in the fifth but it was wasted and the Electricians went out in order in the seventh. They put over a run in the eighth and died down again in the ninth.

READING KEYS PILE UP 21 RUNS AGAINST BEARS

Gain Some Measure of Revenge For Their Four Recent Beatings.

ROCHESTER WINS.

Joe Hauser Gets Three Home Runs in One Game Against Jersey City.

TORONTO, August 6 (C.P.). — The Reading Keys have gained some measure of revenge for four successive beatings at the hands of the Newark Bears.

The Keys sailed into the Bears in the last game of the series yesterday to pound out a 21 to 9 decision in one of the heaviest slugging matches the International League has seen in years.

Smarting under their series of setbacks, the Keys slugged Brennan for six runs in the second inning, picked up five more in the next three innings, tallied eight times in the sixth, and then added single runs in the seventh and eighth to run up their imposing total of 21 runs. Bob McAfee was hit hard by the Bears, but in the face of the big lead his teammates piled up for him was never in trouble. Whitman Jones, and Walsh were the big guns in the Reading attack.

Held Until Eighth.

Toronto regained a clear title to third place by whipping Montreal 6-2. It was a heartbreaking defeat for Herb Thormahlen, veteran Montreal lefthander. Thormahlen held the Leafs to three hits in seven innings, blanking them for that period. In the meantime the Royals had touched Art Herring for one run in the first inning, and then added another in the first half of the eighth. In the last half of that frame, however, Thormahlen weakened and was clouted for five hits, including a triple by Sheedy and a home run by Burke. The net result was six runs for Toronto and the ball game.

The Rochester Red Wings pounded Mills and Williams for 13 hits and an easy 13—4 victory over Buffalo. The game was decided in the first inning when the Red Wings battered Mills for six runs. Charlie Wilson was the big gun in the Rochester offensive, with four hits. "Rip" Collins got his 28th home run.

Baltimore Wins

Baltimore pounded Bream and Pitts for 18 hits and easily beat Jersey City in a night game 11—6. Joe Hauser, heavy clouting Baltimore first baseman, broke the International League record for total home runs when he rifled three balls over the fence for a total of 45. The old record of 42 was set by Bill Kelly of the Buffalo Bisons in 1925. Max West collected three of Jersey City's ten hits off Lou Koupal and drove in five runs.

West's collection included a homer. Barton and Stroner also hit for the circuit.

GIANTS BEATEN IN EXTRA FRAME

New York Team Trailed Six Runs to One When They Went Into Ninth.

FIVE RUN RALLY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (C.P.) — The Giants and Robins furnished another one of their spectacular contests in the National League, Brooklyn finally winning 9 to 8 in ten innings. The Giants trailed 6 to 1 going into the ninth, but a five-run rally sent the veteran Adolfo Luque to the showers and tied the score. Two more were added in the tenth but the league leaders fell on Bill Walker for three runs and the game in their half of the frame. Bill Terry was the big gun of the Giants' attack, getting five hits, including a home run in the ninth, to go into the National League batting leadership.

The Cubs kept pace with the Robins, scoring three runs in the ninth to defeat the Cardinals 5 to 4. Bill Hallahan held the league champions to two hits, one of which was Hack Wilson's thirty-sixth homer, until the ninth, when he weakened and was forced to retire in favor of Rhem, who was charged with the defeat. Chick Hafey and Frankie Frisch also hit circuit blows.

Fred Frankhouse held the Phillies to six hits as the Braves gave Philadelphia a 6 to 2 defeat. Every member of the tribe, with the exception of Spohrer who retired early with a charley-horse, got at least one hit.

TORONTO LEAFS BEAT MONTREAL SIX RUNS TO TWO

Herb Thormahlen Holds O'Neillmen in Check For Seven Innings, Then Breaks.

GAME WAS FAST.

Two Men Were Out in the Eighth Before the "Break" Came.

Herb Thormahlen, Montreal southpaw, may be successful against other teams in the International League, but opposing the Toronto Maple Leafs misfortune always trails him. Four times he has faced the O'Neillmen this season, and on each occasion he has had a defeat chalked against his record. The Leafs handed him his first defeat of the season after he had compiled a string of seven straight wins. At Maple Leaf Stadium yesterday afternoon he had the O'Neillmen tied up in "naughts" for seven innings and appeared to have shaken his Toronto "jinx". But disaster overtook him in the eighth, and when that round was completed the Leafs were sitting well out in front with six runs, all compiled in that feverish frame. The final count was 6 to 2.

For seven innings, Thormahlen and Art Herring waged as pretty a mound duel as one would wish to see. The local heaver was threatened with defeat, however, due to a run in the first inning. Another run in the eighth by the Royals didn't seem to matter much as Thormahlen was mowing the Leafs down in such effective style that one run looked big enough for him to breeze in on. The Leafs had been able to get but one hit in the first five innings. In the sixth they got two more after two were out, but could not produce a run. There were two out in the eighth when the "break" came. Before the final man was retired the whole complexion of the contest had changed.

Fast Game

The game was played in the fastest time made at the Stadium this season, just an hour and twenty minutes being consumed. It was fairly monotonous until that eighth inning splurge. The small crowd of local fans had little to enthuse over in the first seven frames, and the debacle in the eighth happened so quickly that it was practically all over before they got their vocal chords warmed up.

Had Benny Helgeth made a good throw to first base on Pete Cote's grounder in the eighth, Thormahlen would have registered a victory in all probability. Cote's retirement would have made the third out and the Leafs would have been stopped with only one run in. But Helgeth's throw was wide and Cote was safe and Sheedy counted the tying run on the play. Three successive hits followed, including a double and a home run, and it was all over as far as Mr. Thormahlen was concerned.

Harry Davis, first man up in the eventful eighth, was thrown out by Bill Urbanski, but Steve O'Neill singled into left. Herring sent Haines to deep right center to pull down his long fly, and there was no indication that Thormahlen would not chalk up another runless inning against the Leafs. But Clayton Sheedy upset the even tenor of his way by dropping a triple against the fence in right center and O'Neill counted with Toronto's first run of the game. Cote's bounder to Helgeth provided a fairly easy chance for the third sacker to retire the side, but his throw was bad and Sheedy ambled in with the run that tied the score. Joe Harris sent Cote to third with a double that nearly tore a leg off Helgeth, the ball rolling to the concrete in left. Bill Rogell then dropped a neat single into right field to score both runners, and "Bucky" Burke followed with a home run over the right field wall.

WESTCLOX TRIM HARRISON TEAM

Hard Fought Battle Was Not Decided Until End of Ninth.

SCORE IS 10 TO 8.

Westclox took a strangle-hold on first place in the second section of the City Softball League by virtue of their 10-8 win over Harrison's last night at Central School grounds.

The game was a hard-fought contest and was not decided till the last man was out. Foley's long home run in the eighth scoring Dorrington ahead of him proved the winning counters for the Clockmakers. It was a nice hit.

Darling pitched winning ball throughout, and chalked up nine strikeouts. He had a barrel of speed and a nice hook.

Parsons started for Harrisons but was relieved in the seventh by Montgomery. Parsons had four strikeouts and Montgomery two.

The line ups:

SENATORS SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER WITH YANKEES

Washington Has Always Been Better Than Yankees in This Year's Clashes.

RUTH HITS 41ST HOMER.

Athletics Are Beaten By Boston Red Sox Four Runs to Three.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. (C.P.)—But for the Washington Senators in the American League, the New York Yankees might be up there fighting the Athletics for leadership. As it is however, Babe Ruth and company are battling in third position, ten games back of the champions and not much chance of gaining ground as long as they are scheduled to play Walter Johnson's Senators.

Fifteen times this season the Yankees and Senators have met and on twelve of the occasions Washington has emerged victorious. The Yanks succeeded in breaking the jinx yesterday but not until the Senators had won their seventh straight by taking the first of a doubleheader 6 to 4. Babe Ruth hit his forty-first home run but that didn't help much when Walter Johnston's batters got busy on Pennock Johnson. Charlie Ruffing was largely responsible for the Yanks' 7 to 1 triumph in the curtain game. He put his team out in front with a homer in the second inning and then let the opposing batsmen down with nine scattered hits and fanned the same number.

The Athletics failed to take advantage of Washington's even break, losing a 4 to 3 game to the Boston Red Sox. Phil Todd's home run tied the count in the eighth and then Durst who hit safely four times, connected with a double to lead off a one-run rally in the ninth that proved good. Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx also hit homers for the champions.

Detroit put over four runs in the eighth to give Earl Whitehill his eighth consecutive victory. The Tigers defeating the Indians 5 to 4. Three of Cleveland's four runs were unearned.

THE YEAR'S GREATEST SENSATION

MONACO ORCHESTRA IS AT MELODY INN

Boys Are From Pittsburgh and Are Camping Near Young's Point.

Five tourist visitors from Pennsylvania who are collectively known as the Monaco Club Orchestra have provided musical thrills for dance patrons of Melody Inn, Lakefield, during the past two evenings. The boys are from the Rhythm Cavaliers Band of Pittsburgh and are in Canada with the Monaco Rod and Gun Club encamped half a mile this side of Young's Point.

The orchestra is comprised of Ed. Carney, piano; Jim Tyler, violin; Harry Kinsey, drummer; Tom Daley, trumpet; and Frank Hall, otherwise known as Bull Montana, on the sax and clarinet. Their novelty numbers and comedy has made a great hit with their Canadian audiences. They are scheduled to perform once again to-night.

The boys report that the members of the Rod and Gun Club, of which there are about 55, have had excellent luck in their search for "muskies" and bass. They plan to take home a few for mantel display.

TOKYO BEING AMERICANIZED.

In its reconstruction following the earthquake Tokyo, Japan, is becoming an American city. American business ideas are being carried out in buildings and in methods. Wide streets are replacing the old narrow lanes, and modern practical buildings are of American design. The new Marinouuichi building, with its arcades, is much like many in New York, Chicago and other American cities. Modern elevators, operated by dispatchers in uniform, carry Japanese business men to up-to-date offices where typewriters, operated by flappers in short skirts, rattle out a new tone in Japanese commercial life. Automatic telephones are being installed and subway and street-car services are rapidly being extended. The electric train service between Tokyo and Yokohama is a revelation in Japan's spirit of reconstruction.

THRESHING STARTS IN SEYMOUR TWP.

Wheat Yield is Considered Fair —Spring Crops Are Heavier.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 6. (Examiner Correspondence.)—With the heat of the election fight over, threshing is holding first place on the board here now. July 29, saw the first wheels turned when the William Fry threshing crew started on a 12 acre field of wheat on Lindsy Watson's farm at Burnbrae Corner. A good average yield was obtained, 325 bushels being threshed ,though some two acres of low ground was patchy. The quality of the grain is excellent. On the follow ing day, E. C. Pollock threshed wheat with the same outfit while on August 1st, Melville Petherick's crew started work for Bert Hay, on the 7th line. In addition to wheat, Mr. Hay threshed a small load of oats which yielded 44 bushels.

Two of the threshing outfits in this district owned by Messrs. Redden and Adams respectively, have installed weighing machines and pipes to the granary which will lessen the amount of help required.

Another week will see harvest practically finished here, with the exception of a few pieces of late grain and some buckwheat, which is not a very heavy crop, due to continued dry weather. Some odd ends of haying remain as the early harvest caught a few farmers with haying not finished.

Some good stands of second growth clover are seen, which will be relished by the cows. Dry pastures have caused a decided reduction in the milk flow, which coupled with the low cheese prices, makes the returns to local dairymen rather small.

A few good fields of corn and roots are scattered about the district, but in most cases, these crops need rain badly. Early potatoes are exceptionally good, while the later varieties promise at least fair yields.

The outlook for the apple crop is the poorest in years and the many of large orchards here can show only a fraction of the usual load.

Perhaps the best crop of all is the one which all farmers hate to see, the weed crop. Sow thistle and Canadian thistle are particularly prominent and it is plainly seen that the farmers of this community will be forced to take drastic measures, even at the sacrifice of crop acreage, to cope with the ever increasing weed menace.

PACKERS WIN LEAGUE POINTS FROM C. G. E.

A Snap Goal By Rickard Upset Electric Boys' Attack in First Half.

C.P.C. 2, C.G.E. 0.

Downer's Drop Shot Received Daynes For Second Counter.

The Canadian Packing took a firmer hold of the soccer league championship, last evening, on King Edward Park, when they gained a hard-fought decision over the Canadian General by the score of two goals to nil. Charlie Griffin deserving the full credit for the win, because the C.G.E. sharp-shooters could get one past him throughout the entire game.

First Half

Choice of the spin of the coin went in favor of the Packers as Captain Buchan won the toss and decided to kick with the sun at his back. Both elevens concentrated in finding out the bearings in attack which proved a consolidated defense in front of the goal on any visit made. As a matter of fact, the C.G.E. right wing made progress repeatedly inside the Packers' territory to find the custodian holding them scoreless. A visit to the C.G.E. end caused excitement when the crossbar saved Daynes' charge, although he was right there to pick up the rebound and relieve the pressure. The next visit by the Packers finished in a melee in front of goal, Robb intercepting a pass forward. Darling transferring the ball along the wing, to finish with a perfect centre that Ben McMaster headed into Griffin's hands. Within the next few minutes, the C.G.E. hammered shot after shot into the winners' goal which showed that hesitation allowed the opposing defense ample time to clear any attack. The dilatory movements were not profitable because Buchan had the full measure of the play anticipated. His clearance left the attack a splendid opening which was made use of by Downer when he landed the ball in below the bar, compelling the C.G.E. custodian to tip over for a fruitless flag-kick. Coming back quicker than C.G.E. expected, the Packers upset the full backs' calculations when Rickard rapped a hot rebound against the goal-keeper who stopped it but failed to prevent the sphere dropping into the net, as the sun blinded him. This success to the Packers forced the C.G.E. to lead the pace and they confined the play to the Packers' goal until the interval arrived, when the score stood at one to nothing.

C.P.C. 1, C.G.E. 0.

Half Time

The customary respite gave a new lease of life to the C.G.E. and they opened up a continuous attack on the Packers' goal. Griffin accepted everything ranged at him by the attacking force of a mid-air character and the low grounders never getting past the waiting leg. Two flag-kicks brought nought to them after a ten-minute seige. Keeping a vigil eye on Buchan all the time, Robb dominated the play exchanges at this point to find the going hard within the shooting distance. No matter what they tried, they couldn't make inroads on the Packer's solid defense. Taking advantage of every opening, a foul against a C.G.E. man resulted in Newt Downer planting a lobb shot into the far corner of the goal, where Mitchell accidentally touched it through for the second counter. It was a battle to the limit in the final stages, with no choice of superiority between the teams. The only thing of interest being the lively exchanges between Chambers and Preston with the former outstanding with clever clearances. It is evident that the C.G.E. will have to alter their line of attack because a productive scorer was lacking last night against the Packers who won by two clear goal.

C.P.C. 2, C.G.E. 0.

Goal-scorers—Rickard and N. Downer for C.P.C.

C.G.E.—J. Daynes, goal; J. Chambers and S. Laidler, full backs; J. Mitchell, W. Robb and F. Rankin, halves; A. Burgess, J. Quinn, B. McMaster, J. McMaster and H. Darling, forwards.

CRESCENTS MEET C.G.E. THURSDAY

Second Game of Finals Will Prove to be a Real Battle.

ELECTRICIANS SET BACK.

Crescents 'tremendous victory over Canadian Generals last night is the talk of fandom, and a monster crowd will see the teams play the second game of the championship series tomorrow evening. The Electricians looked pretty fair a week ago and it remains to be seen how good they are in adversity. It was a real setback for the team from the big works and it hurt. Tomorrow night it will be Utronki and Masterson with a much wiser band of athletes behind the former and a confident crew behind the latter. In point of interest the contest should be the biggest sporting event of the season.

JUNIOR REGATTA TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Juniper Island Younger Outfit Will Perform at Annual Event.

To-morrow the younger aquatic athletes of Stoney Lake will get an opportunity to wield the paddle and the oar at the Juniper Island Junior Regatta. The meet was originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon but is to be run to-morrow to avoid confliction with the McCracken's Landing Regatta on Saturday.

The programe provides for a first-class list of paddling, rowing and swimming events and a fine array of trpohies and prizes will be at stake. The Junior Regatta will be supervised by the same executive which handled the big meet last Monday, under the auspices of the Stoney Lake Acquatic Association.

WILLIAMS TO RUN AT POLICE GAMES

Canada's Wonder Sprinter is Finding His Running Legs For Saturday's Meet.

RUNNER IS CONFIDENT

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.).—Percy Williams is on the ground, finding his running legs for the Canadian athletic championships at Varsity Stadium on Saturday. Percy may be Canada's wonder sprinter, Olympic champion at 100 and 200 metres, but he has to qualify like anybody else in the Canadian meet before he can enter the British Empire Games at Hamilton a week later in quest of more laurels.

The Vancouver sprinting marvel gets a chance to shake off the effects of his trans-Canada train journey in an exhibition handicap race with his closest rivals in the Canadian athletic world, at the Dominion Police championships this afternoon. He will meet a select band of three or four, including Ralph Adams of Hamilton, holder of the Canadian sprint titles by virtue of victories in Percy's absence at Banff last year.

Williams hopes, and is confident in his own quiet way, of getting the Canadian sprint crowns back on Saturday. If he doesn't succeed, the shock will reverberate far beyond the Canadian athletic camp.

Athletes go into Saturday's games with the knowledge that while they are fighting for places in the Empire Games, picked bands of athletes from all parts of the Empire are carefully rounding into condition for the meet. They are all either on the ground or on their way, the British team, most imposing of the invading hosts, having sailed yesterday.

There will not be the same complaint from athletes on Saturday as attend the Canadian Henley. After the brisk battling is over they have a full week to prepare for the Empire Games, a handy interval. The Henley is being run in the three days preceding the bigger meet and is causing much heart-burning among the sculling and rowing contingents.

MINORS TO FIGHT UNIVERSAL DRAFT

Representatives Believe Majors Will Not Go Back on Kansas City Agreement.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 6.— (C.P.)—The "big" minor leagues—the American Association, the International League and the Pacific Coast League —will go to war with the American and National Leagues over the universal draft question, if they have to, but their members do not think it will be necessary.

Walter Hapgood, general manager of the Montreal Club of the International League and chairman of a joint committee to recommend the three Class AA Leagues' course of action, last night said that representatives of the groups did not believe the major leagues will "go back on the agreement made at Kansas City in 1921, by refusing to carry on player relations after December 1."

Hapgood also said that it was universally felt among the members of the big minor groups that the trouble over the draft question would be cleared up, but that they would "go it on their own" if the Major Leagues carried out their threat to sever player relations unless the universal draft is accepted.

ALIBIS ARE UNKNOWN QUANTITY AT THE BRITISH HENLEY RACES

Losing Crews Never Complain But Take Things As They Come.

RULES ARE STRICT.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, August 6 (By Gordon A. Sinclair, Special to The Examiner, Copyright). — Ever since Lou Scholes whipped his shell in front and became the first Canadian to win the Diamond Sculls, people from Halifax to Vancouver have been hearing about the Royal Henley Regatta. As a result of Joe Wright and Jack Guest successfully hooking up with the world's best, the average Canadian knows more about Henley than the average Englishman.

If you don't believe it digest these few figures: On the final day of this year's race more news was sent to Toronto, 3,488 miles away, than was sent to London, 35 miles away; more news was sent to New York than to any individual English paper; more news was sent to Berlin than to any ity except London or Toronto; more news was sent to the Argentine, 7,167 miles away, than to any English city, except London.

The race for the Diamond Sculls probably broke two world records: Jack Guest was photographed in three poses before Gerhard Boetzelen, a previously undefeated finalist, finished the course, and got a cable of congratulation back from his father in Toronto before he had put his boat away. The wires carried words 7,200 miles while Jack was rowing 115 yards.

Approximately 3,000 words were cabled to Toronto on the race for the Diamonds. No English paper gave 10 per cent. of that total to the race.

The regatta is a strange combination of sportsmanship, fashion, efficiency, snobbishness, commercialism, whoopee, and high price. It has a midway and fireworks display, is run strictly on first, second and third class lines, and lists a great many things as those which "aren't done."

Worth the Expense.

If your pedigree will bear inspection, you have never gone through divorce or bankruptcy courts, and the bank account warrants it, you can watch oarsmen give their last gram of pep in more comfort at Henley than anywhere else on earth. You apply for tickets to the stewards' enclosure weeks before the race. They send tickets of admission, tickets for tea and lunch and tickets for the bar, but no bill. Then you go and enjoy life in the shade of the elms while sipping long, cool drinks and saying "Well rowed, sir." Six or eight weeks afterwards you get a bill; six or eight weeks after that again you think of paying it. It works out for a chap and his best girl at about $25.00 a day, but still they have a good time. The lunch, for instance, is three dollars a throw and tea about one dollar, aside from tips. By this ticket arrangement gate crashers are kept out and gate crashing has become a very fine art indeed on this side. If you don't believe that one just try to hold a seat in the press stand.

Opposite the stewards is a tennis club, very high hat and high-priced where the same plan is followed. Then comes the crews' enclosure which is an acre of color, as a thousand oarsmen, dressed in brilliant flannels and crested caps, cheer their fellows on, or act the host to sweetheart or mother from home You will find more genuine good fellowship and sportsmanship in the crews' enclosure at Henley than any other place I have ever seen. No one ever complains about anything. They never make excuses. If they lose then lose, and the best crew wins; there is never a phase of argument. If the golden rule is ever really observed anywhere this is the spot. For instance, the Kingston Rowing Club, with whom I was stopping, lost their coxswain on the eve of the race. He collapsed with tonsilitis, and could not take his place in the boat. A substitute went in and after weeks of hard practice the crew were knocked out in their very first heat. No one even mentioned that the cox was not on the job. The same with the Argentine fellows. They came 7,000 miles to race. They felt they were representing their country and were proud of it, but could not speak English.

Disliked Publicity

At home the crew had been accustomed to enormous meals of meat fixed up with hot spices like tomale and that sort of tongue jumper. They couldn't persuade English people to give them enough meat. This landed in the paper and the boys were furious. They said someone was making excuses for them and they had learned during a month in England that the English never made excuses about anything. They won their first race and promptly went to bed. Next morning number six in the boat sprained his arm while doing some exercises. He couldn't row; the crew after travelling those thousands of miles was beaten but never said one word. On the day of the final, when someone heard they had rowed a sub, a newspaperman from "down under" got the dope and spent more than $100 cabling it, but the oarsmen themselves never even mentioned it.

Third class at Henley is the general enclosure and even this costs $1.25 for admission. There is also the river where you can see free, but boats cost $15 a day, or the banks near the start where there is no charge for anything but medical service if you happen to get in the way of a coach who is buzzing up and down the tow path on a bicycle or horse.

These old lads on the horses take life seriously. They look like Santa Claus or Little Jack Horner, or somebody, as they gallop along the path, alternately looking at their stop watches and their crews, but never paying the slightest attention to others on the path. Occasionally they make a header into a hedge or the river and then it's just too bad. All this time, trouble and wear and tear, remember, is given free of charge. There are no professional coaches in England.

Social Errors

Newspaper men from our side of the pond can make all sorts of tactless blunders at Henley and it seems that I made them all. On the first day I found the press stand, took off my coat, rolled up my sleeves and proceeded to make a noise like a reporter. That, it seems, isn't done. I actually cheered Joe Wright when he won an old gentlemen looked askance. Then one said, "I say, do you always take your coat off when you work?" "Yes, when the temperature is near the eighties." He moved away and afterwards another old boy said 'I say, would you mind . . ?" He just looked at the coat hanging on my chair, so I put it on again and sweltered.

Later chaps from the New York Times, Associated Press, United Press and Berliner Tagblatt gave moral support and we five took our coats off again and were reasonably comfortable. Next day we arrived in plus fours and the place was horrified.

A photographer insisted on taking our picture and the print duly appeared under the caption, "Strange Overseas Styles at Henley." Yet that paper never had a single picture of an oarsman. The idea of we five getting into knickers was not a prearranged plot to shock the populace, we simply felt that was the most comfortable garb for the job on hand.

When Joe and Jack both won their heats the second day I hurried to the secretary's office to see what time they raced on the morrow. I forgot to put on my coat and various attendants, including one policeman, bore down to conduct an investigation. I hurried back and got the coat.

Princeton and Kent, from the United States, won that day, then gave a "Rah rah" yell for their opponents. This, too, came as a mild shock and was chronicled in the gossip columns.

Police Are Diplomatic.

As crews are knocked out at Henley they proceed to make a round of the pubs and sample the beer, so that from Wednesday to Saturday Henley is possessed of fine damp evenings and an active market for liver salts. Competitors run the town, and while policemen are brought in from surrounding towns by the dozen, they know pretty well that no "gentlemen" are to even see the hoosegow.

Let a stray cop ever molest one of the proper sort at Henley and he spends future regatta weeks at desk duty. The police, however, are the politest on record. Here's how I know: Q.: "And you mean that even if 'one of the proper sort' as you say, was causing a disturbance in the main street you wouldn't run him in?" A.: "Yes, sir, those are our orders." Q.: "Well, where do you draw the line as to gentleman or non-gentleman?" A.: "Well, sire, I would say you were a gentleman, sire. Journalists are gentlemen, sir." Now then, laugh that off.

AT THE CAPITOL

EDMUND LOWE IN "BORN RECKLESS."

A gangland picture has more than an ordinary thrill in these parlous times. And Edmund Lowe carries with him an atmosphere of romance and also, perhaps, a slight tinge of dissipation. Since he created a role for himself in "What Price Glory?" that was quite equal to the interest aroused by Victor McLaglan as the doughty Captain Flagg of that rousing feature of the silent movies he has been heralded as an actor of note. His roles have just that little bit of commonness about them that brings them right down to the ground. Lowe is a squire of dames, whether they appear in high society roles or as the obliging vendor of canteen refreshments.

In this picture he is a hero of gangland, an Italian, Louis Peretti, who mixes in with a jewellery robbery and almost gets the "rap." But, coached by a reporter, the District Attorney, with a judgeship looming on the horizon, decides to send Louis and his two pals to war, rather than to Elmira Prison. They have their chance to redeem themselves.

A curious little slice of conflict on the Front intervenes, and then Louis comes back, to open a night club in the big city, and keep in touch with his former companions. And then comes the conflict between comradeship and his love for a good woman who is married to another man. Louis doesn't keep his "nose clean," and he takes the punishment. His manner of exit is not quite as artistic as that of William Powell in "Street of Chance," but he does a lot to put it over. His voice alone in that last scene is noteworthy as a detail. —Jeanette.

KEEN INTEREST IS TAKEN IN CONTEST

Many Entries Are Being Received in Village Name Contest.

The contest to propose a fitting name for Downer's Corners or rather for the community of which the five point cross roads is the natural center is waxing hot.

The contest is open until next Saturday noon to every one young and old, as well as to the school pupils.

As reported in The Examiner of last Saturday, the prizes offered are as follows:

First Prize $10.00; second prize, $7.50; third prize $5.00.

The Committee acting for the neighborhood is composed of: Mark S. Burnham, Frank Kitney, Fred C. Burgess, John J. Howden, John T. O'Connell and Dickson Davidson.

The honor of renaming Downer's Corners and winning a handsome prize are worth striving for and keen interest in the issue is wide spread.

For years an appropriate name has been sought for Downer's Corners, one that will have some local or traditional significance.

The high elevation undulating land formation, proximity to the Little Lake and the fact that this area is the most beautiful developing suburb within ten minutes of the City's heart, entitles the Community to a fitting name.

The Village Name Committee will open a huge bundle of letters, each of which must have been addressed to that committee in care of The Examiner Office.

NEWS FROM CAMPBELLFORD

(By Examiner's Staff Correspondent.)
ERNEST H. LEWIS.

REV. D. MILLER IS CAMPBELLFORD ROTARY GUEST

New Governor of 27th District Pays Official Visit to Local Club.

FROM BRADFORD, PENN.

Gives Interesting Talk on Rotary and Congratulates Club on 1929-30 Attendance Record.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Making his official visit as Governor of the 27th District, Rotary International, the Rev. Dean Miller was the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Campbellford Rotary Club, held in the St. Lawrence Hotel on Tuesday. The president, H. N. Carr, occupied the chair.

Dean Miller, who is a Presbyterian minister from Bradford, Pennsylvania, U.S.A., and is on a tour of inspection of his district, brought his message straight from Rotary International. At this gathering recently held in Chicago, two objects were stressed, and these were expounded by the speaker to the Campbellford club.

The first object was the implementing of the aims and objects plan. Every club should have an Aims and Objects Committee, which should be the centre of all committee work. This the speaker demonstrated by use of a chart. He spoke of this age as being one of machinry, and of Rotary as the human machine, and as the artificial machine has certain objects to perform, so, in the human sense, has Rotary. "The idea of Rotary, said Dean Miller, is the development of the individual, working on the principal of a better Rotarian, a better man."

The speaker went on to state that the three most important committees in a small club are the classification, Program and Community Service Committees. Of the Classfication Committee he said that it was one of the most important, and emphasized the fact that while the club wants every classification represented, care must be used in not letting down the bars to destroy the pureness of classifications. It was to be remembered, the speaker pointed out, that each member who represented his classification was honored by that representation, and was expected to give of his very best in representing it. He also urged that there be no falsifying of classifications.

Dean Miller further complimented the Campbellford club on their attendance for the past year, which, according to the International report showed over a 95 per cent. registration. Of the matter of attendance he took the stand that it was most important as it increased enthusiasm. An absent Rotarian could not be a help to the club.

12 Essential Programs

Of the program committee, the speaker urged the advisability of having at least twelve essentially Rotary programs during the year. In the first place, he thought that Rotary was selfish, because it aimed to develop the individual member, but this was only a primary stage, for Rotary recognized the fact that the individual member must first be filled with the Rotary spirit before he could overflow for the community.

And of community service, Dean Miller explained the principals of work among the crippled children, a word that engages the attention of the Campbellford club, the Big Brother movement, and urged very strongly the establishment of a students' loan fund, a work that would enable young people of the community to obtain an education when not in a financial position to do so.

And the second object that the speaker brought from Rotary International, was a desire for a ten per cent. increase in membership. This was desired of all clubs, and the speaker urged that the classification committee make a check up of all classifications in the town with the intention of gaining unfilled classifications.

Many fish stories are going the rounds these days. One local follower of the sport is reputed to have had so large a catch that his rod broke. If that is so we have a grudge against that muskie, for it might have been a winner in the Examiner Fishing Contest.

This week's laugh—Wifie: "And what will I get if I cook you a dinner like this every day, Darling?"

Darling: :"My life insurance."

AT MARMORA.

On Thursday evening at the residence of the Misses Williams, Miss Elsie Williams, a bride to be of this month, received a surprise shower from a number of her young friends. After indoor games had been indulged in by those present a prettily decorated wagon was brought to her view for Miss Williams to bring in and unload. A beautiful assortment of rich gifts was thus received by one who has been very popular as a school teacher in Marmora village for the past few years.

WARSAW DISTRICT COMBED FOR TIMBER

Great Oak Logs Taken Out for Firm in Glasgow, Scotland.

WARSAW, August 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—A Hamilton firm has three men in the district making timber for a Glagow firm.

The trees fit for use required are felled and the sticks squared or rounded as desired. Among the sticks so made was one from Stuart Miller's bush of oak, fifty-two feet long and dressed fifteen inches square. The tree felled was four feet at the butt and the stick is perfectly straight. The top of the tree cut off is like a good sized tree.

It is said to be the largest oak stick taken from around here in many years.

Roadwork Finished

David Drain had charge of the work on the boundary which was finished on Saturday evening. The old stumps along the side are removed also the last of the logs of the old corduroy road. The road from the top of Gordon Payne's hill to nearly the second curve is graded and straightened.

Oats Cut

Oats are being cut. Allan Payne and Fred Sharpe were the first to cut near Warsaw.

The showers of rain have been very welcome, and as a whole the country is very green.

CAMPBELLFORD MEN WIN FIRING AWARDS

Basil Linton Gains Marksman's Badge for Northumberland Regiment at Camp Barriefield.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).— Two local young men, both members of C Company, Northumberland Regiment, carried off honors in marksmanship while attending camp with their unit at Camp Barriefield, Kingston, this year.

Basil Linton won the regimental marksman's badge, which entitles him to wear the cross guns, and carried a prize of $3.00. He gained 100 marks out of a possible 115, at a range of 100 and 200 yards.

Corporal Robert McGregor also won the company marksman badge for C Company, which carries a like honor and award. At the same range he gained 70 marks out of a possible 115. These awards, with the silver cup won by the Northumberland Band, show that the men of Campbellford hold no mean place on the honor list of the Northumberland Regiment.

BELLEVILLE POLICE NO JUDGES OF MUSIC

Campbellford Jazz Band Told to "Move On" at Old Home Week Celebration.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6 (Examiner Staff Correspondent)—Resentment is felt by the treatment meeted out to the Campbellford Jazz Band by the Belleville police, when they travelled to that town on Monday to help along the Old Home by adding fun and merriment to the proceedings.

The Jazz Band which is under the direction of the Chief of the Campbellford Police, is composed of eighteen pieces, and with the best of motives journeyed to Belleville on Monday at their own expense to assist in the celebration, being ready and willing to help in any way, even by playing for street dancing. But they lacked the official invitation, with the result that a constable of the Belleville police force told them to "move on," and kept them moving. This the band consider as very unfair to say the least, stating as they do that the city would have been put to bed by ten o'clock if they had not been there to keep things alive.

The Campbellford Jazz Band is a purely philanthropic organization, and is out to serve. Its last sphere of activity was at Stirling, when it kept the town alive during the Old Boys' and Girls' re-union a few weeks ago.

PREMIERS TALK ON WHEAT CROPS

Bracken and Brownlee Meet Bank of Nova Scotia Manager.

NO PRESS STATEMENT.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6.—(CP)—The question of disposing of the balance of last year's wheat crop and its relation to the financing of the 1930 Canadian wheat crop was the subject of an informal discussion between Canadian bank representatives and Premiers John Bracken of Manitoba and J. E. Brownlee of Alberta here yesterday.

The conference followed a luncheon presided over by J. A. McLeod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia and vice president of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

When asked regarding the outcome of the meeting Premier Bracken explained there was little to say and added "If anybody should speak it should be Mr. McLeod". Mr. Bracken said the conference had gone into the whole situation but referred to Mr. McLeod any enquiries as to the outcome.

Mr. McLeod when questioned said there is nothing to tell the public this was just an informal talk, because these gentlemen happened to be in Toronto at this time."

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 28 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Many days it was before Tarzan recovered from his victorious battle with Terkoz, the rebellious bull ape. And then, one day, he had another encounter with three of the natives, emerging victor, taking their weapons, ornaments, and wondrous finery. The natives, now thoroughly frightened, believed him some unseen, terrible god.

"Munango-Keewati," they called him, the evil spirit of the jungle, believing that those who looked upon him died. So the king ordered arrows and food to be placed just without the village to appease him. As long as they supplied him with these, they thought, he would not harm them.

Tarzan was returning to the caoin. When he came in sight of the beach, a strange and unusual spectacle met his vision. On the placid waters of the land-locked harbor floated a great ship, and on the beach a small boat was drawn up. And men—like himself—were moving about!

He crept closer, saw ten men talking loudly, gesticulating, shaking their fists. Presently a little man laid his hand upon the shoulder of a giant next him, pointing inland. As the big man turned to look, the mean-faced one shot him in the back tumbling him forward—dead!

The report of the weapon, the first Tarzan had ever heard, filled him with wonderment. Were such white men his brothers? Presently the men launched the boat, jumped into it and rowed away toward the great ship. Then Tarzan slipped back to the cabin. Everything had been ransacked!

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

A cursory view of earth's millions now living and the many millions who have died, according to the teaching of Christianity (if nothing further shall be done, then what has been done up to the present) the salvation of mankind as a whole is hopeless. Putting the teaching of Churchianity to one side, we can on Scriptural authority make statement that the redemptive work of Jesus is not a failure, and that God has not failed and will not fail in His plan of saving the world of mankind. What God undertakts to do, He does, and Jesus yet shall see of the travail of His soul and be satisfied. If the teaching of churchianity was true Jesus could not be satisfied to see billions of men and women suffering endless torments. The salvation of the human race is in the resurrection and the glad 1,000 year day of judgment. Then the people will learn of God's love and goodness. Then the Devil and his agents who are propagating his lies will cease to operate, and men and women who are now preaching the Devil's lie will be compelled to do honorable work.

PICTURES PLEASE CHIEF.

Fire Chief Gimblett expresses himself as being delighted with two photographs of the city's fire equipment recently made by the Imperial Oil Company for use in one of that company's publications. Both pictures were made in front of the Fire Hall, one showing a view of the entire equipment and the other of the pumper alone.

FIREMEN SAVE GRASS.

Two lines of fire hose were in use at Victoria Park yesterday morning and at Confederation Square in the afternoon in an attempt to save the lawns which the prolonged dry spell and the terrific heat of the sun are bidding fair to burn to a crisp. This is the second time this year that the firemen have had to be called out to aid the city's grass when ordinary methods proved inadequate.

GLADIOLUS ON DISPLAY

The committee of the C.G.E. Flower Show and the Peterborough Horticultural Society have on view in the window of Warne Brothers and Wainman, Jewellers, a display of gladiolus. A. E. Prest has on view in Warne's Store some lovely "Orange Queen" and "Veilchenblaw." A. Spencely has a very peculiar seedling on view in Wainman's. The blooms up one side of the spike are a different color to the other side. He also has a fine spike of a new blue gladiolus named "Ave Maria"; also Mr. Harris has a spike of the gladiolus "White Orchid," a very beautiful thing. In the store windows the heat is extreme, which causes the blooms to wilt much faster.

22½ POUND MUSKIE

W. H. Morrison of Toronto "hooked one" that gave him a real job at Trent Bridge the other evening. It weighed 22½ pounds and was 47 inches in length he discovered on landing the fish after a hour's battle. Needless to say it was a "muskie" and it has been entered in The Examiner Maskinonge Contest.

FINE FIRE RECORD

A fire on the roof of a verandah at the rear of 182½ Simcoe street called the fire apparatus out at 4.44 this morning. A flying spark from a nearby chimney was thought to be the cause. The damage was practically nil.

Although communities throughout the province have been experiencing a period of fire-fighting activity due to the prolonged dry spell, Peterborough has been extremely fortunate in this respect. There has not been a fire here of any proportions for several weeks. Indeed, there has not been a major blaze in this city for over a year. It would appear that Peterborough has not only one of the best equipped fire departments in the province, but that the prevention propaganda and precautions of its fire chief have met with unusual success.

TRAFFIC OFFICER ISSUES WARNING

Motorists are to-day warned by Traffic Officer Hornick not to leave stones or other objects on the surface of the highways. Any caught committing such breaches of the Highway Traffic Act will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, he declares.

Officer Hornick states that considerable danger has been caused by motorists who use large stones in repairing their tires or blocking their wheels but who negligently forget to throw them off the road when they are finished. Such obstructions are not expected on pavement and autoists, off guard, are apt to strike them, he claims. Serious accidents could be preciptated in this manner, Officer Hornick opines.

ALL MOVEMENTS OF AIRSHIP R-100 REMAIN SECRET

Rumors Claim Liner May Visit Canadian National Exhibition.

M.P.'S TO VISIT SHIP.

Last Process of Doping Great Patch in Fabric Finished To-night.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Aug. 6. (By Jack Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer)—Nothing definite regarding the movements of the R-100 has been issued overnight, and today the same veil of mystery is drawn. What the intentions of the ship's officers or the Canadian Department of National Defense are, with regard to the proposed Canadian flight over Ottawa and Toronto, cannot be ascertained. Wing Commander R. B. Colmore, Director of Civil Aviation, with Squadron leader R. S. Scott, Captain of the R-100, and W. A. Lawrence, press laison officer, left early yesterday for the Capital to meet His Excellency, Lord Willingdon. It had been understood they would return last night, but they could not be located in the city early to-day.

Repairs Nearly Done

Repairs to the stabilizing fin of the ship, made good progress yesterday, and to-day the huge patch covering the gap left when the fabric tore off Father Point last Thursday, was being treated with a shrinking and and waterproofing compound. It is expected that before dusk the ship will be ready to leave here at any time.

With the official spokesman, W. A. Lawrence, out of reach and no official news emanating from the flying field, rumors were flying thick and fast last night.

One which rapidly gathered momentum was an "inside" story to the effect that the ship's departure for Cardington, scheduled for August 15, would be slightly delayed, in order that the test flight might take place over the Canadian National Exhibition grounds at Toronto while the huge fair was in progress. However, members of the ship's crew would neither confirm nor deny this rumor.

Many Engagements

A steady round of engagements still faces the officers of the ship. Yesterday Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100, spoke in Ottawa. Last night Commander Colmore and Captain Booth attended a dinner given by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defense, in the Capital.

To-day, the ship will be inspected by Members of Parliament. Commander Colmore and Major G. H. Scott, will be entertained at luncheon in Toronto by the Empire Club, and Sir Dennistoun Burney will be the guest of honor at an Advertising Club dinner in Montreal.

BEOTHIC FIGHTS ATLANTIC GALES

Mounted Police and Scientists Tossed For 16 Hours in Tempest.

HEAD FOR GREENLAND.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.).—The steamer "Beothic," carrying the Department of the Interior's 1930 expedition to the posts in the Canadian Arctic archipelago, is battling storms about midway between Labrador and Southern Greenland, on its dash across the North Atlantic, according to wireless despatches received from George P. Mackenzie, officer in charge of this summer's patrol by O. S. Finnie, director of the North-West Territories and Yukon Branch. The noon position of the ship on Monday was given as half-way between the coast of Labrador and Greenland, where the first stop will be made at the Danish headquarters at Godhaven.

About midnight on August 3 the "Beothic" entered a storm area, and for sixteen hours the ship had been rolling heavily in the grip of the tempest. It was necessary to heave to so that the deck cargo might be relashed. Tremendous seas breaking over the ship had loosened the load stored on deck. Mr. Mackenzie concludes his message of yesterday with the words: "Very uncomfortable but otherwise all right."

Since the expedition left North Sydney, Nova Scotia, last Thursday night, carrying Dominion Government scientists, administrative officers, and members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the 8,000-mile patrol of the posts on Baffin, Devon and Ellesmere Islands, and in Hudson Strait and Bay, fair weather has been encountered and good progress was reported.

As the "Beothic" is a well-constructed vessel and her crew is made up of most experienced seamen, no anxiety for the safety of the expedition is held here.

CANADA'S DEBT IN 1929-30 DROPS BY $47,740,746.39

OTTAWA, Ont., August 6 (C.P.).—A total decrease in the net debt of Canada of $47,740,746.39 is noted in the annual financial statement for the Dominion just published. At March 1, 1929, Canada's net debt stood at $2,225,054,705.10, and at the end of the financial year, March 1, 1930, the debt was $2,177,762,958.71. For the previous twelve months there was a debt reduction of $71,345,527.82.

PREMIERS DISCUSS WHEAT MARKETING

Leaders From Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, Meet in Toronto.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 6 (C.P.)—Premiers John Bracken, Manitoba and John E. Brownlee, Alberta along with A. J. MacPhail, President of the Saskatchewan and Co-operative Wheat Producers Association and George McIvor, General Sales manager of the Canadian Wheat pool, are in conference here to-day.

Premier Brownlee admitted that the conference was about the wheat situation but refused to make a detailed statement. "There is not going to be much worth speaking about," he said.

A few days ago the Dominion Government was notified by the pool's chief statistian that the governments of the prairie provinces had incurred no loss through guaranteeing the pool's operations. These governments put their credit behind the pool early in the year to guarantee the banks against losses through advances to the pool at the time of the slump in prices and the appearance of the difficulty in marketing the west's crop.

Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan is also expected to arrive in Toronto shortly

CENTRAL BEATS KING EDWARD

Tie is Possible in the City Playground Softball League.

SCORE IS 11 TO 3.

By winning yesterday's game by the score of 11-3, Central Senior Boys took their second straight from King Edward and created the possibility of a tie in the final standing of the City Playgrounds Softball League. After dropping the first four contests in a row, the Central Playground boys have taken a determined brace in the Senior section, and seems bent on making a fight of it. There are two games left to play, and if Central wins both of them, the championship will be decided either by a three-game play-off series or a sudden death fixture.

While their Senior playmates were going down to defeat, the King Edward Junior Boys cracked out basehits to take their sixth straight contest from Central Juniors, 21-14. As King Edward cinched this group last week, little importance attached to the struggle.

Central Girls continued their triumphant parade at the head of their division, but encountered an unexpected decision from the King Edward Girls in the matter of slugging. The final count was 23-19 for Central. There is only one game left to play in the girls' six-game schedule. By taking it, Central will have made a clean sweep of the series.

The batteries for Central Boys in the Senior struggle were Shambo and Jamieson; for King Edward, Ridley and Mowry. In the Junior affair, Ridley and Coursey held the mound for King Edward, with Todd and Castle on the receiving end. Thomas and Downer shared the pitching duties for Central, with Harris behind the plate.

The standing in the three divisions is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Senior Boys.
King Edward	4	2	.666
Central	2	4	.333
Junior Boys.
King Edward	6	0	1,000
Central	0	6	.000
Girls.
Central	5	0	1,000
King Edward	0	5	.000

OBITUARY

FRED MATCHETT.

OMEMEE, Aug. 6. — (Examiner Correspondence.)—News of the death of Fred Matchett reached Omemee on Monday and came as a shock to his many friends in this vicinity. Mr. Matchett had made his home in the west for some years, but had made frequent visits in recent years and during his stay here had been associated with Trinity United Church, and a faithful member of the choir. He had been in failing health for some time and was returning to Cavan when he was taken suddenly ill at Port Hope and rushed to the hospital, where he died within an hour after being admitted.

The funeral was held from the undertaking parlors at Millbrook on Monday.

JOHN McDONOUGH.

The death occurred on Saturday, August 2, of John McDonough, at his residence, 344 Charlotte Street, after a lingering illness. The late Mr. McDonough was born 58 years ago in County Galway, Ireland, and has lived in this city for the past 48 years.

He is survived by his sorrowing wife; two sons, John and Emmett, of this city; three daughters: Mary, Noreen and Eileen of this city; three sisters: Mrs. James Linton of Buffalo, Mrs. T. Torrington of Boston, and Mrs. Lindblom of Everett, Washington; and one brother, Myles of Windsor.

The numerous floral tributes which covered the bier of the late Mr. McDonough bespoke the respect and esteem in which he had been held here.

Requiem mass was sung by Rev. T. J. Finn at St. Peter's Cathedral on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Major Scott lauded the increasing airmindedness of women and the remarkable feat of aviation performed by the fair sex within recent years. He referred to the recent activities of Amy Johnson and the Duchess of Bedford on long distance flights and predicted that within the next decade women would be even more prominent in the aviation world.

Greeted By Great Crowd

After a short rest at the Royal York Hotel Major Scott and Mr. Giblett, accompanied by a reception committee, drove to the City Hall where the civic address of welcome was presented by Mayor B. S. Wemp before a crowd of between two and three thousand persons.

The two officers of the great dirigible were greeted as they arrived by martial airs from the band of the Mississagua Horse, "Rule Britannia" and "The Soldiers of the King" vied with the cheers of the crowd.

Mayor Wemp congraulated the two officers of the glorious achievement represented in the bringing of the R-100 to Canada. He hoped this visit would be the prelude to many more, that it might mean the beginning of a close arerial contact between the Mother Country and Canada. The Mayor hailed the flight as a feat bringing great honor to Great Britain and the world-wide British race, a symbol of unitad sentiment and loyalty, and as a beginning of a great traffic which, it was hoped would spring up between the two countries.

And Major Scott expressed the same hope, the flight, he stated was motivated largely by the ever present desire of the British to knit closer and closer the bonds of Empire. He felt the flight might pave the way for the gradual inauguration of a more or less regular airship service across he North Atlantic. Following the speech of the Commander of the R-100, Mr. W. A. Giblett meteorological officer of the ship, also delivered a short address of thanks. Both were then presented with commemorative medals by the Mayor.

SCORE PERISH AS FLOOD HITS ARIZONA CITY

Twin Nogales Cities in Border Valley Get Full Force of Cloudburst.

CHILDREN SWEPT AWAY:

Rescue Work Hindered By Heavy Rain and Darkness.

NOGALES, Arizona, August 7 (C. P.). — A score of persons were reported dead and twenty-five missing after a torrent of water swept through Nogales and its sister city, Nogales, Sonora, early to-day. The body of a Mexican woman, representing the first known death, was washed across the international line at the height of the flood.

Hotel Collapses.

Nogales, Sonora, Hotel of adobe construction, collapsed, lights went out of commission, and telephone service stopped.

At 3 a.m. the Chief of Police of Nogales, Sonora, made his way to the American side and said he had received reports of at least two dozen deaths, but could not confirm them. He said 20 children had been reported missing in the Mexican city.

From seven to eight feet of water poured through the streets of the border cities apparently from a near-by cloudburst.

Don Phillips, an aviator, who had been visiting on the Mexican side, managed to reach the United States city, and said he had seen several small children swept away when an adobe building collapsed.

Excited citizens flocked to the police station here, and told of seeing persons, mostly children, being swept along by the raging rain waters.

The Nogales, Sonora, Chief of Police said the torrent of water, sweeping through his city, had cracked sidewalks, uprooted trees, and flattened adobe buildings.

It was not known how many persons were in the hotel.

Hospitals Prepared

Physicians and nurses were mobilized on the American side and all space in hospitals here was made ready. Rescue work was made difficult because of darkness and the heavy rain. At four o'clock the skies still were pouring down sheets of water and there was no perceptible receding of the flood.

Several persons from the residential section of the United States city reported they had seen three baby cribs floating down Morly Avenue, but were unable to reach them. They said they heard the babies crying.

Police declared the flood waters struck both cities before rain had fallen and that many inhabitants must have been trapped in their beds.

Situated in the neck of a great bottle-shaped valley, the twin cities felt the sweep of flood waters from three sides. The Mexican city for the most part is on higher ground than its United States sister but its buildings generally of poorer construction.

The population of the two towns is approximately 11,000 with the Mexican city slightly larger. Only a barbed wire fence separates the two.

THOMPSON PLATT HALF WAY ROUND ARE DEADLOCKED

Cedar Brook Club Entrant Plays Brilliant Golf to Hold American.

TWO UP AT TURN.

Cameron and Stewart in All Montreal Match Next In.

LONDON, Ont., August 7 (C.P.)—Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, and J. Wood Platt, of Philadelphia, were all square at the end of the first 18 holes of their quarter-final match in the Canadian amateur golf tournament this morning. Nicol had been two up at the turn, but the Philadelphian came back on the home stretch. This was the first match in.

Brilliant Golf.

The youthful Cedar Brook Club entrant played brilliant golf to hold Platt, considered the leading contender of the American trio, left in play. The Torontonian set the pace on the opening holes and was two up at the turn. Platt won the 10th and 11th, but Nicol grabbed off the next three to go three up. The Philadelphian then was victorious on the 15th, 16th, and 18th, with the 17th halved.

Jack Cameron and Carroll Stuart, playing an all-Montreal match, were the next pair to come up to the home green.

GYPSY MAIDEN SEEN BY REPORTER AND TELLS HIS FORTUNE FOR $1.11

Much to the Young Ladies' Dismay the Pocket Book Was Found Light.

WOMEN BUZZ ABOUT.

Bent on discovering what put the "gyp" in "gypsy", an Examiner reporter lounged idly around the door of a vacant shop on the west side of George street, just south of Charlotte, late last night. With a semi-vacuous stare he studied two once-gaudy calico posters in the windows, proclaiming phrenology within and presenting illuminating charts of cross-sections of the human head divided and subdivided according to passions, emotions, and other pre-Freudian phenomena.

"Young-a gentleman wanta learn-a his fine fortune?"

This challenge issued from the doorway, couched in accents oddly reminiscent of painful dialect-recitations at church socials.

"Young-a gentleman, nice-a young-a gentleman, like to learn his good-a fortune?"

The reporter stuck his head inquiringly through the doorway, right into the face of a gypsy fortune-teller in the best traditions of the species. Quasi-oriental finery of vivid embroidered cloth, hectic beads, and immense ear-rings vied with a complexion of the duskiest gypsy hue, hair of coarse texture and blackest color, and a smiling row of white teeth in producing the almost theatrical effect.

There were other women behind the smiling enticer at the door—old women and girls, even a child with a bottle, but none with the rounded allure of the flashing-eyed caller of: "Nice-a young-a gentleman....".

The reporter went in.

"What will you tell me?" he asked.

"What you wanta know. You're good-a fortune, your luck,"—a new and wider smile here.—"your love."

Furn shings Are Scarce.

The woman beckoned her victim behind an improvised arras. The Boy in Tar Barrel Has Novel Rescue

BOSTON, Mass., August 7. — This is a heat story.

Harry Hanparian, six, jumped in a barrel of tar. Tar melts in 90 degrees heat, and Harry could not jump out again. His chums could not pull him out. A crowd of 9300 gathered, full of suggestions, but not much help. Somebody decided it was a matter for the police department.

A policeman came, saw, and called the Fire Department. An engine responded to the alarm. The firemen had a bright idea. They turned a hose on the tar. The cold water hardened the tar and then the firemen chopped young Harry out.

UNDERBUILDING IN NAVAL TONNAGE WILL INJURE U. S.

Admiral Hepburn States Move Would Give Country Less Influence Than Ever.

ACTIONS NOT UNDERSTOOD.

America's Weight Lies in Ability to Indulge in Any Armament She Wishes.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., August 7 (C.P.). — The United States will go to the next Limitation of Armament Conference in 1935 with less influence than she ever had in such a gathering if she accedes to the movement now on foot to underbuild tonnage permitted her by the London Treaty, Rear-Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn said to-day.

Admiral Hepburn, Chief of Staff of the United States Fleet and member of the American delegation at the London Naval Conference, addressed the Limitation of Armament Conference at the Institute of Politics.

Declaring that the nations of the world do not "see eye to eye" with the United States, being unable to understand her "abandonment of the infant League of Nations on the European doorstep," her failure to respond to the appeal for national security and her attitude on other world questions, Admiral Hepburn said:

Nations Do Not Understand.

"If we fail to take the parity and other ratios for which we strove at London, they will not understand that. They will not credit it to our desire for peace and America will go to the next Limitation Conference in 1935 with less influence than she

BRITAIN AND JAPAN RUSH 500 TROOPS INTO YANGTSE VALLEY

Extra Destroyers Sent to Help Stem Communist Bandits Advance.

HANKOW THREATENED.

SHANGHAI, China, August 7 (C. P.). — More than 500 British and Japanese soldiers and marines were en route to Yangtse Valley cities today as the result of uncertain Communist conditions.

Carrying 400 marines, four Japanese destroyers arrived here from Sasebo, Japan. The vessels were to proceed to Kiukiang, Kiangsi Province, which recently was reported threatnd by an army of 10,000 Communists.

Fifty British soldiers on Friday will follow 110 troops despatched to Kankow to-day.

Troops Relieve Tension.

The arrival of additional Chinese troops at Hankow relieved the tension there somewhat, but despatches from the Hupeh Province industrial centre said foreigners had completed plans for evacuation should an emergency arise.

Communists were reported approaching Hankow and its sister cities, Wuchang and Hanyang, from the south.

Areas vacated by Chinese troops moved into Hankow by the Government were said to be the centre of Red disorders.

The Nationalist Foreign Office was reported in Nanking despatches preparing a statement for the Powers concerning Communist depredations at Changhsa, Hunan Province capital, and elsewhere.

DINGHY SAILING RACE AT CHEMONG WON BY R. DIXON

G. N. Gordon Cup For Open Sailing Goes to J. Flavelle of Lindsay.

SETTING IS CHANGED.

Allan Gray Defeats Don Fitzgerald in Men's Long Distance Swim.

Peterborough manufactures proved their supremacy at the regatta at Chemong Lake yesterday, when a dinghy made here by the Peterborough Canoe Company and sailed by Reg Dixon, romped home with two trophies: the Kawartha Lakes Championship cup and the Peterborough Canoe Company's Challenge Cup. Claude Rogers had the satisfaction of seeing his own trophy going to a boat made in his own factory, for the first time on these waters. Hitherto, the dinghies used in these races have come from outside firms.

Otto Gliddon came in second in each of the events.

The Lake of the Silver Moon staged its annual regatta yesterday afternoon. Whoever started calling the pretty body of water Mud Lake did a wrong thing. The Indian name, "Shegamogamong", or the Lake of the Silver Moon, is much prettier. And Shegamogamong, according to W. J. Hopwood, who should know as he organized the first regatta there in 1903, has been corrupted to Chemong Lake. With the late Milne Hamilton, Mr. Hopwood designed the insignia of the regatta at that event, twenty-seven years ago, and the present-day programs, which pretty girls were selling in the Park yesterday, bear the red and blue pennant with the crescent moon that signifies the ancient Indian name. Strangely enough, the English name which is frequently used is Curve Lake, and the central point of that curve in the lake is at Hopwood's Island, where the cottage, built in 1890 by the Peterborough Rowing Club, has the pretty name of "Kabeyun", — the west wind.

The regatta events were well contested yesterday, in a program which lengthened out considerably. The weather was ideal. The heat of the day that made the lake a mirror of blue glass in the forenoon changed later to a breezy afternoon, with a freshening wind whipping the blue to a greyish-green and raising whitecaps toward the Ennismore shore. On the hillside sat the watchers of the regatta; picnickers who brought their lunches with them, children who ran up and down and sallied out to swim and paddle in the water, boys who perched on the banks and sat in the limb of a tall birch tree on the water's edge.

Bathing suits were conventionally one piece, with only a few young girls in shorts and one woman in tight breeches, that resembled riding togs more than beach costume. One girl who wore the top of a bathing suit had a very full pleated skirt modestly concealing her limbs. She smoked a cigarette as she stood in profile on the hillside.

A youth with a dark bathing suit on which "Stan" outlined his vertebrae in white lettering, was a prominent figure. Four Orientals who chattered in vocal hieroglyphics were an interested quartette of onlookers.

Change In Setting

The starting point of the events was at the Clubhouse but the ending was at the beach in front of the bathing house, where a large raft was

Final Fade-Out Will Probably Be Made To-Day

If Government Resigns To-day it Will be Exactly Eleven Years to the Day Since King Took Liberal Leadership.

PRIME MINISTER SATISFIED WITH ACHIEVEMENTS DURING THE NINE YEAR PERIOD OF HIS PREMIERSHIP

Outgoing Ministers All Present and in Happy Mood Like Schoolboys Liberated For Summer Holidays—Dying Ministry Poses For Several Group Pictures.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 7. — The Mackenzie King Cabinet yesterday held its last Council meeting. The final fade out will be witnessed in all probability to-day, August 7. It will be eleven years to the day since Mackenzie King was chosen leader of the Liberal Party, succeeding Laurier.

One well recalls that August day, out at Howick Hall in the Exhibition Grounds at Ottawa. The announcement that Mr. King had won out quite handily in the contest against such veterans as Right Hon. W. S. Fielding and Judge D. D. McKenzie came as quite a shock to the veterans of the Press Gallery, some of whom at once predicted Mackenzie King would never lead the Party to victory. Two years later the Liberals were in office with King as Prime Minister, and he has been there ever since, save for the brief period when the "Shadow Cabinet" of Arthur Meighen made such a sorry exhibition in 1926, when it held office for a scant twelve weeks.

Ready to Go Out.

"We had a very pleasant meeting," said Mr. King as he emerged from the Council Chamber about 6 o'clock last evening. "We are ready to go out when Mr. Bennett is ready to come in."

"When do you think that will be?"

"Probably to-morrow afternoon. If so, it will be very interesting to me, as it will be just eleven years to the day since I succeeded to the Liberal leadership."

The Prime Minister seemed satisfied with the achievement of the nine-year period of his Premiership. "We have a fairly good record to our credit," said he. "And we went down with flags flying on a great issue."

He did not seem in the least cast down by defeat. "It is a great relief to be able to leave office for a while," was his comment.

In Happy Mood

There was nothing gloomy about the day's proceedings; in fact the thing that impressed one was the atmosphere almost of gaiety. The outgoing ministers—all of them were there, even Ian MacKenzie of Vancouver, at his first and last Cabinet Council for the present at all events—all were in a happy mood like school children liberated for the summer holidays. They seemed infinitely more carefree than the queue of members-elect who waited outside Mr. Bennett's office for hours in case the incoming Premier should need some of them for his Cabinet.

The dying Ministry posed at 2 o'clock for photographs. Pictures were taken beneath a tall elm, near the Senate end of the Parliament Buildings, and also inside the Council chamber. This probably was Mr. King's idea. He is strong on Canadians, and the pictures to-day will constitute the historical record of to-morrow. The new Cabinet of Mr. Bennett will be going down to Rideau Hall and will face the cameramen to-day or Friday.

PROCEED WITH INQUEST.

COOKSILLE, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.).—Coroner A. B. Sutton will to-day proceed with the inquest into the death of Philip C. Rumbold, Tonawanda realtor, who was found battered and trussed in his car near Port Credit two weeks ago.

APPLICATION FOR DIVORCE DELAYED BY WRIT FORMS

No Provision For Ruling Requiring Affidavit By Solicitor.

CHANGE ABOUT SEPT. 1.

Only Two Applications, of Many Submitted, Been Accepted.

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—Lack of provision in the regular Supreme Court writ for the special regulations and technical requirements covering divorce cases is delaying the filing of annulment applications at Osgoode Hall, it was learned yesterday.

The form of writ used in all regular proceedings before a Supreme Court judge does not provide for such ruling as that which necessitates the plaintiff's solicitor filing an affidavit that there has been no collusion between the two parties involved. Thus applications are not being accepted until amendments have been made to the regular form to make it conform with the divorce procedure regulations, which will probably be about September 1.

While a considerable number of applications have been brought to Osgoode Hall for filing since the passing of the Ontario Divorce Act, only two have actually been accepted, those two having been filed the day after the Act was finally passed in the House of Commons.

It was at first expected that the regular form of writ used in Supreme Court proceedings would be used for divorce applications, since the hearings were to be conducted as any other form of litigation coming before a Supreme Court judge.

But after a committee of three judges had drawn up the detailed rules of procedure in divorce cases, it was seen that amendment would have to be made to the form of writ for this particular purpose.

LIKELY LINE-UP OF BENNETT'S NEW CABINET

L. C. Bell Be Solicitor General if Cahan Backs Out.

Ryckman, National Revenue.

Immigration Portfolio May Go To W. N. Gordon, South Temiskaming.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—No official intimation of the personnel of the new Conservative administration to take office tomorrow afternoon has yet been made. In political circles, however, the likely composition of the new Cabient to serve under Premier-elect Hon. R. B. Bennett is forecast as follows:—

Secretary of State for External Affairs and Minister of Finance—Hon. R. B. Bennett.

Minister of Justice—Hon. Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington).

Minister of Interior—T. G. Murphy (Neepawa).

Minister of Labor—Senator G. D. Robertson.

Minister of Agriculture — Robert Weir (Melfort).

Minister of Railways and Canals—Hon. R. J. Manion (Fort William).

Minister of National Revenue—Hon. E. B. Ryckman (Toronto East).

Minister of Pensions and National Health—Col. D. M. Sutherland (North Oxford).

Minister of Marine—Alfred Duranleau (Chambly-Vercheres).

Minister of Public Works—H. A. Stewart (Leeds).

Minister of Trade and Commerce—Hon. H. H. Stevens.

Minister of National Defense—Dr. Murray Maclaren (St. John-Albert).

Postmaster-General—Arthur Sauve (Laval-Two Mountains).

Minister of Fisheries—W. G. Ernst (Queens-Lunenburg), or possibly Hon. W. A. Black (Halifax).

Solicitor-General—Maurice Dupre (Quebec West).

Ministers without Portfolio.—Sir George Perley (Argenteuil), and Hon. J. A. Macdonald (King's, P.E.I.).

If C. H. Cahan (St. Lawrence-St. George) does not become Speaker of the House of Commons or Secretary of State it is likely that L. C. Bell (St. Antoine) will be Solicitor-General, and Dr. Dupre would probably become Secretary of State. The appointee to the Portfolio of Immigration is in doubt, although W. N. Gordon, elected in South Temiskaming, is mentioned for Cabinet recognition.

HOME IS DESTROYED.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Aug. 7. — (C.P.)—Fire to-day destroyed the home in which Miss Betty Carstairs, British speed boat driver, was staying while testing her boats entered for the Harmsworth trophy.

PILE SUFFERERS

You can only get quick and permanent relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Nothing but an internal medicine can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Druggists everywhere now sell it and McDermid & Jury, Bonds Drug Store guarantees money-back if HEM-ROID does not end Piles in any form.

U. S. Drought Loss Runs Into Millions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (C.P.). —The possibility of production credit for cotton and live stock, through emergency interpretation of the Agricultural Marketing Act, drew the attention of investigators to-day, as President Hoover and his Cabinet surveyed relief measures for drought-stricken areas of the country.

Fresh reports of depleted feed and water—indicated that drought damage, continuing unabated in almost all sections, might run high into the millions of dollars.

CAMPBELLFORD WILL BE HEARD

Town Council Decide to Broadcast Over C.K.G.W. Through Satin Finish Flooring Co'y.

AT REGULAR MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 7. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The regular meeting of the Campbellford Town Council was held last night in the Public Library with Mayor C. H. Davidson in the chair. Deputy Reeve Stone and Councillor W. Wiggins were absent.

The first item of business was an address to the council from Mrs. O'Sullivan who wished the council to buy her house and lot for the purpose of a hospital. The location is a good one, and the property covers two and a half acres. Mrs. O'Sullivan asked $5,000 for the title. The council decided that they would discuss the matter and notify her as to their decision.

The correspondence was then read by the clerk. Three letters dealt with charity cases, and on motion were filed. A plea was made by B. I. Hutchin for the laying of a sewer to his property on Front street. This would necessitate a stretch from River street to his property, a matter of two hundred feet. Mr. Huchin stated in his request that he was willing to bear the cost of this work if the council would give him a good rate, namely $3 a year tax rate for fifteen years.

It was agreed on motion, that the letter be received and the matter left to the Road and Bridge Committee to see into and report back to the council.

A letter was also read from A. L. Killaly, superintendent of the Trent canal, Peterborough, which asked for the renewal of the lease of the property that the Campbellford Power House occupies. This lease, which expires on January 21st, is of twenty one years' duration. On motion, the matter was left to the town solicitor and the town engineer to investigate and report on.

Councillor J. B. Battisby brought before the council the matter of the winter relief. He stated that he had given much thought to the question ,and had decided that the town handled their charity in the wrong way. He had come to this conclusion, he said, by inquiring of other towns to see the way they handled the situation. Two suggestions he put forward were that in the matter of fuel he thought that the best way was to give wood, and make the men cut it up themselves. As far as the distribution of food was concerned, he suggested that a buying committee, preferably of ladies of the town, be appointed to investigate the cases and arrange the relief. These suggestions were discussed and it was decided that the matter be brought up at a later meeting.

Mayor Davidson brought forward the question of the Rotary Street Fair, and the Council agreed that on that evening, August 15th, the Rotary Club be granted permission to rope off Front Street from Bridge to Market Streets, and that the Chief of Police be advised that no street selling be allowed on that night.

The chairman also brought before the Council the matter of the publicity broadcast over CKGW through the courtesy of Satin Finish Flooring Company. After some discussion it was decided on motion to accept the offer of the company and put local talent on the air this year.

Mr. Hay appeared before the Council asking for a license for the dancing pavilion on Rear Street. It appears that he has recently taken over the place, and that the previous owner already had secured a permit

RAIN HALTS FIRE IN NATIONAL PARK

Rangers Given Respite After Long, Hard Struggle.

RICH TIMBER SAVED.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Drenching rain has halted the rampage of the forest fire demon in Northern Saskatchewan. After many days of hard battle, forest rangers, tired after a terrific struggle to save valuable timber berths, last night rested, while airplane patrol pilots waited the morrow to again survey the one-endangered district.

The coming of the rain saved rich timber areas in the Prince Albert National Park yesterday, just as reinforcements arrived to assist the weary rangers who had battled to keep the flames from the beautiful park lands. Other districts of the north, in radio reports, also told of welcome precipitation which had halted the advancing fires.

Births now are nearly double the number of deaths in cities and towns of England and Wales.

EXPECT GREAT AIR LINER TO PAY TORONTO VISIT OVER WEEK-END

Unofficial Report Says R-100 to Leave Mast Sunday Afternoon.

MOTORS SILENT WEEK.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 7 (C.P.).—If all goes well, the motors of the British dirigible R-100 will be heard singing their song of power this week-end for the first time since the ship arrived from Cardington last Friday.

In an official statement issued last night, announcement was made that the dirigible will leave the mooring tower for her flight over Ottawa and Toronto, if weather conditions are favorable and repairs are completed.

May Leave Sunday Afternoon.

The announcement says: "There is every reason to believe that the flight over Ottawa and Toronto will be made over this week-end."

Unofficially, it was reported later that the vessel would leave the mooring mast Sunday afternoon, flying over Ottawa that night and over Toronto on Monday, returning to Montreal at dusk. This could not be confirmed, however.

Finally in desperation, not wishing to be a slave to laxatives all my life, I turned to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. The results were remarkable and quick—in fact the next day long-hoped-for relief became a happy reality."

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO PAY GIRL'S RANSOM

LONDON, Aug. 7 (C.P.). — The Church Missionary Society's representative at Foochow has been authorized from here to pay $5,000 ransom for the release of Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss E. J. Harrison, now in the hands of Chinese bandits at Sukien, if British authorities consider the payment necessary to secure their release.

The bandits are reported to have severed one of Miss Nettleton's fingers as a mark of determination to obtain money, and threaten to shoot one of the women if the ransom is not forthcoming.

RUM SMUGGLERS LOSE LONG CHASE

Beach Craft and Burn Cargo After Guards Use Machine Guns.

TWO HOUR RACE.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 7. — (A.P.)—Deserted by her crew after running the gauntlet of machine-gun fire from a coastguard patrol boat, the speed boat Estelle of New York, blackened by fire and her liquor cargo ruined, was beached last night at Gardiner's Bay as efforts were being made to establish her ownership.

The craft was run ashore and set afire by her crew last night after it had failed to out-distance a coastguard patrol boat in a two-hour race. Because of the fire which wrecked the vessel before the flames could be extinguished, Commander L. T. Chalker, chief of staff of the destroyer force yesterday said the value of the liquor aboard her could not be estimated.

Machine gun fire was resorted to by the coastguard patrol boat after a one-pound shell fired across the speed boat's bow had failed to stop the Estelle.

Trans-Atlantic Air Route Meets With Favor in Toronto.

UP TO GOVERNMENT.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7.—(CP)—If the dominion government takes action to support Sir Dennistoun Burney's proposal for a trans-Atlantic air route between Great Britain and Canada, it will receive at least the moral support of Toronto's leading business men. How much further such support would go, however, is a question which must be decided after details of the plans have been submitted.

Among the city's most prominent business men who voiced enthusiasm at the proposal was C. L. Burton, President of Simpson's Limited. "The merchants and the citizens would follow any government lead on the question of such service", said Mr. Burton, "but it is a proposition in which the government must move first.

Premier G. Howard Ferguson, Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General and heads of a number of the city's largest business houses also expressed enthusiasm at the proposed project.

CATTLE RUSTLING CHARGE IS LAID

Lindsay Bondsman Arrested After Posting Bail For Friend.

STOLEN LAST MAY.

LINDSAY, August 7. —A few minutes after he had posted bail for Wallie Adams, Carden Township farmer, on a cattle rustling charge here yesterday, George Gardiner, a neighbor, was arrested as an accomplice. Both were remanded until August 14.

Police followed a three-months-old trail to arrest Adams and Gardiner. Nine head of cattle were stolen from a herd owned by Alexander Benson of Eldon on a Bexley range last May. Later one was found on a farm near Adams', and he, questioned, told of buying eight head from a stranger on the road.

He was arrested when he tried to sell a steer to another neighbor. Seven were found on still another range, where, police were told, Adams had sold them.

FIRE HALL 'PHONE HAS QUEER RING

Cobourg Turns Out to Fire as Farmer's Wife Turns Wrong Crank.

WOMAN FLEES.

COBOURG, August 7. — Urban telephone service is too simple of operation, it seems to Chief of Police Ruse.

A woman walked into his office here late last night and asked to use the telephone. She was a farmer's wife and accustomed to rural systems. Therefore, when she saw a crank above the 'phone, she proceeded to turn it to call central.

It wasn't that kind of a crank. Instead of calling central, it rang the fire bell in the tower of the Town Hall and called the town's entire volunteer fire-fighting force to the scene.

From a dance, from the beach, from restful beds the fire fighters rushed downtown, adjusting helmets as they ran, in answer to the alarm. The woman did not return to use the 'phone.

from the Council to operate the hall. This was thought by the Council to be a private contention between two citizens, but as there had been complaints lodged by local residents against the hall, a committee, composed of Reeve J. M. Bygott and Councillors H. N. Carr and J. O'Sullivan, was appointed by the Mayor to investigate the matter and report back to the Council.

Councillor A. MacColl drew attention to the fact that children were driving down the church hill on their express wagons, to the danger of themselves and the public, and also that some young men were bathing in the river with only tights on. Both these matters were referred to the Police Committee for action.

A report from the tax collector, J. D. Cummings, read by the clerk, showed that current taxes collected this year amounted to about $52,000, and the back taxes to the sum of $4,500.

The pay-sheet amounting to $1,267.71, was presented and passed.

DINGHY SAILING

moored. J. K. Hughes, chairman, with Dr. McPherson, were in a launch which cruised busily about the waters, and their assistants, judges and starters, Fred Overend, W. J. Thompson and G. H. Roper, occupied other positions of vantage.

A mixup in the ladies' long distance swimming race resulted in the scratching of two promising entries. As explained by the men in charge, the starting point for the event, nearly a mile in length, was at the Hopwood Island, but two of the entrants started off from the bridge and consequently couldn't compete properly with the other five girls. One of the wrong starters took to her boat but the other gamely finished the course. The winner in this event came in combining restful periods of floating with an overhand crawl that sent her along ahead of two close contestants.

Terry Hall figured prominently in the list of individual and crew prize-winners. Jerry and Karl Duffus also did well.

Several spills featured the men's events, without any important consequences. In the war canoe race (seven in skiff) the whole sextette in one of the boats took to the water when their waterlogged craft sank beneath them. Attired modestly but not very satisfactorily, in full regalia of heavy boots and long trousers, they regained shore with difficulty, there to kick off the encumbrances and appear in the bathing suits which were worn beneath. Another boat which went to the relief of a tired girl swimmer also capsized in the water.

The sailing boats did some graceful curves as their canvas bellied out under the stiff breeze which sent them keeling over.

An energetic little sea-flea, with its snub nose in the air, whipped the waters into froth as it sped noisily up and down the lake. An exhibition of surf-board riding was an unofficial feature of the program.

The Master Trophy

The master trophy of the Lakes, the Kawartha Lakes championship cup, went to Reg Dixon of Toronto, in first place, with Otto Gliddon of Toronto in second place, for Dinghy sailing over a six-mile course.

In 1900, William T. C. Boyd of Bobcaygeon gave this cup for Dinghy sailing on any of the Kawartha chain of lakes, with the stipulation that the winner must be a resident of the Lakes and must sail his own boat. It is the oldest cup offered for competition on these waters, and is up for perpetual annual competition The owner has his name inscribed on it and holds it, with a pennant, for the space of a twelvemonth Three trustees were first appointed: J. G. Edwards of Lindsay, Alvin Bottum of Bobcaygeon and Burritt Edwards of Peterborough, but the trusteeship lapsed gradually into the hands of the committee.

The presentation of prizes took place in the evening at the pavilion, when Mrs. J. F. Strickland and Mrs. J. K. Hughes gave the awards to the winners.

The annual Regatta dance, with music provided by Virginia Dare and her assistants, was well patronized by a gay throng.

Two scheduled events were omitted from the program and will be run off at the Children's Regatta, next Wednesday, August 13th. These were the Canoe Sailing race for the W. H. Bradburn Trophy and the Men's Single Canoe race for the J. K. Hughes Cup (Chemong Park residents only).

The list of prize-winners is as follows:

Open Sailing for the G. N. Gordon Trophy, six miles: (1) J. Flavelle of Lindsay; (2) Gordon Matthews.

Dinghy Sailing race, six miles, for the Peterborough Canoe Company Challenge Cup: (1) Reg Dixon; (2) Otto Gliddon.

MURDER CHARGES FOLLOWS FIGHT

Windsor Youth Dies of Stab Wounds Received Defending Woman.

WINDSOR, Aug. 7.—(C.P.)—Clarence Bullman, 22, of Windsor, died last night in Hotel Dieu Hospital, where he has been a patient since last Sunday morning following a stab wound inflicted in his abdomen when Bullman and six companions attempted to prevent two men from beating a woman.

According to statements made to police, Fred Roland, of Detroit, was in company with Rhea Martin, of Amherstburg, when Joseph Martin, brother of the woman, and Edward Holdaway objected and gave Roland a beating and then turned on the woman.

The Windsor youths, on an auto trip, came along about this time and interposed in defence of the woman.

Martin and Holdaway were arrested shortly after the fracas by Chief Timmins, of Amherstburg, and remanded on charge of doing bodily harm to Bullman. According to Crown Attorney James S. Allan, murder charges will now be laid.

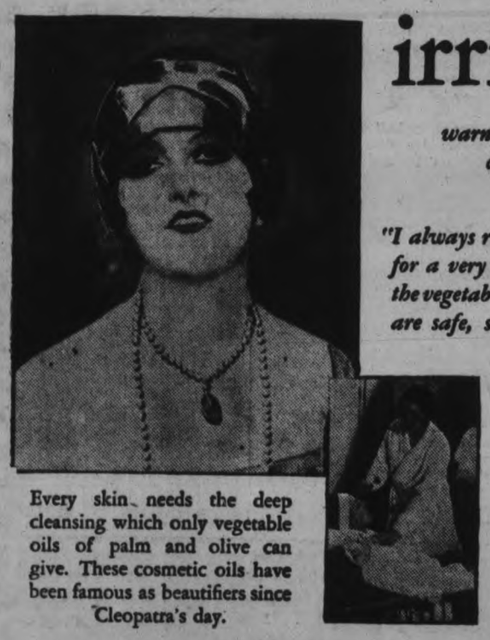
"Ordinary soaps may cause serious irritation"

warns LINA CAVALIERI

celebrated Paris beauty specialist.



"I always recommend Palmolive Soap . . . for a very good reason. I have found that the vegetable oils of which Palmolive is made are safe, soothing, healthy for the skin."

Lina Cavalieri

61, AVENUE VICTOR EMMANUEL III, PARIS.

Every skin needs the deep cleansing which only vegetable oils of palm and olive can give. These cosmetic oils have been famous as beautifiers since Cleopatra's day.

"ORDINARY soaps," says Madame Cavalieri, "may cause serious irritation. If you have the mistaken notion that soap may harm your skin, it is because you are not using the right soap. Next time try Palmolive. I heartily advise it . . . to keep skin smooth and lovely."

Lina Cavalieri's expert advice

In her sumptuous salon on the Avenue Victor Emmanuel III, Lina Cavalieri advises her fastidious patrons to follow a simple home beauty treatment with a soap blended of palm and olive oils.

"Before retiring," says Madame Cavalieri, "wash with Palmolive. Then I advise the use of my camphorated jelly No. 5, which should be applied over the face and neck. When slightly dried a little powder should be added and the preparation may remain on all night. In the morning, cleanse the skin thoroughly with Palmolive Soap and then use my 'Lotion Onctueuse' No. 7 — afterwards applying my Cream No. 2. By following this simply treatment you will keep that schoolgirl complexion."

Beware of irritation

So many soaps irritate while they cleanse. They are apt to roughen the texture of the skin and spoil its delicate coloring. Palmolive is a pure vegetable oil soap. Its color, its odor, its very feeling is that of nature's great cosmetic oils. It cleanses safely, beautifies easily.

Lina Cavalieri is one of a great international group of beauty specialists who have discovered the facts about Palmolive for themselves, and who now tell their patrons to use this soap in preference to any other. Today, there are over 23,720 such experts. Think of that! Thousands and thousands of those whose advice is sought and paid for by women in many countries, voluntarily proclaim Palmolive best. You will like Palmolive. You will be using it soon for the bath, too, since it costs even less than quite ordinary soaps. Follow Madame Cavalieri's advice. Begin this very day.

ported the cutting of weeds on the Pearce property at the west end of the village and also on the Redden property. The sum of 90 cents will be charged against each of these properties for cutting the weeds.

Tax Rate Set at 45

By-law 374 setting the tax rate for the village on the sum of $390.000 assessable property was put through its several readings.

The blanks were filled in as follows:

Town County rate, $3181.12—6.6 mills—$2574.

Debenture rate, $2293.00—5.9 mills—$2301.

Street lighting rate, $1550.00—4 mills—$1560.

Board of Health rate, $390.00—1 mill—$390.

Park Board rate, $390.00—1 mill—$390.

School rate, $8700—22.3 mills—$8697.

Village rate—$1638.

The taxe rate is thus 45 mills which is a reduction of one mill on last year's rate.

The following accounts are ordered paid on motion by councillors Howe and Seeney:

Graham, ten hours' work at 30 cents, $3; Wilbur Barten, eight hours work at 30 cents, $2.40; Charles Dewey, caretaking hall and fire engines, $10.85; Fred McAdam, cutting weeds, 35 hours at 30 cents, $10.50; Wm. On motion of Howe and Seeney the meeting was adjourned to Sept. 1st, or at the call of the Reeve. — Carried.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

AND SO A TOWN WAS BORN

The engineer in the motor-boat pointed to a densely timbered slope on Burrard Inlet.

"There's a good spot," he said.

So the party got out and looked around. They hoped the engineer was right, for they had been cruising about the Sound north of Vancouver seeking a site for a new oil refinery.

And the engineer was right. A few months later the slope had been cleared, a great industrial plant had been erected and around it nestled a city of snug new homes. It was called Ioco.

Ioco happened sixteen years ago. It was the second of Imperial Oil's refineries. Four others have been built since—at Imperoyal, N.S., Montreal East, Calgary and Regina. They have been built in order to meet new demands for gasoline and lubrication.

For the fifty years since it began, Imperial Oil has been meeting these new needs of transportation and industry.

Because it has met each one with fresh effort and new perfection, Imperial has grown from one small plant at Sarnia, Ontario, to its six great refineries—its ships on the Atlantic and the Pacific—its miles of tank cars—its nine thousand men across the world, from the Arctic to Peru.

Fifty years of constant enterprise are in the products Imperial Oil sells today.

Marvelube is Imperial's finest motor oil.

Imperial Premier and Imperial Ethyl are its best gasolines.

PETERBOROUGH WANTS ITS SHARE.

It is to be hoped that when Mr. Peck attends the special session of Parliament he will keep in mind the right of Peterborough to the Government's consideration in the unemployment emergency which it so conspicuously recognizes.

To paraphrase a memorable declaration:

"A dollar spent for unemployment relief in Halifax is no better to a man out of work in Peterborough than a dollar spent by the Federal Government in Brandon or Sault Ste. Marie."

The question in the minds of the unemployed of Peterborough is: How much work will the new Government undertake in Peterborough, and how soon?

The City Council did not take long swinging into action, but other cities have acted even more swiftly.

St. Catharines has plainly told its member, J. D. Chaplin, that it wants a combined federal and municipal building, part of it to be a city hall, the municipality to pay half the cost.

THE COUNCIL AND ITS MEETINGS.

A notable characteristic of the City Council under the chairmanship of Mayor Denne is that it accomplishes a maximum of work with a minimum of words.

The ancient order of the midnight session is rarely invoked by the present administration at the City Hall, and civic service is no longer a domestic reproach to tip-toeing aldermen in the wee small hours.

Of course the city's business requires discussion and perhaps debate, but the citizens have the impression that their affairs are being well handled, although the Council has completed its business and adjourned its meeting at ten or nine o'clock instead of midnight or later.

Such brevity must cramp the style of verbose aldermen, if there be any in the Denne assembly. They never received any encouragement in loquaciousness from the city clerk. For that matter, they were never discouraged either, for the clerk has invariably confined himself to his clearly defined duties. Some clerks are not so scrupulous, and can horn into a council's discussion on equal terms with their employers. But that has never been a fault at the City Hall, and if needless talking has rolled up many an hour of yore the responsibility lay with the mayor who permitted it.

If committees will thoroughly do the work that is allotted to them they smooth the way of the Council and save midnight oil. On the other hand, they may leave the impression on some citizens who prefer quantity to quality, even in speeches, that the stipend is not fully earned when the business of council meeting can be disposed of in an hour. There is a surprising number of citizens of that type. Their distinguishing mark is a habit of opening their mouths rather than their ears when they listen.

However, Mayor Denne and the Council couldn't please everybody, and if they strip their deliberations of needless talk and argument and direct their thought and effort to the important features of their business.

THE ELECTOR AND SHEEP STATISTICS.

It seems only a week ago since we were hearing jeremiads about the condition of the agricultural industry, with an excess of woe for the dairyman and the sheep breeder.

No doubt it was all true, for a majority of the people in this constituency registered their credence and acceptance of these mournful estimates; but it is rather strange to note that the rural people who are conceivably interested in such activities as the production of butter and the raising of sheep—in short, the farmers seem not to have been visibly impressed at the polls by the deplorable statistics. However, all that is over and done with, and the city voters saved the farmers from themselves.

But there was something about those sheep statistics that is far from agreement with the figures indicating the state of the sheep industry as reported in "The Mail and Empire" (Toronto) from an interview with a representative of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Limited.

Reverting for a moment to the recent conflict and its alarms, farmers at least will recall (because it may be assumed that they really know something about sheep) that one side was telling them about the great decrease in the number of Canadian sheep and the other side was denying it.

It doesn't matter now which party was the affirmative and which the negative—at least, it doesn't matter much except in a sort of ethical way. But it may interest the farmers, for your farmer likes a clue to the truth no matter how late it may be in its emergence. Well, ten days ago or thereabouts the statement was reiterated in mournful numbers that there had been a dire decrease in the number of Canadian sheep during the last seven or eight years.

In Wednesday's "Mail and Empire," on the other hand, appeared an article that has all the ring of reliability about it; and yet it doesn't fit into the statistics that struck us as being so awesome ten days ago.

According to the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Ltd., as quoted by "The Mail and Empire," there were 12,000,000 pounds of wool produced in this country in 1915 and 21,234,000 pounds in 1929.

And here's the state of the industry in Ontario alone, this Province which seemed so well last October and so ill this recent July.

The wool clip for Ontario in 1926 totalled 4,926,000 pounds and in 1929 the clip was 6,300,000 pounds. Granting, therefore, that the Conservative figures were correct ten days ago and the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' figures were correct yesterday, there can be only one logical conclusion, the average Canadian sheep is now growing ten or a hundred or a thousand hairs where only one hair grew ten years ago. It must be that, no matter how the farmers laugh at the seeming absurdity of it. Some Canadian Burbank has been doing things to our sheep which a few of our orators haven't heard about or couldn't imagine.

It must be so. If there was a big decrease in the number of Canada's sheep, as we lamented ten days ago, and if there has been a big increase in the production of wool in Ontario, we can conclude only that the individual sheep is working overtime.

The Co-operative Wool Growers say: "There has been no let up in progress of the sheep-raising industry."

It's a long news article in "The Mail and Empire," a full column of it, and it makes bright and heartening reading. Only one item of information is omitted. The Wool Growers neglect to reconcile the alleged fact of ten days ago respecting the decrease in the NUMBER of sheep with the company's own statement this week that the Ontario wool clip has swollen from 4,926,000 pounds in 1926 to 6,300,000 pounds in 1929. Perhaps the seeming anomaly is comprehensible to the farmers who raise sheep.

And we can all rejoice now that the sheep industry has not gone entirely to the dogs.

OTTAWA AND WASHINGTON.

Echoes of the Canadian election are still heard in Washington. There apprehension is scarcely hidden that a serious interruption of our trade with the Dominion may soon be expected. This fear will be only heightened by the assurance given by Senator Watson that there is no reason for it whatever. We are gravely informed that he has made a "thorough study" of the tariff plans of the new Canadian Government, and is confident that they will not in the least interfere with our commerce across the border. This coming from such a source will surely deepen anxiety. Mr. Watson's statement was made, moreover, before the declaration of intentions by the incoming Canadian Prime Minister, Mr. Bennett. He said that he had no objection to the United States erecting a tariff wall against Canada, and that the Dominion merely thought it right to erect one of their own against the United States. If the Washington authorities do not see in this a virtual notice of the beginning of a tariff war with Canada, they must be so far sunk in official optimism as not to be able to perceive the horizon.

Other effects, political effects, of the Canadian election have more immediate and palpable lessons for the Washington administration. Prime Minister King's overwhelming defeat was largely due to business depression and unemployment in Canada. There were to many thousands of Canadian voters unanswerable arguments for a change of government. Will the same thing work in the same way in the United States? This is the question which Republican managers are asking each other with bated breath. In public they keep up a bold front, and protest that it would be unfair and cruel to hold President Hoover and his party responsible for the setback in business and the great increase in unemployment. But the case is not one for nice moral distinctions. Rough-and-ready voters go straight to their conclusions without much regard for their premises. They will say, with a kind of rude justice, that if the Republican party took credit for prosperity, it cannot escape blame for adversity.

"I observe," once said President McKinley, "that political majorities rise with prosperity." By parity of reasoning, they sink when prosperity does. Such is the illogical but unavoidable decision of a democratic electorate. The situation may be changed much for the better by November, but even so Republican experts cannot avoid a certain fearful looking for of judgment when they pause to consider how probable it is that what happened in Canada will also happen here.—New York Times.

IN MACBETH'S CASTLE.

Yesterday the Duchess of York celebrated at Glamis Castle, in Forfarshire, the thirtieth anniversary of her birthday; and there another royal scion is to be born. Tradition, always a more amiable witness than brute fact, makes Glamis Castle the residence of Macbeth and the site of the murder of King Duncan. We may even believe, if we choose—and we do choose—that Shakespeare, on his road to Aberdeen to do some playacting, "did" Glamis Castle, such was his passion for exact "local color" and his known poverty of invention. "Shakespeare among the Aberdonians" is a theme that awaits its genius. Max Beerbohm is the boy to record the dialogue between William and the Glamis caretaker.

"Glamis and Thane of Cawdor! The greatest is behind." Shakespeare was the greatest till a modest Irish immigrant to London discrowned and dethroned him. And Shakespeare is now behind in his pronunciation. If we read The Encyclopaedia Britannica straight, "the l is mute." So "Glamis," sometimes spelled "Glammis," seems to rhyme with "clams." That, if true, is regrettable. Barring an excess of "traces of Roman remains," what else is there to regret in Scotland? Centuries of moisture have engendered a firm and agreeable thirst. If some gradients a little steep titillate timid automobilists, the Scotch are among the soldest-legged races of the world. A country of landscape and seascape, lakes and mountains and so on, legend and history and poetry illimitable. Birnam and Dunsinane Hill lay a spell on you when you see them on a tourist's map. It is to be hoped that the tourist's mind is not distracted by thoughts of gasoline.

Dark and bloody doings happened to the Lords of Glamis after Macbeth's time. Glamis is a castle as is a castle. Under the Earls of Strathmore, to whose ancestor it passed in the fourteenth century, it used to have a "secret chamber," knowledge of the entrance to which was confined to the Earl, the heir-apparent and one other person. Here was a subject for Mrs. Radcliffe, but it had to wait for Mrs. Oliphant. Is the place where Macbeth murdered sleep congenial to it? Sir Walter passed a night there when a young man:

> I must own that, as I heard door after door shut, after my conductor had retired, I began to consider myself too far from the living and somewhat too near the dead. * * * The whole night scene in Macbeth's Castle rushed at once upon my mind and struck my imagination more forcibly than even when I have seen its terrors represented by the late John Kemble and his inimitable sister.

Sir Walter was more pleasantly employed than by these visions of the night when he followed the custom of Glamis and swallowed his pint of wine from a lion-shaped beaker, a health to his host. This is an ancestral pun. The name of the fourteenth century grantee was Lyon. In the absence of the owner the custom may not obtain; but surely the arrival of a Prince or Princess is "worth a pint."—New York Times.

Voice of the People

NATIONALISM

To Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir:

It will be very interesting to watch from now on the effect of nationalism in the relation of the various dominions to the Empire. Without the dominions the British Empire, consisting of India, Central Africa, W. Indies, Ceylon and innumerable island ports and bases throughout the world to all of which hitherto the dominions have had friendly access for repairs, trade, information and protection.

If we refuse to join in but set up a house and housekeeping of our own we can no longer sponge on Mother Country in those respects—no self-respecting dominion glorying in its newly-acquired nationhood and independence could do that and get away with it.

Hence what position Canada will take at the Conference next month becomes a very interesting matter indeed, if Canada says as Mr. Bennett has said, 'I came here not as one bound to you in any way or under any obligation to you but as representing an independent nation prepared to make arrangements with you on a purely business basis and of a purely business mind.'

Canada assumes the position of a trade rival not a trade friend and must set up world trade arrangements of her own. The British Empire so far as Canada is concerned is then at an end. If Britain says as she has already begun to say since July 28, that she does not wish to hamper herself in any way since her Empire so far as we are concerned is practically (and therefore in every other way) at an end we must see at once what our change of status has brought us to. We cannot deal as people looking wholly to our own national advantage and also as friends co-operating for both our own and the general advantage.

The general or Empire advantage means nothing to us. If the other parts of the Empire as N. Zealand has now, declared must and will join with the Mother Country in the proposed Empire for mutual advantage, protection and co-operative profit, Canada cannot expect to share in that union any more than the U.S. or France does.

A 'favored nation' arrangement might help us a little but it is a very long way from enabling us to take advantage of what Britain has built up and maintains. It will be therefore, I say, very interesting to see how Mr. Bennett works out his propositions to the Conference. If Britain is free to buy her wheat, apples, timber, fish, etc., in her own empire markets or in the cheapest world markets as she sees fit and is free to place her capitol where it will tell most to her own and the empire advantage Canada may find as we are now finding about our immense exports of pulpwood to the U.S. that the cheaper Soviet pulpwood and the cheaper Argentine or other wheat are going to leave us in a bad way. The proposed imperial working partnership was a magnificent opportunity for us. What will the loss of it mean to us? Can Mr. Bennett say to Britain, 'If you want our stuff you must come to us for it.' 'Why must we come to you?' Britain may ask. And why? We may all ask. We must not lose sight of the fact that those very people in Britain who called the Conference and launched the policy which Mr. King submitted to the Canadian people as in duty bound, are now saying that they accept Mr. Bennett's declaration of freedom to do as Canada pleases and as Britain pleases and will proceed so far as Canada is concerned to govern themselves accordingly.

If Mr. Bennett bargains he must give something substantial in exchange and not simply a slight preference which would have gained us so much without in any way impairing our tariff or calling upon us really to sacrifice anything as a 'bargain' will because it must.

And why did Quebec give Mr. Bennett such tremendous support? It was not because she hates Mr. King much but because she loves Quebec more. When the last Conference of 1926 declared Canada an Independent Unit Britain proceeded to pass acts giving Canada Independence and Britain has now no more to do with the B.N.A. Act than Italy has. The B.N.A. Act is not now changeable only by the imperial parliament as before but by Canada's own parliament.

You see, therefore, that Quebec becomes independent the moment she insists upon it. If to-morrow Quebec said she was dissatisfied with Confederation and wanted to become independent what is to prevent her?

That was what turned Quebec upside down on the 26th of July. Those on the spot and qualified to express an opinion will tell you so.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 34.

"The old fox," Burney decided. "As soon as I cleaned up El Cajon Bonita for him he decided to come back to San Francisco. I'll bet a small five-cent bag of cigarette tobacco he is now the real owner of the Santa Ines Rancho. He wants me to go to work for him so badly he has descended to the double-cross. I'll give him a few very uncomfortable minutes for this."

From his hotel he wrote Bradley Bardin as follows:

Dear Mr. Bardin:

Upon returning to California I learn that your chief counsel, Mr. George F. Borthwick, has purchased the Santa Inez Rancho from my father. Fortunately he paid all the ranch is worth.

In view of the fact that it is now impossible for me to accept the financial aid you agreed to furnish me in return for services rendered, you will please accept this letter as a definite and irrevocable declination of your offer and of all rights, even the most intangible, sought by you to be conveyed under that offer. Indeed, upon thinking over the events of the past thirty days I am moved to the conclusion that the services I rendered you were so trifling as to be out of all proportion to the generous offer you made me. Moreover, the sale of my father's ranch now makes available to me more than sufficient capital to insure the successful and profitable consummation of my most cherished plans.

Please, therefore, accept a hundred and fifty thousand acres of the best range land in the country, ten thousand head of cattle and a private cemetery with the compliments of,

Yours very sincerely,

KENNETH BURNEY.

That letter, with other mail, was delivered to King Bardin by an office boy, shortly after the king and the princess had returned to their San Francisco home. Having read it the king handed it to his daughter. "Read it," he said, "and weep."

"He's even more astute than I credited him with being," the princess remarked casually. "And even more prideful and magnificent."

"I'm glad, after all, that you were not born a boy."

"Why?"

"Because I am saved the ignominy of having to take you over my knee and warm you with the flat of my hand for selling me that perfectly loony idea."

"But, darling, he can't prove you are the real owner of that ranch."

"He doesn't have to," the old man roared. "He knows it! That's why, with the super-courtesy of his infernal Hidalgo blood, he has made me feel like a dirty deuce in a clean pack. Oh, Lord, I'm suffering! And I can never square myself with him now. I know that young man. He's implacable. He wouldn't work for me now for anything. And did you notice that he didn't even send his compliments to you? He's off the whole family, I tell you, and it's all your fault and I wish I could find a hole to crawl into and then drag the hole in after me. The longest day I live I'll owe Ken Burney a debt I can never repay because he will not permit the payment; the idea of your falling in love with such a man when he never even gave you a tumble!"

"Yes, he did, Pop," the princess replied cheerfully, "but you didn't notice it. Oh, boy, what that sweet thing can say with his eyes!" She advanced upon her father, sitting completely crushed in his favorite armchair, gripped his ample nose in thumb and forefinger and tilted his face up to hers. "Now I'll tell you why I sold you the idea that it would be a brilliant stroke of strategy for you to buy his father's ranch. I did it because the sale would put him in funds. I concluded he had a deal on somewhere or he would never have left us in such a hurry.

"Well, I preferred to see him paddle his own canoe. I wanted to discover whether, provided he could secure the capital elsewhere, he would not reject your aid. I knew he'd feel better if he could reject it and so would I. I do not worry about him. Any man as smart as Ken Burney could run a leather shoestring into a tannery before one could say Jack Robinson. He's not a fortunate hunter and he has too much pride to ask any woman to marry him until he can offer her a home, three square meals per diem for an indefinite number of diems and sufficient creature comforts to please any woman not a gold-digger.

"So, King Bardin, if you want my opinion, he's off to a running start and this letter proves it!"

Having planted his barb in the king's heart, Ken Burney departed via the air mail plane to Oregon, took a local train down to Harney and hired a car to take him out to Dan Wilkins' ranch. "Well, Mr. Wilkins," he said, after introducing himself, "I'm here within the two-week period I stated, so I assume you still have your cattle on hand."

"Yes, but if you'd been a day later you'd have found 'em gone. I got a wire yesterday from Jim Cheesebrough, over to Umatilla, Washington, makin' me an offer I sure found hard to resist. I'd have closed if I hadn't promised you I'd hold off. Of course, I've had plenty o' buyers to see me ever since the news leaked out that I'm goin' out o' business, but most of 'em are usin' clam shells an' woodpecker heads for money, whilst them that has the money want to sort out the tops an' leave me the culls to work off on somebody else.

"Then, too, they only want five hundred or a thousand, all feeders, an' if I sell my feeders I won't have nothin' left to sweeten a deal for workin' off the aged stock. If I can work it I'd prefer to sell the whole outfit to one buyer, but I only know of two Coast buyers big enough to handle such a deal. Jim Cheesebrought is one an' Brad Bardin's the other."

Ken Burney nodded sagely. "Have you heard from our main office as yet, Mr. Wilkins?"

"Had a wire this morning asking me to telegraph complete description of the herd an' the price at which I'm holdin' it."

"Have you replied to the telegram?"

"Yep. Wired 'em I wouldn't sea until their representative showed up here."

Immediately Burney adroitly switched the conversation. Thereafter he talked of Dan Wilkins and the latter's interests rather than his own or those of the Bardin Land & Cattle Company.

Two days sufficed Burney to discover that Wilkins' cattle were good and sound—mostly Hereford grades and considerably above the average in point of excellence and condition. So he returned to the ranch and commenced his trade on the following considerations:

The cattle were not to be delivered until one year from date. Burney explaining that, since the buyers of Wilkins' ranch had given the latter one year in which to remove his cattle, Wilkins could have no possible objections to permitting the purchaser of his cattle the benefit of the use of the ranch, gratis. To this Wilkins readily agreed.

Upon round-up and delivery of the cattle they were to be classed by Wilkins and Burney; the tally at time of delivery should of course govern, and all calves now running at their mothers' sides were to go free with the trade. This being the universal custom among old-time cattlemen, Wilkins agreed.

Wilkins was to continue at the ranch in charge of the herd, at a salary of five hundred dollars a month; he was to retain his riders but Burney was to furnish the payroll. Wilkins was to furnish saddle stock without charge save for forage and other necessary expense, and the herd was to receive, under Dan Wilkins' administration, the same care as if he still owned it.

Burney explained that this latter provision was necessary to insure the trade; there had been considerable drought throughout the Southwest and the rainfall in California had been below normal, hence if he moved the Wilkins herd immediately, the problem of finding range for such a large number of cattle on short notice would prove em barrassing.

(To be continued.)

A Thought

PRIDE.

No man can be his own best teacher. Exclusively self-made men are usually very badly made. Pride may keep a person from deriving the benefits from criticism. If such is the case, it is better to swallow pride and try to correct the imperfections which others point out.

What To-day Means To You.

If August 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 5:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., from noon to 1:30 p.m., and 9 p.m. to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and 4 p.m. to 5:15 p.m.

People's minds will be inclined towards pleasure on this date, and business affairs will be slighted. A new friendship will be formed with one of the opposite sex. A pleasant atmosphere will pervade the home.

The child born on this August 7th will have a cheery nature, and will love to impress people with the magnitude of its importance and doings. It will be kindly natured and popular, and will have more than ordinary intelligence.

You came into this world with too critical a nature to enjoy it. You are too sensitive about those things which displease you, and too loud in your condemnation. You are too callous, on the other hand, to those things which should please you, and too faint in your praise. You cannot seem to balance your pros and cons about things, the cons being in excess on the credit side. It is well to be discriminating, positive people usually are, but there is a difference between discrimination and prejudice. There is also a difference between constructive and destructive criticism, tolerant and intolerant judgment. You look upon the world and its people as your enemies until it is proven otherwise. You are blind to the gifts which are laid at your feet, and it is time you opened them up and made use of their valuable contents.

You are very ambitious. The best is none too good for you. You have good mental vitality, and when you concentrate your thoughts you have immense power and you will has the ascendancy over desire. You are destined to have a somewhat checkered career. You will meet with alternate successes and failures. You have the ability to make money for others, but not for yourself, and this makes you bitter and dissatisfied. You are very devoted to your home and home people.

HOT, DRY WEATHER AIDS WHEAT PRICE

Bull Operators Resume Their Stride on Winnipeg Grain Market.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Continued hot, dry weather over grain fields already sorely seared and in urgent need for moisture, kept wheat prices going sharply upward on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange this morning. With the opening gong, bull operations got back into their advancing stride of the past few days and initial gains of as much as 4½ cents were chalked up.

WINNIPEG WHEAT OPENING.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 7.—Wheat, Oct. 1 3-8 to 3 7-8 cents higher at $1.04 to $1.06 1-2; Dec. 1 3-4 to 4 1-2 cents higher at $1.06 to $1.09; May 1 1-2 to 3 cents higher at $1.12 to $1.13 1-2.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

TORONTO, Aug. 7. (Special to the Examiner.)—Wheat soared again today, higher prices being general this morning, but the improvement found no reflection in the security markets, higher grain prices are based on reports of severe drought cutting down the yield, this however, does not necessarily mean the farmers purchasing power is going to be increased. In fact it may be reduced, and a smaller crop will not help the manufacturers of farm implements and the carriers any. Thus there are always counter balancing factors and to attempt at this time to estimate what the next result to the farmer will be, is making rather a hasty summary. That investors are wary is evidenced by their reluctance to bid higher even stocks of these industries which at first glance might appear to be favored.

The stock market to-day presented nothing to attract either the investor or speculator. Prices on Toronto Stock Exchange were easier in very quiet trading this morning, recessions were small, generally for a negligible fraction but they indicated there is no ready buying at current levels. Increased activity on rising market in the grains would tend to further slow the security markets in view of the general apathy towards stocks as speculators would dispose of stock committments in the hope of scalping a few points in grain. It was the leaders which eased back this morning, though they were never under heavy pressure. Oils, a firm spot yesterday, were softer to-day.

Under present conditions there appears to be no fundamental reason for a sustained advance in the security market, according to the most recent market analysis of the Brookmire Economic Service.

A portion of the 1,497,152 shares of treasury stock remaining of the 3,000,000 share capitalization of Duprat, Corona, Boishatel, Mariott, and Mormac, development known as Alliance Mining and Investment Company, will be offered for subscription and 75 per cent. of the funds received in this way invested in better class dividend paying mining securities. It is felt the dividends would go a long distance in covering and development work undertaken on the properties involved or on any other interesting prospects secured.

Though sometimes wrong, particularly in regard to items of mining news, the old saying that where there is smoke, there is fire, is often proved sound logic. The rumors that producers adjacent to the Grozelle property in Kirkland Lake have made advanced towards acquisition of the latter group, has cropped on several occasions, but nothing ever seemed to come of it. The story is back again, however, and the attitude of officials rather gives the impression something is doing in this section. Teck-Hughes gold has often been mentioned as one organization to which the property might prove valuable.

Apparently no time is being lost in the opening of the Canusa property, in the Porcupine district. A wire received from the manager, states the shaft has been de-watered down to the third level and that things will soon be in shape to allow an examination to proceed.

In view of the optimistic tone which prevailed at the recent meeting of International Nickel shareholders and the statement of President Stanley to the effect that reconsideration of the present dividend policy would depend on future business proving inconsistent with present expectations, the rumor current in some circles to-day that Nickel had passed its quarterly dividend received little recognition in most quarters. Local officials have received no intimation of any development in this direction and would be very much surprised if such was the case.

It has been admitted that second quarter earnings were below those of the first quarter and proved somewhat disappointing to International Nickel directors, but the fact inventories of both nickel and copper at points that cannot be considered abnormal indicates sales of the period, may be considerably above what is generally anticipated. All copper, which was supposed by some, to have been piling up as a result of the low price and light demand, has been sold and this will probably add materially to total income. The earnings statement will be published some time next week and because of the widespread nature of Nickel's activities, any forecasts must necessarily be very vague.

Regarding his first impression of the property secured by Eldorado Gold Mines at Great Bear Lake, Charles Labine, the president, who recently travelled into the district by canoe and trail, states he is "more than satisfied with initial results and has reason to be." Further and more definite details are expected shortly by local officials.

Over production is generally given the responsibility of the recent rapid decline in commodity prices, and therefore curtailment, just as much as business improvement, is necessary for a correction of the situation. Producers evidently know this and are doing their best to remedy conditions. Curtailment in copper, silver, oil and various other products is well under way, and when production gets to a point where demands exceeds supply, constructive events are bound to happen.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—William J. Bowering, 40, died at the General Hospital last night from injuries received in a motor accident on Niagara street fifteen months ago, since which time he has been treated at the General Hospital. He had been given a lift in a motor car with his wife and family and before reaching the side of the road was struck by a car driven by W. J. Harrison, of St. Cathrines, receiving spinal injuries. An inquest will likely be held.

WATER TROUGHS SAVED $12,820

Novel Device on R-100 Ofset Releasing of 1,709,400 Cubic Feet Hydrogen.

COLLECTED 4.4 TONS.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Showers proved a great saving on the recent trip of the R-100, stated Sir Dennistoun Burney, who addressed the Advertising Club of Montreal here yesterday.

On her flight to Canada, the R-100 gathered 4.4 tons additional water from rain and cloud moisture. As the water gathered on the top of the big ship, it ran towards the stern, where tapes and troughs guided it into the ballast tanks.

The taking on of the 4.4 tons of water meant a saving of $12,820.50 worth of hydrogen gas, since ordinarily the captain is forced to release hydrogen to compensate for the loss in weight of gasoline fuel as it is consumed. The 4.4 tons of water equalled 1,709,400 cubic feet of the lifting gas.

Helium, a non-inflammable lifting gas, preferable to hydrogen for use in airships, according to airship experts, but of course is much more expensive and difficult to obtain in suitable quantities.

Lieut. - Commander Rosendahl, U.S.N., on his visit to St. Hubert, said helium was used in the U. S. navy dirigible Los Angeles, because helium was easily accessible in the United States.

He foresaw the day when helium will be transported about the country in high pressure tank cars and tank steamers.

Meanwhile Canadian geologists say that geological formations in the neighborhood of Hudson's Bay and Labrador indicate strong possibilities of producing helium, which is extremely favorable to any airship service between Europe and Canada.

BEAUHARNOIS HAS MOVED BIG VOLUME

Dredge Output Creates World's Record During July.

MONTREAL, Aug. 7.—The Beauharnois Power Corporation has moved to date a total of more than 4,000,000 cubic yards—a volume larger than the great pyramid of Egypt. For the preliminary installation of 200,000 horsepower, some 20,000,000 cubic yards are to be excavated. About 50,000,000 cubic yards will be moved before the plant produces 500,000 horsepower.

Despite the volume of material moved in the first half of the current season, the construction schedule provides for an increase in the material to be handled during the next five months when the large scale excavating equipment will continue operating day and night.

Mass production excavating methods have been adopted by the corporation. The hydraulic dredge, the moveable steel tower excavators, handling 10 cubic yards at each shovelful, and the gasoline and electric shovels, moving as much as 8 cubic yards in each bucketful, were assembled during the winter and early spring. Since the beginning of large scale operations this spring, the efficiency of the equipment has been steadily increased and has proved that the estimated costs were determined on a conservative basis by the engineers. In July, the output of the hydraulic dredge created a new world's record—a feature of its operation which is the more significant as similar equipment elsewhere often operates on Sundays.

The power house excavations have reached the point where work is soon to begin on the foundations. A concrete mixing plant, over 100 feet high, has been completed near the power house site. The rock excavated for the power house moves to the crusher, and then into the mixing plant which will fill 10 cubic yard buckets on flat cars with cement.

Within the next 10 days the wholly owned subsidiary, which is carrying out all the construction work, will begin pouring the concrete foundations of the plant.

POLICEMAN DIES OF SHOT WOUND

Despite Bullet in Stomach Montreal Officer Clings to Prisoner.

PRAISED BY CHIEF.

MONTREAL, Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Constable Dollard Pelletier of the Montreal Police Department died last night from a bullet wound he received while on duty Monday night. The constable was struck in the abdomen when an alleged bandit he surprised in a grocery store, fired at him from point-blank range.

During one of the constable's brief moments of consciousness he received the praise of his chief, Director Langevin of the police department.

Arrested in connection with the shooting was Paul Belisle, of Montreal, who was held by Constable Pelletier until aid arrived. The policeman struggled up from the floor of the store and wrapped his arms around the intruder, clinging to him until a recruit, Constable Dalenielle, arrived on the scene.

Belisle is held at police headquarters pending to-day's inquest.

PRICES LOWER, LOSES NOT HEAVY

Fractional Changes Are the Rule on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

OILS ARE IRREGULAR.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Prices drifted to fractionally lower levels on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. There were a couple of exceptions to the fractional rule. One of these was City Dairy, a feature of the week. It opened at 66 and lost a full point. The other was Tip-Top. It was likewise off 1, to sell at 30. The volume throughout the list was well below that of the previous session.

International Nickel sold off ¼ to 22¼ in very light trading. The rights of this issue were also lower. Nickel stock goes ex-rights to-day.

British American and Dominion Oil were both unchanged from the close of last night. Imperial lost a ¼ to sell at 20.

Bell Telephone and C.P.R. in the higher-priced Utilities section showed little change from yesterday, although the former was off ⅛ to 151½.

Ford, Walker's and Loblaw "B" were all unchanged. Massey Harris showed a little life, and advanced ½ to sell at 26½.

ARGENTINE PARTY TO BOOST TRADE

Visitors Will Tour Canada Studying Our Methods of Farming.

AT TRADE CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—A better understanding of Canada with a view to mutually beneficial trade relations is the aim of a party of Argentinians who will visit the Dominion next month.

At least a dozen of the group, representing business and economic interests of the South American country, will journey eastward from the Pacific Coast and will be present as invited guests at the Boards of Trade Convention in Toronto, Sept. 7-9.

Under the leadership of Andrew A. Estrada, editorial writer and representative of La Nacion of Buenos Aires, the party left New York to-day to attend the Pan-American Reciprocal Trade Conference opening at Sacramento, Calif., on August 12. Upon conclusion of that gathering the South Americans will make their Canadian tour, starting in British Columbia and travelling probably as far east as Montreal.

Although not officially a Governmental delegation, the party includes an observer from the National Department of Agriculture and representatives of two Provincial Governments, Cordoba and San Juan.

Study Wheat Production

Wheat production and marketing, along with trade possibilities in fruit and wines, will receive major attention of the Argentinians.

"Of course we have studied your wheat farming methods and co-operative schemes for years," said Mr. Estrada. "Argentina can scarcely hope to imitate Canada, for 95 per cent of our wheat farmers are not owners of their land. Therefore you have better organization, and your great co-operative system is more suitable to Canada, although we do carry out co-operative ideas along a minor scale."

Asked if he foresaw any future arrangement between Canada and Argentina whereby production and world marketing would receive joint attention of the two great wheat-producing countries, Mr. Estrada declared that any plan "to control the wheat trade with Europe must come about only after a good understanding."

BULLS MAKE MERRY ON N.Y. MARKET

Long List of Important Stocks Sell Off From One Point to Seven Points.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(CP)—The stock market was left to the bears to-day while bulls made merry in the commodity marts.

There was some liquidation of by investors who feared the crop crisis may have postponed business recovery but the major portion of selling orders originated with floor traders. Professionals were more aggressive on the short side than of late however and a long list of important stocks sold off from 1 to 7 points or more as the volume of trading increased substantially.

The days quota of corporate and industrial news was not of a character to hamper the Bears, Passing of the Goderich dividend. Payment of the National Family Stores disbursement in stock instead of cash and expectations of a reduction of the Warner Bros. cash payment late in the day, were not helpful to the cause of higher prices.

A bright spot in the gloom was an expression of opinion by President Shumaker of the R. C. A. Victor Co. that the working people of the country have substantial savings and only need reassurance as to employment to start spending normally again.

FIRE IS SWEEPING INDIAN RESERVE

Farmers and "Mounties" Battle Since Friday at Ohsweken—Crops Destroyed.

SHORTAGE OF WATER.

HAMILTON, Aug. 7.—Crops and timber have been damaged and fields of standing grain are threatened by a fire which is sweeping across a wide area on Six Nations reserve at Ohsweken, between Caledonia and Hagersville.

Indians, aided by a detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers stationed on the reserve, have been fighting the flames since Friday. Absence of water has made it necessary for the volunteers to beat the blaze down with bags and brooms. Thoroughly died by weeks of hot weather, standing growth is highly inflammable. Fear is expressed that unless rain comes quickly heavy loss will result.

A report that four farm homes had been destroyed was denied last night. All day a strong wind fanned the fire and the 30 firefighters had accomplished but little when darkness fell. They are operating in shifts in an effort to protect their crops and property. Rail fences have been destroyed and have served to lead the blaze into adjoining fields.

Origin of the fire is unknown. It was first seen on Friday and before organized effort was made to control it, had eaten into bushland in a wide swath. Dense smoke from these sections is still rolling across the country and fire has appeared in open fields, gaining hold on remaining portions of the hay crop and other growth which the sun has died. Tall maples and spruce which stood on nigh land have been reduced to ashes and the loss to date is heavy.

The nearest water supply is three miles away. Conveyances of all descriptions were pressed into service yesterday, but the supply proved inadequate. Residents of Caledonia and Hagersville are assisting in the fight.

BALTIMORE IS FACING GREAT WATER FAMINE

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7 (C.P.)—The prospect of a water famine must be faced at Annapolis, the State capital, in a few days, if the present 42 day record drought continues and there was no sign of a break to-day, as the mercury started its daily climb.

The fight on forest fires in Western Maryland continued with more than 1,000 men at the front, and others, volunteers and conscripted by state police, in reserve.

AJAX OIL SELLS DOWN 28 POINTS

Vipond Loses Five Points and Sells at $1.33.

ABANA RISES SHARPLY.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7.—(C.P.)—Prices were firmer on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, during the early session to-day, losses which entered the list at various points were not sufficient to deter the bullish sentiment that was apparent from the start of trading. Volume was not especially large.

Ajax Oil was the outstanding issue of the morning, selling down 28 points to a low mark of $2.05, before resistance was offered. The stock rebounded after this, selling at $2.20, off 13. Other oils were not influenced a great deal by the weakness in Ajax, Alberta Pacific up 1, East Crest 6, and Home Oil 5. Nordon and Calmont had silght recessions, which were unaccompanied by any volume.

International Nickel and Noranda were about the same, the former off a quarter, and the latter up 15. Lindsleys were firm, Ventures up 3, and the rest unchanged. Lake Shore Gold was 10 higher at $28.50, the rest of the higher-priced golds holding unchanged. In the lower priced group Vipond, which had been showing considerable strength of late, lost 5, to $1.33 and Howey 2, to 1. Siscoe was unchanged. Smith Copper was unchanged, and Manitoba Basin declined fractionally.

Abana was the feature in the miscellaneous group, rising sharply to 61, up 10 points. Amulet was up 2, Mining Corporation 5, Waite-Ackerman 8, and Pend Oreille 6. Towagamac was unchanged and Nipissing was down 5, at $1.20.

YOUTH IS FOUND DYING NEAR RIVER

London Authorities Find Bottle of Denatured Alcohol Near Spot.

CHUMS DISAPPEAR.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 7.—(CP)—Found dying on the river bank at the foot of Lansdowne Avenue, East London, last night Edward Mason, 45, of Goderich, succumbed in Victoria Hospital.

G.T. SHAREHOLDERS PLANNING ACTION

Case Will Be Started in Courts of the United States.

6,000 SHARES INVOLVED.

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (C.P.)—British holders of the first and second perpetual preference stocks of the Grand Trunk Railway are considering entering action in the United States courts to have title to the Canadian National lines in the United States vested in them on the ground that they were illegally acquired by the Canadian people. Representative James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, former solicitor general of the United States, has been retained by the Grand Trunks stockholders to study their claim and any action taken will likely be based upon his advice.

The Grank Trunk perpetual stockholders' committee has published an opinion by J. Arthur Barratt, K.C., LL.B., of the United States Supreme Court Bar, now of London, on their rights under United States law. Mr. Barratt's opinion is that the proceedings under which the 6,000 first and second preference stockholders were struck off the British registry of the company and their shares transferred to the Canadian Government were not legal under the United States law and therefore cannot govern their rights to any property of the Grand Trunk Railway in the United States. Even if the arbitration award and the legislation passed by Canada to implement that award were considered binding in Canada it cannot be considered binding in the States, is the purport of Mr. Barratt's lengthy opinion summarized in The Post.

FIRE ON SIX NATIONS RESERVE UNDER CONTROL

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—After burning for several days and endangering many homes of the Six Nations Indian Reserve, west of Caledonia, a big bush fire to-day was believed to be definitely under control. Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers stationed at Oshweken, close to the scene of the blaze, stated this morning that, as far as could be determined, the main danger was over. The first could now be kept south of the roadway away from home, barns and outstanding crops. Between 200 and 400 acres of bushlands including some hay, have been burned. The situation was so well in hand last night that the R.C.M.P. constables were able to return to Oshweken. No telephone calls have been received this morning and it is believed the fire is burning itself out.

FLIGHT OF R-34 WAS PURE STUNT

No Comforts At All Compared With Luxuries Aboard R-100 Says Maj. G. Scott.

SHAVED EVERY MORNING.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7. (C.P.)—A vivid description of epic flight across the Atlantic ocean in the British dirigible R-34, the first lighter than air craft to ever accomplish the feat, was given during a social interview with newspapermen by Major G. H. Scott, commander of the R-100 most recent victor of the air.

"It was a pure stunt of course" the Major smiled as he recalled the long obsolete dirigible. "No comfort at all. No reserve fuel, nothing." When after five days' battle against contrary winds the R-34 arrived over Long Island on the morning of July 7, 1919, one of her officers had to jump 2,000 feet in a parachute so as to supervise landing operations. here were no mooring masts on this side then and 600 men labored for hours securing the ship. Even then the dirigible riding a strong wind, partially broke her moorings and was damaged. There was no place over here to repair airships then, he said.

Properly Organized

"This time" he continued, "it was a properly organized flight. we had every comfort on board. Shaved every morning and were served with good meals regularly." If it weren't for thunderstorms there would be nothing to airship voyaging at all. The commander said people little realized that the R-100 used as much fuel to travel from Belle Isle to Montreal as it did to reach Belle Isle from the other side. Wind and thunderstorms up the St. Lawrence had retarded their speed and took one-third of the total quantity of fuel in the ship. Even then they had finished with one third of their original load.

Softball Notes.

Brintons and Belmonts will supply the south end fans with a red hot fixture. Both these teams are still in the money and will be out for a win.

Friday night's game between Harrison's and Sugar Bowl will end the league schedule, and this game will likely have an important bearing on the standing.

Westclox cinched first place in the second half with their win last night. They cannot be beaten out.

The playoffs of the league start Monday night. Sugar Bowl and Belmonts will battle it out for first section honors, while the second section teams will not be known till Friday night.

The playoff games will be decided by best two out of three games. The first half teams play one night and the second half teams the next. The winner will be decided at the finish between the two winning aggregations.

Don't Starve The Teeth

Teeth have to be built out of foods that are rich in phosphorus and calcium. Many children take into adult life teeth that are defective, unfit for the job that nature intended. Shredded Wheat with milk helps develop sound teeth, good muscles and good bones. It is rich in the bone-making salts. The crisp, crunchy shreds make chewing necessary and that develops healthy gums and good digestion.

Is your Baby Thriving?

A Marquis, Sask., Mother's Experience

Little Joyce Taylor's mother writes: "The first three months of her life Joyce had a hard time finding a suitable food. Nothing seemed to agree with her. Then we put her on Eagle Brand and from her very first feed she came right along. I went by the directions on the can. Now at 13 months she is a sweet, happy child in perfect health all the time."

And from Saint John, N.B. Mrs. Gourley writes:

"One after another different foods were tried for our baby, but Una couldn't digest them. At birth she weighed 14 lbs. but she dropped to 10 lbs. at 3 months. Then we tried Eagle Brand and she began to thrive almost immediately. At 2½ years she weighed 40 lbs."

Most babies show normal progress. That is quite natural. If your baby is not steadily gaining consult your doctor. If it is a food problem, we suggest that you and your doctor consider Eagle Brand. For bottle-fed babies, Eagle Brand has been the standby of mothers for three generations. It is especially valuable in difficult feeding cases, being such a safe food—pure, uniform, easily digested. You will be pleased to see your baby begin to thrive immediately when placed on a carefully prepared Eagle Brand diet. It is highly endorsed by doctors and nurses.

KIWANIS TO AID LINDSAY BAND

Club Will Also Ask the Town to Assist in Financing Project.

RETAIN LEADER.

LINDSAY, Aug. 7. (Examiner Correspondence). — The agitation over the town band trouble has taken a new angle following the resignation of Bandmaster Shunk. The local Kiwanis Club, which has given considerable financial aid to the boy's band, will, it is considered probable, take over the management of that organization providing the town would assist them by giving a grant of $600, half of the grant which has been voted in the grant which has been given the Citizens' Band. Mr. Shnk will be retained as leader of both organizations.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Aug. 7. — Brokers and wholesale dealers yesterday reported no improvement in demand for eggs and difficulty in effecting clearance of incoming supplies no more than normal in volume for the time of year. Jobbing prices on graded lots of Ontario eggs were unchanged at 31 cents for extras, 29 cents for firsts and 25 cents for seconds, per dozen delivered, cases free. Some western eggs offered at slightly higher prices for the extra and first grades, but no sales were reported.

In the wholesale division of the market dealers quoted unchanged prices to the retail trade in view of receipts at recent prices still on hand, and the fact that decrease in arrivals from country points is expected. Quotations to country shippers ungraded lots were steady on extras and firsts, but some dealers reduced the bid for seconds to 21 cents per dozen in view of the increasing proportion of that grade in arrivals under existing weather conditions.

There was very little change from the day previous as regards conditions on the butter market. Brokers reported a good demand for lots consisting of all No. 1 grade creamery solids at 28 to 28¼ cents per pound, while 28¼ cents was still the asking price for carlot of top scoring No. 1, if available. Demand for No. 2 grade was just moderate at 26½ to 26¾ cents, or a quarter of a cent lower at the top than on the day previous.

Only a few small jobbing lots of cheese changed hands at a spread of 16¾ to 17 cents per pound for No. 1 large, colored, waxed and graded, delivered.

Local creameries quoted shippers of churning cream 28 to 29 cents per pound butter-fat for special, 28 to 28¼ cents for No. 1 and 24 to 25 cents for No. 2 grade churning cream, most firms offering the top of the spread in view of fairly active competition for supplies at country points, where volume is falling off rapidly as a result of continued heat and drying pastures.

List issued to poultry shippers yesterday showed a reduction of a cent per pound in price of 3½ to 4 pound live broilers and three cents in the case of 3 to 3½-pound birds. Ducklings, both white and colored, are marked down a cent per pound, while the price for fatted hens and roosters, the only other classes quoted at this season, are unchanged. Dealers report supply of lighter weight broilers and of ducklings liberal and outgoing trade in those classes dull.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL Aug. 7.— The further strength developed in the Winnipeg and Chicago wheat markets was reflected in yesterday's trade on the cash grain market, and values for all lines were advanced.

A feature of the flour trade was the strength that prevailed for spring wheat grades, and values were marked up 20c per barrel. Rolled oats advanced 10c per bag.

An easier feeling developed for cheese, and values were shaded ¼c to ½c per lb. Receipts were 2,541 boxes.

The butter market continued firm under a good demand. Receipts were 12 boxes.

The egg market was unchanged. Receipts were 2,097 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—In excited trading seldom equalled for volume outside of war-time, corn prices yesterday whirled upward almost 8 cents a bushel and wheat more than 6 cents. Corn, and wheat as well, soared above $1, an old-time standard, that during recent weeks had virtually disappeared as a measure of grain values. Official confirmation to-day that nation-wide crop damage to corn is at an "alarming rate" was chiefly responsible for a frantic buying rush, that lasted until the last minute of trading, and that had a further goad from news of black rust severely curtailing wheat yields in Canada.

Corn Rises 6 to 7 Cents.

Closing quotations on corn were strong at the topmost level reached, 6 7-8 to 7 7-8 cents above Tuesday's finish, and outdoing the season's previous highest record. Wheat and oats likewise surpassed the summits heretofore reached this season. Wheat closed nervous, 5 1-8 to 6 1-8 cents advance; oats, 3 to 3¼ cents up, and provisions showing 10 to 37 cents gain.

Simultaneous, buyers of wheat were being stirred, not only as a result of wild advances of corn values, but also on account of messages saying thousands of acres of wheat in Saskatchewan Province, Canada, had been ruined by black rust.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, August 7. — Another burst of bullish enthusiasm sent the wheat prices skyward yesterday, and at the close net gains ranged from 5⅛c to 5⅝c a bushel, with all futures well above the "dollar mark." At the high points, gains represented an advance of more than 13c a bushel as compared with Saturday's close.

Weather conditions were again behind the advance, and a very broad trade developed in both the Chicago and Winnipeg markets. Investment buying featured the upward movement, while short-covering also was noted. The heat wave is causing considerable damage to the United States corn crop, and is prematurely ripening spring wheat acreage in Canada and the United States.

Cash wheat and coarse grains shared in the sharp advance, but trade was not exceptionally large.

GIRL GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR DISTURBING CHURCH SERVICE

Charges Sudbury Priest as Being Father of Her Baby as She Lays it on Altar.

INTERRUPTS SERMON.

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—When Sophia Linkovitch, 21, pleaded not guilty in Police Court here yesterday to a charge of disturbing a religious assembly, witnesses gave their version of the dramatic scene in the Green Orthodox church a few days ago when Miss Linkovitch is alleged to have placed a four-months'-old baby on the altar and to have shouted to the congregation, "It's his."

According to Peter Zyma, a parishioner of the church, who was a complainant against the girl, , he stated she said this while Father N. J. Bartman, Pastor, was preaching a sermon. He testified that the girl had not said anything more than the words used above.

Done During Sermon

Under cross-examination by defense counsel, witness refused to admit that this was done after the sermon had been finished and while the priest was making announcements. She testified that Barman said to take her outside and the girl said, "You may arrest me."

Suspended sentence was given Miss Linkovitch, who was convicted by Magistrate J. S. McKessock in Police Court of disturbing religious service.

Did Miss Linkovitch's act cause much of a disturbance," asked Acting Crown Attorney E. C. Fager.

Miss Linkovitch was quite eager to tell her own story. "When Father Bartman finished his sermon," she said, "he started talking about what people should do. Then I walked right up to the altar and said, "Pardon me, brothers and sisters, this child is his." Paul Durnik grabbed me by the shoulders, and I said, "You leave me alone. I'm not bothering you.

Then I put the baby on the railing right in front of the altar."

Other Ways Failed

"Why did you go to the church like that?" asked Mr. Cooper.

"This baby was his and it was the only way I could get him. I tried other ways for a long time," said the accused. "The time when he said that about innocent people being talked about, that's the time I walked up."

Mr. Cooper contended that although his client may have gone to the church to create an embarrassing situation for some one, she had not been guilty of profane discourse or indecent behaviour. "She has charged the officiating priest with an immoral act before the congregation," said the Bench.

"She says she was prompted to do this by things which happened in the church," said Mr. Cooper.

"If such were the case and certain remarks were made which prompted her to lose control, would she be liable?"

"You haven't shown such to be the case," returned the Bench.

"The question is whether or not it was rude or indecent behaviour, and it certainly was rude."

"It was indecent, considering that it happened in a church," remarked Mr. Facer, Acting Crown Attorney.

Over-riding Mr. Cooper's contention that such an offense must involve disrespect for the religion of the congregation, the Bench remarked "She had no business disturbing a meeting for any reason. I must say she is not any too retiring in her method of expressing herself." This last was said after Miss Linkovitch had screamingly denounced the half audible statement made by Zyma that she had said she would repeat the disturbance.

Created Disturbance

The affair has created a considerable disturbance among members of the Ukrainian congregation, the majority of whom it is stated side with their pastor and regard the incident as a frame-up arranged by certain agitators. Miss Linkovitch, who is at present residing with her cousin, Mrs. M. Debrie, 42 Douglas street, says that she will probably take action in Civil Court under the Unmarried Parents' Act. She was driven to desperate measures, she says, when all her efforts to obtain redress failed and because she was unable to work for her living and take care of her child at the same time.

Creates Sensation

Charged with disturbing a religious service, Miss Sophia Linkovitch, age 21, above, was given suspended sentence yesterday in Sudbury police court. The charge follows a dramatic incident during Sunday service in the Sudbury Ukrainian Greek Catholic church, when Miss Linkovitch, suddenly naming the priest as father of her four-months-old baby, deposited it on the altar of the church and fled.

CONTRACT FOR WORK ON HAY'S BRIDGE LET

Seymour Township Council Accepts Tender of Ontario Bridge Company For $1,954.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The regular meeting of the Seymour Township Council was held on Tuesday with a full attendance registered. Reeve F. VanVolkenburg occupied the chair.

After the reading of the minutes and communications the matter of the contract for the work on Hay's bridge in the 17th Concession of the township opposite part lot lot 25 was brought forward. The contract of the Ontario Bridge Company to complete the job for $1,954 was accepted, and the clerk asked to notify the company to this effect. This work is to start at an early date.

R. C. Clough requested the council to pay for repairs on a wheel scraper which he had got repaired. This was left to the road superintendent to examine and report to the council at the next meeting. A further request came from Mr. Clough that a drain be cleaned on part of lot 25. The council took no action in this matter.

Charles Sequire asked the council that the same concessions be granted him in regard to the dancing pavillion license, but the council decided to abide by the terms of the by-Law.

The clerk was also requested by the council to complete a list of all fence viewers and pound keepers, and have the same printed.

The pay sheet to the amount of $3,099.11 was then presented and passed, after which the council adjourned.

Some Fine Muskies Caught Near Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, August 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — Lake Katchewanooka still has good sport to offer fishermen, as was proven by the fine catch made by Mr. George Pearson, a local guide. Last week while guiding a party from Youngstown, Ohio, he caught a 17-pound lunge, and the next day, with the same party, he landed another weighing 30 pounds 2 ounces. Mr. Pearson was in a canoe while fishing.

On Monday of this week, while guiding another party, the catch

NOURISHING FOOD FOR OUTDOOR LIFE

Milk and Plenty of It is Most Essential.

By AMY SMITH
Well Known Domestic Science Authority.

Off for a day or a month—in the car or hiking, boating, fishing—after a few hours you will find FOOD looms up as the biggest thing in the world. Scenery, yes—but such appetites!

Of course milk, and plenty of it, is essential for nourishing appetizing food—and for campers or picnickers Borden's St. Charles Brand Evaporated Milk is by far the best choice, providing plenty of pure, rich milk, regardless of weather conditions, rough journeys, out-of-the-way camping places—and lack of ice.

Because Evaporated Milk has had half the water removed, you can rely on its extra richness, which can be utilized to take the place of eggs or butter in many kinds of cooking. For instance, an old guide, famous for his fish fries, told me that in camp he always dipped the fish in undiluted Evaporated Milk before the final coating with corn meal.

When Evaporated is to be used instead of the milk in any recipe it should be diluted with an equal part of water. Remember this simple rule and you will find it successful in your recipes. To "cream" your coffee, use it undiluted.

FASHION SERVICE

Simple cool one-piece frock of rose-pink sprigged dimity is delightfully smart for warm summer days.

It's typically French!

The Kimono sleeves give impression of capelet collar trimmed with pleating that is brought around either side of the front and the back. The pleating appears again as smart finish for the scalloped hem.

The miniature diagrams will help you decide to make it. Cut it out and join sides and shoulders and presto it's practically finished! It can also be made with straight hemline.

It's almost unbelievable! This cute dress takes but 1½ yards of 27-inch material with 2¾ yards of ruffing that may be bought already pleated to copy it exactly in the 4-year size.

Style No. 3208 is designed for little girls of 2, 4 and 6 years.

It lends itself to any of the new cottons or tub silks as pique, shantung, linen, handkerchief lawn, printed muslin and gingham checks.

HAMILTON BREAD DROPS

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 7. (C.P.)—Agitation for an investigation of the price of bread in Hamilton was followed by an announcement to-day of a cut of one cent, decreasing the price to 10 cents a loaf. Reduced flour rates and lower operating costs was ascribed by bakers for the reduction. Similar prices were inaugurated in Brantford.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

REASONS

She was a shy and silent thing
When other girls were gay;
Her grace was that of bird on wing
Or dappled fawn at play.

Her dress was of such sober stuff,
Almost she seemed as quaint
As pictured dames in hoops and ruff,
Whom artists love to paint.

And of the many passers-by
There were but few could guess
Her steadfast heart, her courage high,
Her wistful loveliness.

But one man loved her, though she took
No pride in worldly goods;
He loved her for her childlike look,
And for her elfin moods.

He loved her faith, that like a star
Shines through life's twilight skies.
And most of all he loved her for
The dreams within her eyes.

CHILDREN AND WEIGHT INCREASE

It was my privilege for a number of years to examine boys from 10 to 18 in a preparatory school, and also compare their improvement or nonimprovement from September to following May.

If there was no gain in weight from September to May of at least 4 pounds in boys of 10 to 12 years, of 6 pounds at 12 to 14 years, or of 8 pounds in the puberty period 14 to 16, then I tried to find out the reason.

If the boy resembled a parent who was likewise thin or had been thin at his particular age, that was sufficient explanation. If not, then I went into the question of his habits as to food, sleep and exercise.

In regard to food whether he ate too rapidly, did not chew his food sufficiently, or had a habit of eating 'sweets' between meals with no appetite at the regular meal hours.

Sometimes it was due to too much activity; the boy being into every activity or social athletic around the school. Sometimes also it could be traced to late hours with insufficient sleep.

In other cases the lack of gain was due to bad teeth, tonsils, or the presence of adenoids.

And more than once it was actually due to tuberculosis.

All these cases which did not show sufficient gain in weight were advised to get outdoors, to camp, or elsewhere for the summer holidays, but not to do too much swimming or take other very active exercise.

When they returned in the autumn certain little regulations were observed that in most cases gave excellent results. He was not kept out of the sports, but his hours of play were lessened in number.

Also in his school work, where possible, the number of periods was cut down one or two daily, and he was sent outdoors for the entire period when weather was suitable or required to rest in his room.

His hours in bed were increased, so he was assured of ten to eleven hours of sleep, in a well ventilated room.

His diet was watched carefully, and consisted of good plain food with plenty of milk and meat, with usual vegetables and fruits. He was encouraged to eat every kind of food on the table and to get the good of this food he was encouraged to chew slowly even if he remained a few minutes after the other students had departed.

He was encouraged to rest before and after every meal.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Camping develops the mind as well as increases the vitality!

• • • • • • •

While the body is basking in the pure air and the restful atmosphere the mind expands. There is time to think, and a person increases in power according to the amount of thinking he does!

• • • • • • •

Sometimes the thoughts are far afield from those associated with the person's occupation and business. They may be profound philosophy seeping into the mind through contacts with nature.

• • • • • • •

They may be invaluable in their clear perception of matters that need perceptive and sub-conscious guidance. In the whirl of modern city life quiet mental relaxation is extremely difficult to get yet without it the vision is dimmed and dulled.

• • • • • • •

A person's inventiveness and ingenuity are also developed when away from sources of supply. Unexpected needs crop up. Articles break or wear out. New ones or substitutes are immediately required.

• • • • • • •

Since shops cannot be visited without a trip to town which no one wants to take, the mind grapples with the idea of filling the need in some simple way possible with the resources at hand.

• • • • • • •

In such a way primitive man must have learned to solve new problems as they arose in the course of civilization. It sharpens the perceptions and whets the enthusiasm to find out what to do and to create the needed thing.

• • • • • • •

For example a broom handle, sawed off so that it is six or eight inches longer than a roller towel is wide, makes an excellent roller towel holder.

• • • • • • •

About an inch and a half from each end cut away the wood to make an indented circle about the handle. Tie one end of a length of stout string, or not too heavy cord, about each of these indentations, and hang the cord on two pegs or nails hammered nearly as far apart as the distance between these identations on the handle.

• • • • • • •

And there you are, without having to go to a store! This arrangement is much better than suspending the holder on one peg for the cord then slants upwards so close to the holder that it catches the towel and prevents its being pulled or rolled over the handle.

• • • • • • •

Such a towel holder pleases by its ingenuity and serves every purpose. A stout stick can be used instead of the broom handle.

• • • • • • •

A few tightly rolled sheets of newspaper, tied about the centre, and a loop made of the ends of the string, supplies a satisfactory substitute coat hanger!

• • • • • • •

A bundle handle with a length of wire or cord run through the middle of the wooden portion, and the twisted wire or tied ends of the cord hung on a nail, makes a holder for a toilet tissue roll.

• • • • • • •

Broken teeth from a wooden rake can be substituted with halves of clothes pins whittled to fit into the holes where the doweled teeth have been pried out.

• • • • • • •

Large smooth stones make excellent door stops and smaller ones paper weights!

• • • • • • •

These little ingenuities have all been successfully put to use. They are mentioned merely as suggestions of ways and means that campers find to save trips to town, to save money and to make their brains think out solutions to trivial problems of immediate necessity.

South African Government Suffers Heavy Loss on N. Y. Consignment.

2,000 SEAL PELTS

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Disregard of advice given by sealskin experts in New York has cost the Union Government no less than $200,000 to date. This sum represents the value of and cost of obtaining 2,000 seal pelts—the major part of two season's harvest in South African waters—which are lying, unsaleable, on the New York market.

From a reliable source it is learned that the Government first tested the New York market with a few small consignments. Sealskin coats had returned to fashion and the demand of American women exhausted this small stock. The Government then decided to send to New York practically all the seal pelts it had on hand—a matter of 19,000. They did so in spite of warnings from their expert advisers in New York that there was trouble coming on. Now the bottom has dropped out of the market—and South Africa cannot dispose of its valuable pelts.

The position now is so serious that it is extremely unlikely that any sealing expeditions will be undertaken this year, and it is possible that next year will also be a blank one.

The seal hunters themselves will lost practically the whole of their income. They are drawn from the guardians of the guano islands on the southwest coast of Africa. As head-men and guano-collectors their pay is generally between $15 and $45 a month. The sealing season is their mainstay. Each man gets six cents for every pelt taken. Their hunting brings them from $500 to $900 for the three or four-months' season.

The seal-hunter's work is difficult and dangerous. Landing on the seal islands requires both courage and strength. One sealer, with a rope around his waist has to make a leap for a rock as his dinghy comes rolling in on the crest of a wave, and then he has to complete the hazardous task of drawing up his companions, one by one. Often he falls into the water.

This year, however, there will be no sealing expeditions. And unless New York women begin to buy sealskin coats again, there will be no hunting next year.

WORD "FOREIGN VISITORS" SUBSTITUTED FOR "ALIENS"

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 7. — (By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent.)— The Home Office has decided to withdraw the widely used poster with the words, "notice to aliens," substituting for them, "notice to foreign visitors." The Home Office willingly accepted representations that the earlier notice was liable to be misinterpreted, and consequently militates against Britain's endeavor to become better known as a holiday resort.

In a recent month Spain exported 10,000 tons of olive oil, more than twice that of the corresponding month of 1929.

BODY OF PILOT HELD BY LAKE

Dragging Operations For "Gerry" Fitton Bring No Results.

McGOVERN TELLS STORY.

BRIGHTON, Ont., Aug. 7.—(C.P.)—A gallant endeavour to swim ashore and bring help to his friend unable to swim and clinging to a slowly sinking plane in Lake Ontario, cost Gerald ("Gerry") Fitton, Toronto pilot, his life.

While dragging operations for the pilot's body were resumed to-day, Terry McGovern, parachute jumper, and passenger in the ill-fated plane, was recovering from the effects of the cold waters of Lake Ontario. Speaking to newspaper men, McGovern described how the little plane suddenly developed engine trouble and nose-dived into the lake.

After clinging with McGovern to the half-submerged plane, Fitton decided to strike out for shore and bring help back to his companion who was unable to swim and was forced to stick to the wreckage. The last McGovern saw of his pilot he was plodding shoreward in a high-running sea. He never reached his destination, and it was only after a woman discovered the half-submerged plane that McGovern was rescued as he was about to slip exhausted from the tail of the plane.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SUNSHINE TRICK.

Uncle Wiggily and his muskrat lady housekeeper, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, were shut up in a very dark closet of the rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow. No, it wasn't because Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane had been bad that they were shut in the closet. Do not, if you please, believe that for a moment.

Uncle Wiggily was trying to do a trick and Nurse Jane was sort of helping him, that's why they were in the dark closet. You remember, in the stories before this, I told you how Uncle Wiggily wanted to catch a box full of sunshine that he might take it to the dark cave of a cross old great grandfather bear gentleman to make him happy. The rabbit set a pasteboard box in the sunshine and, when he thought it was filled, he clapped the cover on quickly and was going to take it to the cave of Old Grim, which was the cross bear's name.

"I wonder why I am so happy?"

"But suppose we try it, first, in the bungalow dark closet," said Nurse Jane. "Let the sunshine out of the box in the dark closet which is like Old Grim's cave. You can easily get more sunshine if your trick works, but I don't believe it will."

"Oh, yes it will!" said Uncle Wiggily.

So now, in the dark closet, he took the cover off the box and waited for the sunshine he thought he had caught to come out and make the black place light.

"Well," chuckled Nurse Jane, who was in one corner, "I am waiting! Where is your sunshine, Mr. Longears?"

"Hum! It's sort of funny," said Uncle Wiggily shaking the box and twinkling his pink nose which he could do very well in the dark. It's funny, but I don't seem to have any sunshine in my box." For the closet was still dark.

"I told you so!" laughed Nurse Jane. "You can't bottle sunshine up in a box, as you can pickles, and let it out when you need it. The best way to make Old Grim happy is to get him to come out of his dark cave and play in the sunshine with Neddie and Beckie Stubtail."

"That has been tried but it will not work," said the rabbit, looking in the dark at his box of sunshine and still hoping some bright rays would come out to light the dark closet. But none did. "No," went on Mr. Longears, "the only way to get Old Grim started is to put some sunshine into his cave. I didn't catch any in this box, but maybe if I took a larger box, or even a bottle—you spoke of a bottle of pickles—"

"Nonsense!" squeaked Nurse Jane as she opened the closet door and let in the light. "You can't bottle sunshine nor yet put it in a box. Old Grim must stop being such a crank and come out of his cave."

"Well, I'm going to try once more," said Uncle Wiggily who was a persistent old rabbit gentleman if you know what I mean. He would keep at a thing until he made it work. "I'll try and catch another box of sunshine," he said.

"Don't be silly!" begged Nurse Jane laughing as she skipped out of the closet to fasten a bunch of feathers on her tail and dust the piano.

Uncle Wiggily went out into the bright sunshine with his pasteboard box. He set it down where the beams shone brightest, and once more clapped on the cover, hoping to catch some of them golden gleams. But when again he opened the box in the dark closet, not a ray of light came out.

Uncle Wiggily looked in the hall mirror as he once more hopped out of doors. He noticed, in the looking glass, how brightly his pink nose was twinkling. Then he exclaimed:

"I know how to work the sunshine trick now!"

Soon the rabbit was hopping toward the dark cave of Old Grim, with the box under his paw. Uncle Wiggily met Mr. Twistytail, the pig.

"What have you there?" grunted the pig.

"A box of sunshine to light up Old Grim's dark cave," was the reply.

"Ha! Ha! Don't be silly!" laughed the pig gentleman. But he waddled along with Uncle Wiggily and watched him set down the box, not inside but outside the cave of the cross old bear. The sun shone brightly on the box. Uncle Wiggily took off the cover and, presto! All at once a bright ray of sunshine shot out of the box into the cave that was as dark as a coal pocket. The cave was made almost as bright as day, and no wonder. For in the bottom of his box Uncle Wiggily put a piece of looking glass and that had caught the rays of the sun and reflected them brightly into the cave. Out came shuffling cross Old Grim.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bear. "I wonder why I am so happy?"

"It's because Uncle Wiggily did the sunshine trick for you," grunted the pig. "Uncle Wiggily couldn't box up sunshine, but it is easy to make it shine into your cave by a looking glass."

"Well, I'm glad he did!" chuckled Old Grim, and after that he was never cross any more.

Finishes Are Close at Annual Bewdley Regatta

2,000 PEOPLE ATTEND REGATTA 20 BIG EVENTS

Finishes Are Very Close in All Events at Bewdley Regatta.

INDIANS PLAY BIG PART.

14 Entrants Take Part in Swim For Boys 18 Years and Under.

BEWDLEY, August 7 (By a Staff Reporter). — Neck and neck finishes which brought the crowd of spectators to their toes and precipitated many an argument among the judges, featured the Bewdley annual regatta at Bewdley yesterday afternoon. All factors contributed to make the meet one of the most successful staged for many years past.

Two thousand people thronged the docks and shores along the Bewdley waterfront, taking advantage of every possible vantage point which would enable them to see the contests. They gathered from many districts in the Rice Lake region in Peterborough and adjacent counties, and two lines which bordered the road on either side for three-fourths of a mile overflowed into nearby lanes and lots were formed by their parked automobiles.

The regatta was planned and staged by officers and workers of St. Anne's Church at Bewdley and proceeds were devoted to the church. Judges were Dr. Logan of Rochester, A. J. Pritchard of Port Hope, P. W. Farr of Bewdley, W. D. Squires of Toronto, Rev. Maurice R Kingsford of Bewdley, Dr. George Glionna of Toronto, and H. Mitchell of Port Hope. Elmer Sidey acted as starter. Efficient management resulted in the disposal of the various numbers on the program in rapid order. A high standard of sportsmanship as well as athletic ability prevailed.

Twenty Events.

A list of twenty aquatic events provided opportunity for oarsmen, paddlers, swimmers, and race drivers to get into action. In short, there was something for everybody. As well as the water sports, there were sports for children on land, a fish pond gave another variety of entertainment. Supper accommodations for 600 were provided by the women and stalls were operated by the Womens' Auxiliary. A big regatta dance finished off the day.

The trophy for the free-for-all power boat event was taken by H. W Clark with his sea flea hydroplane Passing By, powered by a Johnson Sea Horse 16 outboard motor. Although he found only one boat prepared to do him battle when he came up to the starting line, his victory was hard won, due to the stiff opposition offered by Dr. George Glianno. Dr. Glianno drove a large V-bottom inboard craft powered by a 220-horse-power Hispano-Swiza engine. The insignificant sea flea was sharply contrasted with the comparatively huge inboard craft as the two sped around the buoys dashing spray in all directions. A hard battle on the last lap for finishing line honors held the spectators in fascination.

Comic Crab Race.

Almost without fail the crab race number on a regatta program can be counted on to provide an interlude of comedy, and watchers were by no means disappointed yesterday. Ten boats commenced their zig-zagging journeys towards the finish line at the sound of Elmer Sidey's gun, and it was not long before all was mix-up. Displaying a knack gained by experience in many former regattas, H. W. Cardwell came out in front of the field at the last moment for first money. Second place went to Zack Smoke.

Each swimming event drew a large entry and high-grade competitions resulted. In the 50-yard swim for boys, 12 and under, Ted Hunt led his nearest competitor, Percy Smith, over the line by five yards. The rest of the field was right on Smith's heels. Verna McClung didn't have much difficulty winning the honors in the girls' swim, 12 and under, but Dorothy Davidson was given a hard fight for second place by Caroline Stollery. Showing how the speed crawl should be done, Kithleen McKenty beat out Viola McClung by three yards for first place in the ladies' swim event.

The swim for boys, 18 years and under, drew 14 aspirants for the prizes, the largest entry of the day. W. Baynell and Jack Burgess got the honors but had very little to spare over the rest of the field. Jack Sturgess took first prize in the men's swim.

Good Paddling.

The men's tandem canoe item saw some smart paddling by Zack Smoke and Earl Smoke, who took an easy lead over the rest of the field. Philip Amys and H. Rye worked hard for their victory in the boys' tandem canoe. Bill Smoke added another win to the long list of triumphs for the smoke contingent in the gunwale race, which also proved to be a fascinating event. Smoke passed Cardwell for his win in the last three feet.

KIWANIS PLAY ON SATURDAY

Belleville Junior Moose Here For First of Play-offs in Junior Series.

AT EXHIBITION PARK.

Jack Deanard, manager of the Kiwanis juniors, received a telegram yesterday informing him that the Junior Moose team of Belleville are ready to play in Peterborough on Saturday in the first of the playoffs for the O.B.A.A. junior title.

The Moose are champions of the Hastings county league, and are considered to be the smartest junior team Belleville has turned out.

This game will be played at the Exhibition grounds Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with the return game in Belleville next Wednesday. No other game is scheduled here for Saturday and a big turn out of the fans is looked for to help the Kiwanis youngsters in this important fixture.

Edgar Lebarr has been appointed official umpire for this game. The fans are assured of a smart display of baseball. The Kiwanis are in good shape and should give a fine account of themselves. They have lost only one game this season, and will be ready to step out on Saturday.

OTTAWA EXHIBITION OPENS NEXT MONDAY

Program of Exceptional Merit Contains Many Distinctive Features.

One week from next Monday the Ottawa Exhibition will be opened and then for six days and six nights Lansdowne Park will be the Mecca of citizens and visitors. This is the big annual event of the Capital and for this year the directors and management are leaving nothing undone to make the week a record-breaking period in the history of the Central Canada Exhibition Association. In fact the program as now assured leaves no doubt that the excellence of the exhibition in its varied departments will eclipse that of previous years.

SENATORS CUT ATHLETICS' LEAD

Detroit Tigers Defeat Cleveland Indians 9 Runs to One.

BRAVES 5, PHILLIES 4

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (C.P.)—The Washington Senators cut the lead of the Athletics to 6½ games in the American League by personally downing Connie Mack's champions 5 to 1. Sad Sam Jones held the A's to six hits while the Senators clubbed George Earnshaw in the pinches. The third place aYnkees made hay in the sunshine, opening a lengthy home stay with a close 4 to 2 win over the Boston Red Sox in a game featured by Roy Sherid's pitching struggle with Milt Gaston. Harry Rice did the important hitting for the Yanks.

George Uhle toyed with the Cleveland Indians as Detroit hit Willis Hudlin, Jablonowski and Bean into a 9 to 1 defeat, making it six in a row for the Tigers. Uhle hit three singles and a double, as many hits as he allowed the whole Cleveland outfit.

The mightiest hurling of the day was turned in by Coffman of the St. Louis Browns in the opening game of a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox. Coffman shut out the Sox 5 to 0 and allowed three hits, but ancient Red Faber got just as far with less effort in the second game, pitching Chicago to a 5 to 2 triumph and an even break on the day.

The Boston Braves wound up a seven-game series with the Phillies with a three-run spurt in the ninth for a 5 to 4 victory.

The Braves won five of the seven games. Randy Moore crossed the Phillies by slicing a pitchout into left field to drive home the winning counter.

The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds were not scheduled.

HASTINGS LOSE TO BAILIEBORO

Trent Town Outfit Drop Their First Game of Season.

SCORE 9 TO 3.

(Examiner Correspondence)

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 7.—The Bailieboro boys took the first drop out of Hastings this season when they defeated them here last night 9 runs to 3 in the Northumberland Baseball League. It was Hastings first loss in eleven starts. Scriver the Hastings pitcher hurled good ball all the way through but his team mates fell down badly in their support. Deyell who pitched for the winners was most effective and was given good support especially by Johnston and Watt. Deyell struck out sixteen of the Hastings batters while Scriver secured twelve strikeouts. Outside of a rally in the second which Bailieboro was able to stop Deyell had the Hastings batters fanning the air. The result of last night's game will make a play off between Hastings, Bailieboro and Alderville for the league title.

The line up was as follows:

Hastings—V. Lemoire, lf; Dodds, ss; Stevenson, 1b; Herrington, 2b; Sergeant, rf; M. Scriver, c; E. Scriver, cf; L. Hill, 3b; Scriver, p.

JEFF HARDILL PITCHING ACE OF FIRST GAME

Big Boy Had Everything Tuesday Night and Gave No Ground.

MEET AGAIN TO-NIGHT.

Kiwanis Juniors and Belleville Are Drawn in First Round of O.B.A.A.

As an aftermath to Jeff Hardill's brilliant pitching, fielding and hitting performance against Canadian Generals on Tuesday night, many fans are wondering if the big fellow was spoofing when he twirled an indifferent course through the schedule of games preceding the championship series. Hardill was just an ordinary heaver, showing little of the effectiveness of his minor and Central League career. On Tuesday night when a victory in the first game meant a big edge on the series, Hardill had everything and refused to give ground in the few stormy moments he encountered. Even Max Swanston with a perfect batting average since his entrance into the E. P. loop, failed to break through Hardill's pitching, and other smart ball players had no better luck.

The breaks, for the most part partial to the Electricians throughout the season, departed suddenly to leave the vanquished a very weak-looking club. Frost was out of luck on Sweeting's roller to the box in the first frame when he juggled an easy chance and spoiled a rare opportunity for a double killing. It was ill-luck rather than poor judgment that allowed Sweetman's hit to get through Beavis for a home run in the third when the bags were loaded. Frost's prowess as a fielding pitcher has never been disputed, and Beavis has few equals as an outer gardener.

Crescents rose to new heights. There wasn't a weak spot to be seen and the team that Frost defeated so easily a week ago did so well at the bat and on the defence that they are now favorites to win the championship. But it's a long trip ahead. Much depends on the outcome of the contest this evening, when it looks like an argument between Utronki and Masterson.

In deciding on a series of five games the league executive acted in what they believed to be the best interest of the teams, giving them a sufficient number of nine innings contests to fit the winner for the O.B.A.A. playdowns. In view of the possibility of the E.P.L. champions having to meet the Bay of Quinte winner, it was suggested that the admission fee be increased, but this matter was left open awaiting developments in the Lakeshore series It may be news to the fans that the expense attached to playing the series is such that from the gate receipts of the first contest each clubs share was only $12.00. The championship games must attract much larger attendances or the clubs will get the impression that local baseball fans are not interested in the larger scheme to promote a strong senior club for next season. The fans must realize more than ever that it costs real dollars to operate ball clubs.

In the minor series, Kiwanis and Belleville are drawn in the first round of the O.B.A.A. junior playdowns with the opening game at Exhibition Park next Saturday afternoon. The local champions had an imposing string of victories in the city series, and are said to be in good shape for their week-end battle.

Raybestos must be conceded a good chance to even up the series with Oshawa in the city of sheiks next Saturday. The Arabs are not so hot when pressed, and the Rays can win if they put all their energies to the task. The team compares favorably with the winning club of 1928, but half-hearted efforts won't win ball games. The brakeliners have the goods and should produce on Saturday.

TORONTO LEAFS BEAT NEWARK

15,000 Fans See Leafs in Their First "Nighthawk" Game.

SCORE IS 6 TO 5.

NEWARK, Aug. 7.—The Toronto Leafs made their debut as "nighthawks" here last night and humbled the Newark Bears 6 to 5 before an enthusiastic gathering of nearly 15,000. It marked the first nocturnal pastime played in the Newark park and had much of the color and glamour that goes with an opening-day contest. Many of baseball's best-known celebrities were in attendance, including John H. Heydler president of the National League; Col. Jack Ruppert, president of the New York Yankees, and Connie Mack, manager of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics.

The floodlights at the Newark park, consisting of forty projectors that aggregate 180,000 watts, are considered to be among the best in use any place in the country and made last night's pastime just as spectacular and visible in all respects as a daylight contest. There was plenty of hitting and all sorts of sensational fielding plays with the Leafs staging a two-run rally in the eighth for victory, the winning run being scored on a bad throw by Herb Thomas.

ALEXANDER IS AGAIN RELEASED

Fails to Report to Toledo—Is Reported Ill in Chicago.

'VERY SICK MAN.'

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, once one of baseball's greatest pitchers, has been released for the third time this season.

He was notified by the Toledo American Association club last night that his services were not desired. He had never even worn a Toledo uniform.

"Old Pete" was released by the Dallas team of the Texas League several weeks ago after being taken out of the box. He previously had been given his freedom by the Philadelphia Nationals.

Then the Toledo Mud Hens signed him up. Alexander was to have pitched his first game at Toledo Sunday. Photographers were there, even sound movies were to be taken, the park was filled with thousands who came to see the former World Series hero in his much ballyhooed comeback attempt. But he failed to appear.

It was learned that Alexander came here Friday on his way to Toledo, and that he had been under the care of a nurse ever since. The nurse declined to say who was with him or what the nature of his illness was. She merely said he was a "very sick man."

RED WINGS HAVE SIX GAME LEAD

Rochester Defeats Reading While Baltimore Loses to Montreal.

SKEETERS 7, BISONS 5.

TORONTO, Aug. 7 (C.P.)—Playing a consistent brand of baseball, the Rochester Redwings, for two years champions of the International League, to-day were out in front by six full games.

The Redwings tacked another game onto their advantage over the Orioles yesterday by defeating Reading 13 to 10, while Montreal was trimming Baltimore, 11 to 9. It was a free hitting at Reading, with the champions smacking a quartet of Keys hurlers for 22 safeties. Reading was away to an early lead, getting nine runs and 12 hits off Ira Smith in the first three innings, but Littlejohn came to the rescue and stopped the Keys dead.

Montreal and Baltimore also engaged in a slugging orgy, with the Royals bunching their blows in the first, seventh and ninth inning.

Opportune hitting gave the Jersey City Skeeters a 7 to 5 night triumph over the Buffalo Bisons. One big inning in which five hits netted five runs decided the issue. The Bisons threatened twice thereafter, but Lefty Guise did a bit of brilliant relief hurling.

BROOKLYN ROBINS BEAT PITTSBURGH

St. Louis Cardinals Swat Chicago Cubs and Add to Robins' Lead.

CARDS 4, CUBS 3.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (C.P.)—Rolling into the west where the National League pennant is waiting to be won, the Brooklyn Robins to-day have a most auspicious beginning of a crucial road trip to spur them on.

Pennants are won on the road where the defenders of home town citadels, sometimes with little to gain and about as much to lose, take special delight in knocking over those who are going somewhere. As a man fights best in his own backyard so to the brethren of the second division contrive late in the season to make the going tough for the tauntened invaders.

Thus Brooklyn, straining to establish a lead that can stand the strain of slumps and battle with chief contenders yet to come, has a happy augur in the first victory of the western jaunt a 7 to 4 conquest of Pittsburgh in the opening of the Pirate series yesterday. More important, perhaps, the flying start had its material advantage for the St. Louis Cardinals rose to swat the Chicago Cubs and add to the lead of the Robins, now 3½ games in front of the league champions of 1929.

An extra base hit, George Watkin's pinch hit home run in the seventh with one on, gave the Cards a 4 to 3 decision over the Cubs but four doubles, three triples and a home run by Comorosky couldn't save the Pirates from defeat. The Robins hit French in timely fashion, Lopez belting a homer and Babe Herman three singles. While the Pirates clouted Thurston for plenty of hits but few runs. Moss relieved Thurston in the seventh and Lefty Heimach came in to quell a Pirate uprising in the ninth. Jim Lindsley did a similar stunt for the Cardinals, fanning Grimm and Hartnett to retire the Cubs in the ninth with the tying and winning runs on second and third.

Excavation has been started of the remaining portion of the site of the Roman fortress at Caerleon, England.

PEERLESS PERCY IS IN FINE SHAPE FOR SATURDAY

Streaked Over Grass Course of 100 Yards in Nine and Four-fifth Seconds.

HIS LEGS ARE O.K.

Big Program For Canadian Athletes Starts at 1.30 on Saturday in Toronto.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug.7 (C.P.) — The official entry lists for the Canadian Athletic Championships on Saturday, will be issued later to-day by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Ontario branch. They will show a larger representation than ever before. More than 200 athletes from coast to coast will be found ready to toe the marks in the track and field contests for Canadian titles.

And when this galaxy of the Dominion's sporting talent is assembled on the field at Varsity Stadium, one slight, modest figure among them will be the centre of admiring, approving eyes—Percy Williams of Vancouver, Olympic sprint champion of 1928.

Well Ahead of Rivals

"Peerless Percy," running with all the natural grace that is his, streaked over a grass course yesterday to do the 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds. He finished comfortably in front of his closest Canadian sprinting rivals, and thereby gave much cheer to the thousands of Canadians who are hoping he will make a clean sweep of the sprinting jousts at the British Empire games.

The occasion was an invitation dash during the Canadian Police Athletic Championships. When they saw Williams defeat a good field in workmanlike fashion, the big crowd forget that he was supposed to have had trouble with one of his legs; that he had stepped off a trans-Canada train only 24 hours previously, and that he had been beaten by Eddie Tolan of Michigan not long before.

Percy said afterwards he felt all right, his leg had not bothered him a bit. As he ran practically his own race and was never hard-pressed, and as a grass track is slower than the regular hard sprint track, experts who saw him run believed he was at the very peak of his form, and Williams at the peak of his form is a very hard man to beat.

Fitzpatrick Second

Johnny Fitzpatrick of Hamilton, who is no mean sprinter, finished a good yard behind Williams, and Napoleon Boudreau, the dashing policeman from Montreal, dashed into third place. Ralph Adams of Hamilton, present Canadian sprint champion—he is expected to lose his laurels Saturday—and Ralph Warren of Vancouver were also-rans. Fitzpatrick, Adams and Warren are all Olympic athletes.

Hopes to Win Empire Title

After yesterday's convincing performance, Williams is confidently expected to annex the sprinting honors of the British Empire Games, despite the formidable contention from overseas. His victory in the Canadian championships is taken as a matter of course.

The Canadian Police Games, in which police athletes from Montreal, Hamilton, Vancouver, New Westminster, B.C., and Toronto competed, drew a crowd of 6,000 to the Hanlan's Point Stadium across Toronto Bay and fanned the first of enthusiasm for the Canadian championships. When these are decided at Varsity Stadium, Saturday. The program is a long one and will be started sharp at 1.30, daylight time, with the 10,000 metres run.

BIG AUSTRALIAN IN LIMELIGHT FOR THE BRITISH EMPIRE GAMES

Uplands Professional

Willie Lamb, former Scottish amateur, but now professional of the Uplands Golf Club, Toronto, in the Canadian professional golf championship at Burlington, Ont., with a fine score of 141 duplicated Davie Black's great feat in winning the Canadian professional championship "three times in a row," and lifted the cup as a result. Dr. P. Ross, of Ottawa, the honorary president of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association, very generously donated a second cup.

Lord Burghley the English Hurler is Also Attracting Attention.

ENGLAND'S BEST ATHLETE.

HAMILTON, Ont., August 7, — Judging from the interest shown by the public in Hamilton, and that would indicate the condition of affairs as it applies to the rest of Canada, Bob Pearce, the Australian sculler, and Lord Burghley, the English hurdler, are the two athletes competing in British Empire games to attract the most attention.

At least this is the opinion of M. M. Robinson, chairman of the Committee of management, and he should be in a position to know. "Of course there is keen interest in Percy Williams, world's sprint champion, Jack Guest, Diamond sculls winner and others, but the two who seem to have caught the fancy of the public are Pearce and Burghley," Mr. Robinson declared. "Pearce is is Australia's greatest athlete and there is no doubt but that Lord Burghley ranks as Great Britain's foremost performer Our office staff is besieged with the requests for information as to days on which Burghley will compete."

England's Greatest Athlete

That Burghley is considered, even by the English critics, as England's greatest athlete, is evident from the following article written by H. M. Abrahans, Olympic sprint champion of 1924:

There can be no question that the outstanding performer at the 1930 A. A. A. Jubilee Championship Meeting and the most popular and striking figure in British athletics— I would almost say world athletics—today is Lord Burghley.

His performance ten days ago when he gained a marvellous "double" in the 120 yards and 440 yards hurdle races will still be fresh in everyone's mind.

It is not in any sense belittling the value of his effort is I say that the opposition in the shorter race was not of as high class as in some previous years, but to beat Facelli in the 440 hurdles after the 120 yards hurdles final was in my, opinion, the finest performance of Lord Burghley's brilliant athletic career.

And what a career he has had! I wonder how many people realize what an extraordinary series of performances he has accomplished in the past six or seven years.

Actually Lord Burghley does not strike the casual observer as particularly well-built, and the hypercritical could find fault with his hurdling. But you would have to admit that there is not another athlete to-day who possesses such a courage (which in some people would be termed obstinacy), a determination to succeed, and a positive refusal to lose a race until the other fellow has won it,

I do not think Lord Burghley possesses particularly exceptional physical attributes—I can thing of others who are "better built"—but I can think of no one in the world who has finer racing qualities.

Famous Feats

It is interesting to reflect that Lord Burghley did not get into the Cambridge side as a Freshman, though he represented Great Britain at the Paris Olympiad in that year (1924).

He won both the 120 and 220 yards low hurdles for Cambridge against Oxford in 1925, 1926, and 1927. He twice did 15⅕ sec. in the former — at that time a new inter-Varsity record—while in the latter he is still joint holder with G. C. Weightman-Smith, both having returned 24 4-5 seconds.

He represented Oxford and Cambridge twice against Yale and Harvard and twice against Princeton and Cornell. He won the 120 yards and 220 yards low hurdles on one occasion against Yale and Harvard and twice against Princeton and Cornell.

ANNUAL REGATTA AT McCRACKEN'S

All is Ready For Big Event of Season on Saturday at McCracken's Landing.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

All is ready for the big McCracken's Landing Regatta at Stoney Lake on Saturday afternoon. The program calls for 19 events among which are not only the customary canoe races, skiff races and swimming and sailing contests but a couple of novel numbers which should meet with the approval of the spectators.

No. 10 on the program is called a "Bang-and-Come-Back" motor boat race. Entries will be started in the regular fashion but will be required to wheel around and race for the starting line whenever the officials starting gun sounds. There will probably be plenty of confusion before a winner is declared but lots of fun will be provided. The gunwale race, mixed, the canoe upset, the seven in a skiff and the tilting events can be depended upon to hold up the comic end of the meet.

Judges will be Fred Jones, W. C. Ackerman and George Simser; starters, W. T. Jall and Fred Porter; referees, George McLeod and Bill Bailey; announcer, Doug Hall; numbers, Fred Score and Bud Strickland. Doug. Hall, as president of the Regatta Association, has been responsible for arrangements. The Junior Regatta for McCrackens Landing is to be held the following Saturday, August 16.

RALLY IN NINTH BEATS BELMONTS

One of Best Played Softball Games of Season Was Pulled Off Last Night.

WESTCLOX WINNERS.

Bob Kitchen's long drive, scoring Fowler ahead of him in the last half of the ninth, gave the Westclox a 6-5 victory over the Belmonts, in the best-played game of the season.

The game was by far the closest and best contested at Central School grounds this season. Both aggregations played heads-up ball and to pick out the fielding stars would include the eighteen players. The Clockmakers had only two errors, neither of which figured in the run-scoring. The Clubmen had four errors three of which blossomed into runs.

Darling turned in his second win in two nights for the Westclox and he pitched nice ball. Darling has won eight out of his nine starts. He allowed only eight hits and fanned six.

Galbraith also turned in a smart pitching performance. Had it not been for the three errors he would have won his game easily. He allowed but six hits and fanned four.

The teams:

Belmonts—Ward, cf; Delahaye, 3b; Haskill, c; Batten, 2b; Frick, 1b; Osterland, rf; Holyman, ss; Galbraith, p; Board, lf.

HELD IS BEATEN BY C. STEWART

Montrealer is Proclaimed New Canadian Amateur Golf Champion.

MEDIOCRE PUTTING.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 7.—A new Canadian amateur golf champion will be crowned next Saturday as the result of the second day of match play in the annual tournament here yesterday. Eddie Held of Great Neck, N. Y. the first United States golfer ever to take the Canadian crown, went down to defeat this afternoon at the hands of Carroll M. Stewart, young Montrealer. Held, who won the event at Jasper Park, Alberta, last year, had a lead of two holes over Stuart at the end of the eighteenth, but wild driving and mediocre putting lost the New Yorker the afternoon match.

It was a day of colorful and brilliant golf, with spectacular upsets, of marvelous comeback, played under an all-day-long scorching sun.

As a result of the day's play, there will be three international matches in the quarter final today, which promise to provide some keen golf.

bare shop boasted two chairs, no other furnishings save empty boxes. A series of dirty and ragged curtains divided the shop in half and formed the section behind the arras into two intimate rooms.

Into one of these went the fortune-teller and the reporter, women seemed to buzz into sudden activity at his appearance. There was a clearance of space. The reporter sat on a paintless kitchen chair. The gypsy woman sat opposite him on a soap box. She almost fell over backwards, but saved herself by clutching at the reporter. The reporter thought of the single one-dollar bill in his inside wallet and the coppers in his trouser-pocket, and smiled inwardly.

"Your-a hand!" commanded the gypsy.

"I thought you read heads," countered the reporter.

"Your-a hand better," smiled the gypsy.

She got the hand—the right one.

"I see you're-a going to live long time. You're-a going to live—a 86 year," spoke the woman.

"Eighty-six years?"

"Eighty-six." It was emphatic.

"I see you sometimes like to stay here, I see you sometimes not like to stay here. I see you go away. I see you travel long distances. I see you sometime like to came back. You not live-a here always?"

The last was a question, spoken in the same rapid monotone that characterized the rest of the recital.

"Maybe not."

"I see you love once. I see you love again. I see you not marry first girl you love....Right? You not marry first girl you love?"

The reporter wondered.

"I see you very careful. Tell me one thing—you not married?"

"Not so far."

"No. You not married. I see that. You not marry first girl you love. But you marry soon. In six months you marry."

The reporter shivered.

"In six months—maybe less—you marry."

The gypsy's glance was travelling rapidly from her victim's hand to his face. Indeed, she paid more attention to the face than to the hand. The reporter tried staring the gypsy out. She stared back, steadily, out of smoldering eyes. He smiled tentatively. There was nothing tentative about the smile she returned, but it was not the sort of smile that ministers to the recipient's self-esteem.

Not Fooled Often.

"I see you very honest," continued the gypsy glibly. "I see you think very straight. I see you not be fooled very often. I see when you like some one, you like some one very much; but when you not like some one, you not want to talk to them. I see you brave. I see you want to go around, find out things."

The reporter felt that this last was strangely true, but said nothing.

"I see you do everything in straight line. I see you do anything for your friend. I see you have many friends, but you not make them quick. I see you have enemies....not many—one, two. I see you have two enemies. I see two people like much to do you great harm. One is dark man, one is light man. I see they think up something to do you much harm.

"I see you not live here always. I see you sometime like to stay here, you sometime not like to stay here. I see you be glad to go many place. I see you have good fortune come to you in two—three months. I see you go away. I see you have big-a chance. You not know what to do, cannot make mind. I see you brave—do right thing for make happiness....much happiness."

The gypsy paused and gazed intently at her subject.

"Tell me"—suddenly—"what kind fortune you be most glad to have?"

The reporter shrugged.

"You got handkerchief? Let me have handkerchief."

She took the handkerchief which the reporter drew from his sleeve; knotted it at one end. She held it out to him.

"Breathe on it," she commanded.

The reporter breathed on it.

"Now you make good wish."

The reporter made a good wish.

"Now put hand in pocket....That pocket."

The reporter did so.

"Now take in hand all that is in pocket. Take out hand—keep closed tight....Now breath on hand.... Open hand."

The reporter opened his hand. In it were six coppers and a five-cent piece.

But if the gypsy was disappointed, she did not show it. Instead, she went through the whole ritual again for the benefit of the left pocket.

This time when the reporter's hand was opened, there was nothing in it. The gypsy smiled, moved her position slightly.

"What kind of fortune you be most glad to get?" she asked.

"Good fortune."

"Yes, you be most glad to get good fortune. But what kind of good fortune you be most glad to get? Tell me—do not be afraid. What kind you be most glad?"

Fortune Involving Money.

The reporter thought a good fortune which involved money would be the most desirable, and said so, hoping that a bond might be formed on the grounds of common interest. The gypsy smiled delightedly.

"I see," she said,"....I see some where in your clothes you have one piece paper money."

"You do? Only one piece?"

"I see you have one piece paper money in some pocket. Tell me—do not be afraid—do you have it?"

"Perhaps. But why do you say 'one piece'? How do you know I haven't several pieces?"

"I see you have one piece."

"Do you mean one piece only or one piece and several others besides?"

"I see you have one piece paper money in some pocket. Do not be afraid—tell me."

"Well, yes, I have at least one piece."

"Let me see it. Do not be afraid. I do not want it. I want to see it. You will have fine-a fortune."

The reporter took his wallet out of his inside pocket, held it with extravagant care so that the opening was toward himself, and with great caution removed the bill. With the closed wallet in his right hand, he tendered the crip one-dollar bill to the gypsy with the left. She took the bill.

"Breathe on it," she directed.

The reported breathed on it, with due precautions for roving bacteria.

"Now tell me," she demanded, "how much you be glad to pay for good fortune."

"Oh, almost anything, if it's good enough."

"No, but tell me—how much you be glad to pay for good fortune?"

"Well how much are people usually glad to pay for good fortune?"

"Sometimes people glad to pay fifteen—twenty dollars."

"They must be very glad."

"Tell me, how much you be glad to pay?"

"Well, to be quite frank, after I get my good fortune, I should be glad to pay any stated amount for it; but until I get it, it isn't worth a cent to me."

Costs $1.11.

"Tell me—you be glad to pay this money?" The gypsy held out the crisp one-dollar bill and the chinking eleven cents which she still held, together with the knotted handkerchief.

"Perhaps."

"You be glad to pay this much?"

"I might be."

"Tell me—do not be afraid—you be glad to pay this?"

"Oh, well yes!"

The gypsy reached out and placed her hand over the closed wallet which the reporter still clutched.

"Do not be afraid," she urged, "let me see in it."

The reporter slowly opened the wallet and let her see in it. There was no money, only some papers and a few postage stamps.

"You see," laughed the gypsy excitedly, "I told you there was only one piece of paper money."

"Did you?"

"Yes! Only one piece!"

The reporter tried a new tack. "Tell me how you see things in my hand," he said.

"What?"

"Tell me how you see things in my hand."

"I do not understand. That is too much."

"Tell me how you saw one thing of all those you told me."

"Oh, yes!.... See—the long line. That means long life," She pointed out the so-called "life line," delight of amateur palmists. "And here at end," she noted triumphantly, "is eighty-six....See? Eighty-six year!"

"I don't see it."

"I tell you—you come back tomorrow? You come back?"

"Perhaps."

"You come back tomorrow. Then I tell you names of your two enemies. You bring handkerchief,"—she handed the reporter his knotted rag—"and you bring bottle of water. Little bottle of water in pocket—like this....And you bring piece paper money. Yes?"

"I might. But what about now?"

Second Gypsy Comes In.

By this time into the hitherto private curtained space had come another gypsy girl, who had evidently been listening on the other side of the arras. Whether she was a pupil of the reporter's fortune-teller or whether she was sent as an auxiliary force, it was impossible to determine.

"Now you go?" asked the fortune-teller.

"I like it here."

"You not live here always? You live some other place? Yes?"

"Well, yes, I may have lived other places."

"Where?"

"Oh, Toronto, New York, London, ...quite a few places."

"Yes. I tell you you not live here always."

The reporter smiled at the gypsy. She motioned toward the fold in the curtain, leading to the outer shop.

"You go now? Come back tomorrow?"

"Very well, I will go. But won't you read my head?"

"Your hand better. Come again tomorrow."

She wafted the reporter painlessly into the bare outer shop. There were more women than there had been at the beginning. Some were standing, most were sitting dully on the floor. All were wearing the gypsy costume, save one who boasted a shiny blue-serge suit and a lighter skin.

Out on the street stood a large six-cylinder touring car. At the wheel sat a man with swarthy complexion; black eyes which watched the reporter's departure furtively. His side-jams were in the most accepted cinema tradition; his clothes nattily up-to-date. If the women's costumes were their stock-in-trade, there was no need for their men to affect the garb, it seemed.

The reporter was evidently the last customer. The Romany chauffer was waiting; the lights were going out. Perhaps it had been a good day and there had been a bountiful harvest to show to the men? If reports are true, there is a good harvest every day. And, as Barnum said, there is one born every minute. Perhaps oftener.

Anyway, the gypsy had $1.11. And if you see a reporter carrying a bottle of water down George street tonight, he's probably somnambulating.

REPAIR EFFORTS BEING REDOUBLED FOR R-100 FLIGHT

Expect Patch Finished To-night Ready For Voyage Sunday.

RAIN BADLY NEEDED.

Officials Wish Storm to Clear Air of Bumps Caused in Hot Weather.

(By Jack Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Que., Aug. 7.—With a possibility that the big ship will cast off on Sunday for a cruise over Ottawa and Toronto, riggers on the R-100 to-day redoubled their efforts in an attempt to complete repairs to the damaged stabilising fin of the ship before nightfall. Lacing of the new panels covering the hole left when the fabric of the envelope tore off at Father Point, Quebec, last Thursday, has been completed. Yesterday, the seams were "sealed." To-day the panels will be "doped" from the inside of the fin, and if all goes well the mammoth of the skies will be ready to move whenever the word is given.

New Supplies Taken On

Shortly after her arrival from Cardington last Friday morning, new supplies of hydrogen and gasoline were taken aboard, and her water ballast tanks were filled. Since then, an occasional water bag has been emptied to level her as she rode at the mast, but this water can be replaced within a very short time.

The only "catch" appears to be the weather, and for one, everyone who wishes to see the ship in action is asking for rain. All week, the sun has beaten down. It has been very hot and sultry. This weather is bad for airships, for it creates terrific bumps. A thunderstorm, meteorological officers feel, would clear the air and allow the ship to leave.

The official statement issued last night in which it was announced the ship would leave this week-end recognized atmospheric conditions as one contingency that might hold the R-100 back.

Provided repairs to the R-100 are completed satisfactorily and weather conditions are favorable, there is every belief that the flight to Ottawa and Toronto will be made over the week-end, the statement said.

Weather Only Hold-Up.

Since the repairs are nearly completed now, that clause of the statement seems dealt with, but last week, it was announced that an area of depression was centered over Hudson's Bay and over the Ottawa Valley to the Westward, forming an effective barrier against the ship moving in that direction. Until this depression lifts, nothing can be done with regard to the Ottawa-Toronto flight.

At any rate, the program of social and speaking events scheduled for officials of the ship are concluded on Saturday night, and her departure very shortly after that date is regarded as certain, given any kind of decent weather.

To-day the ship will be inspected by officers of the Navy, Army, and Air Force, and by members of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100, will be the guest of the Canadian Club in Toronto. Officers of the ship will be the guests of the Royal Empire Society at luncheon and of the Engineering Institute at dinner.

LAWN BOWLING

The summer rink schedule at the greens of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club has now narrowed down to the group play-offs. In the first of the semi-finals last night George Coleman, Sr., won from Don Hill in a close encounter. The remaining game in the round—Oke vs. Cullen—was postponed until to-night.

Several other interesting games of rinks and doubles featured last night's activities at the greens. In an exciting contest between Fitzpatrick and Fox some exceptionally fine bowling was dished up for the sizeable gallery which had gathered.

The draw for the club doubles will be made to-night, it is announced. The public is receiving a cordial invitation to witness the doubles matches played in the evening, a feature of the club's program, which promises to be one of the most interesting of this, the initial year of the new greens and clubhouse.

"This is a beautiful place to come for rest and enjoyment," remarked one prominent citizen last night. Club officials are expressing the hope that a large number of people, "whether members or not," will avail themselves of the opportunity now being offered to participate in the pleasure and relaxation afforded by the fine clubhouse and beautiful grounds.

In addition to the regular games to-night, there will be a radio to help entertain visitors and members. The fistic encounter between Kid Chocolate and Jack Berg will be the air feature. Visitors from Lindsay and Lakefield will be the guests of the local club to-night. The prizes for next Friday night's tournament will be on view in the clubhouse.

MIDDLEWEIGHT BOXERS GET DRAW DECISION

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 7. (C.P.)—Headliners of a Canadian Legion boxing card, Laurie Peppin and Frank Battaglia, local middleweight favorite, battled to a draw decision at the Amphitheatre last night.

With both boys in the pink, a hot-weathered crowd witnessed one of the best bouts of the season. It was fight all the way between two evenly matched boxers. Each got a knock-down, Frankie clipping a fast one over to put Laurie to the canvas in the first round. But, he was soon up and at it again. In the eighth, the performance was repeated by Laurie, though Battaglia was on his feet again almost instantly.

In a preliminary, full of action, Al Harding, of Vancouver, B.C., drew with Juddy Ruddy, of Grand Forks, N.C., Harding weighed 134½; Ruddy 134.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 29 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The apes were more than content with Tarzan as their new king. Food was more plentiful. He settled all their disputes wisely. Next he moved the tribe inland to a place undefiled by the foot of a human being. But he spent more and more time away from the tribe.

He tired of the kingship and longed for the little cabin and the sun-kissed sea. As he had grown older, he found his interests were different from those of the tribe. He now preferred the peace and solitude of the cabin to his leadership among the band of wild apes.

He had still one enemy. Before he renounced his kingship of the apes, Tarzan wished to subdue the ugly Terkoz without recourse to knife or arrows. Terkoz one day offended the tribal laws by beating an old female and defying Tarzan's command to stop. So came they to that well-remembered fight!

Never had the ape-man fought so terrible a battle since that day when Bolgani, the king gorilla, had so horribly mangled him. But he won, though he did not kill his enemy. This time he spared, after forcing Terkoz to cry: "Ka-goda," meaning, "I surrender!" and all the tribe heard—and marveled.

Tarzan let him up. Before darkness settled he called the old males about him. "Tarzan," he said, "is going back to the lair of his own people. You must choose another ruler. Tarzan will not return." Thus he started toward his goal, the finding of other white men like himself.

Many days it was before Tarzan recovered from his victorious battle with Terkoz, the rebellious bull ape. And then, one day, he had another encounter with three of the natives, emerging victor, taking their weapons, ornaments and wondrous finery. The natives, now thoroughly frightened, believed him some unseen, terrible god.

"Munango-Keewati," they called him, the evil spirit of the jungle, believing that those who looked upon him died. So the king ordered arrows and food to be placed just without the village to appease him. As long as they supplied him with these they thought, he would not harm them

Tarzan was returning to the cabin. When he came in sight of the beach, a strange and unusual spectacle met his vision. On the placid waters of the land-locked harbor floated a great ship, and on the beach a small boat was drawn up. And men—like himself—were moving about!

He crept closer, saw ten men talking loudly, gesticulating, shaking their fists. Presently a little man laid his hand upon the shoulder of a giant next him, pointing inland. As the big man turned to look, the mean-faced one shot him in the back, tumbling him forward—dead!

The report of the weapon, the first Targan had ever heard filled him with wonderment. Were such white men his brothers? Presently the men launched the boat, jumped into it and rowed away toward the great ship. Then Tarzan slipped back to the cabin. Everything had been ransacked!

23-POUND "MUSKIE" GIVES LONG SCRAP

Tourist Lands Beauty on Silk Line and Steel Rod in Pigeon Lake.

An hour and a quarter's battle on the waters of Pigeon Lake, in the wee sma' hours of this morning resulted in an American visitor landing a fine 23½-pound 'lunge. H. Simson of Cleveland, Ohio, who is a guest at Perry Alexander's Oak Orchard Lodge, was out in a canoe with one Indian guide when he felt the pull on his line which served as the prelude to the long contest that finally netted him his 44-inch "muskie."

The fish, which was placed on view at George Robertson's Barber Shop on George Street, was landed with a 24-pound silk line and a steel rod. The bait used was a red-tailed pilkey minnow, purchased from Mr. Robertson yesterday.

Mr. Simson is naturally delighted with his catch, which has a girth of 18 inches; has entered it in The Examiner Big Fish Contest; and is prepared to return to Cleveland full of glowing reports of fishing in Ontario's Kawartha Lakes.

"MORE FOR LESS"

OPERATED BY H. J. BOYLE CO., LTD.

10 DAYS ON HILL FOR DOING SIXTY.

Heavy Docket is Presented to Magistrate Langley in Police Court.

INTOXICATED DRIVER.

K. A. Walters of Courtaice, Ontario, is on ten days vacation. At least that is what he gleefully confided to the police constables as they led him to the cells at the station this morning after hearing the Magistrate's laconic "Ten dollars or ten days" in Police Court.

"I could pay the fine if I wanted but I'd rather take the holiday, thanks," he said.

Walters pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving on the Port Hope Highway after Traffic Officer Hornick told the Court that he caught him passing another car on a hill at the speed of 60 miles per hour.

It is probable that he will do little driving during his "vacation" as, among other difficulties, his driving license has been suspended for 30 days.

After pleading guilty to an intoxication charge, George Lambert of this city found, much to his chargrin, that the Magistrate could offer nothing very attractive in the way of an "easy payment" plan in connection with his fine.

"Twenty dollars and costs and in default twenty days," said the Magistrate.

"Can you give me time to pay that fine?"

"No. The magistrate has no power to do that."

"How long do I get if I don't pay?"

"Twenty days."

"Twenty days," the prisoner sighed resignedly.

Theodore Desautel was asked to contribute $10 fine and $3 costs to the County coffers when he pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge also. Then he was dealt with on a charge of vagrancy and sentenced to three days imprisonment, dating back to August 5.

Arthur Stone pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking in an entertaing a warehouse of J. H. Boyle and stealing a quantity of chocolate bars and cigarettes and George Hamilton pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods in connection with the same matter. Both were remanded until next Tuesday. Two juveniles were brought up in connection with the same robbery but their cases were adjourned.

Herman Sickler was charged with driving a car while drunk as a sequel to an accident on George street last night shortly after 10 o'clock. According to police, Sickler was driving north and, when John Anderson, who was also driving north on the street went to turn west on Sherbrooke, he crashed into him. Fenders, hub caps, etc. on both cars suffered. On the strength of a strong smell of alcoholic beverage about the person of Sickler, Constable Joseph Wheeler took him to the station.

Sickler pleaded not guilty to the charge in Police Court and elected trial by the Magistrate. He conducted his own case. Police testified that he was drunk but he gave testimony to the effect that he had consumed but a couple of pints of beer during the evening. He lost his case when he called a witness in his defence who "cooked his goose" by testifying that they had consumed "about a case" between them.

"Fifteen days in the common jail", was the verdict.

It never rains but it pours. The prisoner was immediately brought back to the docket to answer a charge of having liquor in a residence other than that in which he resides. One hundred dollars and three dollars cost or three months in the common jail was the answer when he pleaded guilty.

WEDDING BELLS

KIRKCONNELL—KITCHENER.

Two of Lindsay's well-known families were joined in a wedding of unusual interest yesterday afternoon when Winnifred Hope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kitchener, was married to Professor Watson Kirkconnell of Wesley College, Winnipeg. Professor Kirkconnell is the son of Dr. T .A. Kirkconnell, revered exprincipal of Lindsay Collegiate Institute, and an outstanding young Canadian author. The marriage ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's parents on Kent street west, was conducted by Rev. Gordon Holmes of Lindsay Baptist Church, who was assisted by Dr. Hooper, Brockville, the bride's uncle. The bride was attended by Miss Rita Brokenshire of Toronto, while Lawrence Kitchener, brother of the bride, acted as best man. A large number of guests, several from England and points in the United States, attended.

YURGENSEN—LEGGOTT

The Salvation Army Temple was the scene of an interesting ceremony on Wednesday evening, when Colonel Henry, Chief Secretary of the Eastern Territory of the Salvation Army solemnized the wedding of Captain Wilfred Yurgensen and Lieutenant Gertrude Leggott. The service was true Salvation Army in character and a large congregation gathered to wish the young people well.

The bridal party entered the Temple to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. S. J. Richardson, A.T.C.M., and the hearty singing of a song of praise and triumph, a prayer offered by Mrs. Major McElhinney preceded the ceremony proper. Colonel Henry of Toronto read the articles of marriage for Salvation Army officers, which, besides the ordinary ordinances of the marriage ceremony, call on the contracting parties to more fervently consecrate their united services to the extension of the Kingdom of God in their capacity as officers in the Salvation Army. Standing under the Army flag, the bridal party, all attired in the neat uniform of the Army, formed an effective picture. Captain Yurgensen was supported by his brother Hugh Yurgenson and Lieutenant Leggott was supported by Sister Florence Butcher. Personal greetings from Commissioner and Mrs. Hay were conveyed to the newlyweds by Colonel Henry, who also brought the best wishes of the Headquarter's staff in Toronto. Congratulatory telegrams were read by the groom's brother from his parents, who are distinguished army officers in Denmark, from a sister who is also an officer of the Army in Norway, and also from all parts of Ontario. Colonel Henry, in offering personal wishes, spoke of the work of the groom in Northern Ontario, where, for several years he has valiantly labored in a hard field of Army activity and also paid tribute to the splendid services of his parents in Denmark. Captain Ford of Timmins, who was a member of the Conquerors' Session at the Army College in Toronto with the bridegroom and has been associated with him in Northern Ontario, paid tribute to the companionships enjoyed with him. Sister F. Butcher spoke of her friendship with the bride and of her real Army character. Secretary Leggott, father of the bride, spoke, representing the parents, and Johann Yurgensen, a brother of the groom who recently arrived here, conveyed the greetings of the family in Danish and played an accordion solo. R. C. Braund expressed greetings of the local organization. Both bride and groom spoke, each expressing the desire that their new sphere of life and service should be more fruitful in extending God's Kingdom, and gave very definite testimony to the effect of the example of their parents on their lives.

During the evening music was rendered by the Temple Band and songsters, and Lieutenant Emily Eacott sang a solo. Ferns, palms and flowers made a lovely background for the bridal party.

Following the ceremony, a number of local and out of town guests were entertained at the bride's home on the Chemong Highway.

After the honeymoon, which is being spent in a motor trip, the Captain and his bride have been appointed to take charge of the Army's work in Cobalt.

The bride, Lieutenant Gertrude Leggott, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leggott of Chemong Road and the bridegroom, Captain Wilfred Yurgensen, formerly of Cochrane, is the son of Brigadier Y. Yurgensen and the late Mrs. Yurgensen, of Copenhagen, Denmark.

UNDERBUILDING IN NAVAL TONNAGE

has ever had in such a gathering."

America's only weight in world councils on questions of armament lies in her wealth and her ability to indulge herself in any degree of armament that appeals to her, he declared.

Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond, K.C.B., former President of the Royal Naval War College, discussing the question of abolishment of the blockade, said that blockade is an accepted principle in time of war and has never been disputed among nations.

"I discern the probability of strong dissent from this principle by the weaker Powers, however," he said, "owing to the very great advantages such a course would confer on the stronger Powers. Blockade can only be imposed by a Power having a superior navy at sea."

$100,000 OFFER IS REFUSED FOR NEW YORK TRIP

Commander Burney Tells Multi-millionaire R-100 is Gov't Project.

NOT ON COMMERCIAL BASIS.

Designer Urges Canada to Act Quickly So Britain May Dominate Airline.

TORONTO, Ont., August 7 (C.P.).—A multi-millionaire of New York City has offered $100,000 for a trip in the R-100 from Montreal to New York, said Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the dirigible, when interviewed on his arrival here to-day.

Sir Dennistoun, who said the offer was received by telephone last evening, told the bidder that "the R-100 was at present a Government project and not yet operating commercially."

Shame to Turn Offer Down.

"It was a shame to throw away money like that for it would not take many customers like that to put the line on a paying basis," said Sir Dennistoun.

Commercial rivalry for the trans-Atlantic air supremacy between the R-100 and the Graf Zeppelin projects had developed to such an extent, he said, that immediate action on the part of British and Canadian interests is necessary if the dominancy is to remain British.

A route from New York City to Berlin will be established by backers of the Graf Zeppelin if they are able to establish a regular service before the R-100 and R-101 start their proposed trips carrying mail, passengers and pay-loads between Montreal and Great Britain, said Sir Dennistoun.

Need Mast in U.S.

Despite the British character of the projected airship service, Sir Dennistoun believes that it would be necessary to establish a mooring mast somewhere south of New York as an emergency base or landing where conditions along the Gulf of St. Lawrence would not allow landing at Canadian masts.

"There is no possibility for a long time of a trans-Canada airship service," he said. "The main reason for this, of course, is the difficulty of crossing the Rockies. I feel very strongly that for the time being we should confine ourselves to the strictly practicable routes. The airship is adapted especially for long trips, such as crossing the Atlantic."

FLORISTS MEET IN CONVENTION

Peterborough is Represented at Meeting Now Being Held in Montreal.

PEACE GARDEN OUTLINED.

MONTREAL, August 7 (Special to The Examiner). — Peterborough is represented at the 33rd convention of the Canadian Florists' and Gardeners' Association now meeting at the Windsor Hotel by the following. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Thompson, and J. S. McGiffin. Mr. Thompson is filling the duties of secretary-treasurer. The high light of the convention so far has been the address of Professor Alexander Laurie of Ohio State University, who outlined work being done at present through experiments and research to increase the efficiency of plant-growing, several discoveries having been made recently of great interest and benefit to floriculturists in general. Among these was that carnations, while not usually a paying crop, had in one instance at least been made to show a profit by obtaining from thirty-five to forty blooms per plant.

The habit of "pickling" flowers for sale was strongly condemned by Professor Dorner, of the Horticultural Department of the University of Illinois, who spoke on the merchandising of flowers. Flowers to sell, he said, should always be fresh.

Great interest has been taken in Montreal in a suggestion advanced by H. J. Moore, secretary of the association, that an International Peace Garden should be planted along the border of Canada and the United States as a means of cementing the friendship between the two countries. There are plans under way, said Mr. Moore, to create a trust fund of $5,000,000 by public subscription, the interest on which will be used to maintain the garden.

The proposed garden would become the greatest botanical garden and arboreteum in the world, containing speciments of all types of flora which could exist in the climate, declared the speaker. There would be greenphouses to harbor delicately tropical plants, making it a beauty spot even in the winter and there would be numerous museums providing extensive educational facilities.

To-day the guests will be entertained to luncheon by the City of Montreal, and later they will be driven out to St. Hubert Airport to view R-100.

FEARS "SPOOKS"

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7 (C.P.)—In a complaint to the Ontario Provincial Police Alfred Dobson, Dufferin County farmer, said he has been forced to abandon his farm on account of "funny business." Furniture and clothing has been strolling around his home, both home and barn doors open of their own accord and his stock is turned from the stables. He couldn't stand it any longer, so he left the place. Now he has no money and has appealed to police to aid him in running down what he thinks are "spooks."

HAWKS SHATTERS EAST-WEST MARK

Flies New York to Los Angeles in 14 Hours, 50 Minutes 43 Seconds.

AVERAGES 179 M.P.H.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 7.—(C.P.)—Frank Hawks, Los Angeles aviator, to-day held the record for the quickest east-west crossing of the United States.

Flying at an average speed of 179 miles an hour, Hawks yesterday flew his low-winged monoplane from Curtis Field, New York, to the municipal airport, Los Angeles, in 14 hours, 50 minutes, 43 seconds. It was the first time a trans-continental flight had been made in full daylight. His plane landed here at 4:50:43 (P.S.T.) after leaving New York at 5 a.m. (E.S.T.)

Hawks lowered by 3 hours and 52 minutes the recent east-west record set by Roscue Turner. He made several refuelling stops. Substracting time for them, Hawkes actually flew the distance in 13 hours, 35 minutes and 43 seconds. He expects to start back for New York in a few days in an effort to better the west-east record of 14 hours, 45 minutes, set by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, will inaugurate a plan for the prevention of tuberculos's in that country.

MAJOR McELHINNEY MOVED TO OTTAWA

Has Been For Past Year in Charge of Salvation Army Work in Montreal.

MONTREAL, August 7 (Special to The Examiner). — Major J. A. McElhinney, formerly in charge of the Salvation Army Corps in Peterborough, and for the past year in charge of Men's Social Work of the Salvation Army in Montreal, left this week for Ottawa where he has taken control of similar work in the Capital. Major McElhinney has earned much commendation for the effective manner in which he organized the social work in Montreal, the demands upon which, during the past winter have been heavier than in any previous year, on account of the depression of trade in the metropols.

Millionaire's Publicity Stunt Flops When R-100 Chiefs Refuse $100,000 Bait

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(CP)—The "American Millionaire" who offered $100,000 yesterday for a ride from Montreal to New York in the British dirigible R-100 was Howard Hughes, young Oklahoma oil man and motion picture producer.

And as pretentious a publicity stunt as was ever conceived for a Broadway movie premier has fallen through with the refusal of the dirigible's commanders to entertain the offer. A motion picture financed by Hughes and dealing with the air will have its first Broadway showing next week. From Hollywood Hughes authorized a New York agent to bid as high as $200,000 for a flight in the R-100 from Montreal to New York coincident with the opening of the picture.

The agent started by offering half that sum, and the answer was "not at any price—but we hate to refuse the money."

SPOOK INVADES MALMUR FARM; HOUSE QUIVERS, BROOM WALKS, AGED RESIDENT LEAVES IN HURRY

Alfred Dobson Claims There is No Ghost Despite All Signs.

SON SEES WEIRD ANTICS.

Pillows Float Down Stairs — Stock Leaves Barn.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 8.—(CP)—Mulmur Township residents have been thrown into a furore by the antics of an alleged ghost whose antics have caused Alfred Dobson, 70, to leave the prosperous 164 acre farm he purchased in 1921.

Nothing unusual happened on the farm until this spring when it was noted that the kitchen would quiver each day between the hours of 11:30 and 12:30 noon and between 5:30 and 6:30 in the evening. Often the tremor was so severe, Mr. Dobson states, that the contents of a full cup of tea would flop into the saucer.

Neighbor Feared A Quake

Once a neighbor had this experience and thought that an earthquake had occurred. She went down to another farm, Mr. Dobson relates to listen on a radio and find out where the earthquake had happened, but no earthquake was reported and Mr. Dobson did not enlighten the woman.

Until March these spooky antics were confined to the kitchen but now they have spread to all the seven rooms of the house and to the farm buildings. Doors which have been nailed up have been opened by some mysterious hand, clothing, bedding and household utensils have been moved. A broom has walked along a corridor and struck a granddaughter leaving a black and blue welt across her back, and horses in the stable have had their halters removed from their heads and tied around their feet

Unable to Find Ghost

"It is not a ghost," said Mr. Dobson, "for we have never seen one nor heard any noise that would indicate the presence of a spook, as people call ghosts. I have sat up many nights in the house and barn watching to see if I could locate the trouble, but was never able to discern anything that would lead me to think it was a ghost."

Nothing has happened in the house at night, however, Mr. Dobson pointed out. Ross Dobson, 35-year-old-son, also relates tales of mysterious happenings. He, too, claims that he has seen the broom waltzing around the kitchen with a coat on it, and claims that one day it marched right upstairs. He had also seen pillows from the upstairs bedrooms placed on the couch downstairs and one day saw all the bedding from one bed rooled into a bundle and deposited in another room.

A good-sized bolt is on the front door but this did not prevent the spirit from opening it at will and

Councillor Refuses Toast to His King

LIVERPOOL, England, August 8 (C.P.). — City Councillor John Braddock refuses to stand at attention for the King.

"My action is deliberate," Braddock explained. "I believe in consistency. When I led the unemployed we sang the "Red flag" at the conclusion of our meeting. Now that I am a member of the City Council, I am not going to have it said of me that I now stand up with my colleagues and toast the King."

As England is a free country, nobody interferes with Braddock when he remains seated, despite the fact that everyone else honors His Majesty by standing during the Royal toast.

HITCH AT AIRPORT SMOOTHED OVER

Police Return to Duty Along Montreal St. Hubert Roads.

BRAY FINISHES VISIT.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 8.—Montreal police, temporarily withdrawn from the roads from Montreal to St. Hubert airport, were returned to duty to-day and the slight hitch which threatened to involve the city in a diplomatic impasse with the airport authority was amicably settled today. Alderman Allan Bray, who suffered delays in his attempt to board the R-100 yesterday and who as a result, returned to the city and ordered that the local police be withdrawn from service, to-day returned to the airport the guest of General W. B. M. King O. C., military division No. 4, and completed his visit to the port and airship.

FOUR ARE HELD IN FORGERY PLOT

Woman and Bank Teller Implicated in Clever Hamilton Scheme.

POLICE TIPPED OFF.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 8 (C.P.).—Four persons are detained in jail today, following the frustration of what police claim was the cleverest forgery plot ever exposed in this city.

A bank teller, who gave his name as George Overholt, and Gerard Flynn, Hamilton, are charged with forgery and attempted uttering. A third man, who resides in Buffalo, but whose name has not been given out by police, is held for questioning along with a woman, also unnamed.

Officers who had learned of the scheme in advance arrested one of the four who attempted to cash a cheque for $2,875 to which the signature of a prominent chain grocer had been forged at a branch of the

Aristocratic Faker Is Landed in Jail

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 8.—(C. P.)—Wanted in several cities on fraud chadges, Harold Cosh is under arrest here and will be arraigned in police court this morning.

Cosh is alleged to have posed as a member of aristocratic English families, using fictitious names and recommendations and is alleged to have victimized hotels, country clubs and prominent Canadian families.

Police last night stated that Cosh admitted he was the man being sought, and declared that he had stolen jewels to the value of $2,000 in Hamilton, Ont.

NEW MINISTERS TAKE UP DUTIES IN REAL EARNEST

To Many the Directing of Government Affairs is No New Thing.

ALL FRENCHMEN ARE NEW.

Many of the New Men Will Bring With Them Their Secretarial Staff.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 8. —(CP)—The new Cabinet of the Bennett administration settled down to work today, no time being lost by the Ministers in familiarizing themselves with their duties. To many the directing of the affairs of a Government Department was no new thing, merely a return to a duty which they had formerly carried out. Others, however, were not so well placed and were entering a sphere of activity totally different from that which they had left behind them.

"You won't have to be too hard on us, until we get used to the job", was the plea of Hon. Wesley Gordon, Minister of Immigration, when asked his reaction to a Cabinet appointment. Mr. Gordon is one of the newcomers to the political life of Ottawa.

All of the French-Canadian Ministers, Arthur Suave, Postmaster General, Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine, and Maurice Dupre, Solicitor General ,are new to the capital. In all three cases they will control Departments that were directed in the previous administration by French-Canadians or, as in the case of the Postmaster General, by an Acadian.

Many of the new men will bring their own secretarial staff, but the secretaries of the former Ministers whose places they will take are provided for by statute which sets forth that they are to be absorbed in the civil service at a specific rating. The other personnel of the Departments, coming within the operations of the Civil Service Commission, will remain unchanged.

QUEBEC RESULTS STILL DOUBTFUL

Each Party Claims Victory By Small Majority in Yamaska.

RECOUNT IN SOREL.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 8. (C.P.) The standing of the major political parties as a result of the Dominion elections on July 28, remained uncertain in this province to-day. While an official recount in Quebec county gave the seat to Charles N. Dorion, K.C., Conservative candidate, the final result of the polling in Yamaska was problematical, the Liberals claiming the constituency of four votes and the Tories by two. A recount of the ballots proclaimed the Liberal candidate Aime Boucher, elected on Monday but it was announced by M. Veronneau, returning officer, that Emile Comtois, Conservative standard bearer had been successful in carrying the seat by two votes.

As announced by Mr. Verronneau Mr. Comtois received 3,208 votes and Mr. Boucher 3,206.

A judicial recount is proceeding in Sorel and the final should be known to-day or early to-morrow.

The standing of the parties in the Province of Quebec is therefore, Liberals 39, Conservatives, 24, Independent 1, doubtful 1.

LITTLE RELIEF FROM DROUGHT FORESEEN IN U.S.

Plains States and Mississippi Valley May Get Rain in Few Days.

NO DEFINITE FORECAST.

Rain Shaping in McKenzie Valley, But Arrival Indefinite.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (C.P.). — The Weather Bureau said to-day "some hope is in sight" for a break in the prolonged drought.

R. H. Weightman, forecaster, explained that no immediate relief was in sight, but added, pressure conditions in the Far North now prevailing were generally followed in the course of a few days by showers and lower temperatures in the upper Mississippi Valley and Plains States. He said alleviation for the corn and wheat belt might come about the middle of next week.

A high-pressure area, attended by lower temperatures, exist in the McKenzie Valley area and the Great Slave Lake regions of Canada.

Weightman made it plain, however, that he was unable definitely to predict rains from present conditions or to tell when it would come, or the amount of precipitation.

MAJOR R. WEIR IS SWORN IN OFFICE

Saskatchewan Member Becomes New Minister of Agriculture.

CALLS ON PREMIER.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 8 (C.P.). — Hon. Robert Weir, member-elect for Melfort, Sask., was sworn in at Government House a few minutes after one o'clock this afternoon as Minister of Agriculture in the new Conservative Cabinet.

The oath was administered in the presence of His Excellency Viscount Willingdon and Premier R. B. Bennett by E. J. Lemaire, Clerk of the Privy Council. Major Weir, who only arrived from the West this morning, called upon the Prime Minister in his offices in the east block. A short conference occurred, and Premier Bennett with his new Minister then departed for Rideau Hall. Major Weir will attend the meeting of Cabinet called for three o'clock this afternoon.

The Weather

After numerous days of temperatures of "80 degrees and over," the thermometer to-day, at noon, reached 90 degrees in the shade, officially This is the high point this year, and, in fact, for several years. Although not a record, as in different years we have had another 10 degrees tacked on to it; such occasions, happily, are rare. While to-day had the highest temperature of the year, the heat was, perhaps, not so oppressive as on several days during the past few weeks.—W.P.

DIRIGIBLE MAKES FINAL REFUELING FOR SUNDAY TRIP

Leaves For England Soon After Monday as Weather Permits.

50 HOUR FLIGHT HOME.

Many Wait Hours to Inspect Mammoth of the Air—Watch For Stowaways.

(By Jack Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer)

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal Aug. 8.—Another busy day faces officers and crew of the British dirigible R-100. With possibilities existing that the huge ship might leave here for Ottawa and Toronto on Sunday afternoon and England very shortly after her return from the Canadian flight, gasing and refuelling operations have been going forward steadily. It is not unlikely that the big airship will start her home flight befort August 15, the date scheduled for the trans-Atlantic hop. An official announcement yesterday said the ship would leave for England as soon after Monday night as weather conditions would permit.

The date for her arrival at Cardington, her home station, has been unoficially set as August 15, but this could not be confirmed to-day. Owing to the prevailing winds being behind the dirigible on the eastward crossing, it is estimated that she will sail across in 50 hours, as compared with 79 hours required for the westward crossing.

Whole Staff Entertained

To-day, the Royal Automobile Club of Canada entertained the officers and crew of the ship with a drive around the city and a luncheon in St. George's Club. To-night, the civic banquet to the designer, officers and crew will take place. Eight hundred invitations have been issued. These represent the state list used only on rare occasions, and include representatives of Governmental, military and naval and civil activity.

Many people waited in line at the mooring mast yesterday for a chance to inspect the ship. Parties were taken on a short tour of the vessel, providing they presented the necessary documentary authority—quite a feat in itself. Some of the people waited several hours before the welcome signal to enter the tower was given. Groups of ten entered the elevator, after depositing cigarettes and matches at the door, and were then escorted over the vessel.

Before stepping on to the gangplank, which protrudes just beneath the very nose of the R-100, the groups were checked and re-checked, before leaving they were again checked and re-checked. They were carefully herded down the catwalk, through the dining-saloon and promenade decks, and then returned to the mooring tower. It was quite evident that officers of the ship do not want any stowaways aboard, either on the Canadian or the trans-Atlantic flights.

Rubber Shoes Worn.

Owing to the large number of "inspectees," the supply of rubber-soled shoes, worn to prevent any possible spark from the scuffing of soles on metal parts of the catwalk, early proved insufficient. Visitors were met at the gangplank by an official

HORSES SAVED IN BURNING BARN

Four London Youths Make Daring Rescue in Bakery Stable.

LAD IS KICKED.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 8 (C.P.). — When a fire was discovered in the loft of the stables of Jackson S. Badery late last night, flames were shooting from the windows and the mass of stored hay crackling and sending forth tremendous volumes of smoke. Four boys, realizing the danger of the eight horses stabled in the stalls below the burning lofts, rushed into the building before the firemen arrived, and amid dense smoke and the wisps of burning straw dropping from the ceiling, managed to get all the animals safely to the open air. The frightened horses kicked and reared as the boys attempted to rescue them. Leo Lampton was kicked, but he carried on. The injury is not considered serious.

The damage is estimated at more than $1,000, which is largely covered by insurance.

SENATE PASSES SECRET BALLOT ENDING AUSTRALIAN GOV'T STRIFE

Scullen Wins Point as Provision is Kept in Labor Arbitration Bill.

WEEKS OF DELAY.

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 8. (C. P. Cable). — Disagreement between the House of Representatives and the Senate was ended to-day when members of the Upper House arranged a compromise with the Government of Premier J. H. Scullin, whereby the secret ballot provision is retained in the Labor Arbitration Bill. It is also provided that a secret ballot may be ordered by a Federal Judge at the request of ten trade unionists. On the other hand the Senate may modify its amendments relating to the penal clauses of the bill.

Bill Passes Weeks Ago

The new bill passed the House of Representatives some weeks ago, but come to grief in the Senate, where it was amended in a manner highly unsatisfactory to the Government of Mr. Scullin. Hon. J. A. Beasley, the Minister in charge of the bill declared the Governmemnt had received a definite mandate from the country on the question of industrial arbitration, and the Senate's amendments were strongly reactionary. The House then rejected the amendments by a vote of 36 to 22, and the Government threatened to submit the bill to the Lower House for a second time at the next session.

15-Year-Old Lad Drowned In River While In Bathing

Youth Was Drowned Late Yesterday Afternoon While in Bathing With His Younger Brother at the End of the C.G.E. Tail Race Near Nassau.

BODY WAS FOUND TO-DAY IN A WHIRLPOOL 200 FEET FROM WHERE BOY WENT DOWN

River Was Dragged Last Night and Again To-day and Also a Diver Searched for the Body—Drowning Occurred Despite Heroic Attempt of Younger Brother to Save Victim.

The body of Chester Crowe, of 273 McDonnel Street, 15-year-old lad who was drowned below the Canadian General Electric Company's Nassau Power House, in the Otonabee River, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was taken from the water at 10.30 this morning. It was found in a whirlpool about 200 feet from the spot where the unfortunate lad disappeared.

With the aid of a diver, a search for the boy was begun under the supervision of the Provincial Police shortly after the fatality occurred yesterday, and continued until it was too dark to see. The discovery was made half an hour after they resumed the hunt this morning by a grappling party consisting of Verge Carr, Bertram Lockington, Clarence Murray, and Harry James.

The drowning occurred despite a heroic attempt on the part of Chester Crowe's brother Albert, aged 14, to drag him to safety. Albert narrowly escaped death in his efforts.

The two lads had walked out to the scene of the fatality from the city in company with William Martin, an adult friend living in the same house. After fishing for a while they decided to get cooled off so undressed and prepared to go in the shallower water at the end of the C.G.E. tail race. Chester couldn't swim so he waded in carefully but a moment later slipped into a hole. Albert, who had been sitting on large stone watching answered cries for help and jumped to his brother's side. Although he is an excellent swimmer he was pulled under when Chester seized him in a death grip, restraining his arms. With all his strength he freed himself but was unable to reach his brother again.

Water Six Feet Deep

The water is little over six feet deep where the drowning occurred but the bottom is very treacherous, being made up of huge boulders. There is a swift current.

Chester was in the third grade in Central School and was due for promotion to the fourth grade this Fall when he returned. He and his brother rarely went on such hikes as they took yesterday.

Chester was born in Cavan township, the son of the late Joseph S. Crowe. He had lived in the city for eight years with his step-father, Peter Robinson, his mother and family. He attended St. Andrew's Sunday School and was a member of the Juvenile Orange Lodge, District No. 8.

Surviving are his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. P. Robinson; four sisters, Mrs. L. Perritt, Benson avenue; Mrs. Russell Little, Benson avenue; and May and Pearl at home; and two brothers, Earnest and Albert.

EPIDEMIC FEARED IN THIS DISTRICT BY DR. SUTTON

Cases of Infantile Paralysis Reported in Both Urban and Rural Areas.

OCCURRING EARLIER.

Warning is Issued to All Parents to be on Watch for the Disease.

Peterborough is the centre of an epidemic of infantile paralysis which is threatening to reach serious proportions, especially in the rural districts of the six countries of Central Ontario, according to Dr. Norman H. Sutton, District Medical Officer of Health in a statement issued here this morning. But, Dr. Sutton pointed out, there is no necessity for further fatalities or serious injury to either children or adults if parents and others will only be on the lookout for the symptoms of the dread disease and report suspected cases immediately so that the serum may be used before partial paralysis sets in.

Symptoms Easily Noticed

Fever, headache, stiff and sore neck and back, tender muscles, and an uneasy stomach are the symptoms to be watched for, the doctor declared. Although cases had been reported in both the urban and rural areas among permanent residents, there is no danger to tourists and vacationers, claimed Dr. Sutton.

"During the month of July" he announced, "this disease—known to the medical profession as anterior poliomelitis—appeared in Hastings, Northumberland, Durham, Ontario, Victoria and ePterborough, comprising six of the eight counties in No. 4 district.

"Last summer when the disease appeared in the Ottawa area, the general public throughout the province became alarmed and all parents were on the watch for illness in the family. The result was that very few cases occurred, in this district at least, which were not brought early to a physician and the serum administered in time to prevent resulting paralysis.

"This year," Dr. Sutton continued, "whether because of the excitement of the election, or whatever cause, the general public is showing a strange apathy and the results will be disastrous unless people wake up to the fact that the disease is again among them and very widely distributed in this district.

"In the province the disease has so far this year occurred to a small extent along the St. Lawrence, but the brunt of the attack is apparently to be borne by the counties north of Lake Ontario."

FRENZIED MOB STORMS PRISON HANGS NEGROES

Pair Being Held For Shooting Indiana Youth and Attacking Girl.

HANGED IN COURT YARD.

Tear Gas Bombs Fail to Stop Rush—Machine Guns Hurried in For Police.

MARION, Ind., Aug. 8 (C.P.). — A frenzied mob of 1,000 persons which stormed the Grand County Jail late last night snatched two Negroes from their cells and hanged them on the court-house square.

The victims of the mob's fury were Thomas Shipp, 18, accused of fatally shooting Claude Deeter, 23, of Fairmount, Ind., and Abe Smith, 19, who, police said, admitted attacking Deeter's girl companion after the shooting on a lonely country road east of here.

Jail Wall Battered In.

Using sledge hammers after they were driven off once by use of tear gas bombs, members of the mob smashed a hole in the masonry beside the jail door and broke their way through two steel doors to reach the cells of the Negroes.

Shipp's clothing was torn from his body by the maddened men, and he was borne in a blanket to the court-house yard and hanged from the bars of a window in the building.

Smith, borne from the jail by a group of men after they had knocked him unconscious with their fists and hammers, was thrown on the ground, where a horde of screaming women trampled on him and tore his body with their finger nails.

He then was hanged on a tree in the court-house yard.

The mob dispersed early to-day after it had taken from the jail and severely beaten Herbert Cameron, 16. To-day 50 State policemen and police officers from surrounding towns, armed with sub-machine guns, maintained order in this city, while Governor Harry G. Leslie said he stood ready to recall the National Guard from its training quarters at Camp Knox, N.Y. if further trouble developed.

The vengeance of the mob was appeased after Cameron was returned to the jail. It was discovered the men had intended taking Robert Sullivan, 19, who was implicated in the killing of Deeter, instead of Cameron, whose connection with the other Negroes was only that of an accomplice in several recent robberies.

Wrong Man Taken

A move toward Sullivan, after the mistake was discovered and Cameron returned, was thwarted by a man who said he was an uncle of the girl attacked. He harangued the mob, saying the two men directly involved had been punished, and advised against further violence. Soon after the crowd broke up into small groups, and the danger of another outbreak was considered slight.

Early to-day the bodies of Shipp and Smith still swung from the places where they were hanged. The lynchers announced they would be left there until noon as a warning to other Negroes.

Deeter was fatally shot Wednesday night as he sat in his parked automobile with Miss Mary Ball, 19, of Marion. Four Negroes appeared, and after ordering him to throw up his hands, shot him four times. One of the assailants then attacked the girl.

5 Paralysis Cases Break in Oshawa

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8 (C.P.)— Serum was rushed by plane to Oshawa where five cases of infantile paralysis have been reported. Three cases were reported since Tuesday, while a girl is reported in a serious condition, and another is convalescing after an attack. The cases reported are not of a serious type, normally, but officials are taking precaution to prevent an outbreak.

APPOINT CABINET ON HISTORIC DATE

Event Takes Place on Anniversary of Famous "Double Shuffle."

TWO ANNIVERSARIES.

OTTAWA, On., Aug. 8. C.P.)— The official announcement of the new Conservative Cabinet yesterday occurred on an historic anniversary in Canadian political history. For on this date, Aug. 7, took place what was afterwards known as the "double shuffle" an eyen that stirred the country in pre-Confederation days.

In a swift re-organization of the cabinet, all the members of the Cartier-MacDonald Government changed their portfolios. The personnel of the Cabinet remained the same but the positions were switched around. This was planned to obviate the difficulty of going to the country to re-elect the cabinet. The Opposition protested against this as an evasion of the law, but the courts decided that the Ministers were within their rights. Since that time when a minister has been transferred from one portfolio to another it has been necessary for him to be re-elected.

Still another anniversary was that of the appointment of Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King to the leadership of the Liberal Party.

WARNING IS ISSUED TO HASTINGS CITIZENS

PREDICTS JAPAN TO RATIFY NAVAL PACT AGREEMENT

Former Member of Japanese Diet States Cabinet Will Win Out.

NAVY EXPERTS OPPOSED.

Arguments Based on Belief Terms Not Adequate For Protection.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 8.—(C.P.)—Prediction that Japan will ratify the London Naval Treaty in the near future, despite opposition from Japanese naval experts and conservative politicians, was made before the Institute of Politics to-day by Gyusuke Tsurumi, former member of the Japanese Diet.

In an address before the Limitation of Armament Conference, Mr. Tsurumi stated that the present Japanese Cabinet occupies a strong position supported by the sentiment of the people, who favor ratification, and by a strong party which has 274 members out of 466 in the House of Representatives.

Opposition of the Japanese naval experts, he said, was based on the contention that agreements in London were inadequate to meet Japan's naval requirements for protection of her safety.

FOUR CENTURIES AT SAME TRADE

Denyers Family of Staine Keep Saddlery Shop for 373 Years.

LONG UNBROKEN LINE

LONDON, August 8 (C.P.). — Before the Spanish Armada, the Gunpowder Plot, or the Fire of London, and in the days of Queen Elizabeth, Mary Queen of Scots, and Shakespeare, the Denyers plied their trade in a little saddlery shop off High Street, Staine, England.

Since the year 1557 the family tradition has remained unbroken. From father to son they have carried on in the same little shop despite the passing of horse-loving kings and nobles and the advent of swifter forms of travel.

Carriages and pairs no longer sweep up to the door of the old building. Trade is not what it used to be, and, saddest of all, the grey-haired man at work in the old harness room is the last of the Denyers. Edmund John Denyer, named after his ancestors, has no son to follow in his footsteps. When he is gone the historic record will be broken.

While he lives, however, this quiet, grave little saddler is determined to carry on, in spite of all the motor cars, airplanes, trains, and motorcycles in the world.

The boys were taken on a fire truck at the head of a parade to the city dock where they were given an airplane ride over the city. To-night they were guests at a dance.

Prizes of suits, shirts and other articles were given the boys and business men made up a purse to present to them.

DYING OFFICER PARDONS SLAYER

Montreal Policeman Asks Companions on Force to Care For His Wife.

MAKES DEATHBED WILL.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 8.—(C.P.) —Before he died the victim of a burglar's bullet, Police Constable Dollard Pelletier drew a deathbed will and pardoned his murderer. Pelletier's widow, testifying at the coroner's court yesterday against Paul Belisle, later held responsible for the killing, admitted "We have to forgive," but added sadly, "How hard it is when you think it is the man who killed your husband."

Here is the constable's will:

"I forgive my murderer.

"I ask my colleagues of the police force, as well as other good friends, to send me no flowers.

"I die poor. I leave my wife in ill health, my mother-in-law blind, with six little children, the eldest 12 and the youngest 15 months.

"I count upon my superior officers, my friends and other charitable citizens to go to the aid of my dear wife and children that they may not be in need."

Pelletier was wounded early Monday morning when he surprised a man breaking into a grocery store in the east end.

The tragedy came at the moment when Pelletier was to have been promoted sergeant for a series of brave acts.

Rumor Brig. Gen. Hogarth Resigning Port Arthur Seat

TORONTO, Aug. 8 (C.P.). — The Toronto Globe to-day says:

"The present four vacancies in the Ontario Legislature, it is reported, will be increased to at least five by the end of the month. It is reported that Brigadier-General D. M. Hogarth is resigning his seat for business reasons, and that his formal resignation will go forward to the Speaker at an early date. General Hogarth has represented the Port Arthur riding since 1926, but now resides in Toronto, and, it is said, is anxious to sever connections with political harness. Only under great pressure did he re-contest the riding last year."

BRITISH PLANES BOMBING AFRIDES ON FRONTIER RAID

Ground Troops Advance to Halt Attack on Pshawur.

WARNINGS IGNORED.

Over 5,000 Natives Already Within 15 Miles of Indian City.

SIMLA, Aug. 8.—Between 5,000 and 10,000 Afridis (Afghan tribesmen) advanced yesterday toward the lower end of the Bara Valley, which debouches onto Kajuri Plain at a point about 15 miles from Peshawur City. The intention of the Commanders of this force apparently is to advance across the plain toward Peshawur during the night. As every warning has failed to deter the Afridis, Royal Air Force planes—some estimates put their number at 60—yesterday subjected them to a preliminary bombing. Ground troops have advanced to positions on Kajuri Plain in readiness for eventualities.

Warnings Ignored.

This new hostile movement is attributed to prolonged propaganda by revolutionary agents in India, and is for the propagandists over the grave warnings of British political officers regarded here as a temporary triumph and over the steadfast advice of the tribal elders. That the members of the hostile force are all Afridis, is taken to indicate that they have failed to induce the powerful Orakzai tribesmen to join in the descent into the plain.

Artifices Used.

One of the most insidious arguments used with the Afridis has been the exhibition of baskets of blood-stained clothing, put forward as evidence of bloody repression exercised by the British authorities in India over the tribesmen and their Moslem co-religionists. Many a tribesman by this means is said to have been persuaded that he is bound in the name of his faith to rush to the rescue of his struggling brethren.

AGED FREDERICTON WOMAN FOUND SLAIN BY AXE

FREDERICTON, N.B., Aug. 8. — (C.P.)—A widow, aged 90 years, was the victim of the most brutal murder York County has known in many years. Robbery apparently was the motive behind an attack which left Mrs. Charles W. Clarke dead on the floor of her home here. Her head and face were gashed, while a blood-stained axe and rifled pocketbook were found lying near the body.

Fingerprints were found on the handle of the weapon, a campers axe, used in the Clarke home for cutting kindling wood.

APPROVE ANKLE LENGTH SKIRTS.

PARIS, August 8 (C.P.). — Paris wound up the autumn style shows in the Rue de la Paix last night. The famous dressmakers who showed during the last hectic hours of the grand finales put their approval on ankle length evening skirts instead of ground length dresses or longer. In retrospect the outstanding sole innovations of the past two weeks are the upward trend of waistlines, a tendency of sleeves to take on fancy cuts, and Parisian experiments in gathered skirts.

NAVIGATION IS OPENED IN NEW OSHAWA HARBOR

City of Kingston First Freighter to Enter Port—Beats Ashbay.

SKIPPER GETS SILK HAT.

Regular Shipping Schedule Planned, as Initial Cargoes Are Shipped.

OSHAWA, Aug. 8.—Shunned for 18 years by lake shipping, Oshawa is once more a recognized port.

Yesterday the steamer City of Kingston officially opened navigation into the newly dredged Oshawa harbor and the skipper, Capt. John Dube, was presented with a new silk hat by Mayor T. B. Mitchell in honor of the event.

The City of Kingston, a Canada Steamship Lines package freighter, won the race with the Ashbay of the Tree Line Navigation Company for the honor of being the first ship to enter the new port. The City of Kingston left Toronto at noon and arrived here at three o'clock, while the Ashbay docked at seven o'clock from Montreal. Captain Bert Hogue, a native of this county, commands the Ashbay. Both the Canada Steamships and the Tree Lines have placed Oshawa on their regular freight shipping schedules.

The city council, present in a body went in a large launch to escort the City of Kingston into the harbor. Following the presentation of the hat to the skipper on the deck of the freighter, addresses were given by Mayor Mitchell, W. H. Moore, M.P.-elect for Ontario riding; W. J. King, district manager for the Canada Steamship Lines; F. L. Mason, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Alderman W. Boddy, chairman of the industrial committee of the city council.

Good Cargoes Loaded

Both the City of Kingston and the Ashbay took on substantial cargoes from this city. General Motors of Canada loaded automobiles for Montreal and the Pedlar People shipped metal lath for the East on the City of Kingston, while the Pedlar firm also made a considerable shipment to the head of the lakes aboard the Ashbay.

Oshawa harbor is large enough for any of the ships sailing the St. Lawrence route at the present time. It has a turning basin of 550 by 480 feet and an entrance slip dredged to a width of 185 feet, all dredged 18 feet in depth. A new concrete pier 300 feet in length runs along the south side of the turning basin and the dock built six years ago along the west side of the entrance slip can be used.

STRUGGLING LAD LOSES TO ILLNESS

Galt Youth and Widow Mother Destitute in New York.

BANDITS TAKE SAVINGS.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 8 (C.P.).—John Stuart, 17 years old, a shoemaker's apprentice who, with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Stuart, 40, hitchhiked here from Galt, Ont., a few weeks ago, was stricken with appendicitis early to-day in the municipal lodging-house, where mother and son had gone four days ago, homeless and destitute.

From his bed in Bellevue Hospital, John told how he and his mother, a widow, left Galt when unemployment drove them to seek work elsewhere. He hit upon the idea of coming to New York. Selling their few belongings, mother and son set out but after crossing the international line were held up and robbed by bandits.

Thereafter, John said, they obtained food and shelter from farmers whose homes they passed. Motorists provided lifts in the day-time, he added.

The plight of the two has been reported to the Police Welfare Bureau.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, August 8. — Upward surge of grain prices came to a virtual halt yesterday when the market on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed with values up only ⅛ to ⅛ cent. Since the start of the week, prices have mounted eight to nine cents per bushel on generally world-wide reports of adverse weather for crops.

Commission houses started heavy buying early and values jumped four cents from the bell, but the public did not respond and longs started to unload. In the flood of selling, gains were wiped out and near close values even slipped somewhat below the previous finish. The final marks were barely above the last close. Overnight export business was small.

Cash wheat demand slipped off at the higher levels of the early morning and at the close spreads were unchanged. Business was light. Coarse grain business was confined to oats and barley, domestic.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—The demand for all lines of cash grain here yesterday continued good, and values were firm. The flour and millfeed markets were steady, with a fair inquiry.

Little business was transacted in butter, but values were well maintained. Receipts were 186 boxes.

The cheese market continued weak, and prices were reduced fractionally. Receipts were 4,614 boxes.

A fair trade was transacted in eggs, and the undertone was firm. Receipts were 2,745 cases.

Potatoes sold from 65c to 75c per 80-lb. bag for new, locally grown stock.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Overturned by headlong rushes to grab profits, the grain markets underwent big setbacks late yesterday, wheat as much as 5 cents a bushel and corn 4¾ cents.

The collapse of values came after wheat, corn and oats had all soared to new high price records for the season on account of fresh outbursts of immense buying associated with increasing drought damage to corn, and with severe curtailment of Canadian wheat yields. Reports of rains in various parts of the corn belt had some influence toward bringing about lower prices, notwithstanding that no general breakup of the drought appeared to be in sight.

Market Rallies Near Close

Both wheat and corn were showing rallies at the last, but also giving evidence of being extremely nervouse.

Corn closed 1¼c to 2¼c a bushel lower than Wednesday's finish; wheat ¼c to 1¼c off; oats at ⅝c to 1⅜c decline, and provisions 10c to 17c up.

It was pointed out that bulges yesterday had carried corn up 33¼c and that wheat had risen 15¼c from the low record of the season, reached last Saturday.

Wheat prices received special upward impetus from reports that 3,000,000 acres of wheat in Saskatchewan Province, Canada, promise to yield hardly enough for seed owing to premature ripening and to black rust. On the other hand, export demand for wheat was comparatively slow, whereas it was noticed that country selling of corn was of broader volume. Oats followed the leadership of other grain.

GRAIN JAM LOOMS.

WELLAND, Ont.—With six Upper Lake vessels again tied up at Port Colborne and little relief in sight in the way of canal-size boats, another grain jam looms on the Great Lakes. The six vessels are holding 1,860,000 bushels of grain and another 210,000 bushels are en route to the port.

BETHEL WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Menie is Defeated in Third Game of Play-offs 3 Runs to 11.

PLAYED AT STIRLING

BURNBRAE, Aug. 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—Menie's hopes of a softball championship faded into thin air on Wednesday evening, when Bethel defeated them by a score of 11 runs to 3 in the third game of the championship series at Stirling Agricultural Park. This is the second year in succession that Bethel have won the silverware.

Last year they won from Hoard's in two straight games. In 1927 and 1928 Menie won the cup, and this season looked good enough to repeat, but the failure of their renowned bats was the sole reason for failure. In the two previous play-off games the Menie team have batted well when hits meant runs, but Wednesday night found them powerless, six blows being all that escaped the reach of Bethel fielders. Eagleson, who in eight times at bat, had six safe hits and a sacrifice, only reached first once and that forcing Hay for a third out. Kerr failed to reach first while Tom Little got there but once on a free ticket. Rannie got two singles, while Frank Little, Shillinglaw, Len Little and Hay got one each.

Percy Gibson was the big gun for Bethel. He turned in a star fielding game and got three hits and as many runs in four times at bat. G. Broadworth reached first four times on two hits, an error and a free pass, while A. Warren did the same on one hit, two walks and an error. Melville Gibson got two hits, one a homer, and struck out on the other two occasions. Carlisle was the only Bethel player who failed to reach first, although Bill Warren merely forced a man at second on his one trip to the initial sack. Gerald Broadworth scored three runs to help win his game, which was one of his best of the season. He struck out five and although wild at times, walking three, his wildness always occurred when no one was on base to benefit therefrom. Kerr was suffering from his chronic arm lameness and pitched a good game under great difficulty for four innings, striking out four and issuing four passes with one wild pitch. Eagleson pitched the last two frames and was touched for three hits and two runs, one a homer.

Broadworth struck out Rannie and Eagleson to start the first. Frank Little's good single was wasted as Petherick forced him at second.

Walt Warren was walked, Bill Warren struck out, G. Broadworth was safe on the shortstop's error; Percy Gibson hit a long homer but failed to touch third and just managed to get back there as the ball was returned to the infield. A. Warren was forced at second by Dodwell, who went to second on a passed ball and scored on the catcher's error on E. Broadworth's bunt. M. Gibson fanned with four runs in. Four runs, one hit, four errors.

Menie did all their scoring in the second. Tom Little walked, Kerr out on foul to catcher, Shillinglaw singled, Little scoring on overthrow to third, Shillinglaw scoring on Len Little's safe tap. He scored on A. Warren's overthrow of first on Hay's tap. Hay failed to go to second and was forced on Rannie's grounder. Rannie stole second neatly but Eagleson was out at first. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

Bethel were out in order in the second, but scored two more in the third on hits by G. Broadworth, P. Gibson, a walk to A. Warren, and a hit by Dodwell, also a wild pitch. They got three more in the fourth on singles by Walt Warren, P. Gibson, and M. Gibson and free passes to G. Broadworth and A. Warren with three passed balls and an error at third. Two more in the sixth brought the Bethel total to eleven. A. Warren singled and after two were out at first M. Gibson hit a homer to deep right. Menie's first sacker only missed this line drive by inches.

Menie threatened in the seventh. Hay led off with a single through second. Rannie followed with another clean hit. On an attempted double steal, Hay was called out, because the umpire claimed the pitcher was in his box. Eagleson and Frank Little were out on fouls to end the game.

The season has been featured by close games and the finals have been hotly contested. Everyone looks forward to some keen battles when the 1931 ball season rolls around.

THREE DIVIDE SAFETY FLAG

Star For the Month in Deloro Safety Contest Goes to General Plant.

SPLENDID REPORTS.

MARMORA, Aug. 8 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee was held at the Hub on Wednesday evening with R. A. Elliott presiding. Owing to the holiday season the attendance was not so large as usual and business was also of a limited nature. Two suggestions were reported for the expiring month and one of these was deemed worthy of an award.

The flag will be divided between the General, the Oxide and the Silver Plants, while the star remains with the General. Good reports were given by the inspection committee whose floating member last month was W. Mumby. Mr. Rennie was similiarly appointed for the month of August.

Prone method practices were carried out in July by G. O'Neill and H. Loveless was assigned the same duty for the ensuing month. After C. H. Buskard had given the monthly statement of the Benevolent Relief Fund and W. R. Reynolds had reported for the publicity committee, the meeting adjourned.

FARMERS WORRIED BY HUNGRY HIPPOS

Jungle Monsters Venture Near South African City.

PRETORIA, South Africa, Aug. 8.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Two formidable hippos have appeared on Renel Hertzog's farm, near Witbank, during the last few days, and have been causing damage to crops.

Other farmers in the district have also complained of the damage being done. The presence of hippos in the Olifants river has been reported before, but it is a rare thing for hippos to be roaming within about 100 miles of Pretoria. It is suspected that there may be an adult hippo together with a young one, and arrangements are being made for their capture.

The director of the Pretoria Zoological Gardens, Dr. R. Bigalke, stated that the museum intends to send a man to the spot, as permission has been given by the Administrator for the capture and removal of the invaders.

Dr. Bigalke said that it was impossible to capture adult hippos alive and that they would have to be shot. There might be a young one, and in this case the museum would try to trap it for the Pretoria Zoo. There it could spend a peaceful life, and make itself useful as a centre of curiosity for scientists and children.

THE NEW CABINET.

Hon. R. B. Bennett has already fulfilled one of the promises which he gave to the electors during the recent campaign.

He has assumed office within only ten days of his victory, and with a readiness of action that may be regarded as an earnest of his approach to the pressing problems of state with which he must proceed to deal. This in itself is a pleasing augury that will commend the new Government to the country as a whole.

Predictions as to the personnel of the new Conservative Cabinet have been realized with only one conspicuous exception in the ministry which yesterday succeeded Mackenzie King and his colleagues. That exception is the inclusion of Hon. T. N. Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia, who was first elected to the House of Commons in 1908 and was Speaker during the administration of the Union Government. Premier Rhodes has received the portfolio of Fisheries, an appointment that should be particularly acceptable to the Maritime Provinces. He is an experienced parliamentarian, and will undoubtedly be a valuable assistant to Premier Bennett.

The appointment of Hon. H. H. Stevens of British Columbia to the office of Minister of Trade and Commerce is another splendid selection. He is a former Peterborough man, and his friends in this city will be pleased by his leader's recognition of his abilities and seasoned schooling in the Commons. Mr. Stevens assumes the mantle of one of the most successful of the members of the King Cabinet, the Hon. James Malcolm, who brought to the office the vision and executive ability of a business man and who was credited with a large measure of the expansion of Canadian trade which was recorded under his administration. Hon. Harry Stevens will bring a special knowledge of the problems and opportunities of the Pacific Province to his department, apart from the general information of Canadian affairs which his long membership in the Federal House and his study of the customs branch have given him.

Premier Bennett will for the time being assume the responsibility of Finance Minister himself, a decision that will meet with general approval.

The other important portfolios have been entrusted to men who have had ample training in Parliament to qualify them for the duties that are now placed in their hands. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who replaces Hon. Ernest Lapointe as Minister of Justice, has been a member of the Commons since 1900. He was a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier until 1917, and since then has had Cabinet experience. Hon. Dr. Manion as Minister of Railways and Canals and Senator Gideon Robertson as Minister of Labor are both prominent in the new Cabinet. Senator Robertson returns to the department of which he was first appointed head in 1918.

Some of the other members are comparatively well known as former members of the Lower House, and as a result of that experience should lend strength to the new Conservative administration. On the whole, Premier Bennett has apparently fortified himself with capable assistants, men who are thoroughly in accord with his policies and who for the most part have had ample training in the House to equip them for ministerial responsibility.

If there is not a Sir Thomas White in the company, a Minister of his financial ability and intellectual attainments may yet be enlisted before Premier Bennett has finally geared up his Cabinet for the long course.

THE FIFE MEMORIAL.

One of the local results of the political upheaval is the shift of leadership and opportunity in the project to establish a memorial to David Fife. With new masters in the Federal House, and Mr. Peck not the least of them, they may be expected to assume this undertaking, begun by their predecessors, which commands so general an appeal as this belated recognition of David Fife's life and work.

The representations made by Mr. Duffus to the Minister of Agriculture elicited an official promise to send officials of the department to Peterborough to consider the form which the proposed memorial should take.

Now, a new Minister of Agriculture is to be consulted, and the opportunity which Mr. Duffus sought of honoring the memory of David Fife devolves largely to Mr. Peck.

Last winter The Examiner reviewed the work of David Fife in a series of articles which could have been indefinitely continued. The public response to these recollections afforded ample proof that there is almost a national desire to pay generous and enduring tribute to the Scottish settler of Otonabee who gave this country Fife wheat. Certainly those men who know and understand the importance of that agricultural contribution are in favor of the memorial project.

The Examiner suggested that a demonstration farm in Otonabee Township might be a sentimental and practical monument. All Canada shared in the wealth that has been annually produced by Fife wheat and its improved varieties; and as Peterborough is the centre of a large farming district, it seemed probable that the Federal Government would consider such a memorial investment.

Mr. Peck knows all the merits of the late David Fife and has declared himself in sympathy with the general idea of a monument of some kind. He is assured of intensive support in Peterborough and enthusiastic co-operation from other parts of the country. The Fife memorial is now up to him.

The preliminary considerations by the Department of Agriculture were interrupted by the elections. It is now Mr. Peck's privilege to revive them, and to ascertain the feasibility and need of the proposed memorial farm. The Federal Government and the people of Canada owe a vast and unrequited debt to David Fife and his family, which can be recognized by some conventional monument. How much more useful and vital would a demonstration farm be, if it meets with the wishes of the descendants of David Fife, and also if it be generally desirable!

Incidentally, if demonstration farms are an advantage to the agricultural interests of various sections of Canada, why should not one be an asset to the farmers of Peterborough County and Central Ontario?

The Examiner's effort to promote the establishment of a Fife memorial is simply the reflection of the opinion of a large community, and its reference to the Federal Government is based on the fact that David Fife's work was of incalculable importance to the nation. It may be that the Department of Agriculture perceives obstacles to a demonstration farm that have not been contemplated by those who have locally approved the idea. However, Peterborough may feel confident that Mr. Peck will give the proposal his powerful support.

FACTORY MAY HUM AGAIN.

The revival of a Hamilton industry that has been idle for nine years is one of the developing prospects since the Conservative Government was elected.

The Libby Owens Glass Company is asking for a tariff of $2.50 to $4 a case on sheet glass, which would add approximately five dollars to the cost of glass required for a six-room house.

The company's pay roll will be $50,000 a month, and 3,500,000 feet of lumber will be used annually. If the Government accedes to the company's request, Hamilton and Canada will regain a dormant industry, and the protection it requires will cost home builders only an extra $5 on their glass bill. The Conservative policy of protection of Canadian industries and Hon. Mr. Bennett's explicit pledges to that effect are guarantees of a friendly ear at Ottawa.

MUST CONTROL AND ALSO RESTRICT.

License permits in future, according to an announcement made by the chairman of the Liquor Control Board, will show the value in dollars and cents of every purchase made. As the Brantford Expositor states, this is a step in the right direction, since it will help to bring home to the permit-holder the percentage of his earnings that he is expending for the consumption of liquor. The moral effect of this change will be beneficial, but its effect in curtailing the total purchases of intoxicating beverages will be quite unappreciable.

If the Provinces under Government control are sincerely anxious to curtail the consumption of liquor, they will have to adopt some practical method of restricting the amount to be allowed any licensee on his permit. At the present time there is practically no limit to the amount anyone may purchase, so long as he keeps within the law, and while it may be difficult to fix the maximum arbitrarily, it is by no means impracticable. It is, of course, impossible for the managers of the dispensaries to know the amount that any given citizen can afford to spend in alcoholic beverages, but the law of average might be applied, and no hardships would be created by thus limiting the amount to be sold any permit-holder.

During the last year considerably over $100,000,000 was expended in Ontario and Quebec for liquor. In the face of the industrial depression, the huge nature of that sum is staggering and constitutes a problem that should engage the thought of all serious-minded people. The system of Government control may be sound, but if it is to endure it must not only control but restrict and steadily diminish as well.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

THE JOURNEY'S BEGINNING.

Sixteen years ago Tuesday Britain's fleet "vanished in the mists" at one end of the island and her small army prepared to hurry out of the country at the other end. So began the journey across the channel which left the island all but defenseless, but which at once secured, as Winston Churchill said in one compact sentence, Britain's own safety and the salvation of her allies. Again memory is brought back of those August nights when down the "fatal funnel" to the ships passed in serried file "the flower of the youth of Britain," many of them to clothe themselves "in the dust of darkness" in some field of France or Flanders beyond.

In the paths of these and of the millions who followed them—a full million to their death before the firing ceased and quiet came again from the North Sea to the Euphrates—thousands now go on journeys that will not end to show gratitude and honor to those who lie there in marked or in unknown graves. It cannot be that Britain will ever break that continental bond which holds her to her dead beyond the channel. The new memorials which were dedicated to the British unknown dead in Loos, Vis-en Artois, Pozieres and Louverval add 5,271 more names to the 56,000 remembered in the inscription on the "Menin Gate," to whom, in the words of Rudyard Kipling, whose son was among them, "the fortunes of war denied the known an honored burial given their comrades." And there are still other memorials in France constructed or planned for British dead.

The "pictures" are making vivid to the oncoming generation, as no words alone can, the horrors of modern warfare which these men endured on the way to unknown graves. They give warning in a language which all can understand of what the dramatist has said in abstractions about the journey's beginning:

> The time to visualize what will fall under the harrow of war is before the harrow is set in motion. Afterward comes in Inevitableness with iron lips, and Fatalism with unscrutinizing gaze, and Us with filmed eye, and Instinct with her cry, "Do not look too closely, seeing one must keep one's senses."

The prayer of the whole earth is that the nations may never set out on that journey again, for its end may be the end of a civilization that has been ages in the building and the survival of a remnant of peoples that cannot even bury their dead, much less build memorials in the fields where they lie unburied.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Bureau of Statistics says that the per capita wealth of Canada is $2,996. If you haven't got that much then look around and find out who's got your share.

According to recent discoveries the modern girl is about 5,000 years old as it has been demonstrated that in 3,500 B. C. the sweet young things colored lips and cheeks and darkened their eyebrows. The poet when he wrote of the "eternal feminine" knew what he was talking about.

Douglas Fairbanks, famous movie actor, was held up in his home at the point of a gun by a thug and promptly handed over $25, all that he had on his person. For a man who, on the screen, can successfully handle half a dozen desperadoes at once, this must have been a sore touch.—Brantford Expositor.

MR. CARLEYS OPINION

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir:

While I have no doubt that your correspondent, Mr. Arthur Stinson, could have made a much better address at Lindsay than I did I will let him and his friends have the satisfaction of knowing what the defeated candidate, Mr. Carley, thought about it as follows:

Mr. J. H. Burnham, K.C.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Mr. Burnham:

I wish to thank you for the kind assistance you rendered me in the recent election campaign. I certainly enjoyed the very able address you gave in Lindsay.

While the government has gone down to defeat I believe the people must accept the responsibility for turning down a government with a good record and with a good policy in favor of an opposition without a policy, and whose main stock-in-trade was criticism.

I think a great deal of the success in Ontario must be attributed to men like yourself who placed principles about party and who worked hard in support of their principles.

Again thanking you, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
T. J. CARLEY

VERSION OF O, CANADA.

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,— Many times the song "O, Canada" has been pulled to pieces by critics of one type and another. One criticism of the present versions is that they are not quite adaptable for use in churches on national occasions.

However, the other day I came across a new version consisting of just one verse and a chorus which was written by Dr. C. V. Pilcher of Wycliffe College, Toronto. This, it seems to me, should prove suitable for all occasions. The tune is the same stirring one we use generally now and the words run as follows:

O Canada.

O Canada, our land, our love, our pride—
Sought by the blood of men who dared and died—
From east to west we loyal stand
By prairie, lake and sea,
And pledge with joy both heart and hand
To God, to king, to thee!
Steadfast in mind stand we combined
Mighty to serve our country, serve mankind.

Sincerely,
"SAM."

What To-day Means To You.

If August 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., and 8 p.m. to 9:50 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., and 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Astrological influences on this date will tend to produce many petty annoyances, and irritability of temper. You will stand in your own shadow! Keep clear of seductive influences, or you will rue the day. Poor from health standpoint.

Children born on this August 8th will have quiet, unimpulsive natures, but will be persistent and determined. They will be undemonstrative, but will not have shallow feelings. They will be willing students, and have a taste for good literature.

You have ambition to be more than you will probably have the grit and gumption to become. You would like to scale Alpine peaks, but you would rather fly over them than make the weary ascent. You are not lacking in talent, and your brain power is not weak, but you do lack patience and endurance. Your false pride, also, stands in your way, and will not permit you to do things, which are really not beneath your dignity. You do not put your back into things—you give up too easily.

You will be greatly swayed and influenced by other people, generally by some one person. It is shown that you will have a partnership, not merely in business, but in almost all affairs of your life. Your irresolution is at the bottom of many of your failures; by the time you have made up your mind, opportunities have passed you by.

You readily fraternise with those who are congenial—you are a typical club man or woman. You are capable of displaying considerable wit, and of being very entertaining and genial. You take too little trouble, however, to be your nicest self with those in whom you are not interested. You are prone to exaggeration. You like to tell a good tale. The sardonyx is your lucky precious stone, and it is said to insure conjugal felicity.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 35.

The preliminaries having been disposed of, they now locked horns on the subject of price for each class of cattle. Burney had already wormed out of Wilkins the best price the latter had been offered to date and promptly offered one dollar a head more, straight through. Wilkins demanded an extra dollar; whereupon the two shook hands and the deal was closed.

Having settled the matter of price, Burney now approached a task of great finesse, to wit, the terms of payment. He suggested fifty thousand dollars down payment upon the signing of the contract, and two hundred thousand dollars in six months, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in nine months and the remainder upon delivery of the cattle. Deferred payments were to bear six per cent. interest.

He spoke of the tightness of the money market, of other plans which required huge outlays of cash, of the desirability of a sound six per cent. investment for the money derived from the sale, in the event Wilkins had no other investment plans, and pointed out that with the deferred payments secured by the cattle the deal could not possibly be bettered.

Dan Wilkins would have preferred better terms and said so, but Burney out-talked him, out-reasoned him and out-gamed him, with the result that old Dan only haggled twenty-four hours and then signed the contract which Burney instantly produced for his inspection. When he had signed, Burney handed him a cashier's check for fifty thousand dollars, made payable to Kenneth Burney and endorsed by the latter; and while Dan Wilkins was studying the check, Burney signed both copies of the contract, folded them, put one in his pocket and laid the other on Dan Wilkins' desk. He had timed this action, delaying it until the cook had rung the bell for luncheon.

"Let's eat," he suggested heartily. "I've worked up an appetite arguing with you." As soon as luncheon was over Dan Wilkins motored Burney into town, where the latter caught a train and went south.

When the king came down to his office the day after his arrival home, he found on his desk this strangely illuminating message from Dan Wilkins:

After selling my entire herd of fifteen thousand cattle to Kenneth Burney, manager of your El Ranchito division, I find that the contract I signed has been signed by him personally and not by the Baron Land & Cattle Company by him as your legal representative. Is this O. K.? I suppose it was merely an oversight, because he gave me a cashier's check for fifty thousand dollars and the contract, which is very fair, gives me a lien on the cattle until they are paid for. Please advise if deal is O. K. and that Burney has legal authority to represent you.

"Ha!" roared the king. "Ha! Ha! Ha! So the young fox has hung one on old Dan Wilkins! He's got the nerve of a lion-tamer."

The king thumbed a push-button and summoned his vice-president and assistant general manager.

"You let those Wilkins cattle get away from you," he charged. "Why?"

"Because Wilkins wired me he would not offer the cattle for sale until our representative had time to get there and inspect the herd. I was busy and couldn't go, and our cattle buyer was sick with flu. I felt Wilkins would keep his word."

"Oh. Well, it's too bad. We should have had that herd."

He turned to some papers on his desk, indicating by that action that the interview was terminated, insofar as his inferior was concerned. But it was far from a finished matter in the mind of King Bardin.

His Majesty wired Dan Wilkins that Kenneth Burney was not even in the employ of the Bardin Land & Cattle Company, having resigned a week previous; that prior to his resignation, however, Burney had been the general manager of the El Ranchito division. He requested Dan Wilkins to forward him, if quite consistent with the latter's pleasure, copies of all communications received from Burney, a copy of the contract and any further information that might tend to convict the said Burney of operating under false pretenses. Further, he advised Dan Wilkins not to deposit the check Burney had given him until assured by competent legal authority that if the sale of his cattle had been induced by fraud and false representation it could be set aside; in which event the Bardin Land & Cattle Company would be glad to purchase the cattle at the same or possibly a slightly higher figure and pay cash.

Patiently His Majesty waited for Dan Wilkins' reply. When it came it was from the latter's attorney and ran:

Dear Mr. Bardin:

My client, Mr. Daniel Wilkins, has referred to me your telegram in reply to his of the 8th inst. and has placed in my hands his original contract with Kenneth Burney and one telegram from the latter, a copy of which I enclose.

After reading this telegram you will agree with me that if Burney has seemed to represent himself as the agent of your company, such representation is implied rather than expressed. He does not, even remotely, refer to the purchase of the cattle by any one other than himself, but in signing his telegram he added the line "Manager El Ranchito Division." This might be understood as merely identifying himself and giving Mr. Wilkins a clue to his standing in the cattle business although I feel quite certain he added this identifying line for the sole purpose of adroitly inculcating in the mind of Mr. Wilkins the erroneous impression that when he should arrive to trade for the cattle it would be as the representative of your company, with whom Mr. Wilkins has done much pleasant trading in the past.

Mr. Wilkins informs me that at no time, while at the latter's ranch, did Mr. Burney, directly or indirectly represent himself as the agent of your company. Having assumed that he was your agent, it never occurred to Mr. Wilkins to doubt his own assumption or question Burney regarding his authority. Burney gave my client a cashier's check for $50,000, made in favor of himself and endorsed by him to Mr. Wilkins; the latter deposited the check the day he drove Mr. Burney into town to catch the southbound train and it was not until his return to the ranch that he discovered he had traded with Mr. Burney as an individual rather than as the agent of your company.

If Mr. Burney employed a certain measure of guile in consummating this deal with Mr. Wilkins, he certainly was imbued with an ardent desire to protect Mr. Wilkins in the event he should find himself unable to go through with the deal as per contract. The contract specifies that should payments of the deferred payments not be made on the dates and in the manner specified, then, at his option, Mr. Wilkins may declare the contract null and void, in which event Burney agrees to abandon any and all rights under the contract, the cattle revert to Mr. Wilkins and any sums hitherto paid on account are to be retained by Wilkins as and for agreed liquidated damages.

While my client is none too well pleased at having, inadvertently, done business with a total stranger with whose credit and financial rating he is in ignorance, but for whose eloquence, salesmanship and personal magnetism he has the utmost reverence, nevertheless it is my opinion that were he to sue to have the contract set aside he could not sustain his suit. Inasmuch as he sold at his own price, he will be satisfied if the deal goes through without a hitch—particularly in view of your statement that if there should be a hitch you will be glad to take the deal yourself.

For your information copy of the contract of purchase and sale is enclosed herewith.

After reading that contract the king sat long in silence contemplating the carpet. "His father has backed him to his last dollar, but—it isn't enough," he ruminated. "Not by three hundred and some odd thousand dollars. What Burney plans to do is to operate on margin. After making the second payment he will sell his contract to some big operator. Indeed, he may even try to sell it to me.

"Six months hence those cattle will be worth not less than five dollars a head more than he paid for them—and as a sweetener Burney will have this year's calves free—probably about thirty-five hundred head. He'll sell those later as long yearlings and at a good price. Yes, sir, the boy is going to make some money—and entirely at my expense. Within the year wedding bells will ring for him and Muriel and I will be left holding the sack."

On his desk calendar he made careful note of the dates Ken Burney's payments to Dan Wilkins were due, and then proceeded to forget the matter.

Ken Burney met his second payment of $200,000 on the Wilkins cattle, as the king was very careful to ascertain; also he had paid Dan Wilkins and his cowboys their wages regularly and had provided funds for all incidental expense connected with the herd. The price of beef having advanced two cents in the interim, the king decided it was now time to look Ken Burney up and trade him out of his contract. Surely he would be forced to let go now; with a nice profit in hand he would, the king reasoned, be glad to do so. Also, His Majesty knew that within six months, he, the king, would be able to turn the entire herd at a profit of ten dollars a head. So he got on the trail of his victim by writing him in care of his father. Promptly Burney wired him that the subject broached in his letter of blank date was not of interest to him!

"That fellow certainly beats my time," His Majesty decided. "Well, he'll have to do some tall financing in the next six months, and if he fails to make connections elsewhere he'll probably offer to sell me a half interest in the deal. Well, if he does, he'll be in a position where I can do the dictating. By Judas, I'll succeed yet in elbowing that fellow into going to work for me."

A Thought

A GREAT MOTIVE.

The faculties require a lot of stimulus, a perpetual tonic, in order to do their best. It is astonishing what a great motive will call out of a human being, how it will expand ordinary ability.

To be in a stimulating, ambition-arousing environment, where one's powers are always on their alert, and there is always a perpetual tonic to endeavor, is a wonderful thing. On the other hand, to be placed in an environment which gives no special stimulus to our ambition, as, for instance, a dead-and-alive town, or an establishment presided over by a man with little ambition—such things are especially trying to one's incentive and aspiration. Hope and expectancy of better things, the consciousness of a superb motive falls out our greatest powers.

FEW CHANGES IN MINING ISSUES

International Nickel Ex-rights Are Down One-half to Twenty-two.

NORANDA FIRM AT $23.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8. (C.P.)—Light trading and irregular price action again marked the mining list during the early period to-day. Only in a few cases were significant changes made, the major portion of the list remaining stationary or within a point or so off last night's close.

International Nickel ex-rights was down a half to $22, but Noranda held firm at $23. Falconbridge and Sherritt-Gordon were both a few cents higher. Waite-Ackerman dropped 4 to $3.41 under pressure of profit-taking, and Abana and Newbec saw small recessions. Amulet remained strong adding another 1½ to yesterday's gain. Mining Corporation fell back 5 to $1.20, but Nipissing was up 9 to $1.35.

Golds were mixed with only a few changes in evidence. Howey and Dome were strong, but Vipond and Big Missouri eased a point each.

Ajax Oil dropped 6 to $2.19 after showing some early strength, and Calmont was off a couple to $1.03. East Crest moved up one to 31.

SLIGHT SETBACK IN THE STANDARD

Many Issues Show Fractional Changes, Most of Them Being Lower.

BRAZILIAN OFF HALF.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8. (C.P.)—Narrow fluctuations with slightly lower levels attained, was the way things went on the Toronto Stock Exchange during the first half of the session to-day. Volume was well below par for the first two hours although the turnover measured up well with the corresponding period yesterday.

Nickel was caught crossing the tape at noon at 21 7-8, this was 3-8 below the list close. The rights of this issue were also off, dropping 2 to sell at 10. This is the lowest point the rights have hit since they were issued.

Brazilian dropped a half to sell at 34¾, Cockshutt and Massey Harris in this group were both unchanged.

The oils were all off fractionally and the volume was exceedingly low. Super Test lead on the downward move, being off a full point to sell at 5. Imperial was off an 1-8, as was Int. Pete to sell at 1. B. A. fell just below 17.

City Dairy held well, taking on ½ to 66, Ford, Gypsum, Weston's, Service Stations, and Goodyear Tire common all went unchanged.

IMPORTANT ISSUES TAKE DROP FROM 2 TO 8 POINTS OR MORE

Sales During the First Two Hours Aggregated 1,378,000 Shares.

UTILITIES UNDER PRESSURE.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 8. (CP)—The long becalmed stock market was driven far out of the course chartered by the bull leaders in a sudden storm of liquidation today. Important stocks generally were devessed 2 to 8 points or more, as the heaviest selling experienced in several days was loosened by such undermining developments as dividend cuts, slackening steel mill out-put and a sharp break in cotton.

Sales during the first two hours aggregated 1,378,000 shares, exceeding the average turnover for the past four full five hour sessions. Rails and Utilities were under particularly heavy pressure. Real liquidation of long holdings of stock was said in brokerage circles to be in substantial volume, but professional traders were increasingly active on the short side of the market.

The loaning rates indicated that the rails, in particular were choice targets of the professional bear element. Practically every carrier stock was loaning flat.

The speculative fraternity was still confused over the probably effects of the severe drought. The government cotton report as of Aug. 1 placed the crop about 100,000 bales higher than generally expected, which caused immediate decline of $2.50 to $3 a bale in the New York futures market.

Although wheat made good progress during the early hours of trading the collapse in cotton brought a moderate reacton even in that market.

DORION ELECTED IN LAURENTIDES

Conservative Wins Second Recount By Majority of 47 Votes.

110 VOTES COUNTED WRONG.

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 8. (C.P.)—An official recount of poll No. 2 in Notre Dame Les Laurentides, presided over by Chief Justice Sir Francois Lemieux, declares Charles N. Dorion, K.C., Conservative elected to Parliament from Quebec County over H. E. Lavieueur, Liberal, and F. X. Galibois, Independent.

The Conservative was declared elected on election night, a decision later reversed by the returning officer for the County, who last Friday announced Col. Lavigueur, Liberal elected. Mr. Dorion asked for a recount of the Notre Dame Des Laurentides poll, which bore out his contention that through an error on the part of the deputy returning officer 110 votes intended for him had been awarded to the Independent candidate. Mr. Dorion is elected by a majority of 47 votes over Col. Lavigeur, former Liberal member.

GREATER FIELD IS FORESEEN FOR RED CROSS WORK

British Society Celebrates Diamond Jubilee of Its Foundation.

IN FRANCO-PRUSSIAN WAR.

During Past 60 Years Public Subscribed Over £23,000,000.

TORONTO, Ont., August 8 (C.P.).—A greater and ever-expanding field for Red Cross work and workers is foreseen by Sir Arthur Stanley, chairman of the British Red Cross Society, which is to-day celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of its foundation during the Franco-Prussian War on August 8, 1870.

In a cablegram to the Canadian Red Cross Society to-day Sir Arthur, who is a son of Lord Stanley, a former Governor-General of Canada, said: "On looking back one cannot help being struck by the wonderful generosity of the British public who between 1870 and the present day (including the Great War when the main activities of the British Red Cross Society were carried out in conjunction with the Order of St John) have subscribed well over £23,000,000 for its work.

Filled Useful Place.

"We may perhaps be allowed to take this generous support given to us by the public as an indication that we have filled a useful place in the community and that our efforts in ministering to the sick and suffering of the naval, military, and air forces of the Crown as the agents of the public have met with their approval. In looking forward we see an even greater and ever-expanding field for Red Cross work and workers. Our royal charter has been enlarged and now includes the prevention of disease, the improvement of health, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

Belle Isle Strait Given New Beacon

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 8 (C.P.).—A new automatic beacon was placed in commission to-day at Cape Bauld at the easterly entrance to the Belle Isle Straits, whereby Atlantic liners can take their bearings when making the Canadian coast, the Department of Marine announces. This station functions automatically once an hour, day and night, in fair weather and continuously in foggy weather. The C.P.R. liner "Empress of France" was the first ship to take bearings from this beacon, and reports excellent bearings at a distance of 110 miles.

CONDITIONS ARE MOST FAVORABLE AT PORCUPINE

Hollingers Consolidated is Considered to be Looking Better at Present Time.

CALMONT TO BONUS.

Big Profits Are Looed For From the New Granada Mill.

TORONTO, Aug. 8. (Special to the Examiner.)—Recent visitors to the Kirkland Lake and Porcupine camps bring word of activity and very favorable conditions in these districts. An engineer who has just returned to the city reports Hollingers Consolidated is generally considered to be looking better at present than it has at any time since the fire. The company, he states, is also displaying interest in a gold property in Keefer township, west of Timmins, and it is understood to be taking an option with a view to giving it a thorough investigation.

It is definitely established the deal between Mining Corporation, and Abana Mines was signed, sealed and delivered in Montreal last night, the first $50,000 to cover indebtedness on the Abana property being handed over by the former company.

Assumes Full Charge.

Mining Corporation now assumes complete charge of operations at Abana, and will advance additional funds as they are needed in the future. Just what effect this will have on the policy of the company regarding mill construction is rather uncertain, rumor hinting at the possibility that production will be held up pending a turn for the better in either copper or zinc prices.

It is learned the first clean-ore at the new Granada mill will be made some time next week. Operations there are taking the form of a general sampling of the grade coming direct from the underground workings as well as a sampling of the ore contained in two large ore dumps on surface. The clean-up should provide some early officials details on which to base some idea of the success attained. The mail started off at about 40-tons daily though the ultimate capacity, may be close to 200-tons per day.

Officials believe that at only 40-tons the enterprise may be made to pay, and that at the ultimate rate the profits should be important.

For sometime the street has been noting a growing intimacy between the interests of Consolidated Smelters and the Lindsley Group. Thayer Lindsley has been elected a member of Smelters board and Ventures has secured an interest in several enterprises with which the former company is identified, notably The Copper Refinery at Copper Cliff, the proposed zinc refinery in eastern Canada and the northern lead and zinc effort at Great Slave Lake. It is whispered now that Sherritt Gordon and Smelters may be even more closely connected in the near future.

Calmont to Give Bonus

The announcement that Calmont will distribute a bonus of three shares for each share outstanding recalls the fact that in September, 1929, the company's authorized capitalization was increased from 2,000,000 shares of $1.00 par value to 10,000,000 shares of the same denomination. Although no definite statement was made at that time, it was generally understood a bonus of 4 shares for each share outstanding would be paid. The plain of distributing additional shares as a stock bonus rather than through a stock split allowed the company to retain the par value of its shares at $1.00.

It is interesting to note that Imperial Oil controlled by Standard Oil of New Jersey, will tie into the new pipe line running from the Oklahoma field to the north just below Toledo, and will carry the oil to its refinery at Sarnia, Ontario. The importance of imports into this country. A large part of which comes in through pipe lines, is shown by the fact Toronto-Canadian Oil imports for May amounted to 2,362,211 barrels or nearly double the total for May last.

WINNIPEG WHEAT OPENING.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 8.—(C.P.)—Wheat 1 1-8c to 1-8c higher at $1.05 to $1.03; December 1c higher to 3-8c lower at $1.05 to $1.04¼; May, 1 1-8c to 1-8c lower at $1.12 to $1.10 7-8.

Tickets good on either railroads or bus lines at will are being sold in Scotland.

EPIDEMIC FEARED

term the scourge — has appeared somewhat earlier in the summer than usual, according to the Medical Health Officer, and the peak should be reached some time this month or early in September. Whereas last year saw the majority of cases brought to a physician, most of the cases this year have been brought to the notice of the medical profession after paralysis had set in.

One instance in this district which Dr. Sutton cited as typical was that in which a Hastings farmer's wife and two children had developed a slight illness during the last week in July. Little had been thought of it, and no doctor consulted. On the Saturday of that week the farmer himself did not feel well. On Monday he was showing some slight musoular weakness. On Tuesday he was extremely paralyzed. On Wednesday night he died of complete paralysis, involving even the muscles of respiration. The remainder of the family proved immune to the virus and fe-covered completely.

"If the man had consulted a doctor," the Health Officer commented, "he would have been given the serum Sunday or Monday and he would have been alive and well to-day.

People Must Waken Up

"The disease is appearing among our own permanent residents of the district," said Dr. Sutton, "but it has not been present among visitors or the summer population. I am quite aware what an epidemic 'scare' might do to the summer trade, but this district is going to be hit—and hit hard—unless the people awake to the situation."

According to tests, rural children are never immune to anterior poliomyelitis, and not more than 40 per cent of rural adults. There is less danger in the cities.

The germ of the disease has never been discovered; is probably too fine for the finest microscope, according to the doctor. The serum, however, works miracles if applied in time.

"It is almost certain that the disease will spread here," stated Dr. Sutton, "since there are so many abortive cases which never develop to the serious extent of paralysis. There are at least ten of the latter to one which develops.

"Infection is very difficult to control. The provincial Department through the medical officers of health provides the convalescent serum, which we have ample proof will prevent paralysis if the case is recognized in time. The present incursion of the disease in this district should not result in further deaths or paralysis if the general public, and particularly parents, awake to the danger that is present, and cooly and without excitement, keep tab on the health of families, acquaint themselves with the characteristics of the disease, and seek their physician should these symptoms be observed."

If in doubt, parents should err on the safe side, the doctor observed.

MONTREAL GUARD TAKEN OFF R-100

Alderman Orders 100 Policemen Back to City When Admittance Refused Him.

WILL NOT ATTEND BANQUET.

MONTREAL, Que., August 8 (C.P.). — Challenged by the military guards at the base of the mooring mast at St. Hubert Airport when he went to inspect the R-100 yesterday Alderman Bray, chairman of the city executive, returned immediately to the City Hall and ordered Director of Police Langevin to withdraw the hundred Montreal police on duty at the airport. He declared to newspapermen that soldiers had told him to "Get back, you'll have to wait" despite the fact that he had explained his identity. Alderman Bray said he waited an hour and a half to get aboard the dirigible before returning to the city with his party. He told newspapermen he would not attend the civic banquet in honor of the officers of the R-100 to-night.

Controller Seeks Peace.

J. A. Wilson, Controller of Civil Aviation in Canada, visited Alderman Bray at the City Hall bent on conciliation. He was closeted with the leader of the City Government for ten minutes, which apparently effected a mild change in the ruffled attitude of Alderman Bray. He would not say if the police would be sent back to the airport.

The incident occurred when the leader of the city executive went to see the airship with a party of friends and relatives. There was a line waiting to get aboard the dirigible, on which only a small party of fifteen or twenty is allowed to visit at one time. Producing his card of invitation, Alderman Bray sought to enter the airship, but was marshalled to one side by the military. Mr. Wilson said he had apologized for any unintentional rudeness on the part of the men in the tower.

MALAVIYA GIVEN FREEDOM

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 8.—(AP) — Pandit Malaviya, who was fined 100 rupees yesterday in connection with a civil disobedience demonstration last Saturday, was released from jail to-night and received a great ovation as he walked forth.

When the Pandit was sentenced yesterday he was given his choice of paying the fine, which amounted to about $36 or spending fifteen days in jail. An unidentified person paid the fine to-night and Malaviya was free.

NEW BROADCAST STATION PLANNED

London Short Wave Transmitter Heard in Remotest Part of Empire.

DAILY PROGRAM.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(C. P. Cable.)—Great Britain is to have a permanent short wave Empire broadcast station with world-wide range, according to the News-Chronicle. This step is the result of negotiations between the British Broadcasting Corporation and the Colonial Office. Various overseas authorities have co-operated with the B. C. C. to purchase land adjoining the Daventry broadcasting station. Here a short wave transmitter will be erected capable of being heard in the remotest parts of the Empire.

The cost of the installation will be met by the Colonial Office, with the assistance of the colonies themselves, it is reported, and the Dominions will probably be asked to contribute also when the Imperial Conference meets.

The treasury has provisionally agreed to find $100,000 for the original outlay, while the B. B. C. will provide programs free. Work will probably be begun on the new transmitter within three or four months. The Empire broadcast would at first be operated for only a limited period each day.

of the ship, and requested to remove their shoes, in stocking feet they were paraded through.

Many of the visitors were so excited after the return trip down the mooring tower elevator, that they completely forgot the cigarettes, and lighters and matches they had checked in pigeon-holes at the door. They all seemed anxious to get out of the crush and look at the ship again from the outside, estimating just what distance they had been from the nose of the dirigible.

In spite of the hours of waiting, the majority of the visitors were very patient. The crowd realized that only small parties could enter the elevator, and he safely handled aboard the R-100 for the opportunity to inspect her 200 feet above the ground.

ROBBER IS SHOT POLICE STATION

Suspect Snatches Detective's Pistol and Wounds Two Officers.

KILLED IN ESCAPING.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 8.—A robber suspect was shot and killed in a police station to-day after he had snatched a detective's pistol and wounded two officers in an attempt to shoot his way out.

Detective Harry Bloomfield of the Highbridge Station was making a fingerprint record of the suspect, Robilion Fernandez, 26, negro. Fernandez leaned over, seized Bloomfield's pistol from the holder and shot Patrolman Richard Elfers who was guarding other prisoners. He then shot Bloomfield in the chest. The detective, despite his wound, wrested the gun from the prisoner and shot him through the head.

BISHOPS' SESSION DRAWS NEAR END

Few Statements Issued on Proceedings of Lambeth Conference.

KEEP BALANCED OPINIONS.

LONDON, England, Aug. 8 (By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent).—The Lambeth Conference, comprising Bishops of the Anglican Communion from all corners of the earth, closes this week. At least it has proved to the entirely worldly-minded that these good shepherds who wear the rochet and carry the pastoral staff know how to maintain their own counsel collectively. It is true a short statement has been published every night, giving the subject of the day's discussion and the chief participants in it. The only definite conclusion to be gained from these announcements is that the Archbishop of Canterbury as President, endeavors to maintain an exact balance of delivery of opinion from these high officers of Anglicanism.

In general, the balance is carefully observed. A Bishop of the Church at home who rules a diocese of one or two hundred square miles and several millions of population will be followed by a Bishop from afar, who superintends an area of some millions of square miles, and a population of a few hundred white men. Much the same diversity would doubtless be discovered if the schools of thought to which these grave participants in debate belong were to be analysed. It is expected the report of the conference will be published within a few weeks.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE T O THE EXAMINER

TORONTO, Aug. 8. (Special to th Examiner.) — New offerings of bonds will be found in the neighborhood of present prices if and when an active public demand materializes, in the opinion of Standard Statistics Company, New York. Such a development is not likely to be delayed indefinitely, except in the case of a revival of speculative interest in equity shares and this is considered a remote contingency. Standard statistics further believes it is entirely possible that during the fall months, a market for fixed-interest obligations may be witnessed which, in strength and activity, will be without parallel in recent years. Despite recent irregularity in the stock market, prices of high grade fixed interest obligations have continued to move steadily forward. That the upward movement is likely to make further progress is definitely indicated by analysis of fundamental factors governing trends of bond values.

The current situation, both as respects credit conditions and commodity prices, is more definitely favorable to the buyer of long term fixed interest securities than at any time in the last decade. It is regarded as particularly significant that the advance in high grade bonds has thus far been accomplished on a comparatively small turn-over and virtually without participation on the part of individual investors. Standards statistics states buying has originated almost exclusively with banks, insurance companies and other institutions.

Canadians interested in the welfare and progress of their own country should invest in securities of companies actively operating in the Dominion. Such procedure ensures an ample supply of capital to develop out natural resources, but manufacturing on a plane where it can compete with industries of other nations and enable Canada to take her rightful position among the front rank of nations of the world. Investors are constantly being appealed to, rather to purchase stocks of sound Canadian companies than send their funds to Wall Street. On the other hand, the public at the present time has a strong argument against carrying Canadian securities and call the banks for being at the root of the trouble. Interest rates in Canada continue abnormally high in comparison with other countries where the central banks have lowered the rediscount rate by successive stages until rates now are 2 and 3 per cent. Accounts carried with brokers in Wall Street are charged interest according to the prevailing rate of the month in the call money market, a market which varies from day to day. With money cheap in the United States, accounts can be carried there around 3 per cent, compared with seven per cent in Canada. It must not be lost sight of however, that rates are stable the year around in Canada and that when interest charges for Wall Street accounts were ranging up to as high as twenty per cent, the prevailing charges here was seven and seven and one half per cent.

DESCENDANTS OF LATE PETER SINE HOLD BIG RE-UNION AT STIRLING

About 100 Years Ago Family Took Up Residence in Rawdon Township.

OVER 400 ATTEND

(Examiner Correspondence)

STIRLING, Aug. 8.—Of late years family re-unions have become quite common events throughout the country and no more so than here, until there is very few of the pioneer families who are not having their annual gathering. It remained for the Sine family to organize and plan such an organization a few months ago. A number of the name met in the Agricultural room here and organized for their first re-union electing the following officers: F. P. Sine, Foxboro, President; M. B. Sine, Corresponding Secretary, Frankford, R. R.; George E. Sine, Frankford, Recording Secretary and M. W. Sine, Stirling, Treasurer, to carry on the work and hold the first gathering of the family at Stirling fair grounds on Wednesday. Three hundred invitation cards were printed and sent to all those whose names were furnished the secretary. All his cards were exhausted before he had come to the end of his mailing list.

The day Aug. 6th came, and with its early hours the assemblage began to arrive until neaaring the noon hour between 400 and 500 people, young and old were gathered at the Agricultural park at the west end of the village. The forenoon was spent in getting acquainted with one another as a great many had never known or met each other. Mrs. M. B. Sine had drawn a family tree which was the centre of attraction the greater part of the day.

Came to Canada in 1787

This drawing showed that one Peter Sine came to Canada from Montgomery County, New York State shortly after the American Revolution that is about the year 1787 and settled in the sixth concession of the Township of Sidney. Four sons and three daughters were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sine. Three of the sons, James, William and Peter moved with their families to the fifth concession of Rawdon Township about 100 years ago, where they have increased in number and become honored citizens of the community. One of the daughters of Peter Sine married a Wright. From this source the Sine blood is found in the Johnston's, Kemps, Moores, Hams and others.

Two of the third generation were present, viz Benson Sine of Wallbridge, who was the youngest son of James, son of Peter, and Mrs. Spencer of the front of Thurlow Township who was a daughter of Thomas Sine and granddaughter of Peter. Tables were laid for nearly 400 and at these a happy grouping of families enjoyed themselves. When due justice had been accorded this part of the program. It was carried unanimously that the family gather in the same place, the date to be set by a committee. The officers of 1930 were all re-elected. The secretary read several letters and telegrams from those who were unable to be present. Short speeches were made by Mr. Clifford Sine of Gananoque and Mr. Fred Sine of Sydenham, Ont., who is Professor in Science at Queen's University as well as principal of Sydenham High School. These are sons of George W. Sine, a former principal of Stirling public school. Mr. Leonard Sine of Wallbridge, Sidney won the prize of a box of confectionery for having the greatest number of descendants present. Mrs. Adelade Hamilton was given a boquet of flowers as she was the oldest lady present. Games of races, baseball and other sports was the amusement for the younger class, while others were renewing old and forming new friendships.

It was a busy day for the registrar as nearly 400 names were entered in the book.

Fancy caps were worn as decorations by a large number. A booth managed by Messrs. M. Sine, G. Sine, E. Sarles and S. Murphy furnished ice cream and cool drinks, which was a pleasing and profitable feature of the occasion.

TREATY PLANE FINISHES TOUR

Party Has Close Call as Machine is Forced Down on Hudson River.

TRUSTY INDIANS HELP.

TORONTO, Aug. 8. — Forced to battle for their lives against storms and fogs which more than once caused their plane to make a forced landing, the Indian treaty party, which left Ottawa on July 2 to negotiate treaties with tribes in the wilds of Ontario, successfully completed the circuit of Ontario's hinterland on August 6 and landed at Remi Lake yesterday.

Disaster overtook the party below the rapids at the mouth of the Hudson River near Winisk when the plane was forced down on the water in the teeth of a terrific gale. The craft was driven on a rock shoal, but further mishap was avoided by the efforts of the pilot, Flight-Lieutenant Dave Harding, and several trusty Indians, who brought the plane to a safe harborage just as it was starting to sink. The machine was damaged and there was a delay of two days until repairs could be effected.

News of the party's adventure was contained in a telegram sent to Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, by W. C. Cain, Deputy Minister, who is one of the party.

Perilous situations abounded on the trip, but by dint of tremendous efforts and the assistance of trusty Indians the members of the party came through without harm.

"Landed to-day at Remi Lake, personnel of party being all well," was the cheering message of the Deputy Minister from Kapuskasing.

Flying over wild and lonely country, beset by sudden squalls which presented a constant menace to the safety of the plane and its occupants, forced down below the rapids at the mount of the Hudson River but overcoming all obstacles in their path, the little band triumphed over the elements and completed their adventurous flight.

NORWOOD RINKS WIN IN FINALS

Splendid Tournament is Held By Norwood Lawn Bowling Club.

COBOURG IS BEATEN.

NORWOOD, August 8. — Civic holiday, Monday, August 4, was a gala occasion for the Norwood lawn bowlers. The day was celebrated by holding their first tournament since the club was organized about three years ago. In spite of the many counter attractions there was a large turnout of bowlers from all parts of the district, one rink coming from as far west as Brantford. While the early part of the day was hot, the late afternoon and evening was delightfully cool and almost perfect for bowling. The grounds were handsomely decorated for the occasion, the local ladies operated a booth on the grounds and were kept busy throughout the day serving cold drinks, etc. Quite a number of ladies accompanied the bowlers from outside points and spent the day in watching the games and picnicking. Towards evening the grounds were crowded with spectators watching the semi-finals and finals being played off, and it was well on to midnight before the final games were decided. M. Carter of Norwood, with his rink composed of John Riseborough, P. M. Grover, and K. F. Kempt, carried off the honors in the primary event by defeating William Delaney of Cobourg. In the consolation event R. T. Stillman of Brantford defeated C. Jones of Hastings, and in the hard luck, A. M. Smale of Warkworth defeated D. B. Cutcliffe of Norwood. Sixteen handsome prizes were donated to the winners. On the whole the games were closely contested, several ties having to be broken at the 12th end. The play was as follows:

NOTED DOORMAN DIES IN NEW YORK

Thomas J. Bull Missed Only 14 Performances Since Metropolitan Opera Opened.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 8 (C. P.). — Thomas Jacob Bull, head doorman at the Metropolitan Opera House since it opened 47 years ago, died yesterday in St. Vincent's Hospital. He was 78.

From the night of October 22, 1883, when the Metropolitan threw open its doors for its premiere with Ital Camanini and Christine Nilsson singing "Faust" until the end of the season just closed, Mr. Bull was at the door taking tickets. In that time he missed only 14 performances. That was during the season of 1922, when he was ill for two weeks.

He knew Caruso, Tetrazzini, Sembrich, Melba, Nordica, Farrar, and a host of lesser stars of the operatic world. The brilliant throngs of opera-goers were known to him by name and face. Box-holders never needed to show their credentials more than once. He remembered them.

On Steep Grades... Don't Try to Pass

There's danger in driving up steep grades in the middle of the road. A car which you cannot see, may approach you from the opposite direction.

Keep in the traffic line on the right side of the road whenever you cannot see a reasonable distance ahead.

The approaching driver may not have time to turn out for you. If he does not do so, there's a crash . . . yourself and others hurt and cars smashed up.

DEATHS AND MARRIAGES INCREASE IN DOMINION DURING YEAR 1929

Births Drop 1,842 Compared With 1928—Traffic Toll is 2,198.

834 SUICIDES

The preliminary report of vital statistics of Canada for 1929, issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, shows a decrease of 1,842 in the number of births, an increase of 4,393 in deaths and an increase of 2,954 in marriages as compared with the preceding year.

Living births in 1929 numbered 234,915 giving a rate of 24.0 per 1,000 population. This rate compared with 24.5 in 1928, 24.6 in 1927 and 24.8 in 1926.

There were 113,450 deaths in 1929 and the death rate was 11.6 per 1,000 population, as against 11.3 in 1928, 11.1 in 1927 and 11.5 in 1926. The pronounced increase in 1929 in the number of deaths and the death rate was largely due to the influenza epidemic which had its peak in January of that year. Deaths assigned to this cause numbered 7,168 during the year as compared with 4,703 in 1928, 3,451 in 1927 and 5,174 in 1926. The influenza death rate in 1929 was 72 per 100,000 as against 49 in 1928, 36 in 1927 and 55 in 1926. Diphtheria accounted for 981 deaths in 1929, giving a rate of 10 per 100,000; whooping cough for 755 deaths and a rate of 8; measles, 619 deaths and a rate of 6; typhoid fever for 467 deaths and a rate of 5; scarlet fever for 440 deaths and a rate of 4.5. The deaths from measles showed an increase of 282 over the preceding year, but were almost identical with the number in 1927.

The 1929 death rate from diseases of the heart was 135 per 100,000 which compared with 131 in 1928, 124 in 1927 and 122 in 1926. The cancer rate was 90 in 1929, against 88 in the preceding year, 83 in 1927 and 81 in 1926. Amongst other important causes in 1929 were pneumonia with a rate of 86, tuberculosis with 79.5, diseases of the arteries with 61, nephritis with 58 and diarrhoea and enteritis (mainly amongst infants) with 50 per 100,000 population.

7,136 Violent Deaths.

Violent deaths numbered 7,136 during 1929, and the rate was 73 per 100,000. Traffic accidents contributed 2,198 deaths to the total, and in 1,294 of these cases automobiles were involved. Accidental drownings numbered 947. There were 834 suicides in 1929, this gure comparing with 751 in 1928, 759 in 1927 and 680 in 1926. The number of homicides in 1929 was 181.

Deaths of infants under one year of age totalled 21,667 during the year under review, giving a rate of 92 per 1,000 births. The corresponding rates of earlier years were 89.5 in 1928, 94 in 1927 and 102 in 1926. All provinces except Quebec showed higher rates of infant mortality in 1929 than in 1928. In the province named the rate fell from 124 in 1928 to 120.5 in 1929.

Marriages numbered 77,265 during the year under review, as compared with 74,311 in 1928, 69,515 in 1527 and 66,656 in 1926. The rate for 1929 was 7.9 per 1,000 population, against 7.7 in the preceding year, 7.3 in 1927 and 7.1 in 1926. In the eight provinces comprising the Registration Area as of 1921, the number of marriges and the marriage rate were higher in 1929 than in any other year during the period 1921-29.

LICENSES HAVE BEEN TAKEN OUT FOR 503 DOGS IN PETERBOROUGH

Classification Varies From the Aristocratic Spitz to the Perky Pomeranian.

TERRIERS HEAD LIST

An inspection of the official "Who's Who" of Peterborough dogdom, the license register at the Police Station, reveals that there are over 503 dogs in the city at the present time. Dogs born since May 15, for which licenses are not required, and a few strays would not be included in this figure.

The register indicated that all the more common varieties of dogs are well-represented in Peterborough. Classifications range from the nondescript mongrel to the aristocratic Spitz and from the perky Pomeranian to the massive Newfoundland. As the classification of the dog for which the license is being bought is left entirely to the discretion of the owner, it is to be suspected that an accurate investigation would necessitate the allocation of the greater portion of the animals, which now enjoy more distinguished names, to the mongrel column. Many dogs are saved from such lowly classification only by the pride of their owners, it is thought. At the same time, many a dog owner registers his mongrel pet at the station with as much pride as one would register a costly Shepherd or Pointer.

Terriers Head the List

Dogs under the general classification of Terriers lead the list in Peterborough with a total of 76. This total is made up largely of Fox Terriers but includes several Irish Terriers, Wire Haired Terriers, Bull Terriers and Scotch Terriers. Two Irish Skye Terriers are registered.

The Boston Bull Terrier classification runs a close second with 75, including four French terriers and one English Pit Bull. Pomeranians come next on the list, there being 61. Fifty-two strong, the mongrel classification holds fourth place, but is almost equalled by the Spaniel division which claims 51. Collie dogs used to lead the dog list in the city but this year number only 50. The Police Dog which not long ago was a rarity in this district, now seems to be decidedly popular. There are 48.

Other classifications are as follows: Airdales, 25; Hounds, 21; Pekingese, 8, Setters, 2; Coach Hounds, 2; Retrievers, 2; Beagles, 1; Greyhounds, 1; Danes, 1; Poodles, 8; Spitz, 10; Huskies, 2; Newfoundlands, 3; Wolfhounds 1.

As well, four kennels have been registered. The dogs in kennels are not recorded separately.

MONACA ROD CLUB LEAVES FOR HOME

About 40 Fishermen Comprised Which Has Spent Three Weeks in District.

The Monaca Rod and Gun Club of Monaca, Pa., a smaller municipality about 20 miles from Pittsburgh, having spent three weeks on the shores of Lake Katchewanooka left yesterday via Canadian National Railway for their home town. They reported the fishing fairly good. In one instance 13 bass were caught by two fishermen in a few hours.

About 40 fishermen comprised the camp. They brought with them one baggage car and two coaches and their camp as described by the many who saw it, as the most complete of its kind ever seen in this district. It included splendid refrigeration services, kitchen, dining-hall, radio, etc., etc.

This club has been coming to Canada for about 25 years, and this year was their first in this immediate district. Preliminary arragements were made for their coming at the Pittsburgh Sportsman and Outdoor Show where the Chamber of Commerce and Trent Waterway Association had an exhibit for eight days last spring.

The club was most successful in catching turtles, many of them weighing as high as 25 pounds. They took back with them, crated, about 19 splendid specimens, crate weighing 275 pounds.

It is expected that arrangements will be made for their return to the Kawartha Lakes another season.

KEEN DISCUSSIONS.

MARMORA, Aug. 8 (Examiner Correspondence)—The monthly meeting of the Madoc District Cheesemakers' Association was held at the Town Hall, Madoc, on Thursday evening, with President W. E. Before the meeting adjourned, W. J. Cottrell was called upon for a speech to be followed by W. E. Inside The R-100

(By William Edgar.)

When that inhospitable "bump" over the St. Lawrence, hit the R-100 and carried the huge ship from an altitude of 1,400 feet up to 4,000 feet in the twinkling of an eye, her nose was actually pointed earthwards to correct the effects of the early part of the rapidly climbing air current which had started to point her forward end skywards. When she arrived at the top of the "bump" she was at an angle of almost 30 degree with the horizontal. In that position she took a sheer drop of 1,000 feet, which naturally caused a most unusual strain on her covering.

Such, in brief, is the explanation of the tearing of the fabric covering the fin which was by all odds the most exciting episode of the crossing of the Atlantic, which will make August 1st, a day forever memorable in Canadian annals. This explanation was given as the official view by Squadron Leader A. H. Wann, who described himself as a supernumerary, but is in fact, a technical observer. It was given to a party of newspapermen, while inspection was being made of the control cabin of the dirigible. It was my extreme good fortune to be among the number permitted to go on board the world's newest air monster.

No Matches or Lighters.

Prior to our being taken to the top of the mooring mast in the comfortable passenger elevator, which is one of its chief features, we received instructions to leave behind all matches and automatic lighters. We were also told to change leather-soled shoes for canvas ones with rubber "understandings". The ship had been taking on hydrogen gas, and every precaution was necessary against even the smallest spark such as a nail might cause.

The top deck of the mast or tower, is a full storey above the highest floor reached by the elevator. Its most important detail next to the superstructure containing the mooring arm (which projects still higher), is a platform furnished with steps, all of which can be made to revolve according to the direction in which the moored dirigible is pointing.

The cone of the airship having been duly made fast to the tower head cup by means of locking pins, one of the nose panels of the ship is lowered to rest on the platform. Side walls are made by canvas sheets lowered from the opening in the airship. The shape of the completed entrance resembles nothing so much as the well-known "scoop" pourer on a carton of salt.

Heavy rain had been falling before we began our journey, and it was easily understood from the streams of water flowing down the sides of the dirigible how much water accumulates on her casing during a storm—also how it had been possible to collect, during her stormy voyage, a quantity exactly equal to the amount with which she started from Cardington, namely four tons.

200 Feet Above Ground.

The most thrilling step of all was that to our platform to airship gangplank—200 feet above the ground. "Be careful on the steps and the platform", Squadron Leader Wann warned us. "They are very slippery with the rain, and we don't want any accidents". The ordeal of entrance was successfully stood by all.

Glancing overhead at the moment of starting down the short stairway, with shallow steps which forms the inside approach to airship's front doorway, I noticed the drums carrying the steel cables which are paid out during mooring operations. At the foot of the steps an inclined plane leads down to the walking-way; this is about two feet wide. Members of the crew going "ashore" passed us quite comfortably and without arousing the slightest apprehension. The catwalk" in the R-100 is much higher up, far away from the keel and towards the top of the fifteen gasbags.

At the foot of the inclined plane, Squadron Leader Wann stopped us. Here he pointed out a canvas-covered tube running alongside and below the walking-way. This, he explained, was the hydrogen-tube and connected with all the gas-bags. He also directed our attention to huge canvas "stockings" used to carry emergency water ballast. Below us were round copper tanks, 42 of which are to be found in the ship containing the fuel supply; the gasoline is pumped to a tank over the engines which it reaches thence by gravity. On the outside covering of the dirigible are triangular openings used to ventilate the keelway but capable of being closed when necessary. There admitted too the only direct light at this stage of our trip, for the electricity had been turned off because of the gassing. The half-light resembled that of the interior of big tent towards dusk.

Large Gas Bags.

Before we proceeded our guided asked us to observe the gas bag nearest to the bow of the ship, which he described as being 95 per cent filled. It appeared quite circular overhead as far as we could see. I should mention that there is ample headroom on the walking-way, even for a tall man, one of our number measuring six foot three, but being able to pass under the transverse beams with ease. A strip of canvas runs longitudinally overhead, supported by these beams and resting on wires (like piano-wires) the purpose of which is to control valves on the gas bags.

"That canvas," said Squadron-Leader Wann when we had advanced ten yards or so, "prevents the wires rubbing on the gas-bags when they are filled completely, The wires run from the control cabin."

We had now reached the third fram or section of the ship. About twenty feet above us in the gloom we could discern the under-side of a gas-bag, which our guide told us was only 50 per cent filled. The bags are made of single thickness of cotton lined on the inside with gold-beater skin," said our guide. "Goldbeater skin is made from the intestines of cows, each cow giving a piece about four inches square. I don't know how many cows are represented, probably millions; the number is colossal. The skins are fastened to the cotton by a special cement. The same firm made these as makes the gas-bags for the Zeppelins. No firm in England has the experience or plant to deal with gasbags of this size."

On entering the fifth, frame, we were called over to look down into the control car corresponding to the bridge of a liner. Well lighted through its celluloid windows which form a bay in front and permit splendid visibility, this car has two wheels, (one for horizontal and the other for vertical steering), which exactly resemble those on ships. Here are compass and gauges, with other controlling mechanism Aft is a division which prevents the wireless cabin from being looked into from above, and also separates it from "the bridge."

Engines Make No Noise.

"Absolutely no noise from the engines is heard here," said Squadron-Leader Wann in answer to an enquiry. "They are so far aft, and the speed of the ship carries the sound away from them. Except for a slight whistling from the wind this place is dead quiet."

The chart from where the navigating officer "does his stuff" is immediately above the ladder leading down into the control car. Here too, is a cabin with metal-framed bunks and canvas in lieu of metal mattresses. Curtains painted with non-inflamable paint, serve instead of doors.

A few steps now brought us to the crew's quarters. Here some of the men were off duty were busily engaged in reading newspapers as best they might in the half-light, or cleaning up before going ashore. A game of cards was in progress, and yet others of the men were resting.

Only a short distance away came the biggest surprise of the whole inspection—the passenger accommodation. Suddenly we found ourselves in the dining saloon, a huge room almost 30 feet square and roughly 30 feet high. Here were by actual count, 22 rattan chairs, gay with new blue paint, and five tables to seat six each. Room for 56 seats, is available, we were told. Neat blue tablecloths were in position.

On one side of the saloon is the galley, with a sliding hatch. Here we observed neat cupboards and electrical cooking arrangements. Cabins and two promenade decks occupy the rest of this floor; cabins are mostly four-berthed, but not all were in commission when we saw them.

Two Balcony Decks.

A lounge deck and two wonderful balcony decks, each with a view through the hull, are on the floor above,reached by a wide stairway, and there is yet another passenger deck. All told there is accommodation for 100 passengers. The crew's quarters are on the lowest of the three decks.

We were not shown the after part of the ship, but out guide permitted questions to be asked while we were in the commodious balcony decks. He explained that the expansion of the hydrogen caused by warmer air is taken care of by valves which "blow" off automatically when a certain pressure is reached; gas can also be valved off from the control cabin; special "flues" conduct it to the top of the dirigible and clear outside the fabric cover.

"We burnt 30 out of 35 tons of fuel coming over," said Squadron-Leader Wann," and this made it necessary to lower the quantity of hydrogen in the bags, otherwise the ship in its lightened state, would have been inclined to go right up to heaven. For the same reason we are glad now to be able to collect water, because additional ballast has the same effect; buoyancy is reduced without loosing off so much hydrogen."

Explaining the dropping of water ballast during mooring operations, our guide said that a more buoyant bag was necessary to tauten the cable once connection with the mooring main cable had been made. More ballast was then dropped to "trim ship" and also because the winches could more easily pull down a lightened ship.

On returning to land I had some conversation with a member of the engineer staff of the R-100 "R-a hundred" they all call her) who must be nameless. "Montreal looks even more wonderful from the air than London," he said. "This airport is a long way ahead of Croydon, which is our best; St. Hubert will be a glorious port when all the drainage has been put in."

I also learnt from this engineer that much of the woodwork in the ship is of Balsam wood, which is a third lighter than cork and much stronger. He was delighted with his reception in Canada, said this capable young engineer, adding that all the crew felt the same way.

The official reception on Saturday afternoon, August 2, served to give expression to the feelings Canada has experience sinced this historic arrival. Perhaps the outstanding remarks were those by the chairman, Col. Ralston, who referred to the ship as "an argosy of the Commonwealth floating triumphantly in her home port overseas," and the promise by Sir Dennistoun Burney, that he was returning to England to construct a ship twice the size, with a speed of 85 miles an hour. Let Canadian imagination conjure up what that means.

LEADERSHIP

The Ford is Outselling Every Other Car in Canada by a Large and Constantly Increasing Margin

THE NEW FORD TOWN SEDAN

THE Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, was organized twenty-six years ago. The business was started in a small frame building and the entire first year's production totaled only 117 cars.

Today the fine modern plant covers many acres of ground and the average payroll is in excess of $11,000,000 a year. The first force of 17 men has grown to a peak of 7500, and the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is one of the leading industrial organizations of the Dominion. Canadians may well be proud of the Ford, for it is practically all made in Canada, of Canadian materials, and by Canadian workmen.

That the public appreciates the unusual value built into the Ford is shown by its ever-increasing popularity. In many sections, 50% to 70% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

Following are just a few of the many features that make the Ford a value far above the price:

ECONOMY—You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive. During the life of the car, the saving on operation, up-keep and depreciation will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

RELIABILITY — The new Ford has been built to endure. Every part has been carefully made of good materials to give you many years of satisfactory service. Many of the new Fords have already gone 50,000, 75,000 and 100,000 miles.

SPEED AND ACCELERATION — The new Ford will do 55 to 65 miles an hour. Everywhere you go you note its power on the hills and its unusual acceleration in traffic.

ROADABILITY — From all over the Dominion come letters telling of the good performance of the new Ford on rough roads and through heavy mud and sand. In winter, particularly, it has successfully traveled many roads once thought impassable.

COMFORT — Every Ford car is equipped with special transverse springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. The steel-spoke wheels, low unsprung weight, three-point chassis suspension, and the torque-tube drive also add to its easy-riding comfort.

SAFETY — In addition to fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, the new Ford brings you the added safety of a shatterless glass windshield. By reducing the dangers of flying glass, it has prevented many injuries in automobile collisions.

THE STRENGTH OF STEEL — The enduring strength of steel makes the new Ford a sturdy, rugged car. Nearly forty kinds of steel are used in the chassis alone.

RUSTLESS STEEL — Evidence of the high quality built into the Ford is shown by the use of Rustless Steel for the head lamps, radiator shell, hub caps, cowl finish strip, tail lamp and other exterior metal parts. It will not rust, corrode, scale or tarnish in any kind of weather. Its bright luster will last for the life of the car.

A SMOOTH-RUNNING CAR — There are more than twenty ball and roller bearings in the new Ford — an exceptionally large number. They insure smoother operation, save gasoline, give more speed and power, decrease noise and increase the durability and efficiency of the transmission gears.

A charming feminine type that will instantly appeal to discriminating taste for town or resort favors navy blue cotton voile with white pin dots.

These new voiles are indescribably lovely and are quite as transparent as chiffon but much less expensive. They have the added advantage of tubbing beautifully.

The pinched-in waistline achieved through horizontal pin tucks and shirring is extremely smart and slimming in Style No. 3472.

The flared sleeves are most becoming and cool for town.

This slender model is lengthened by a gathered flounce that provides interesting fulness to the hem.

It may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It is copied in the medium size with 3 yards of 39-inch material with 5 yards of binding.

Other smart combinations whose cost will prove very little are yellow handkerchief linen, nile green printed batiste, red and white dotted tub silk and dusty pink from pale to deep tones in sheer lawn.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

OFTEN in the summer when the days are hot and tiring, one gets depressed and does not know know what to do about it.

• • • • • • •

I think you will find the two most usual causes for this are ill-health and satiety. In the first instance, a doctor can help to relieve the sufferer, or she can help herself by avoiding the things that she finds cause her to feel low-spirited.

• • • • • • •

The stomach, if not in good condition is a well-recognized cause of depression. Eating food that disagrees with a person's constitution, overeating, and lack of sustaining nourishment are all causes.

• • • • • • •

Too little exercise may be the reason for one's feeling at odds with the world. There are various physical causes and if a person finds herself getting subject to depression she should use special care to keep herself in fine physical condition.

• • • • • • •

The other reason why persons feel low in their mind can be dealt with by the person herself. Primarily it has nothing to do with ill-health, although it can eventually effect it seriously.

• • • • • • •

The depression comes as a reaction to prolonged good times, or as the result of having too little to do. Those who are busy and know how much there is to do, find it difficult to appreciate that there are hundreds of persons who don't know what to do either for themselves or for others!

• • • • • • •

These people are said to lack resources. They may have money, but they have no ideas, and they lack imagination. When a person belongs to such a group, and when all the occupations that have been planned for them are done, or the good times are at an end, they have to fall back on themselves, at least until someone has other work or plans arranged. In the interim they are at a loss, they are 'at sea.' Then they get depressed!

• • • • • • •

The person who has tasted of the pleasures of life to repletion is said to be blaze, and a blaze person is subject almost always to periods of depression.

• • • • • • •

What then is there for such people to do to enjoy themselves when each thing suggested or what life has to offer in the way of pleasure has grown stale and trite?

• • • • • • •

This is a pitiful condition to get into. It is something that cannot be stopped without the violation and determination of the person suffering from his particular form of ennui.

• • • • • • •

A mother should encourage her children to cultivate themselves, that is to find out how to get some pleasures when they must depend upon themselves alone for entertainment or pleasant occupation.

• • • • • • •

When a child keeps coming with the question, "What shall I do?" it is well for the mother to take time to help the child.

• • • • • • •

She can help the child to think and act of his own accord and to find ways and means of occupation either with some task that is absorbing and interesting or with some simple entertainment which he can enjoy by himself, that is by his own efforts.

• • • • • • •

Such a training will help a child through his whole life, and save him from the misery of depression.

Buttons Are Both Practical and Decorative

Button, button—who's got the button? The Paris dressmakers have the button to trim their newest dresses. In the ogue sketch at the left above are a few examples of how buttons may appear on the new frocks. The navy blue crepella frock at the top is from Jenny, with a gilet of white pique. The dotted frock below is from the house of Bernard and turns its back on the buttons, while the third frock buttons all down the front. It is by Nicole Groult. On the right is an interesting spectator costume of corn yellow line, with a white pique gilet. —(Sketch is by Vogue).

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WAS THE INDIAN MEDICINE MAN RIGHT?

Years ago when we read of the medicine man of a tribe, of his grotesque attire, his incantations, and of his medicine obtained by steeping or stewing various plants and also the organs of animals, we were tempted to smile, and congratulate ourselves on the tremendous advance made in medicine in these latter days.

And so when research men began to speak about the possibility that substances found in the glands of the body—thyroid in the neck, adrenal in the kidneys and others— might be used to regulate processes in the body, they received a lot of opposition to their views.

They were told that they were going back to the days of the witch doctors.

And yet what do we find?

That the juice of secretion of the little adrenal glands situated on top of each kidney is the outstanding immediate treatment for shock from any cause, and likewise the best known treatment for an attack of asthma.

The secretion of the little parathyroid glands situated low in the neck behind the breast bone actually controls the amount of lime in the blood and tissues of the body. The secretion of the thyroid gland in the neck speeds up body processes.

Insulin, the secretion from a portion of the pancreas gland, is now preserving the lives of older folk, and preventing the deaths of young people who would have died with the fatal illness, diabetes.

And now another ailment—pernicious anaemia—one that was always fatal, has been conquered by the use of liver of animals as a food. Liver and even the extract made from liver, actually increases the red corpuscles of the blood two or three times.

And as you know there are other glands whose secretions are being used daily by physicians in their fight against disease.

It is the overactivity of the little pituitary gland in the skull that created the giant or tall man of the circus side show. This pituitary extract is now a part of the equipment of the family doctor at the birth of a child in the home.

And so as we think of the native medicine man of by gone years, it is with a feeling far from amusement, as we realize that he must have seen some 'results' of his use of the organs of animals in his treatment of the ailments of his tribe.

GIRLS ENJOY CAMP FIRES

Inglestane Camp Girls Build Fire on Top of Eagle Mountain.

TRIP TO BOBCAYGEON

(A Letter from Y.W.C.A. Camp 'Inglestane,' Stoney Lake.)

If you had passed Eagle Mount Island two weeks ago Thursday night you might have been surprised to see a bright fire blazing on the top of Eagle Mountain. You might have wondered who would venture so far in the darkness. The fire had been lit by a group of campers from Camp Inglestane, the "Y" Camp, which is situated at the south end of the Island. A hare and hound chase had led them farther and farther away from camp, up the steep rocks to the very top of Eagle Mount. There they stayed to watch the sunset. Then the Evening star came out. It became darker, twilight deepened into night and still the girls sat on singing and gazing at the sky and lake. Just as darkness came the fire was built. It was glorious to see the flames in the dark and thrilling to think of the journey home over the rocks. Ten o'clock came. The fire out and aided by only a few flashlights the girls started homeward over the rocks with careful steps every one climbed down safely, lost their way once or twice in the underbrush but finally arrived home safe and sound and tired enough to sleep past the rising bell next morning.

That was the second bonfire that week. The other burned on the flat rock close to the water much nearer home. That too was lovely. The water was rose like the sunset and very still. The birds flew across the gorgeous colors of the sky and about us all was that peace that only places like Englestane can give.

Sometimes the girls wander farther afield. One Saturday you might have found them all at Kawartha lying on the sand beach after their swim and a little later eating their supper on one of the little sister islands.

And they went to Perry's Creek in the Camp motor boat coming home in the evening deliciously sleepy.

On Wednesday the whole camp boarded the 'Stoney Lake' at Juniper Island and went up to Bobcaygeon. No need for anyone to stay awake that night. They were asleep before their heads touched the pillows. So much does a day on the water do to make one sleepy.

So the days pass — marshmallow roasts, picnics, swimming, morning and afternoon that makes one hungry enough to do more than justice to the good meals.

Then their is the camp paper published every week. If you would like to read it in detail about the activities that have only been named here and added to their editorials, jokes, personals, ask to see the "Englestane Breeze" at the Y.

On the sixteenth of July, Inglestane was officially opened for business girls. Previous to that there was Junior Camp. Do you want a good holiday out of doors? Try Inglestane once—The island on Eagle Mount on which it stands is small enough to wander through and about half imagine one is lost in its woods, and all about it is the shining waters of Stoney Lake.

A camp is however more than the eye can see. It is rich in friendship that grows fast and strong because they are made so naturally. Inglestane will help you make those friendships. It has about it, too, a spirit which the old Latin word phrase so well—"Ibi foeis splendet." They are not engraven in reality upon the hearth stone but the meaning is none the less there. For you the hearth reburns.

KATHLEEN WISKIN WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Former Peterborough Girl Wins High Honors at Loretto Academy, El Paso.

One ex-Peterborough girl who is making a conspicuous success of her scholastic endeavors in the United States is Miss Kathleen Wiskin, granddaughter of George Wiskin of this city. Miss Wiskin was graduated at the head of her class at Loretto Academy, El Paso, Texas, this year, winning a four-year tuition scholarship to Webster College, Webster Grove, Maryland, where she intends taking up a course in Chemistry.

During the past term, in competition with the students of all of the other High Schools in El Paso, Miss Wiskin won first place in the Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States, sponsored by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The first prize carried with it a reward of $15.00 in gold and the honor of winning a silver loving cup for her school. Having won the cup the previous year also, Loretto Academy will retain it permanently by winning again next year. In competition with 500 others, Miss Wiskin subsequently won a written contest on the same subject. The prize was similar.

Miss Kathleen Wiskin was 17 years old on January 4 last. Her family are all, naturally, very proud of her. The teaching sisters at the Academy consider her one of the most intelligent students they have ever had.

Miss Wiskin was born in Peterborough, the daughter of J. D. H. Wiskin who had lived here a good many years when he enlisted as a private in the 93rd Battalion at the outbreak of the war, and was killed in action on May 9, 1917. In October of that year Miss Wiskin's mother, the former Miss Carrie Doupe of this city, moved with her daughter to Kansas City, where she resides to-day. Many of Mrs. Wiskin's people are still residents of Peterborough, and both she and Miss Wiskin, who have spent several holidays here count many friends in the city.

Due to the kindness of Mrs. A. L. Kent, of 493 King Street, the foregoing information was supplied to The Examiner.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

THE OLD CARPENTER.

The old carpenter whistles a merry lay
With seldom a moment's pause.
Timing to music the whole bright day
As he hammers and nails and saws.
He labors with level and adze and plane
Till each timber stands straight and true,
As he whistles all day his happy refrain;
He is building a house for two!
Summer's day heat pours from the sun's bright flask;
But the carpenter's notes are sweet,
For he knows he toils at a magic task
In that house on a quiet street.
He knows he is making a castle in Spain
For a queen to wander through,
With a proud young king to share her reign;
He is building a house for two!

C. G. E. Snatch 6 to 5 Victory from Crescents

CANADIAN GENERAL OUTFIT PULL NINTH INNING RALLY TO CAPTURE SECOND GAME LEAGUE PLAY-OFFS

Masterson For Crescents and Utronki For C.G.E. Are Given Good Support.

SPLENDID BASEBALL.

Teams Have Each Won a Game —Third and Fourth Contests Next Week.

All but counted out in the second contest for the East Peterborough League championship at Exhibition Park last evening, Canadian Generals took advantage of a pair of charities from Casey Masterson, and after tieing up the score on Red Hollingsworth's hit, snatched victory from the opposition on Utronki's waft behind Walt Crary. The score was 6 to 5.

The Electricians started off like winners the first and second frames netting a run apiece but Crescents came through strong in the third to nail Utronki's offerings for a triple, a double and two singles, good for three runs. Crescents held the advantage right up to their half of the ninth but when Masterson lost control as the Generals made their last stand, Crescents lost their opportunity to secure a stranglehold on the series and the Electricians came through with a punch to score three runs and win the battle.

The teams have each won a game. The third and fourth contests will be played next Monday and Thursday.

Last night's exhibition was a battle royal all along the way with Masterson and Utronki showing the big crowd of fans a line of smart pitching. The moundsmen were given clever support from the front line defences while back in the outfield sparkling plays were made on hard and long hit balls, the work of Freddy Jones and Vernon Beavis featuring the garden performance.

Joe Jones leading off for Crescents was passed only to be forced by Sweetman, Utronki starting the play. Crary struckout, Hickey walked and Collins fanned.

For Generals, Red Hollingsworth singled into right and stole second, going to third on Rose's infield out by way of Crary to score on Utronki's single through short. Ash was safe when his grounder went through Heard. Swanston flew out to Fred Jones.

The second brought a break for Crescents when Utronki came in to take Masterson's fly close to the cage and dropped the ball. He was forced by F. Jones via Utronki. Heard popped to Ash and Hollingsworth threw out Lebarr.

Smith took one and walked to first. L. Hollingsworth flew out to Lebarr. On Johnston's single through the first corner, Smith went down to second and on to third. The throw-in trapped Johnston between first and second and Smith was ordered home. Johnston was allowed to run loose and the play to the plate stopped Smith but the Generals counted a tally when Johnston was hit home by Red Hollingsworth. Rose fanned.

Hickey Scores Two.

Joe Jones tripled in the third to start the Crescents and Sweetman was passed. Crary popped to Hollingsworth but Hickey came through in fine style with a corking double to left to score Jones and Sweetman. Collins singled into middle and Hickey was hit home by Masterson. F. Jones flew out to Beavis and Heard struckout.

The Electricians went out in a row in their half, Beavis popping to Sweetman, Utronki to Hickey and Ash grounding out.

Neither team got a runner to first in the fourth and fifth as the twirlers worked smoothly, and their support stood out strong. Freddy Jones taking three fly balls while Beavis handled a drive from Collins to enthuse the crowd.

The sixth brought a run for Crescents to give them a lead of two runs. Freddy Jones who had got on through Hollingsworths' fumble, worked into position to score when Lebarr's waft drew Ash far from the bag. Utronki was behind time in covering the bag and he failed to handle Ash's throw, the ball going wild. Jones scored easily.

C.G.E. got one back when with two gone, Ash scored after his drive down third, on a triple from Swanston's bat.

A Great Catch.

The seventh brought the prize catch of the night when with Sweetman and Crary retired, Hickey hit a long fly to middle. With his back to the ball Beavis tore over the turf and made the catch while still on the run.

In their half, the Generals got a pair of runners on with two gone but failed to connect.

Crescents went out in a row in the eighth when Collins filed out to Johnston, Masterson grounded out to Rose and F. Jones' drive was grabbed by the shorstop.

Generals with their chances fading, failed to get going against Masterson and the contest reached the ninth with Crescents holding a lead of a run.

It looked to be all over when Crescents scored again. Heard fouled out to Ash but Lebarr dropped a single into left. Fred Jones drew a walk and Ash took Sweetman's pop. Right here Crary inserted a timely single into left and Lebarr romped home. Hollingsworth threw out Hickey.

Frost was sent in to bat for Smith and with a suddenness that bewildered the crowd, the Electricians started a victory drive. Masterson passed Frost and repeated on L. Hollingsworth. Stan Jones, batting for Johnston, grounded to the box and Masterson electing to play for the runner to second, failed to get his man and the bases were loaded. Right on top of this disaster for the Crescents, Red Hollingsworth singled into middle to score Harmer, who was running for Frost, and brother Len. Rose went out on his grounder down first, Jones going to third on the play. Beavis struckout to lessen the tension but the fireworks were renewed when Utronki looped one back of Crary and while the second sacker made a valiant attempt to get back for the ball the spalding fell as he reached for it and Jones was home with the winning run.

SENATORS BEAT BY THE LEADERS

Philadelphia Administers Four to One Trimming to Washington.

NEW YORK 5, BOSTON 1.

NEW YORK, August 8 (C.P.). — The league-leading Philadelphia Athletics and Brooklyn Robins were bowling along to-day at a pace that boded no good for the clubs that are doing the chasing in the current pennant races.

When a club that already is leading the pack by six and one-half games hands its nearest pursuer an artistic beating to stretch its advantage to seven and a half, the supposition is that the team in front is going to prove pretty hard to overhaul.

That is exactly what the Athletics did yesterday at Shibe Park to the Washington Senators 4-1, thanks to Jimmy Foxx's 31st home run of the season in the sixth inning with two on base after Haas tripled, Cochrane Walked and Simmons singled, scoring Haas.

Pulling up on the Senators, the third place Yankees, still hitting and still dangerous, won their second straight victory over the Red Sox 5-1, principally because of timely triples by Babe Ruth and Lou Gerrig and the steady pitching of Ed. Wells.

The hard-fighting Cubs just managed to keep the Robins from increasing their three and one-half game lead when they nosed out the Cardinals 6-5. Chick Hafey, Cardinal slugger, drove in all the home team's runs with his 20th homer of the season with one on in the first and a double in the eighth with the bases loaded, but his mates were less effective against the slants of Osborn and Root.

For the second time in two days, the Robins beat out the Pirates, this time by a 6-4 count. This wound up the series and it was with some reluctance that the Brooklyn club pulled out for St. Louis as they would be just as well satisfied to play the Pirates every day in the week and twice on Sundays.

ROBINS DEFEAT PITTSBURG 6-4

Brooklyn This Season Has Won 11 Out of 15 Games With Pirates.

CUBS 6, ST. LOUIS 5.

NEW YORK, August 8 (C.P.). — For most of the National League clubs, the Pittsburgh outfit is anything but an easy mark, but the records seem to show that Uncle Wilbert Robinson's clan has their number. The Robins now have beaten the Pirates 11 times and lost to them on only four occasions, having fared even better against them than against the Phillies.

Several other teams, including the Cubs, have been able to get little better than an even break with the Pirates.

On this particular occasion the Robins won in the ninth in spectacular style when that able ball player, Johnny Frederick, tripled to drive home Ike Boone, who had batted for Vance and walked. Just to make the margin a little more comfortable, Wally Gilbert then proceeded to tally Frederick with a single. Watson Clark, pitching in the ninth for the Robins, held the lead safe.

TWO-MILE SWIM FOR TROPHY AT NAPANEE

Trophy is Donated by Jack Adams, Manager of the Detroit Cougars.

The Napanee Aquatic Club plans to hold its annual regatta on Wednesday, August 13, starting at 6.30 (standard time) in the evening. The feature of the regatta is the two mile swim for the Jack Adams Cup. The trophy was donated to the Aquatic Club by Mr. Jack Adams of Detroit, manager of the Detroit Cougars, and an old-time Napanee athlete who spends his summers near the town. The course of the long swim is on the river and nature has provided a perfect grandstand for the spectators to view the finish and cheer their choice.

In addition to the swim there is to be a good program of races, including outboard motor racing, canoe racing and other acquatic sports. The Napanee Club is making a real effort to revive interest in water sports and hope for encourageemnt from the residents. The big swim is open to any swimmer of any age, or from any place, providing that the entrant is an amateur. The trophy is a handsome one and well worth the competition.

Although Egypt has had a business depression, automobile sales this year have been about normal.

ORIOLES GAIN ONE FULL GAME ON RED WINGS

Rochester is Beaten By Reading When Bobby Jones Takes Over Reins.

ROYALS LOSE 5-4.

Jersey City and Buffalo Bisons Clash in Night Game, Latter Winning.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8. (C.P.)— The Baltimore Orioles have cut a full game off Rochester's wad in the International League but still find themselves five games from the top.

The Orioles jolted Montreal's Royals 10-5 yesterday while Rochester was losing to Reading 5-4.

Stewart Bolen went the route for the Orioles and was touched freely only in the second inning when the Royals got to him for three runs. Aside from that one outburst, Montreal submitted tamely to Bolen's Deceptive offerings. Meantime, Baltimore was collecting 14 hits off Griffin and Hartman, Jim Stroner's 18th homer being the high spot of a three-run attack in the first.

Bobby Jones, successor to Harry Hinchman as Reading's manager, started off his regime with a victory over the Redwings. Country Davis' circuit drive with two on in the fourth was the big blow of the game. That was Tex Carleton's only bad frame but the Keys did enough damage in that one to win the game. Greene went the route for Reading, although he was nicked for 11.

Frank Barnes turned in a beautiful pitching performance as Toronto downed New York 5-1 in a night game at Newark. Barnes gave up only six hits but the Leafs had to rally for four runs in the seventh to win the game, Sheedy hit a homer with two on in this frame. A crowd of 4,200 turned out for the second night game in the Bears' park, compared to 15,000 on the opening night.

In another night game at Jersey City, the Buffalo Bisons clubbed Moore for 13 solid hits to win 7-3. Dave Danforth started for the Bisons but was taken out in the fifth after Walker had hit a homer with two on to bring the Skeeters within two runs of a tie. Mills allowed no hits over the last four innings.

LADY ISABELL WINS BELLEVILLE RACE

Bay of Quinte City is Given Its First Exhibition of Night Horse Racing.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 8.—Night horse racing was approved by a large number of horse lovers, who witnessed the second of a series of these events, sponsored by W. C. Crummer of Chatham. It was well past the midnight hour before the final heat had been raced but the crowd stayed till the finish.

Three classes were down for decision and each race went five heats before the winner was declared. In practically every heat at least three and sometimes five horses raced through the lane as a team and in many instances the judges had a hard task placing the horses. The time was exceptionally good, a heat in 2.12¼ being registered.

The anticipated duel between Peter Direct, Della Wilkes, Joe McGregor and Lady Isabell did not materialize as Peter Direct was withdrawn after he had been warmed up owing to sickness. There was only one accident to mar the racing, Dr. Dale being cut down when following the leader, who made a slight mistake. The teamster, Wilbur Hillock, received a badly bruised leg but was able to drive in the remaining races.

Lady Isabell, the sidewheeler from Port McNichol, accounted for the 2.14 class after a stirring battle with Joe McGregor, Irene Peters was the best in the 2.19 class. This mare has been laid up for the past two years, but is back with more brush than formerly. Blaze Star won the classified race after five hard heats, the competition being furnished by Cactus Star.

LEAFS DEFEAT NEWARK BEARS

O'Neillmen Win Their Second Night Game in a Row.

SCORE IS 5 TO 1.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 8.—The one remaining doubt about the success of night baseball was banished here last night as the Toronto Leafs made it two straight over the Newark Bears with a 5 to 1 victory. Most of the night games in this part of the country have been loosely played, and it was feared that if the nocturnal pastime became a regular thing there would be no more of those tense, nerve-racking pitchers' battles. Last night's game, however, was a brilliant hurling duel for six innings, until Leo Mangum, on the mound for Newark, blew up and the Leafs broke a one-run deadlock with a four-run rally in the seventh.

Davis started the rally after two were out with a single to center. O'Neill and Barnes also came through with one base poke and then Sheedy bounced a home run into the right field bleachers.

Frank Barnes was on the firing line for the Leafs, and turned the Bears back with six scattered hits. The attendance was 4,200.

Softball Notes.

Tonight's battle between the Sugar Bowl and Harrison's is the last game of the league schedule. Great importance is attached to this fixture, as second place is at stake.

A win for Harrison's tonight will give them second place in the second half, while a win for the Sugar Bowl will leave Harrison's and Brintons in a tie.

The Bowlrites are out to grab the game and will send Len Forsythe to the mound in an effort to win. Harrison's will likely use Parsons or Montgomery.

Fans are assured of a real battle as both teams are out for a win. The game will be played at Central School grounds and will start at 6.30 sharp.

The playoffs of the softball league start next week. Sugar Bowl and Belmonts will battle for first half honors, while Westclox and Harrison's or Brintons for the second half honors.

The National Dairy Association of New Zealand has passed a resolution urging dairymen to purchase goods manufactured in Great Britain in preference to American, Canadian or Australian products.

CUBAN IS BEATEN BY JACKIE BERG IN 10 ROUNDS

Decision is Close and is Not Taken Well By Thousands of Fans.

RESULT NOT UNANIMOUS.

Berg Wins Entirely on the Strength of His Tireless Aggressiveness.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 8.—(C.P.)—A battered little bundle of ebony fighting machinery sat huddled in his corner at the Polo Grounds last night after ten of the most furious rounds of slam-bang boxing New York has witnessed in many a moon. As Bellerin' Joe Humphries walked toward him, white official slips in hand, Kid Chocolate leapt up in anticipation of being proclaimed the winner, only to stumble back and fall into a sobbing heap in his corner as Humphries suddenly checked himself, turned and lifted the hand of Jackie Berg in token of triumph.

In those dramatic moments, pulse-stirring to a crowd of 25,000 that had been thrilled by a sensational battle of little fellows, the winning streak that Kid Chocolate appeared to have kept intact was brought to a sudden end, snapped after two years of unbroken victory by the lean little English whirlwind from White Chapel.

Entirely on the strength of his tireless aggressiveness, Berg won by a two to one vote of the officials. The British lightweight received the verdict of Referee Patsy Haley, grey-haired little veteran, and of one of the judges, Joe Agnello. The vote of Charles F. Mathison, the second judge, went to the Cuban featherweight.

Crowd Very Partisan.

So close was the battle and so partisan the sympathies of the crowd that the decision, plus the announcers uncertainty, provoked a big demonstration of disapproval. Chocolate, led tearfully from the ring, received an ovation that drowned out the cheers for Berg. So heated was the scene that impromptu fights broke out around the ringside and in the stands of the National League ball park. It was fully five minutes before order was restored by the police.

Among the ringside experts, a sharp division of opinion existed, although a slight majority appeared to regard the decision as fair. On the Associated Press score-sheet, Chocolate was given six rounds and Berg four, but the margin in several was so close that there was plenty of ground for the wide range. He had the edge in the first three rounds, as well as the sixth, seventh and eighth, Berg held margins in the fourth, fifth, ninth and tenth.

Berg the Aggressor

Chocolate landed the cleaner, more efective blows. He had Berg somewhat groggy with a sensational attack in the third round, the most exciting of the entire fight. The flashing ebony kid was also the faster boxer, whenever he could keep away from the mauling Englishman. Berg, however, was unceasingly the aggressor. His punches were seldom damaging but they were more persistent and landed oftener. This forcing, plus the fact that Berg unquestionably made the stronger finish apparently swung the decision in his favor.

Berg, with better than a nine, pound pull in the weights at 133¾, used this to good advantage as he continually crowded, mauled and harassed the Cuban Negro. Speared and often baffled by his rival's speed afoot, occasionally left pawing the vacant air as the Kid slid out of each, Berg, nevertheless kept up a steady rumfire that weakened the ebony flash. Except for a spurt or two, Chocolate was hardly able to lift his hands to punch in the last two rounds.

First Defeat in Two Years

Chocolate, meeting his first defeat in two years of professional fighting and after 168 winning bouts, lost little prestige. His backers undoubtedly will clamor for a return bout. The Kid stepped out of his natural class, as a featherweight, to beat the present lightweight king, Al Singer, a year ago but was unable to repeat the stunt last night.

The "gate" was estimated at $160,000 approximately the same as that for the Singer-Mandell lightweight title bout recently at the Yankee stadium.

Eddie Mack, Denver lightweight, gained a draw in ten rounds with Sammy Dorfman, east side scrapper, in the mamin preliminary. Babe Joe Gans, of San Diego, received the decision over Eddie Murdock of Tulsa, Okla., in another ten-rounder, fought after the main event.

Australian Champion

W. Cameron of Sydney, N.S.W., the 100 yards swimming champion of Australia, who is in Hamilton, Ont., training for the British Empire games.

WILL HE COME THROUGH?—By Jimmy Thompson

Johnny Fitzpatrick, the University of Toronto sprinter and point winner at the last Olympics, will be an interesting figure in the big sprint events next Saturday. On his way to the Ontario championships at Orillia, Johnny was cracked up in a motor accident and a doctor had to put six stitches in his head and to top things off a temperamental discus thrower just missed him by inches, due to Dave Griffin, who pushed him out of the way. Johnny claims that the accident in no way impaired his chances in the coming meet, but some of the boys are mighty anxious about his showing.

PETERBORO RINK WINS 2ND PLACE

Cobourg's Annual Ladies' Lawn Bowling Tournament is Held.

25 RINKS ENTERED

Cobourg's annual ladies' lawn bowling tournament was held on Wednesday with an entry of twenty-five rinks from Toronto, Oshawa, Belleville, Newmarket, Tweed, Stirling, and four rinks from Peterborough skipped by Miss Sedgwick, Miss Allen, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Miller.

The weather was ideal and Cobourg's beautiful greens presented a pretty picture with its brightly waving pennants and flags, and Lake Ontario as a background. The games were keenly contested for the cup, which Peterborough Club won last year. The ladies were warmly welcomed by Mrs. Watson, president of the club and an address of welcome was given by Mr. McArthur, M.P.P., after which the draw was made. Mrs. McLeod's rink of Cobourg were the winners of the cup and the first prize, with three wins and the highest plus. They received beautiful Kenwood blankets. Miss Sedgwick's rink of Peterborough, composed of Mrs. Archibald (lead), Mrs. Martin (second), Mrs. Henry (vice), Miss Sedgwick (skip) also won three games, receiving the second prize of silver sandwich plates. Mrs. Butler's rink of Newcastle were the winners of the third prize of woollen blankets, with three wins.

The prize for two wins with a score of 44 points went to Mrs. Watson's rink of Cobourg, while Mrs. Dempsey's rink of Oshawa won the prize for one win with the highest total score of 36 points.

The consolation prize for no wins with the highest number of points went to Mrs. Faulkner's rink of Toronto, who had a score of 29.

The Cobourg ladies served afternoon tea in a gaily-decorated marquee on the grounds, where the tea table was lovely with a silver basket of sweet peas and snap dragons, on a silver reflector, and bud vases of similar flowers.

KIWANIS JUNIORS TO MEET MOOSE

Game is Scheduled For 3.30 in Exhibition Park on Saturday.

GROUP PLAY-OFFS.

Everything is in readiness for the big battle between the Moose Juniors of Belleville and the local Kiwanis Juniors on Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. This is the first game of the O.B.A.A. play-offs in the junior series, and incidentally the first Ontario play-off game of any of the city teams.

Belleville Moose are reputed to be the fastest team that has represented that town in the junior series. They won their league easily. The local juniors are also sending a smart team into the junior series this year, and are hopeful of copping the silverware.

The Kiwanis team will be selected from the following players: Cripps, Jones and Woods, pitchers; McCullough, Hall, Sproat, Saunders and Miller, infielders; Whatley and Morrocco, catchers; Foley, Dallin, Huggins, Dunkerley, Wesley and Corbett, outfielders.

Fans who journey to the Exhibition Park tomorrow afternoon are assured of a real snappy game of ball, and as there is no other game here Saturday it is expected that a capacity crowd will be out to see the boys in action.

The game will start at 3.30 sharp and will be in charge of Edgar Lebarr.

JACK GUEST OUT OF EMPIRE GAMES

Famous Canadian Sculler Will Not Compete at Hamilton.

NOT IN CONDITION.

TORONTO, Ont., August 8 (C.P.)—Jack Guest, holder of the Diamond Sculls, will not compete in the British Empire Games at Hamilton, opening a week from Saturday.

In a letter to the sporting editor of the Mail and Empire, Guest says after two weeks' earnest training he finds it is impossible to get into satisfactory condition and consequently is giving up rowing and will not compete in any further contests this year. He expresses regret that he will be unable to participate in the Hamilton events.

In commenting on Guest's decision The Mail, in its sporting column, says: "Guest's retirement will be regretted by all, especially in view of the Empire Games, as everybody was looking forward to a meeting between he and Bobby Pearce, Australian and Olympic champion. The latter, however, according to reports, is going to settle in Hamilton, which means that the two scullers may be brought together next year when both are fresh and ready."

The newspaper goes on to say the Canadian has "grown stale lately," and describes his collision with the sea wall while training. He was on the verge of retiring a week ago, but kept plugging at his training in hope that he would be able to get back into condition. A short holiday—four days—proved of no use and Guest decided to take a longer one. He estimates he has already rowed 1,000 miles, "which," The Mail says, "should be enough for any man for 1903."

CRICKET

Cricket in Peterborough has been rather quiet during the last month or so, due to the fact that two Toronto clubs cancelled their games with the local club, on July 1 and Civic Holiday. Extra games have, however, been arranged and everything looks bright for a good seasons ending.

A match against the local C.G.E. captained by Reg. Dyer, will be played at the Oval to-morrow afternoon. Labor Day and Sept. 13 will see games with Oshawa and a fine game is expected here on Sept. 6 with the British Public Schools C. C. of Toronto. A full practice will be held at 6.15 this evening. Selection from the following players to represent the Peterborough Club against C. G. E.: F. Dyer (capt.), Gore, Thorpe, Elliott, Stuart, Smith, Jefferson, Hamilton, Dart, Coombe, Rhodes, Martin, Howard.

SCHOOL BOOKS INADEQUATE

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8.—"A national disgrace and a collossal shame," was the term used by Dr. J. L. MacDougal, National President of the Native Sons of Canada, to describe the history books used by Canadian school children during the past 15 years. True acts of the war were not recorded and children did not appreciate the wonderful achievements in Canada, because they could not read of them in their text books, he said.

CENTRAL BOYS WIN 3RD GAME

King Edward School Ground Team is Beaten For Third Time.

SCORE IS 5 TO 11.

Winning their third straight game from King Edward yesterday the Central Senior Boys remained in the running for the championship of the City Playgrounds Softball League. The Central boys took a two-run lead in the first frame, added a quartette in the second, and were never headed. The final count was 11-5. Chambo, who again did yeoman mound duty for Central, held King Edward to a few scattered hits and a lone run until the last inning.

After losing their first four starts, the Central Seniors have shown vastly improved form, and by winning their final scheduled game on Monday can tie with King Edward, necessitating a play-off.

The score by innings:

King Edward..... 0001004— 5
Central..... 240221x—11

Batteries:: :For King Edward, Ridley and Jemieson; for Central, Chambo and Armstrong.

Having won their previous six starts and cinched the group leadership, King Edward Junior Boys yesterday defaulted their second last game to Central.

The last scheduled games in the three divisions of the City Playgrounds Softball League will be played on Monday—the boys' game at King Edward and the girls' contest at Central.

King Edward Heads Football.

With two victories and one defeat, King Edward boys are leading Central in the Association Football League by one game. The fourth tilt is slated for Tuesday afternoon.

GARDEN PARTY IS BIG SUCCESS

Menie Juniors Defeat Petherick's 27 Runs to 18 in Softball Game.

$180 RECEIVED

BURNBRAE, Aug. 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual garden party of St. Andrew's congregation was held on the school grounds Tuesday evening with a splendid crowd in attendance. About $180 was received at the gate. The Northumberland Regiment Band was in attendance and dispensed excellent music. The booths were well patronized and those in charge of the affair were well pleased with the results.

In the softball game preceding the social, Menie Juniors made a bold bid for the decision from Petherick's Corners team, but fell short by nine runs, the score being 27 to 18. One bad inning for each team spoiled the game; otherwise the score would have been practically tied.

Menie went on a scoring rally in the second, to send in ten runs, while Petherick's went wild in the fifth to hammer in nineteen counters. Meiklejohn and H. Owens counted threee times each in this frame. H. Owens also hit a nice homer in the second. Petherick's outfield gave splendid support but the infield contributed more than its share of errors. The Menie outfield did not perform as well as usual and this in a measure was responsible for the defeat, although the uneven ground made the fielding of anything but a fly ball a hazardous proceeding.

Line-up:

Menie.—Malcolm Hutcheon, p; Wallace, c; Craighead, 1b; Little and Whitton, 2b; Williams and Thompson, 3b; Oddie, ss; Murray Hutcheson, lf; Doug. Milne, cf; Ken. Milne, rf.

Petherick's.—R. Fry, p; T. Owens, 1b; G. Kerr, 2b; Watson, 3b; Meiklejohn, ss; B. Kerr, lf; Petherick and F. Fry, cf; H. Owens, rf.

Score—Menie, 18; Pethericks, 27.

Umpires—Donald and T. Fry.

ONTARIO'S HEAT WAVE UNBROKEN

One Victim Dies in Hospital, Another Collapses at at Work.

CROPS SUFFERING.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 8. (C.P.)—Citizens who looked to the weatherman for assurance of some relief from the heat wave under which they have sweltered during the past week were met with the forecast of "decidedly warm" weather to-day.

The possibility of a few scattered thunderstorms was the only hint of a break in the hot spell. The latter which at the first of the week was regarded chiefly as a menace to root crops and pasturage, particularly in Central and Western Ontario, was responsible for loss of life here yesterday.

As the thermometer reached 90, five degrees lower than Monday's temperature here, Arthur Ellis, 44, died in hospital from heat collapse. William Martin 41, was confined to hospital after collapsing at his work.

While Northern Ontario has been getting slightly cooler weather, the southern cities of the Province have been competing with the high temperatures reported from Kamloops, Medicine Hat and other western points.

TOM THUMB COURSE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Mayor Denne Will Play First Round on Peterborough's Newest Golf Course.

Playing the first round of golf, Mayor Denne will officially open the new Tom Thumb Golf Course at the corner of McDonnel and Reid Streets on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. It is possible that other city officials will go around the 18 holes at the ceremonies.

Work on the course commenced a little over a week ago, and now, completed, it is one of the most beautiful of the miniature golf courses in Canada, Tom Thumb officials claim. It was installed and will be owned and operated by the Tom Thumb Golf people. Fine shade trees, rustic benches and equipment against a background of green banks, add a delightful charm to the spot. At night the course will be somewhat of a fairyland among the trees with myriad colored lights as well as the direct course illumination.

According to the manager, several tournaments are already being planned for the course. After the Mayor and his henchmen have officiated on Saturday, the course will be open to the public.

More than half the airplanes shipped from the United States so far this year went to Latin America.

CHEERFUL WORKERS HOLD LAWN SOCIAL

Delightful Garden Party is Held at Home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. May.

The lovely suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. May, Lansdowne street west, was the scene of the annual garden party sponsored by the Cheerful Workers' Bible Class of St. James' United Sunday School. This event went over the top with another splendid success on Thursday night.

The decorations were tastefully carried out in the class colors, blue and gold, which were used on the archway to the grounds and on the central lights. Large flags were draped over the gates and the lawn was splendidly lighted.

The Sunday School Superintendent, A. E. Prest, was the efficient chairman and presented the following varied and entertaining program to an appreciative audience.

As usual, Miss Eileen Schoales delighted everyone with her humorous readings "Little Orphant Annie," and "He Was There, and So Was I." Master Kenneth Gibson, also a favorite performer, sang with fine effect "Twilight Rose" and "Little Pal," with Mrs. Gibson accompanying.

A pleasing innovation was the trio of stringed instruments with harmoniously rendered selection by Messrs. Osborne, Hotston and Osborne. The vocal solos, "Little Green Cabin" and "When Song is Sweet" were sung in charming voice by Miss Aileen Rose, accompanied by Ashton Fife, who also contributed a much-appreciated number in his stirring piano selection "Napoleon's Last Charge."

"The Gypsy Countess" and "Life's Dream is O'er" were sung in pleasing duett by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Turner.

Mr. Harry Hotston, a versatile performer, gave as his first number a piano and whistling solo, with a banjo solo as a second selection. A piano solo of his own composition was another tribute to his high musical ability.

A competent committee carried out the arrangements and dispensed delectable refreshments to the large crowd during intervals in the musical program.

At the conclusion of this part of the entertainment a program of sports was run off under the direction of William McLaren, with the following races and their respective winners.

Girls, under 10 years—1, Doris Glover; 2, Freda McMahon.

Boys, under 10 years—1, Jack McMahon; 2, Douglas Ford.

Girls, under 14 years—1, Eileen Schoales; 2, Frances McMahon.

Boys, under 14 years—1, Kenneth Gibson; 2, G. Fair.

Young Men's Race—1, Harry Hotston; 2, P. Hopkins.

Men's Race, walking backwards—1, Harry Hotston; 2, B. Seabrook.

Men's Hop, Skip and Jump Race—1, J. Mills; 2, Henry Turner.

A jolly mixed tug-of-war wound up the sports program and proved that the competitors were stronger than the ropes.

Each member of the committee of management, including the class teacher, Mrs. R. B. English, and the president, Mrs. W. Atkinson, is to be congratulated upon the success which attended their efforts.

The committees of the several well-appointed booths were:—

Pies—Mesdames Seabrook, Welbourn and Osborne. Ice Cream—Mesdames Swanger and York; Candy—Mrs. Grose. Hot Dogs—Mesdames Dummit, Payne and Williams; Tea and Sandwiches—Mrs. Evans; Lemonade—Mesdames Hobson and Whatley; Program Committee—Mesdames McMahon and Baldry.

BANDIT DENIES SHOOTING.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 8 (C.P.)—George B. Forsythe, identified as the bandit who shot Miss Mary McCarthy, 50, when she interrupted a hold-up trio in action a month ago, pleaded not guilty yesterday with two mates to charges of robbery, armed, and attempted murder. Gavin Hamilton and Armand Viau were identified as other members of the gang. The preliminary hearing continues to-morrow.

Nearly 400 new books were added last year to the National Library for the Blind in London.

WIND DAMAGE IS EVERYONE'S CONCERN

Second only to fire in capacity for destructiveness, high winds wreak damage almost everywhere, at almost any time.

June, "Month of Roses," has a bad record for windstorms. And there is no insurance against such destruction as may be wrought by gales and tornadoes except a specific Windstorm Policy. However, the cost is very moderate, as we'll be glad to prove.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 31 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan saw his books and weapons strewn on the floor; his little store of treasures littered about. A great wave of anger surged through him. Ah—but the men had not found his tin box with its precious contents! ....What was that?... His quick ears had caught a faint but unfamiliar sound.

He ran to the window, looking toward the harbor. He saw a great boat being lowered from the great ship beside the one already in the water. Soon he saw many people clambering over the ship's sides and dropping into the boats. They were coming back in full force!

He watched bundles and boxes being lowered. As they shoved off, the ape-man snatched up a piece of paper and with a pencil printed several lines of strong well-made characters. This notice he stuck upon the door with a sharp wood splinter. Then gathering his precious box and weapons he disappeared into the forest.

Fifteen villanous-appearing seamen landed from the boats. Blood-thirsty and filthy they looked. The five others comprised two elderly men—evidently scholars—a handsome young man in white ducks, a huge negress, and a very beautiful girl about nineteen. In silence the party advanced toward the cabin.

The sailors carried the boxes and bales followed by the five of so different a class. Coming to the cabin, they saw with puzzled surprise the new-made sign. Few of the sailors could read. "Hi, perfesser," one shouted, "read the bloomin' notis." The old gentleman addressed read, and murmured "Most remarkable!"

NEW MINISTERS TAKE UP DUTIES

Council, which made him first among Ministers of the Crown, was Mr. Mackenzie King permitted to relinquish his role as Prime Minister.

It was a day of speculation and expectancy. For the past week Mr. Bennett had been busy constructing his Cabinet, a task which was not facilitated by the magnitude and distribution of his following. The process of selection demanded the utmost care, consequently a great uncertainty as to when the Prime Minister would be able to announce his readiness to take office hovered over Parliament Hill. Already political observers had forecast the personnel of the new Cabinet, those forecasts in the main proving eventually to have been extremely accurate. Mr. Bennett had informed Mr. Mackenzie King that Thursday would probably see him prepared to pick up the reins, and so it proved.

King Offers Resignation

Yesterday the retiring Premier waited upon the Governor General to inform His Excellency that the Government's resignation would be tendered in the afternoon Shortly before three o'clock Mr Mackenzie King again repaired to Rideau Hall and offered the resignation in writing "to take effect at His Excellency's pleasure" This phrase was much more than a mere formality, for not until the new Prime Minister had been definitely installed, with the old Premier informed that his resignation had been accepted. Returning to the Parliament buildings shortly after three o'clock, Mr. Mackenzie King called upon Mr. Bennett, conveying to him His Excellency's command to proceed to Rideau Hall and there give the necessary undertaking of his ability to form a government.

Accompanied by Miss Mildred Bennett and E. J. Lemaire, Clerk of the Privy Council, Mr. Bennett left for Government House at 4 o'clock, and there was sworn in as President of the Privy Council.

While these formalities were in progress, the members whom Mr. Bennett had chosen for his Cabinet waited for him in his new offices in the east block. Around 5 o'clock the Prime Minister returned, to find the corridors thronged with newspapermen, all of whom were awaiting the issue of the official Cabinet list. He passed quickly into his office.

Group Picture Taken

Meanwhile a large crowd of photographers and many of the general public had stood outside the East block for several hours. The Prime Minister was at first reluctant to have a group photograph taken, in view of the fact that three Ministers were absent, but finally yielded. Considerable hand-clapping and cheers greeted the new Government as its members took up their positions in front of a battery of cameras. The ordeal of having their picture taken was courageously undertaken, however, and this wound up the proceedings for the day.

Early this forenoon three Provincial Premiers were in consultation with Mr. Bennett. They were, Premier Bracken of Manitioba, Premier Brownlee of Alberta, and Premier Anderson of Saskatchewan. The subject of their discussion was the unemployment situation and the measures to be embarked upon to remedy it. The conference was brief, and it will be resumed to-morrow.

SPOOK INVADES

hurling clothing and boots, shoes, and any articles of wearing apparel that were in a small reception hall, out into the yard.

Left When Barn Invaded

Alfred Dobson, the aged farmer, is under great strain. He has left his large 164 acre farm in fear and is now living on a small 18-acre place on Lot 1, Concession 3, Melancthon Township.

"I stood it all the time the things were moving in the house, but when it moved to the barn I had to leave. At night the stock would be placed in the stable and the doors barred, and in the morning the doors would be open and the cattle and horses outside. On several occasions the halters had been taken off the horses and tied around the horses' front feet, leaving them so they could not move. How that was done, I don't know, for my son, Oliver, had a 4-year-old colt that it would take six men to hold to tie, and we found the halter tied around her feet, and it took up some time to untie the knot."

The Duchess of York

A royal baby is expected at historic Glamis Castle in Scotland where the Duchess, daughter-in-law of King George, took up her residence a few days ago in the home of her childhood.

CONTEST CLOSES ON SATURDAY

Many Entries Have Already Been Received For Village Name.

AWARDS MADE MONDAY.

If 147 school girls of an average age of 14½ years suggest an appropriate name for the suburban neighborhood, of which Downer's Corners is the centre, how many boy students of equal age will be in the same game to win one of the three handsome prizes offered by the gentlemen of the "Village Name Committee?"

Who is out for the first prize of $10.00? The second prize, $7.50, is for the next most acceptable name, and a third prize of $5.00 goes to him or her who make the third best suggestion.

The conditions of the contest are published in The Examiner of last Saturday. The opportunity will be open to anyone, but will close at noon sharp to-morrow (Saturday). Letters proposing a name must be addressed to the Village Name Committee, care of The Examiner Office.

Awards will be made public on Monday, the 11th of August, provided an acceptable name is made according to the tenor indicated in the announcements.

In Police Court

Compared with those earlier in the week, the docket at Police Court this morning was extremely light.

BURNEY GIVES OUTLINE OF NEW AIRSHIP LINE

Cost $30,000,000 to Establish Fleet of Ships For Trans-Atlantic Service.

TWICE A WEEK SERVICE.

Suggests Canadian and British Govt's Guarantee 75 Per Cent of Cost.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7 .(C.P.)— Details of the financing of a regular twice-a-week airship service between Great Britain and Canada were today discussed before the Canadian Club here by Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100 and managing director of the company which built the great dirigible. Sir Dennistoun delivered the closely reasoned address of the practical scientist and planner inspired by the broad vision of a dreamer. He spoke for three-quarters of an hour and evoked the most sincere form of tribute—dead silence—and at the end of his address his hearers went away with his key-words ringing in their ears: "The world is changing and the British Empire to maintain its place must develop a rapid form of transportation."

Cost $30,000,000

It will cost $30,000,000 Sir Dennistoun estimated to establish a fleet of airships capable of giving service between the Old Country and the dominion twice a week. Sir Dennistoun quoted tentative figures of the mail and passenger traffic available to show that the gross revenue to be derived from the service would amount to about $20,000,000 a year and figured running expenses at a figure about $5,000,000 less. He suggested that the British and Canadian Governments between them might guarantee 75 per cent of the initial cost as the United States guaranteed its Government line for Atlantic service, charging three and a half per cent interest on its investment which constituted a first charge on the ships. And as the United States under the Jones Shipping Law guarantees mail contracts to its ships Sir Dennistoun suggested that if the two British Governments guarantee six tons of mail to the airship service a week at the rate of $1,000 a ton for transportation there would be necessary a surcharge of only eight to ten cents a letter and the letter would traverse the ocean in 48 hours instead of eight days it commonly takes now.

FIRST "BLAST" OUT OF THE BOX

THE PRINCE'S REPLY TO CANADA

The Montreal Star carries the following: "Lord Beaverbrook's Empire Crusaders have been placed in an embarrassing and amusing dilemma by the decision of the Prince of Wales to visit the Argentine and Brazil next year, to attend the British Empire Exhibition."

After pointing out that "in speech after speech he (Lord Beaverbrook) has reiterated the necessity of British buying more Canadian wheat than Argentinian wheat, "the Prince gives his blessing to the Argentinian purchase." This will recall the "preference" that Canada was to have received under the proposed Empire preference system.
